Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. Dow has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Albuginea, Abscesses, painful Bubonic Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and have the once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Lozenges, warranted the best preventive. Orders by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician & Surgeon, No. 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no idea that greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated Dr. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

F. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

Boston, April 7, 1864.—eodly.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT

—TO—

UNFORTUNATE FEMALES!

DR. BRISCOE'S FEMALE DROPS are unsurpassed by virtue and efficacy in removing all complaints, of whatever nature, incident to females. He continues, with his usual success, to medically and surgically remove Obstructions, Engorgements, Leucorrhœa, Chlorosis, General Debility, &c., and Suppressions of all kinds; also all complaints of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spleen, Bladder, &c.

His medicine will be sent to any part of the country by express or mail; addressed by a communication stating particulars, will receive prompt attention.

Office, No. 23 Endicott street.

Persons at a distance can consult Dr. Briscoe, by letter, describing the case, and have the medicines securely put up, and forwarded to any part of the United States, with full directions for use. Office arrangements are made for departments, so that patients see none but the Doctor himself.

Address Dr. Briscoe, at No. 23 Endicott St., Boston, Mass., stating symptoms. All communications are confidential.

Patients furnished with rooms and board if desired, and secrecy observed in every case.

Office hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Boston, July 16, 1864. TThSly

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 23 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

THE VERNATELLA

LIQUID BLACKING

Gives to the Leather not only a

Splendid Jet Black Polish,

But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.

The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush; but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most INSIGNIFICANT PERFUME, and remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.

Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.

MONDAY, JANUARY 2, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

An expedition of United States troops, under Major Gen. Granger, landed at Pascagoula on the 5th inst., and pushed rapidly towards Mobile. A brief skirmish occurred on the 15th near Franklin Creek, when the rebels were quickly routed. Many of the people rejoiced at the sight of our forces. The navy rendered valuable assistance to the troops in landing. Two tin-clad gunboats have gone up the Pascagoula 30 miles, and everything progresses finely. Southern refugees report that there are but 5000 militia in Mobile, and that a Union sentiment prevails there. The reflection of a large fire was seen near Mobile on the 19th, supposed to be caused by the burning of cotton.

The news of the capture of Savannah, caused great rejoicing among the Union people at New Orleans, and depression among the rebels.

Galveston, Texas, papers contain the following: "Yesterday (the 12th) 343 exchanged Federal prisoners were sent to the blockading fleet, and 12 females and their children, among the latter Mrs. Jack Hamilton and Mrs. Judge Duval. The prisoners were delivered yesterday, and exchanged for all our prisoners captured in Fort Gaines. The exchange will not be concluded until the Federals are willing to include Admiral Buchanan."

A disastrous fire occurred at Galveston, on the 15th.

By Telegraph—Sunday noon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—The Richmond Enquirer of Thursday, received here to-night, contains the following: "The enemy shelled our lines between Dunlaps and Petersburg yesterday with great vigor, but absolutely with no effect. Our batteries wasted no ammunition in reply. There is a rumor that Yankee troops are again crossing to the north bank of the James, but they made no appearance in front of the lines of Richmond. Later.—It is reported that the enemy's vessels have appeared in York river, and that some troops have landed at White House."

WILMINGTON, Dec. 28.—The fleet has disappeared, only the usual blockaders remaining. Gen. Bragg reports that with his present means and disposition, no danger need be apprehended. Had reinforcements arrived sooner, he might have captured many prisoners. The enemy drew up in a semi-circle and poured a concentric fire into Fort Fisher, destroying every house and ploughing up the ground.

The steamer Alexandria has been seized at Nassau by order of the British Government.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The closing hours of the dying year are illuminated by a report, which is said to be reliable, that Mobile was captured by Gen. Granger on Christmas day. The report runs that no defence was made, but that a capitulation of the city was made by the mayor on the appearance of our forces, the rebel garrison having run away.

Gen. Kilpatrick, who is off on an expedition to hunt out and liberate the Union prisoners in Georgia, has instructions to follow them wherever they have been taken south of Augusta, and to live off the country through which he travels.

Gen. Butler, in command of a portion of the Army of the James, from the attack on Fort Fisher, has returned to the front of Petersburg. The failure of the Wilmington expedition will probably be officially investigated.—Stirring news is expected from Gen. Foster in a few days.

Gold closed at 227 3-8 at the evening exchange to-night.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ABROAD.—Forefather's Day was duly celebrated by the newly organized New England Society of Milwaukee, by a grand banquet. At nine o'clock (at night—not very Puritanical that) about one and fifty of the sons of New England, together with invited guests, sat down to a most sumptuous dinner, which those New England landlords, Rice & Andrews, set before them at the Newhall House. The President of the Society, Mat. H. Carpenter, Esq., delivered a very eloquent and entertaining inaugural address. The first regular toast, "The Pilgrim Fathers, the glory and praise of their sons," was eloquently responded to by Rev. Dr. J. H. Towne.

At this time, about 11 o'clock, the President announced that the festivities proper would commence at 1 o'clock, which was received with laughter. (Ah! the Pilgrims wouldn't ha' done that.)

The President then announced the second regular toast:

New Hampshire.—If her mountains are high and rugged, her valleys are low and gentle, and filled with all good things. If her sons are homely, her daughters are beautiful. If she cherishes public virtue, it has cost her much. If her bread is wrung by sweat from her sterile soil, it tastes all the sweeter. If she teaches labor to her children, she but fulfils the law of God. If public learning is dispensed to all her children, it is because she knows the blessings it not only brings to them, but gives to the world. If she bears the banner of freedom forever aloft, in adversity and in prosperity, it is because she has baptised its sacred folds with blood and sacrifice.

As the morning Sun perpetually gilds and beautifies her mountain tops, so may the blessings of God dwell in all her valleys and upon all her hillsides, dispensing joy and gladness at all her firesides.

This toast was responded to by that excellent and filial son of the Granite State, Mr. E. D. Holton, in a most happy and eloquent manner. His hits at Massachusetts for coming to New Hampshire for the girls, brought down the house. This speech was one of the happiest of this very happy occasion; report of which we find in the Daily Wisconsin, for a copy of which we are indebted to our old friend Mr. W. A. Nowell.—Mr. Holton said in substance:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Association.—The settlement in New Hampshire began very soon after the first settlement in Massachusetts. I think those at Portsmouth so soon as 1623. From that point the State received its settlement slowly, but gradually upon the Eastern side. While from Hooker's settlement, in the valley of the Connecticut, slowly penetrated up that beautiful valley which defines the western boundary of the state, the settlers. But so terrible were the physical objects to be overcome, that it took well nigh a hundred and fifty years for the settlement to reach my native town, one of the most beautiful in all that valley.

One of the main lessons to be learned in studying the history of New Hampshire, is that which discloses, what human industry and perseverance will accomplish. To settle such a state as Massachusetts, a reasonably fair-surfaced country with abundant sea-coast, large rivers, with sounds, bays, and inlets, was not much of a job. But to take and settle such a state as New Hampshire, without any of these accessories of convenience—but, where, on the contrary, one-third of the whole area was devoted to mountains, and vast and almost impenetrable forests; to subdue these, and fill her valleys and slopes "with all good things" as your sentiment says, this was a job that required sturdy men and women.

But behold the result! Her people have hewn for themselves a path along the mountain; and under the mountains; and over the mountains, so that every part of that mountain State is traversed with the best of public highways and railroads.

I passed last year from the valley of the Chamonix to that of Rhone. The journey must be made either on foot or by mule, as no carriage way has ever existed there. The elevation is scarce more than 3,500 feet, and the route was probably known to Cæsar and his cohorts. But sir, you shall trot your coach and-six from the Glen House to the top of Mount Washington, with an elevation of six thousand two hundred and fifty feet, in an hour and forty minutes. While the industry and perseverance of her people are thus illustrated, she also points with just pride, to the monuments of her learning. Go along any and all of her roads, and find dotted, at every mile post her schools, where all her sons and daughters, high and low, have met from the foundation of her social state, upon one common level, and been pointed up to the celestial hills of knowledge.

The son of New Hampshire in reviewing her history, at such a moment as this, will not fail to call to mind her patriotic career. Well did she bear her part as one of the "old thirteen," though the sound of battle has ever been far from her borders,—for I cannot recall that ever any of the hostile enemies of our common welfare have even ventured to set foot on her soil; and yet not a battle field through all the history of the revolution, that was not represented by her hardy sons. And so now in this, the day of our country's trial, does she lag?

Sir, the sentiment says something about the homeliness of her sons and the beauty of her daughters. Well, this is delicate matter, especially when we speak in the presence of Massachusetts and the hub of the universe. But the truth must be told; and that her daughters are beautiful, is beyond doubt, and we have always suffered from raids from Massachusetts, and other provinces, in carrying off these our fair ones. As to her men I have only to say that Webster, our own Webster, when he lived in New Hampshire, compared with his neighbors, and the general character of her population, was regarded as a most worthy man to be sure—the equal of all and the superior of some. But when our neighbors enticed him to become a citizen there, they made a very great man of him.—You know these conclusions are arrived at by comparison—I mean no disrespect to the good people of Massachusetts.

Sterile and hard as is nature's hand to my native State, she steadily maintains with her 300,000 all the defences of her own domestic blessings, and gives to the country and the world a sturdy force of one hundred thousand and over, of her sons and daughters, who fill honorably the common walks of life.

Sir, I believe with you that upon this occasion we, the sons of New England, may boast. We may point with admiration and just pride to the glorious and world renowned history of our forefathers.

Something has been said by secessionists and their abettors, about moving the New England States out of the Union. I think that considering the weight of granite possessed by my native State, when they pick her up they will have a big load to carry.

Sir, I beg to conclude by using the benediction of your sentiment:

As the morning Sun perpetually gilds and beautifies her mountain tops, so may the blessings of God dwell in all her valleys and upon all her hillsides, dispensing joy and gladness at all her firesides.

☞ We have had a short interview with one of our returned soldiers, who tells us he was four months in the Libby Prison at Richmond, where his ration was a pint of meal a day,—and where his appetite was not once satisfied with a good comfortable repast. He was afterwards removed farther south, and suffered the privations so often described, which he fully confirms, and which are so often excused by our coppery prints, on the plea that the rebels could do no better. Sherman's march gives these excuses a lie; and every soldier's friend is indignant. Our returned soldier was finally exchanged at Savannah, feeble, sickly and thin from starvation. He is now improving fast, on good food; but he has no great friendship for the barbarians who abused him, and would not object to retaliation.

☞ A friend of ours, who is far from being a fanatic, suggests that Gen. Fremont's early plan of the war at the South West, was just the thing, and that it has been since adopted in substance, with success. He would have had it adopted at the time, could he have had the power; but he believes in, and relies upon an overruling Divine Power and Providence, which perceived that the nation had not then been punished sufficiently to make them repent of and forsake their darling sin. This reconciles him to the delay, and induced him to bear patiently his share of the burdens and anxieties of the war for our National Existence as a United and Free People. Consequently he has no sympathy with the hypocrites who now for the first time in their lives pretend to be peace men, while really they aim at nothing better than base submission to the rebel aristocracy that made the war, if so be they might get some crumbs of office or pelf from under the tables of the oligarchy. He despises these men and their aims, as treacherous and base. And he looks at the popular vote for the Union, as a pledge of the people that they will put down the rebellion, and blot out the sin that caused it.

PROHIBITION OF THE SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS.—Rev. B. F. Clark, a Congregational clergyman of North Chelmsford, (formerly an ardent Maine law man,) has written a pamphlet in which he announces that he has changed his opinion with regard to the propriety of prohibitory legislation, and is now in favor of a stringent license system. He has drawn up an "act to promote the cause of temperance," which allows the authorities of towns and cities the power of licensing parties to sell intoxicating liquors under certain conditions. His pamphlet is for sale by Lee & Shepard, Boston.

The Boston Post's special dispatch from Washington Dec. 30, has the following items of public interest:

Senator Sherman has received a letter from Gen. Sherman, his brother, who writes on the 26th that everything was working well, and that a large portion of his army was in motion. The results of his present operations promise to be very important.

There is much division here among military strategists respecting the Wilmington expedition, and all are anxious to hear a report from Gen. Butler.

Rebel officers, as well as privates, are deserting and coming to Washington, and ask permission to go North.

Many cases of desertion on forged discharge-papers have been discovered lately.

Returns received at the Provost Marshal General's office show that the recruiting is going on more rapidly than it has during a year past.

Virginia refugees arriving via Fredericksburg, repeat to-day the old story that machinery is being removed from Richmond.

From information received from Savannah, it is believed that Union prisoners South have been dispersed in various directions in small numbers.

The rebels claim to have fifty thousand prisoners in their hands. Fourteen thousand were buried at Andersonville during the last nine months.

We have about ninety thousand rebel prisoners.

Says Josh Billings, "there are a grate multitude ov individuals who are like blind mules, an kahas enuff tew kick, but kant tell whare."

— The San Francisco Flag says—"The Arizona Legislature offer $100 bounty for every Apache scalp. The world moves."

DAMAGES.—A large covered sleigh was standing in front of a Portland store, when down came an avalanche of snow that crushed the imposing top completely, and away went the horses. They were stopped without farther damage, however, and the proprietor of the team returned and demanded damages. The merchants (who were evidently jokers, and who are very pleasantly reported by Gosse, the newly-married "Local" of the Argus) said there was no more snow on the building, but they could show him a place where there would probably be another slide in a few moments; whereat the gentleman from the interior waxed wroth and explained that he meant reimbursement for damages already inflicted—wanted them to repair his team right away. The merchants refusing to see it in that way, the conversation became animated, resulting in he of the misfortune being ordered to evacuate the store, which he did in good order.

Of course no man is responsible in such a case, for no team is protected by law when standing in the street. A different matter is it, entirely, when a team damages a store; as in Boston the other day, when a man paid $500 damages for his runaway horse putting his head through a shop-window. A store is protected, standing on a street—a horse, not.

GOLD IN CONNECTICUT.—Dr. Keith, the well known mineralogist, and the owner of a tract of land in Greenwich, Conn., has discovered upon it a gold vein, which he is at present actively engaged in mining. One piece alone of the precious metal was brought to this city, and valued at over $600. The land in which this discovery was made was formerly mined for copper ore, a considerable quantity of which was at one time dug out.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given, with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This foreign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This has been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETTS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new HAIR in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing is has no superior. The "BOUQUET" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

The new City Government will be inaugurated at the Court House to-morrow, Tuesday, morning, at 10 o'clock.

☞ In commencing the New Year, we don't know that we have anything specially new to offer respecting this Chronicle—only to acknowledge increasing and improving patronage all the while, and to return thanks therefor, and particularly to the large number of subscribers why are soliciting our autograph for 1866.

To be sure we have plans for changing our Daily to an "evening" paper, next summer; and fitting out with new type, a larger press, &c., so that we can enlarge our Weekly Gazette. But it is no use to talk much of these things now. Suffice it for us to give you all a Happy New Year.

☞ The new Steam Fire Engine "Sagamore" was subjected to a trial on Friday and Saturday on Market Square; and according to the testimony of good judges, worked admirably. The Laconia Engine Company have her under their charge, with Mr. Hiram C. Locke as Foreman, Chas. L. Glines First Asst., and Chas. E. Fernald Second Asst. She will doubtless prove a valuable acquisition to our present efficient Fire Department. She was built in Portland at a cost of $5000, which will prove money well invested; and indeed, if we had bought one such when Mayor Simes desired to, she would have paid several times the cost at the Penhallow street fire alone.

The parade of the Company, in their fine new uniforms, and to the stirring music of the Cornet Band, Friday afternoon, was quite an event for our city, and betokened that the old 2's have lost none of their public spirit and enterprise. They wound up with a social supper in the evening.

☞ The articles to be "presented," this week, are bills payable. Are you all ready for the question?

TEMPLE OF AMMUSEMENT.—To night the popular comedian Mr. John Murray, makes his first appearance at the Temple in connection with Bidwell & Pike's Company. As a comedian Mr. Murray ranks high in his profession. He has just returned from a most successful tour throughout the West and the Canadas. He appears to night in two of his best characters. Go see for yourselves. D.

☞ Mr. George H. Rogers, whose death in Ohio we chronicled on Saturday, and whose funeral took place at his home in this city on that day, was a most exemplary and promising young man. He was formerly a clerk in Mr. Shores' bookstore; then spent several years in Boston; and his health becoming impaired, he returned to Portsmouth, and was for a few months employed in the National Mechanics & Traders Bank. His health failing again, and being much prostrated by a severe hemorrhage from the lungs, he went to the bracing clime of Minnesota to spend the winter with a friend. He travelled considerably, and after apparently improving much, he was taken fatally ill at Troy, and died in a few days; his disease being at this time pronounced typhoid fever. His early departure is a sad blow to his family, and his memory will be cherished by a large circle of friends.

☞ The wreck of the freighting schooner H. E. Bishop of this port, was sold at auction where she lay on the rocks at Cape Ann, on Thursday, for $32. The Bishop was a good vessel, and the owners refused $4500 for her two months ago. There was no insurance on her, we are told.

☞ Some, and we hope all our Schools, have to-day for a New Year Holiday. Do learn the coming generation to enjoy the Christmas season, better than the present work-a-day population in this region know how to. Why, even the niggers down South always had their twelve days of respite from toil and care on the old year out and the new year in.

☞ Subscriptions have been made in various departments of the workmen at the Navy Yard, in aid of the Christian Commission. The Joiners gave about $400.

☞ Thermometre, Monday morning at 4 o'clock, 8 above zero.

☞ Messrs. Leach & Lydston, whose card appears in our advertising columns this morning, we have no hesitation in saying, are excellent farriers,—worthy of being entrusted with the best horse in the land; and that's more than can be said of many who operate in their very important line of business.

POLICE COURT, Dec. 31.—Samuel Nichols and Owen Kew, marines, were fined each $10 and costs, $5.74, for assault on John H. Slater. Mr. Slater was on his way home from the Union Store on Friday night about 12 o'clock, (having been engaged until that hour in taking account of stock,) when he was set upon by these drunken ruffians, who found their match, or at least received more than they bargained for; but Mr. S. was very roughly handled, and had it not been for Mr. Augustus Shackley, it seems he might have been killed.

CHANGES IN BUSINESS.—Mr. W. B. Trask has sold his dry goods stock here to Mr. Chas. L. Tidd, a former favorite clerk and partner at the same Daniel St. store. Mr. Trask goes into the woolen jobbing business in Boston, the firm being Jordan, Trask & Presby. We regret to lose so capable and estimable a young business man from the city—for we have none too many of them.

We learn that Mr. B. Harding has sold his fruitery and confectionery store to a Mr. Burleigh of Great Falls.

☞ A correspondent thinks a cipher must have been left off many of the taxes given, or a good deal more than nothing (9) forgotten when the amounts were sworn to.

☞ The failure to capture Wilmington was apparently caused by a disagreement, or at least a mis-agreement, between Gen. Butler and Adm. Porter. Most opinions of the matter we have seen, appear to blame Butler; Perley, of the Boston Journal, says from Washington, that "Butler doubtless relied with too much confidence on the effects of the explosion of the powder ship, which did not amount to anything." Others throw all the blame on Porter. But speculations are of no use; and it is better to wait for all the facts before censuring either of these gallant and well-tried officers.

We find in Ayer's American Almanac (now ready for delivery gratis, by W. R. Preston, David Kimball, J. H. Thacher and Brackett Hutchings,) the remarkable statement that the temperature of the earth has not diminished more than 1-306th part of one degree Fahrenheit for 2000 years. To our enquiry how he could make such an assertion, Dr. Ayer writes us the following answer: "Hipparchus gives the exact record of an eclipse in his time. This enables us to measure with extreme accuracy the earth's diurnal revolutions since to any eclipse now. Diminution of its heat would, by concentration, shorten its axis and consequently its time of revolution on its axis. The data show that this change has been only such as I state it, mathematically and indisputably true."—New York Journal.

TO OUR PATRONS.—We would again remind our readers that this season of the year is a time when they are constantly liable to sudden coughs, influenza, sore throat, &c., while the children are in constant danger from croup, throat and lung complaints. It is important that every head of a family should provide a remedy that is ready at all times for immediate use, whether assailed at the dead hour of night, with the breaking out of a hard cold, the racking of a violent cough, or the children with that most dangerous of all diseases—croup—or at the midday hour, you should always be prepared. In Coe's Cough Balsam you will find a ready and effectual remedy. It grapples and controls instantaneously the most stubborn coughs, while in croup it is a sovereign cure. The price is but forty cents per bottle—the bottle twice the size of any other at the same price. Delays are dangerous. You should always have it in the house. It can be found at all our drug stores. d5dawlm 2

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambucus wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

A TRUE AIM.—It has not been the aim of the proprietor of Hunnewell's great preparations, advertised on our inside columns, to base a false reputation by long and unmeaning advertising, but a real one by true results, to which all who try them will cheerfully assent. See advertisement.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, with due dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that a fair share of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—sometimes at the time so severe as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swayne's Fever and Ague, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as the cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have told to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it. I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JONAH JENNESS.

FOUNTAIN, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief, until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till, she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one purchasing the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. mxv26

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For the speedy and certain cure of Intermittent Fever, or Fever and Ague, Remittent Fever, Chill Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical Headache or Bilious Headache, and Bilious Fevers; indeed, for the whole class of diseases originating in biliary derangement, caused by the malaria of miasmatic countries.

FEVER AND AGUE is not the only cause upon which the miasmatic Ague. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation in malarious districts, among which are Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache or Megrim, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "crazy" exists the poison from the blood, and thus cures them all alike. It is not only the most effectual remedy ever discovered for this class of complaints, but it is the cheapest, and, moreover, is perfectly safe. No harm can arise from its use, and the patient when cured is left as healthy as if he had never had the disease. Can this be said of any other cure for Chills and Fever? It is true of this, and its importance to those afflicted with the complaint cannot be overestimated. So sure is it to cure the Fever and Ague, that it may be truthfully said to be a certain remedy. One Dealer complains that it is not a good medicine to sell, because one bottle cures a whole neighborhood.

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.
IS, IN FACT,
The Best Stove Out,
for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall Stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED
MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and stifron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while others have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, concentrated and heavy, are forced to undergo ignition of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 30 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to get out of order, and thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world, and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Important to the Afflicted.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest allings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult Dr. Dow and experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.
P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.
Boston, April 7, 1864.—eodly.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT
—TO—
UNFORTUNATE FEMALES!
DR. BRISCOE'S FEMALE DROPS are unsurpassed by virtue and efficacy in removing all complaints, of whatever nature, incident to females. He continues, with the usual success, to medically and surgically remove Obstructions, Engorgements, Leucorrhœa, Whites, General Debility, &c., and suppressions of all kinds; also all complaints of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spleen, Bladder, &c.
His medicines will be sent to any part of the country by express or mail; addressed by a communication stating particulars, will receive prompt attention.
Office, No. 23 Endicott street.
Persons at a distance can consult Dr. Briscoe, by letter, describing the case, and the medicines securely put up, and forwarded to any part of the United States, with full directions for use. Office arranged with separate apartments, so that patients see none but the Doctor himself.
Address Dr. Briscoe, at No. 23 Endicott St., Boston, Mass., stating symptoms. All communications are confidential.
Patients furnished with rooms and board if desired, and secrecy observed in every case.
Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.
Boston, July 16, 1864. ThSly

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 23 Endicott street.
N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.
P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of filling something out to the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL FRAGRANCE, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

Communication.

THE BANKRUPT BILL.—We learn that Congress, in hot haste, has passed a Bankrupt Bill, without it being first published and laid before the people, in order that they may make their comments upon it. All the wisdom of the country is not concentrated in Congress. Before the Medes and Persians enacted their laws, the bills were posted up in the public places. Hence the maxim, "As permanent as the laws of the Medes and Persians." Should this bill have any resemblance to our last bankrupt law, it would soon be condemned by the indignant voice of the people, as that was, and after a few years' trial it was repealed. Its title should have been—"An Act for the encouragement and protection of rogues and promoting fraud and perjury." Such it turned out to be. The English Bankrupt system is limited to merchants who may be unfortunate, and for its violation we think the penalty is death. If this bill embraces all classes, we may expect as numerous frauds as there were under the prior act.

It is easy to conceive of cases where our humane feelings would favor the unfortunate. But would it be wise to have a law which, while it benefitted one honest man, would be the means of making ten rogues? Honest men, generally, have no need of a bankrupt system, nor do they desire it. Many thousand creditors and their families may be ruined in property under such a system. The several States may adopt an insolvent system, well guarded, as some States already have, and need no bankrupt law. We will not make an argument before we see the provisions of this bill. The President, as an honest man, we trust, will maturely reflect upon and consider the bill and its probable consequences before he approves it. His veto would probably be approved by nine-tenths of all honest people. Our last bankrupt law originated in the city of New York for party effect to gain votes, and at the time the money of those who wished to defraud their creditors, was freely offered to carry the bill enacted by Congress. Why, we ask, is this hot haste to enact a bankrupt system, without consulting the public opinion?

VOX POPULI.

☞ The Boston Courier appeared on Monday, Jan. 2, as an evening paper. It is proposed to be conducted as an "independent press, without partisan associations, but commending itself to men of genuine liberal principles and true democratic ideas." Joseph B. Moors, Esq., of Newburyport, late of the Traveller, is to be "the leading editor." So says an advertisement in the Newburyport Herald; but on looking at the Courier itself, we see no great change. Its leading editorial professes sympathy with the Democratic party and State Rights.

☞ The United States Service Magazine for January, 1865, is No. 1, Vol. 8, of a most valuable work. This number contains a likeness of Adm. Farragut, with a sketch of his life,—a letter from Gen. Sherman, and much other matter.

☞ The Northern Monthly, at Portland, is not discontinued; but the January number is delayed a little, to make some new arrangements.—The Continental Monthly, of Boston and New York, is discontinued.

— The Telegraph says during the past year seventeen vessels have been built for parties in Gloucester and added to their fleet; eight vessels and seventy-eight men were lost in the perilous fishing business. In 1862, seventeen vessels and one hundred and thirty-eight lives were sacrificed to the fury of the sea.

☞ The Traveller building, State street, Boston, was on fire before daylight Monday morning, and the printing offices and other rooms therein were damaged to the extent of $30,000: mostly insured. The fire was incendiary, being set in several places,—in one instance inside a desk.

— The British war corvette Scout has been selected by the Admiralty to have her midship sides protected by means of chain cable, in a plan similar to that adopted by the United States steamer Kearsarge, when in action with the Alabama.

— Mr. Isaac D. Noyes, publisher of the Saco Democrat, died last Friday evening, at Saco, of typhoid fever.—A younger brother of his, a hospital steward in a Maine regiment in Virginia, died a few days before.

— Since Admiral Porter assumed command of the North Atlantic Blockading Squadron, (in September last,) his share of prize money it is said will amount to nearly $200,000.

— Mr. Dallas, ex-vice President of the United States, died at Philadelphia on Saturday. He was the Vice President in Mr. Polk's Presidency.

— With reference to the fire at the Riverside Trotting Park, near Boston, a little girl gravely asked if it was a "trotting match which set the stable on fire."

—— $10,000 in N. H. Sixes, 1884, sold in Boston on Saturday for 94 3-4 to 95 7-8.

THE REBELLION.

A St. Louis dispatch says, the notorious guerilla, Hunter, recently arrested at Salt Lake City, while on his way to California, with $200,000 in greenbacks, stolen from the bank at Bloomington, Mo., over a year ago, is to be sent back by Governor Connoss. He will be taken to Huntsville and hung.

A Fortress Monroe dispatch of Friday says, the Santiago de Cuba and Fort Jackson are the only vessels attached to the naval fleet which have as yet arrived from off Wilmington, and the latest advices from Admiral Porter represent him as still subjecting Fort Fisher to a vigorous bombardment.

Two hundred and fifty of the North Carolina Reserves, captured by Maj. Gen. Butler in the vicinity of Fort Fisher, disembarked from the steamship Baltic yesterday, en route to Point Lookout, Md. The condition of these prisoners is extremely wretched, many of them being without blankets and overcoats, and, in some cases, shoeless and hatless. Two-thirds of the number apparently had not yet reached the age of 21, while the remaining third of them ranged between the years of 12 and 16.

Rebel deserters recently reported that the authorities at Richmond were discussing and maturing a movement which would astonish the world. This effect would doubtless be produced, if the following from the Alexandria (Va.) Journal is worthy of credit in connection with the subject, viz. "We learn from persons who seem to have been informed in regard to the secrets of the secession leaders; that a plan is seriously discussed by the rebel authorities for the sudden massing of all their available forces in Virginia in the event of their affairs becoming desperate, and marching into the Northern States, with the determination to conquer or die in the attempt."

Blockade runners taken:—Schooner Lowwood, off Velico, Texas; brig Gezziena, of Hellegonde, bound from Liverpool to Matamoras; Schooner Mary, of Nassau, bound from Dow's Inlet, South Carolina, to Nassau, with 77 bales of cotton, 50 boxes tobacco and some barrels of turpentine.

The rebel pirate Shenandoah (late Sea-King) has recently captured five merchant vessels, and destroyed four of them. The fifth, ship Kate Prince, Libby, from Cardiff, Sept. 29, for Rio Janeiro, was bonded, and took Capts. Hanson and Gilman to Boston.

On the 19th Gen. Granger was at Franklin Creek, Miss., only 30 miles from Mobile, having met with but little opposition. The rebels are busy blockading the water front of the city. The rebel ram Bienville was expected down the Alabama river soon.

Fifty picked men now command Farrow's Island, in James river, near Dutch Gap, and the rebels have been driven from an important point opposite Howlett's House battery. Among the results is the destruction of the pontoon boats used by the rebels for making explorations.

Early has fallen back with the main portion of his forces far up the Shenandoah, to Waynesboro. His cavalry, however, are operating further down on both sides of the Blue Ridge.

Rebel papers speak of movements of North Carolina and Texas Unionists for restoring their States to positions in the Union. The Milton, N. C., Chronicle understands that the Home Guard of that State, sent to meet the Union raiders at Bellfield, refused to cross the State line.

The Texas State Gazette has bitter complaint against Kirby Smith's management in that State.

GEN. STONEMAN'S RAID against the rebels' supplies of lead, salt, &c., appears to have been successful in every part. The rebels did not know much about his movements, till he had been moving three days. Then Breckinridge gathered up an army and followed him.

Gen. Stoneman attacked Breckinridge at Marion and drove him over the mountains into North Carolina. His command then attacked the salt works, which were defended by about 700 men, who were either captured or dispersed.

The loss to the rebels by the raid is immense. All the railroad bridges from New river to the Tennessee line were destroyed. 13 railroad trains, with locomotives, and several trains and extra cars without engines were captured and destroyed. Depots of supplies, depots, foundries, mills, factories, storehouses, wagon and ambulance trains and turnpike bridges were destroyed. In addition, we captured 2500 rounds of artillery ammunition, 20,000 pack-saddles, a large amount of harness and a great quantity of small arms, 2000 horses and 1000 mules. Among the captures are two rebel editors and four secession printing presses. The latter were sent to Parson Brownlow as a Christmas gift. The greatest loss to the rebels was the destruction of the salt and lead works.

Our losses were very small, not exceeding 2000 (? 200) killed, wounded and missing. We captured 24 officers and 845 men.

— The soldiers' fair at Springfield was a success, the receipts being $18,000.

— To kill time—sleigh it.

PORTSMOUTH JAN. 2.

Editors of Chronicle. — Learning that a project of establishing steam communication by water between our city and Boston, is soon to be tested, and knowing that all previous attempts to this end have proved utter failures from want of a safe and complete sea boat,—one which could successfully contend with our Neptune in the roughest weather; and having a spare hour in Boston a few days since — I was induced to visit the "Alice Briggs," to learn for myself whether she would prove like her predecessors. I was agreably surprised, as she was found to be as snug and taut a craft as ever sailed in American waters — one that has crossed the Atlantic several times. Upon inquiry I found that she was built for the governor of Bermuda Islands, on the Clyde, Scotland; is 110 feet keel, 114 feet over all, 17 feet beam, 7 feet hold, and measuring 150 tons. Her frame and covering are of the best Norway hammered iron; she has double engines, 16 inch cylinders, 12 inch stroke; and has a large condenser, by which she condenses all the steam after it is used, and throws it back into the boiler again. By this arrangement, she requires no salt water, thus making a great saving in the wear of her boiler, and preventing explosions. She has 4 iron bulkheads or water-tight compartments. Her engine room is entirely fire-proof; and in addition to her steam power she carries a fore and main sail, gaff-topsails, main and flying gibs. All her standing rigging is made of iron, and her fittings, hooks, and cleats of brass; she carries a brass pivot gun on her bows. Her cabin is lavishly fitted up with mahogany and rich upholstery. Her freight capacity below decks is about 950 bbls., and in every respect this boat commends itself to the business and travelling public as worthy of their patronage and support.

Standing in the position of a merchant, interested to a great degree in the commercial prosperity of this city, I sincerely trust that the hearty co-operation so earnestly desired to further this enterprising scheme, will not for a moment be withheld. Steam water connection with Boston, we have hoped for, year after year; and now it remains to be seen whether we will let slip this opportunity that so fittingly presents itself. Let us all put our hands to work, that this new line which now opens so auspiciously, will become ere long fixed and well established — such an one to which we all can point with pride, profit and pleasure.

JISEL.

NORFOLK, Dec. 30th.

Dear Chronicle:—Why not have a correspondent,—not from the east, but somewhere about the knee of war, where the rebellion is weak? Having asked myself the above question, it occurred to me that it could be answered by sitting down and writing you something. * * There is a great deal of material here for a "Regular" correspondent to work upon; but as you are aware, my experience has been but very little in that way, and consequently I cannot give you the sensational style until after some practice.

The principal topic now of conversation is concerning the Wilmington expedition, under Rear Admiral Porter and Gen. Butler. All hands seem to agree that the affair has not turned out as every Union man would have wished it. Whether the expedition could have accomplished what it undertook to do, or not, the country will be likely to lay all blame upon the jealousy existing between the two commanders. The land forces claim that the navy did not co-operate with them, and hence the failure. Of course the navy will endeavor to throw all blame upon the shoulders of their allies. It is really unfortunate that there should be any personal feeling existing between our commanders, either of the navy or army, when so much is at stake for our country.

The sudden arrival of Gen. Butler at Fortress Monroe; his equally sudden departure for Washington; also the hurried movements of a bearer of dispatches from Rear Admiral Porter, going in the same direction—made us think that everything was not as it should be. Whatever may have happened, is not for me to guess at just now. Perhaps the whole matter will have been ventilated ere this, in the papers.

The steamer Fort Jackson arrived at the Navy Yard yesterday, bringing up those who were wounded by the bursting of the Parrott guns on the steamer Juniata, during the bombardment of Fort Fisher. Seventeen dead bodies were left at Beaufort.

Mr. Chas. T. Emery and lady have been spending a month or so with us, recruiting their health.—Mr. Chas. E. Rand, of your city, formerly in the Post Office, has been quite sick of late with typhoid fever, but I understand is now fast recovering.

The Dictator, one of the sea-going ironclads, is now lying at the Navy Yard. It may be possible for me to pay her a visit, and give you a description of a vessel built to astonish the world.

F. E. Y.

— A correspondent of the Hartford Courant wants to know if the ship Gen. McClellan's friends have fitted out for him, is coppered and copper fastened.

THE WAY TO DO BUSINESS, or rather to leave off doing too much business, is well exemplified by Mr. T. M. Day, of the Hartford Courant, who on the 1st of January says, that "ten years having rolled away since he assumed the management of the Daily and Weekly Courant, and the period having arrived at which he resolved at the very start in editorial life that he would lay aside its responsibilities, he now devolves the same upon his partner, Mr. A. N. Clark." That's it—ten years is enough for any man to work hard—too hard, as most live men do work, especially if editors of daily papers. We know of another man who won't work so hard the next ten, as he has the last dozen years.

F.

Why, Missus, just look at these nice white clothes. I never had such soap to wash with before, and as long as you are my mistress I hope you will never buy any other but the Gold Medal Soap, it is so nice and pure, and washes so easy—just think of it—I am three hours ahead of the usual time, my clothes never begun to look half so well before, and thanks to the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. Tell all your friends to try it, and they will never use any other. Most all the grocers have it to sell. 42

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

TO OUR PATRONS.—We would again remind our readers that this season of the year is a time when they are constantly liable to sudden coughs, influenza, sore throat, &c., while the children are in constant danger from croup, throat and lung complaints. It is important that every head of a family should provide a remedy that is ready at all times for immediate use, whether assailed at the dead hour of night, with the breaking out of a hard cold, the racking of a violent cough, or the children with that most dangerous of all diseases—croup—or at the midday hour, you should always be prepared. In Coe's Cough Balsam you will find a ready and effectual remedy. It grapples and controls instantaneously the most stubborn coughs, while in croup it is a sovereign cure. The price is but forty cents per bottle—the bottle twice the size of any other at the same price. Delays are dangerous. You should always have it in the house. It can be found at all our drug stores. 65dawim 2

A TRUE AIM.—It has not been the aim of the proprietor of Hunnewell's great preparations, advertised on our inside columns, to base a false reputation by long and unmeaning advertising, but a real one by true results, to which all who try them will cheerfully assent. See advertisement.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THIS, YIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original virtue of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within reasonable reach; at the last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETTS' 'PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR' is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "Hair Dye," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth on bald heads in all cases of BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

[Communication.]

"It is a poor rule that will not work both ways."

Messrs. Editors :—There has been a great deal said in your paper of late, in regard to clearing snow from the sidewalks; several arguments introduced, pro & con,—all very good. I for one want the matter dircussed until we can, during the snow season, have some regular system about making sidewalks and lanes passable. But it is a poor rule that will not work both ways. Now let us look at the condition of the crossings and the roads, particularly between the centre of our city and the Portsmouth Plains. Could it be possible to make the crossings worse, if the Street Commissioners and his assistants, or the public generally, tried to make them impassable? [This was written just before the recent freeze-up.—Ed. Chron.]

Take for instance, Vaughan and Congress, Middle and Congress, State and Pleasant Sts., and one hundred more, which will occupy too much space to mention; I would ask, is it not as necessary and as essential for the public convenience to have the crossings and streets made passable and kept so, in winter season as in summer.

Now we are ordered and compelled to clear our sidewalks, at all hazards, from the snow; and during the last snow storms the Marshal has attended to that part of his duty up to the handle. And while he was doing that, I think it would have been a good idea to have had some special Police, and had the other nuisance, (far worse) lamp-post loafers, removed at the same time.

Some may say after reading this, "That writer is a grumbler;" but only one in a thousand will make such a remark, and that proportion we can select from our city officials. I contend it is high time we had grumblers, and more than grumblers, until a rule or law is made and enforced, that will work both ways.

One morning after a snow storm, an officer orders us to clear the snow from the Sidewalks, or suffer the consequences; we obey, of course—and the same day, or the next or even the third day, we cannot pass a crossing without getting into about two feet of water; and we undertake to enjoy the sleighing, and drive about two miles out of town, (and drive carefully too,) and it would seem that the Street Commissioner and Surveyor and all hands had been digging trenches across the roads every quarter of a mile. Now I contend there is not one single reason or excuse, (no matter how simple,) why the snow should not be levelled in the streets and roads, and prevent accidents, just as much as from sidewalks. Perhaps those who have the power can't see it, but I would ask, has not the city of Portsmouth been sued several times for damages, (in the winter season) by accidents occurring in consequence of the bad condition of the streets? It is no use, Messrs. Editors,—we are not heavy enough to be a city; let's go back to the old town principle, and have law and order once more.

CONSISTENCY.

Remarks.—Our "consistent" correspondent, whoever he is, must be one of "the home gushers" the trotting men tell about. He no doubt thinks "time makes all things even," right and wrong—good, bad and indifferent. We give his communication for what it is worth; but we must tell him we never yet have seen one of the arguments ("Con") against clearing the sidewalks.—Ed. Chron.

☞ Boston folks moan because "the water in Lake Cochituate is lower than it ever has been before since the water-works were completed." That's bad, no doubt; but water has been low in Portsmouth for a long while, so that people in the highest locations in the city, are much troubled by their pumps running dry. But then the Aqueduct corporation is poor, you know, and can't afford to lay another pipe into town.

It is too bad that about the only two public watering places in this portion of the city—that behind Jefferson Market, and at the Creek, should both have been allowed to remain so long out of order, and unavailable for the many purposes for which they are so much needed. Our "one-horse" City Government certainly ought to see to it, that there be somewhere a chance to water a horse.

☞ On Monday morning the dead body of a man was found on the wharf at the foot of Court street. It proved to be that of Patrick Dwyer, a native of Ireland, whose home was in Deer street, but being a drinking man he had probably visited some of the groggeries on Sunday evening, and mistaking his way home, perished in the cold. An inquest on the body was deemed unnecessary.

☞ We kept "open house" at the Chronicle counting-room yesterday, and "received" numerous friends, who brought material aid and comfort for the establishment. Our reception lasts all the month.

☞ Thermometer (mercurial) at this Chronicle Office, Tuesday morning at half-past three o'clock, 14 above zero. Thermometer personal, "high as ninety." F.

☞ In our item on Monday relative to the trial of the new steam fire engine, it should have read Joseph H. instead of Charles L. Glines as 1st Assist. Foreman.

☞ In answer to several statements and inquiries—we would say, that as to the salaries of U. S. officers and employees—while the regular income tax may be in some cases deducted from the salary when that is paid; it cannot be that the late "special tax" for 1863, which was not ordered till 1864, after the salaries had been paid, could have been so deducted. "Some one at least has blundered," pretty evidently, in this matter; for we do not think that in a very prominent and peculiar case which has been referred to publicly, the intention was to defraud the government.

THE LYCEUM.—At the 4th Lecture, Mr. Curtis' splendid effort, there were present 780 persons by ticket, the Band and all making just about the "800." At the 5th, Dr. Holland had 750 hearers. We design no report or criticism on either; most who care for them, of course attend.

Mr. Curtis we did not hear, but he could not speak otherwise than nobly. Dr. Holland presented his theory of "cost and compensation" in a very ingenious and interesting manner, in eulcating his liberal, earnest views of personal responsibility for general and national results, in a novel treatise.

It will be seen that Rev. Mr. Abbott gives the first lecture of the second half of the course, the 10th inst. on an intensely interesting topic.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR in the Boy's High School. — We learn that the boys of our High School anticipated the New Year on Saturday with a presentation of choice gifts to their teachers. From reports which we have been able to glean of the transaction in this little community, it must have been an occasion for the flow of soul, of rare occurrence even in that highly favored institution.

To the Principal, Mr. Lewis E. Smith, were appropriately presented a superb silver cake basket, an elegant silver pitcher and salver, and a beautiful table bell of the same metal.

To Mr. J. E. Ayers a very chaste and beautiful photographic album, containing the photographs of some of the donors. Also a fine ebony cane mounted with silver, with engraving,—the present of his class in Greek. The accompanying speech by a member was worthy of a class preparing for college. From it we extract the following:

Mr. Ayers:—It is with unalloyed pleasure that I appear before you this morning in behalf of my fellow students of the senior class in Greek, to tender to you our heartfelt thanks for the kindness with which you have assisted us during the year now past, in studying the Alpha of that ancient language. By your earnest endeavors we have been stimulated to great exertions in its study; so that it has become to us a source of pleasure as well as of profit and discipline. We sincerely desire that your spring time of life may be prosperous and happy, and that it may never be dimmed by any indiscretions on our part at least; and in future years may you be enabled to look back with pleasure to the time when you taught us Greek roots and affixes.

In conclusion allow me in behalf of my classmates to request your acceptance of this cane as an humble testimonial of our gratitude and esteem.

We are not favored with a report of the remarks of the teachers, who were thus suddenly taken by surprise, but judging from the enthusiastic applause with which we understand they were received, we conclude that they were well appreciated by the scholars.

Alderman Rider of the Com. happened in during these proceedings, and after congratulating the school on the state of good feeling, which he had repeatedly observed to exist between teachers and scholars, and to which he attributed in a great degree its happy success, dismissed it for the year.

☞ People who, like ourselves, prefer fluid to any other light, except daylight, (all of which we use, and it is not half enough for us,) will be glad to see Mr. Wells advertise some of the real old-fashioned Simon Pure article—the art of making which we had begun to think was one of the lost ones.

TEMPLE OF AMUSEMENT.—Last evening the popular comedian Mr. John Murray made his first appearance to a crowded house, and kept the audience in a perfect roar during the entire performance. To-night he will appear as Jethro Baxter a live yankee, and as John Shmidt the persecuted Dutchman. As Mr. Murray's engagement is for a few nights only, let every one improve the opportunity. Remember a great bill to-night. D.

☞ Dr Dessauer, the optician, advertises to be in Portsmouth again, next week.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Assist. of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1836), 76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the drawing of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

I hold myself to be not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of Specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and a full account of patents granted in the United States, and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All who may find it a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1863. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the ulcerated sore throat for years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum has been expended by the most celebrated physicians for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured from you half a dozen bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no doubt of the cure, for she is perfectly well now than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold Swett's to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

Portsmouth, April 21st, 1863.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. E. DAVIS.

From ELDRU L. CHESLEY, Esq. Nov 30, 1861.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel it my duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor and had been previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1860, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest, or sleep, by day or night. She had received a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night and labor by day. Dare any medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ELDRU L. CHESLEY.

☞ Any one obtaining the number of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with him, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 1 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. May29

Morning Chronicle.

A LITTLE GOOSE.

BY ELIZA S. TURNER.

The chill November day was done,
The working-world home-faring;
The wind came roaring through the street,
And set the gas-lights flaring;
And hopelessly and aimlessly,
The scared old leaves were flying;
When, mingled with the soughing wind,
I heard a small voice crying.

And shivering on the corner stood
A child of four or over;
No cloak nor hat her small soft arms
And wind-blown curls to cover.
Her dimpled face was stained with tears;
Her round blue eyes run over;
She cherished in her arms, cold hand,
A bunch of faded clover.

And, one hand round her treasure, while
She slipped it into the other,
Half-scared, half-confidently, said,
"Oh, please, I want my mother."
"Tell me your street and number, pet;
Don't cry; I'll take you to it."
Sobbing, she answered, "I forget;
The organ made me do it.

He came and played at Miller's step;
The monkey took the money;
I followed down the street, because
I thought it was so funny.
I've walked about a hundred hours,
From one street to another;
The monkey's gone, I've spoiled my flowers;
Oh, please, I want my mother."

"But what's your mother's name, and what
The street? now think a minute!"
"My mother's name is Mother Dear;
The street—I can't begin it."
"But what is strange about the house,
Or new, not like the others?"
"I guess you mean my trundle bed—
Mine and my little brother's.

Oh, dear, I ought to be at home,
To help him say his prayers;
He's such a baby he forgets,
And we are both such players;
And there's a bar between, to keep
From pitching on each other—
For Harry rolls when he's asleep;
—Oh, dear, I want my mother."

The sky grew stormy, people passed
All muffled, homeward faring;
"You'll have to spend the night with me,"
I said at last, despairing.
I tied a kerchief round her neck,
—"What ribbon's this, my blossom?"
"Why, don't you know?" she smiling said,
And drew it from her bosom.

A card, with number, street and name!
My eyes astonished read it;
"For," said the little one, "you see
I might sometime forget it;
And so I wear a little thing
That tells you all about it;
For mother says she's very sure
I would get lost without it."

SAVE YOUR FUEL:
THE MODEL COOK.
IS, IN FACT,
The Best Stove Out,
for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. Tin oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article will be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 30 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world, and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY
—AND—
CHEROKEE INJECTION,
Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an allay or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with it at medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and diuretic; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise

Important to the Afflicted.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS:
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and dullness in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Tumors, Painful Swellings, and the long train of horrid symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases of secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charge for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.
DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all disease incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the patient's health soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any physician in Boston, and he acknowledges no superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
CERTAIN CURE
in all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon, would give him a call.
P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail, you need give him a red stamp.
Boston, April 7, 1864.—eodly.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush; but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Calicoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

MAYOR BAILEY'S ADDRESS

AT THE ORGANIZATION OF THE CITY GOVERNMENT, JAN. 3, 1865.

Gentlemen of the City Council—

Agreeably to the requirements of the City Charter, we are assembled to organize the City Government for the present municipal year. Having been chosen by our fellow-citizens to administer the affairs of the city, we assume the responsibility of our official duties to guard their interests, and promote, so far as we may be able, the happiness and prosperity of all our fellow-citizens.

Having accepted the trust to which we have been called, let us humbly and earnestly implore counsel, wisdom and strength of Him whose kind providence has preserved us, and whose limitations, principles should be the basis of all action. Having been so unexpectedly called to the honorable position of your presiding officer, without official knowledge or experience, I find myself quite unprepared to address you upon the requirements of the community so minutely as would perhaps under other circumstances have been expected. The general welfare of the city, its health, morals, finances, improvements, in fact, all its interests being confided to your trust, whatever relates to the common good will be suitable subjects for your consideration and action.

I commend to your careful consideration the financial condition of the city. In making the proper and necessary appropriations for the current expenses of the year, we should exercise discreetly our best judgment, that we may provide amply but not extravagantly for all the wants of the city, so as not to be obliged to use the credit of the city to defray its common and ordinary expenses. There may be expenditures for which it may be necessary and proper to use the city's credit, but at a time of general prosperity in our city, it should not be our policy to add to the burdens of the future by the accumulation of debt that we can possibly avoid. The following is the financial condition of the city :—

Amount of Floating Debt, estimated at	$34,000
Amount of Outstanding City Bonds,	291,048
Total,	$325,048
Assets.
Amount of State Note,	$29,800
Amount due from United States for Bounties, 1862,	30,568
Amount due from State for State Aid, about	12,000
Amount due on Taxes, about	10,000- $82,368
Amount of City Debt,	$242,675

The care and treatment of the Poor is a duty that demands our sympathy and cheerful attention. A large proportion of the expenditure for this class is incurred in the support of those who are provided with homes at the Almshouse. The management of this Institution and the City Farm under the general control of the Board of Overseers of the Poor, is vested in the Superintendent and matron, whose fidelity to their trust, needs no stronger proof, than the orderly manner in which the House is conducted, and the good condition of the Farm.

For the condition of the Public Schools I would refer you to the forthcoming reports of the several School Committees. The management of the Schools being to a certain extent independent of the action of the City Council, it will be your duty to liberally provide means for their support, and furnish such suitable accommodations as will tend to increase their usefulness.

Our City requires an energetic Board of Health, not only for the sanitary condition of our streets, but from the fact that we are liable to be visited, as we were the past summer, by that terrible sickness, the yellow fever. In consequence of that sickness the city was subjected to an expense of about two thousand dollars. In this connection I would recommend that an Ordinance be passed more clearly defining the duties of the Board of Health in case of malignant diseases.

The character and efficiency of a well organized Police force, is of great importance to the people, and reflects upon the well being of an administration. It is essential that you appoint men for this department whose upright character, undoubted integrity, and gentlemanly bearing will command the respect of all good citizens, and in the discharge of their duty merit the cordial support of the Government. In this connection I would recommend the qualifying of some thirty or forty extra police, to be called upon in case of emergency, and to be paid only for actual service rendered, when called upon by the Chief of the Police department. For further particulars under this head, I will refer you to the City Marshal's report for the past year.

The Streets, Roads and Bridges are other subjects, for which you are to make suitable appropriations. I know of nothing the coming year that will require extraordinary expenditure. Sagamore, Liberty, and South Mill Bridges have been replanked the past year. The plan of grading our streets, commenced by our predecessors, I presume you will think best to continue to some extent the coming season. And in order that the appropriation for streets may be judiciously and profitably expended, and our streets kept in good condition at all seasons of the year, thereby lessening the risk of accidents, and suits against the city for damages, you should provide sufficient compensation to secure the services of some suitable person for Street Commissioner.

The Fire Department will require your particular attention the present year. For many years previous to the fire of July last it was solid that a building was burned, which was not on fire, when the engines arrived. Good hand machines and vigorous capable men to manage them were deemed sufficient. But at that fire it was demonstrated that the old system was not equal to the emergency. The City Council therefore made an appropriation for the purpose of one new Steam Fire Engines. Two of these machines have been contracted for. One of them built by the Portland Company, and costing $5000, has been received, and at its trial was approved and accepted by the committee. It is a compact machine, weighing about 4500 pounds, and is arranged to be drawn by two men. It is placed in the House of Engine Company "No. 2," on Court street, and is to be manned by that company. The other engine, is now building at Roxbury, Mass. will cost $4500, will weigh about 6500 pounds, and will be drawn by horses. A room for it has been provided in the building in the Court House yard. When it arrives the Fire Department will consist of two steam and four hand engines, with their companies, and the spare engine "No. 2." It will be for you to consider whether a further reduction of the number of hand engines cannot be made, and to provide for the reorganization of this Department on a new basis.

It will be my duty, as my pleasure, to cooperate with you, gentlemen of the City Council, in whatever undertaking you may be called to engage, that will have for its results the best interests of the city. I confidently rely upon you to aid and assist me in the discharge of my varied and arduous duties. In conclusion, permit me to indulge the hope that your deliberations may be characterized with harmony and candor, and your labors may be crowned with success.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 4, 1865.

AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS OF THE U. S.—An analysis of the returns shows, that "in the United States every one hundred people require eighty head of neat cattle; that eight of these cattle must be working oxen, and that this requirement has not varied a single per cent. in thirty years; that twenty-eight of the eighty must be milch cows, and that this number has not varied one per cent. for the past thirty years."

Now taking the single State of Massachusetts as an example, we find that she had less than one-half the requisite number of neat cattle within her limits in 1840; in 1850, but about one-third, and in 1860 but about one-fourth the number required for the support of her population. She must therefore import her beef, butter and cheese, and from whence? "New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia," have not enough to supply their own wants. Massachusetts must, therefore, actually transport to supply her deficiencies from an immense distance. She must reach into our western regions, and out-bid in price all intervening demand. An interesting question here arises, and one of significance to our farmers: cannot our worn-out and waste lands be made to produce beef, butter, cheese and milk, at a less cost than to transport so far? Cannot the money expended in transportation and in profits, be more advantageously disbursed within our own borders?"

☞ A copperhead letter writer, trying to softsoap the Irish Catholics, and especially the Fenian brotherhood,—says:

Still we do not believe in the practicability of the Irish gaining nationalization by force of arms, so long as England controls every Irish harbor with its immense navy. Peace is the true Catholic doctrine—especially at this season, as we are about to celebrate the nativity of the Savior.

Isn't it a funny idea, that peace is peculiarly Catholic? when the Pope is kept in Rome by French bayonets: and when the Fenian brotherhood prepare for warlike revolution.

☞ Among the most interesting instances of devotion and love, is the case of Miss Fowler, lately a passenger on board of the ill-fated steamer North America. Miss Fowler had a brother in the 11th New York Cavalry, who has been on duty for some months past. Having been taken sick, however, and remaining at the hospital in New Orleans for some time, he became very much reduced. Information of his condition having been conveyed to his sister, she immediately took measures to proceed to New Orleans, in the hopes of obtaining her brother a furlough. After striving in vain to obtain a pass, she purchased her passage, from her scanty means, in the steamer Ariel. The result has been the transfer of her brother to the New York hospital. They were among the passengers on the North America. When about to be transferred to the bark Mary E. Sibley, (which rescued them from their perilous position,) upon the first boat leaving the ship, the ladies were requested to leave first. All of them did so but Miss Fowler, who stood alone upon the fated ship refusing to go until her sick brother was first, in the boat. The boats went to the bark and returned, and not until she had succeeded in having her brother safely put into the boat, would she be induced to leave herself. Upon a representation of these facts having been made to the passengers on board the brig Arago, by Brig. Gen. J. W. Feller, a handsome purse amounting to $250, was immediately made up and presented by the General to Miss Fowler, as a small tribute of the esteem and regard of the soldier, for the noble devotion of a soldier's sister.

LONDON ITEMS. — Alluding to the sinking of the Florida, the London Times says, assuming it to have been designed, it is not disposed to waste much indignation upon the subject, as the methods of procuring and equipping the Florida were such violations of neutrality, as to deprive sufferers by her destruction, of claims to sympathy. The Times says Brazil is really the outraged party, and it predicts that Secretary Seward will make ample apology. [Sec. Seward has already made the apology,—but the Florida is at the bottom of the sea, where she ought to be.]

A blockade-running case has been on trial in the Court of Exchequer, in which the Judge pointed out that all parties in the matter were foreigners, and denounced such violations of the rights of asylum.

At a large open air meeting of operatives at Manchester, resolutions were adopted strongly opposing recognition of the slaveholding Confederacy.

— There was a grand celebration of the Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation, on Monday, in Boston.

"Sir," said one politician to another, "my party is an immovable rock." "Then, sir, the Ship of State should steer clear of it."

THE REBELLION.

A private letter from the fleet says that refugees from Charleston and other ports in South Carolina state that all the inhabitants who could do so have removed into the country. Great distress prevails. Scarcely any flour or other necessaries can be obtained at any price. Sherman's success occasions general alarm. Several blockade-runners in Charleston harbor are waiting for an opportunity to escape. Many passengers for Nassau have already engaged berths. There is little business in Charleston, other than that connected with blockade-running and war matters.

The news from the important post of Murfreesboro' during the fighting before Nashville was very unreliable, and it is only recently that Gen. Rosseau's battles with the force under the rebels Forrest and Bate have been authentically reported.—On Dec. 4th Gen. Milroy relieved the besieged garrison at Overall's creek, and on the 7th, with two small brigades, attacked Bate's entire rebel division, and, after a sharply contested engagement of nearly an hour's duration, carried his breastworks and captured two pieces of his artillery and nearly 200 prisoners. At the same time Gen. Rosseau, at the head of 200 cavalry, surprised and routed Buford's division of Forrest's cavalry, driving them from the town of Murfreesboro' and compelling the rebels to raise the siege. The principal part of the fighting was on the old battlefield of Stone river.

GENERALS WITHOUT TROOPS. — The Richmond Sentinel, the special organ of Jeff. Davis, makes the following admission:

If an array of eminent military genius could alone have sufficed, if distinguished talents could have supplied the place of men, then Sherman could never have reached the coast while Beauregard and Bragg, and Gustavus Smith and Richard Taylor, and Hardee opposed. But even such as these and all of these are comparatively powerless because comparatively alone.—They had no men to work with.

☞ The North American Review for January, is promptly issued—in fact earlier than usual we believe, for we think that the 20th of the previous month was the exact day on which for many years, Messrs. Crosby and Nichols never failed to place it before the public. This is the first number issued by the new publishers, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields; and while the editors are the same, and the general appearance of the work unchanged unless improved in typography, it was not to be expected that the Review would suffer in the hands of the leading publishing house of New England.

The contents are: Abraham Lincoln; the Early Church and Slavery; Records of Venetian Diplomacy; Girard College and its Founder; Foundation of the Roman Empire; National Resources; Palfrey's History of New England; Natural Theology as a positive Science; Heraldry in New England; Aristocratic Opinions of Democracy; Critical Notices, Recent Publications; Note to Art. III., No. CCIV; Semi-Centenary of the N. A. Review.

Mr. J. H. Foster is the Portsmouth Agent.

A COLD BATH.—Dr. M. G. Smith, of Newburyport, this year, as we have described in the past, continues bathing in the river and the open sea at day break. On Friday morning he plunged from Huse's wharf, making no account of the low state of the mercury or the floating ice, more than a wild duck. Occasionally he goes to the beach, running a half dozen miles to the back side of Plum Island, and at times even to the Ipswich river, ten miles a day, to get up a prespiration, where he dashes into the surf, and coming out, sometimes with thermometer at and below zero, he runs all the way home. This is an exercise and experience that few persons would desire, but the Herald says he is as perfect a specimen of physical health as can be found in the State.

— The British authorities are somewhat disturbed at the testimony of a witness, who had been engaged as fireman on the rebel pirate Rappahannock. He testified that a government tug took the ship out of Sheerness harbor.

— Some of the Bostonians who returned to the assessors incomes much smaller than their expenses, say their returns were on a gold basis. The Springfield Republican suggests that they pay their taxes in gold. Certainly—why not?

— About $4000 thus far has been paid to the paroled prisoners at Annapolis for commutation of rations due them while in the hands of the rebels. Up to Saturday 8000 had received their certificates.

— Gov. Andrew is causing a re-examination of the case of Green, the Malden murderer, to satisfy some doubts as to his mental condition and responsibility for the act when committed.

— The newspapers have a new question for discussion — Did Caleb Cushing vote for Lincoln? When they find out the Herald thinks we shall know it.

— A London paper says Mr. Spurgeon has declined to be called reverend.

— A thousand dollars were paid for a thousand dozen eggs in Nashville last week.

☞ The Savannah correspondent of the New York Post says "all along the march from Atlanta, Gen. Sherman never lost an opportunity of talking with and advising the negroes who came to the camp, and explain to them at length their actual position. Since he has been at Savannah he has held open levees to all who choose to come, white and black. The negroes all tell him that the lies of the rebel papers never deceived them, and that they believed that his "retreats" were victories; that they would serve the Union cause in any and all ways that they could, as soldiers, as drivers, or pioneers. The correspondent also says:

The people here re-echo the sentiment which has greeted us ever since we left Atlanta, that our uninterrupted march and conquest of this capital and chief commercial city has closed the war so far as they are concerned. They hope and pray that our army will march through South Carolina, which they charge with bitter reproaches as being the cause of the war, and I have no doubt but that they would almost as soon fight for Massachusetts as for a State with whom they have never been on terms of good will and harmony.

Hardee has already lost that portion of his troops who answered to the call of Governor Brown. After crossing the Savannah they left the ranks almost en masse, and the General, whose reputation rests upon his compilations from French tactics, has left with him the mere shadow of an army.

— Speaking of the "fast" men in Paris, a letter says: "Galloping consumption and disease of the heart are now their diseases. The galloping consumption takes six weeks to complete its mortal work. To drop down dead now is quite a common occurrence in cafes and restaurants; and in seven instances out of ten the corpse has not seen thirty Springs."

— Oregon sends a fresh backwoodsman to Congress, who had never seen a railroad till he come on this season. He had heard much of the tricks of sharpers, and was determined to keep his eyes open. He kept them open so wide that when the conductor came and tore off the coupon of his car ticket, he seized that worthy officer by the throat, and had nearly made an end of him before he could be persuaded that no wrong had been done.

— A woman in New York, who attempted to interfere in a drunken quarrel between a man and his wife, the other night, would probably have lost her life if she had not seized a billet of wood and fought her antagonists until they were rendered helpless.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these the other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound, this having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new HAIR in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

THE NEW CITY GOVERNMENT.

The new City Government was organized at the Court House on Tuesday. The members of the Common Council were called to order by Lewis W. Brewster, clerk of last year, and Lewis G. Davis was chosen temporary chairman. After the collection of credentials, the Mayor and Aldermen appeared, and the oath of office was administered to the Mayor elect by Judge Bufford, after the reading of his certificate of election: and the Mayor in turn administered the oath to the members elect of the City Council. The convention having risen, the Common Council proceeded to elect a President, with the following result: Whole number of ballots, 23; Edward P. Kimball had 1 vote; William H. Hackett had 22 votes, and was declared elected. On taking the chair, Mr. Hackett addressed the Council as follows:

Gentlemen of the Common Council:—Upon again assuming the duties of the chair, I return you my thanks for the honor conferred by your vote.

The Common Council has been regarded by some in our community as an unnecessary part of our municipal organization. But as long as our charter provides for such a branch of the City Government, and as long as respectable constituents elect members to serve in this body, so long is it incumbent upon those thus chosen to discharge faithfully the duties of this office. No one should receive exemption from such service, who can in any degree contribute to the welfare of our city by aiding in its councils.

Nor is there any excuse for the indifference that heretofore has, at times, been manifested by members of this Board. During the past year but one occasion, I think, witnessed a full meeting of this body: and notwithstanding our number essential to constitute a quorum was reduced by the death of one member and the resignation of another, it was only by compelling the attendance of members thro' the City Marshal, that we were able to secure a sufficient number to legally transact the business coming before us.

In times like the present, when enhanced prices demand enlarged appropriations, and the competition of towns compels the payment of large bounties, we are admonished, not less, I trust, by our own convictions than by the unmistakable sentiment of our citizens, developed just before our municipal election, that the most careful economy is expected from those who fill the city offices for the coming year. If we do not go forth to serve our fellow-citizens in the field or on the deck, we at least must do our whole duty to them at home by a prompt and careful observance of the requirements of the positions in which their confidence has placed us.

Trusting that I shall receive at your hands such assistance as may be required in the discharge of these duties, I again acknowledge my gratitude at this exhibition of your kindness, hoping that our service here may prove beneficial to our city and honorable to ourselves.

The Common Council then proceeded to choose a clerk. Henry A. Yeaton was unanimously elected, and the oath of office was administered to him by the President.

The Mayor and Aldermen having been notified of the organization of the Council, appeared and met the Common Council in convention, when Hon. Marcellus Bufford was chosen City Clerk, and Chas. A. Wiggin City Messenger,—after which prayer was offered by Rev. George M. Adams of the North Church. Mayor Bailey then made his inaugural address to the City Council, after which the convention rose, and the several boards adjourned.

☞ On Monday, a boat's crew belonging to the Merrimac or Albatross, with Mr. Hingerty, Boatswain of the Navy Yard, and one or two other officers as passengers, started from the Navy Yard slip at the foot of Daniel Street, about five o'clock, P. M., and when nearly across, encountered such a strong tide near the ship Franklin, as to sweep the boat on her bow mooring chains, with such force as to capsize her, with her crew. All were fortunately saved, except one—a colored seaman, who was drowned.

☞ The sleighing is superb, we make no doubt; the weather lovely, for winter; and John, at the stone stable, keeps "Billy" in the best of trim. But, alas! we don't have to "sleigh time, to kill it," now-a-days; for since Thompson deserted us, (leaving only his shadow) and his successor was laid up in ordinary for repairs, we have to work ourselves half to death to keep up the high reputation they earned for the Chronicle. Ah! when we switch off on that afternoon track, won't we lay back, eh?

PEEP O' DAY.—This great drama which has met with immense success in all the principal cities on both sides of the Atlantic, will be brought out at Temple, this evening. Mr. Murray appearing in his favorite character of Barney O' Toole, in which he stands unrivalled DRAMA.

☞ The past year has been one of large receipts for the Eastern Railroad, which has not done so well any year before since it was built. The travels holds on, too, later in the season than ever before. The management of the road is good and its future promising.

☞ Economy—to stop your own Chronicle, and steal the reading of your neighbor's. Anybody whom this coat fits, can put it on—none others need do so.

☞ Dr Dessauer, the optician, advertises to be in Portsmouth again, next week.

— Gov. Fenton of New York was installed on Monday. His message recommends volunteering.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS

—— The Manchester "Union" (which is rather poor authority in all matters relating to the Union,) says: "Nearly sixty soldiers, who have been in the U. S. Hospital in Manchester, a short time, left Monday forenoon for the army near Petersburg. Many of them are so lame they could scarcely walk, and we are told that the wounds of several others are still unhealed. Some of them have been here but little over a week. There was a good deal of scolding among these soldiers as they passed down Elm street to take the cars." Also that "About forty sick and wounded soldiers came from New York Monday morning and went immediately to the Soldiers' Hospital."

—— A letter from Co. A, 7th N. H. Regiment says: "All is quiet here at present. The army has gone into winter quarters, and it is so muddy and cold, that it would be almost useless to attempt operations. On the 21st inst. there were five men shot for desertion, and on the 26th there is another "shooting match" coming off. I guess some of these "bounty jumpers" will open their eyes by the time a few more of their number are shot. But little pity is entertained for these men by the veterans."

——The town of Swanzey is the home of George B. Mattoon, a young man only eighteen years old, who has served about three years in the Union army, been in forty-three battles and twenty-seven skirmishes, had two horses shot under him, and during the whole time has not received a single injury nor been absent from duty a single day.

—— The Concord Methodist Society met at the house of their pastor, Rev. D. P. Leavitt, one evening recently, and presented him $205 in cash, and presents valued at $12. The Monitor says they "knew Brother Leavitt to be an excellent typo years ago, and such acts show his people regard him as an excellent minister now."

—— Charles H. Powers, of East Jaffrey, has been appointed Consul to Canada: salary $1500 in gold.

—— A valuable young horse belonging to the livery stable of Jones and Hill, Manchester, was killed in his stable on Sunday night. He was "feeling pretty well," and playfully kicked up and threw one hind leg over the too-low stall; and it was fifteen minutes before he could be freed—when it being found that he was ruptured, he was killed.

Why, Missus, just look at these nice white clothes. I never knew such soap to wash with before, and as long as you are my mistress, I hope you will never buy any other but the Gold Medal Soap, it is so nice and pure, and washes so easy—just think of it—I am three hours ahead of the usual time, my clothes never begun to look half so well before, and thanks to the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. Tell all your friends to try it, and they will never use any other. Most all the grocers have it to sell. 42

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the act of 1836.)

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

EYE, N. H., Feb. 25, 1858. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum has been expended by the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some bottles of Dr. SWEET'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his HUMOR WASH, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure has effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Sweet's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a great many of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JONAS P. DEXTER.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and other vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWEET'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

FORT ELDER I. CRESLEY, Lec. May 21, 1841

DR. SWEET: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humors, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CRESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Sweet's medicines shall have pay for it, if it did not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWEET, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. may25

SAVE YOUR FUEL!
THE MODEL COOK.
IS, IN FACT,
The Best Stove Out,
for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three barrels full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this very valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of air above the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY
—AND—
CHEROKEE INJECTION,
Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus or Whites in females where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and stimulant; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

[Communication.]

☞ Messrs. Editors: This paper has carried on no little crusade during its existence, against intemperance, and against those who deal out the ardent to their fellows; but now we want to start you on another and more slippery path,—we proclaim "war to the knife" against members of the community who poison our whole existence by selling us soap-grease at 56 cents per pound, under the shallow pretence that it is butter. The rumseller deals out his fiery liquids to those who willingly buy, and through them scatters wretchedness and shame abroad in the land; but the makers and dealers in bad butter sell their noxious wares to unwilling victims, and rank to heaven the offence arises from nearly every dwelling in the land.

The hot rolls at breakfast lose their charms, when smeared with their rancid trash—a dose that would turn the stomach of a Nootka Sound Indian; the richest steak defies consumption from the same cause; and in fact the whole household economy is destroyed by this curse.

The higher the price, the worse the article. The Northampton, Mass., grocers say that butter will be 75 cents per pound before spring. The Gazette thinks it can't be eaten in any considerable quantities at that price, except by editors, ministers, and a few such rich people. If the deterioration in quality keeps pace with the increase of price, in the same ratio that it has since good butter was sold for 12 or 15 cents per pound, none but persons lined with sheet iron, will be able to eat butter at the time when the price is 75 cents per pound. The penalty for manufacturing and exposing for sale such butter as is now sold, should be the consumption of a pound of the article by the producer or vender, which would be equivalent to instant death.

CLOVER.

CONSISTENCY.—Two fashionable young ladies of Manchester were observed passing down street, with the long skirts of their dresses, which they were dragging on the sidewalk, completely saturated with the slosh which had accumulated there ankle deep. They met a very respectable elderly lady who chooses to dress in Bloomer costume. When these silly girls had passed this women, who was well protected from the weather, they were seen to turn round and laugh at her oddity, while their own lower extremities were completely enveloped in the mud and water taken up from the street. Who was the most consistent, and on which side did the laugh belong?—Union.

—At a recent seance of the Davenport Brothers, a gentleman asked leave to fire his revolver at the "spirit hand" which was thrust out of the aperture in the box where the mediums were confined. The showman refused amid great laughter.

—Over 100,000 emigrants arrived at New York during the year 1864.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and applied the virtues of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.
From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.
DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. may26

LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 5, 1865.

THE PARDON OF TUCKERMAN. — A writer in the Salem Gazette blames President Lincoln for having pardoned out of prison that "intelligent" wholesale thief, W. S. Tuckerman, — who sole $222,780 47 from the Eastern Railroad Company, (probably much of it being the property of widows and orphans,) and moreover, afterwards robbed the mails; pardoned before he had served out one half his time!" He then remarks:

Verily, to pardon such a great thief, — to show such a partiality toward such a consummate, wholesale, magnificent scoundrel, one who was educated to know better, is practically paying a great premium to him who steals by the hundred thousand, while the poor ignorant outcast of the Five Points and North end, who steals a few dimes, has no sympathy shown him. Query, how many men are there in Massachusetts State Prison who do not conduct themselves fully as well as this Tuckerman? Let President Lincoln, to merit the adjective, just, as well as "honest," have an investigation, and reward accordingly.

There is much force in these remarks and queries. It was stated and has not been denied, that Tuckerman, who had a good salary, spent his stealings on fast horses and faster women, — while his wife, who did all she could for him, was broken down and ruined by his fall. He was not too good to serve his time out. But he is at large, and may do better. He can hardly do worse than before.

SILK WORMS FOR FRANCE.—The San Francisco Bulletin says: "Macondray and Co. will ship by the Constitution, 64 cases of silk worms, which were recently received from Japan, on an order for parties in France. They will be conveyed to New York and thence to Havre. The French silk worms have become diseased, and it is proposed to try the experiment of restoring them to health by admixture with a new stock, or by substituting the latter for them entirely. The Japanese worms produce a very good quality of silk. It may not be generally known in this connection that Provost, the California silk culturist, has for a considerable time been forwarding his healthy larvæ to France."

☞ A German woman arrived in Baltimore from Norfolk on Friday, having with her a very large travelling trunk, which she sent to the railroad depot by a hackman; but as she did not appear to take charge of it before the train left, he carried it back and it was finally sent to a police station. On being opened the dead body of a man, thirty-five years old, and well dressed, was found inside. It proved to be a soldier named Samuel Freeborn of the Twentieth New York Cavalry, now stationed at Norfolk. The woman came in on Sunday and confessed she was aiding the man to desert in this way. He had been in the trunk several days, and slept there rather comfortably, but it is supposed he finally suffocated, or was either killed by the trunk being carelessly knocked about, or was frozen to death.

THE TURN OF THE WHEEL.—Thomas Sims, whose extradition from Boston, under the Fugitive Slave Law, was the occasion, some years since, of so much excitement and indignation, is said to be actin as a United States Recruiting Agent in Nashville, Tenn. It took considerable war power to get him out of this city into slavery again, and strong prejudices had to be conquered by a law-abiding people. Other prejudices have gone over-board since then, and Sims and his fellow victims now have the law-abiding people on their side, with armies to back them; thanks to the suicidal madness of the chivalry.—Boston Transcript.

Thanks, rather, to the Divine Power whose justice and goodness make the wrath of man to praise Him,—while the remainder of that wrath be restrains. Those men who were able in those trying days to "abide" by the "highest law,—are now bound to thank God and take courage.

U. T.

— Three married women, living in Farmington, Conn., and occupying respectable positions in society, were arrested on Saturday last, charged with stealing from the stores of Hartford merchants. They are sisters, two named Hinman and one Mallory—all married and in comfortable circumstances. About $1200 worth of goods of various kinds, taken from a large number of dry goods stores, was found, though much of the property taken within two or three years had been disposed of. They were exposed by one of the Mrs. Hinman being detected in stealing a cloak.

— The Providence correspondence of the Scientific American tells of a man in that city who is now taxed for $700,000. Some years since, one of his debtors failed and settled with him by giving him a few shares in the Screw Company, and this is what has built up his fortunes. It is not unusual for the company to pay 10 per cent. per month, for months in succession.

BOSTON, Jan. 2d.

Editors Chronicle: As all the correspondents are trying their hands at the Wilmington expedition, yours I presume must do likewise. The 3d, 4th and 7th N. H. Regts are in the 25th Corps, composing part of the military forces, and Surgeon A. J. H. Buzzell of Dover, surgeon of the 3d, is Medical Director of that Corps. Admiral Porter's official report which has first reached the public, places the blame on the army, Gen. Butler's report, will very likely return the compliment. It happens that for some reason the troops did not begin to disembark until 2 o'clock P. M., Sunday, the 25th of Dec., about 3000 going ashore three miles from the fort, and were not prepared for an assault until about dark. There were 1300 rebels in the fort, and about 4000 more were known to be within a short distance; meanwhile a rough sea prevented reinforcements from being landed, and in case of an unsuccessful assault, every man would have been killed or captured. The assaults on Fort Saunders in East Tennessee by the rebels, and on Fort Wagner by our forces, are fair examples of the folly of assaulting strong fortifications except with largely superior forces, as at Fort McAllister, which with a garrison of but about 200 men was assaulted by a division of Sherman's veterans—over 5000 men. "Col. Bell's" brigade is noticed as being among the troops that disembarked—probably Col. Bell of the 4th N. H., and the friends of the brave boys in that regt. may congratulate themselves on the wise decision of Gen. Weitzel.

Antagonistic feelings between the Commanders of the naval and land forces was probably the primary cause of the failure of the expedition; and it is noticable that in the Red River failure, Admiral Porter was associated with Gen. Banks, another Massachusetts Civilian general, with whom he quarrelled. Sunday, the General writes the Admiral, "both Gen. Weitzel and myself are fully of the opinion that the place could not be carried by assault." The Admiral replied, after expressing his belief that the fort could have been taken, "I do not however pretend to place my opinion in opposition to Gen. Weitzel, whom I know to be an accomplished soldier and engineer and whose opinion has great weight with me," ignoring General Butler completely. One side is good until the other is told, and it is advisable to wait for that other side this time, as it will be a treat no doubt, coming from a man who is hard to beat.

Dr. D. A. Burnham of Haverhill, late Asst. Surgeon of the 3d N. H. Vols. attends the the medical lectures in this city, and expects to graduate from the Medical College the last of this month. He was a faithful, zealous officer, and all his old associates unite in wishing him success. MANNING.

☞ The cotton planters in the Mississippi valley have been so much disturbed by guerrillas, that they are preparing to occupy positions easily defensible, and to defend them themselves. We find in the Memphis Bulletin the plan of a company of planters, who will occupy a tract between Vicksburg and Lake Providence, on the west side of the river, erect defenses, organize cavalry and infantry forces to the number of 1000 or 1500, and assess the land $8 an acre. Their object has the approval of Gen. Canby. The tract they will cultivate has 250,000 acres of arable land.

— A practical joke, ending in melancholy consequences, was recently played off on a journeyman glazier residing at Denian (Nord). The victim had for many years abstained from having his hair cut. On the day in question, while he was taking a nap after his dinner, his fellow-workmen took a pair of scissors and cut off all his treasured locks. On waking and finding what had been done, he got into such a rage that he absolutely lost his reason.

☞ An exchange says that "Army tobacco is badly adulterated. About one-third of it is sumac, which costs only $60 a ton. The effects of the adulteration are to produce ulcers that not unfrequently terminate in cancers." True, no doubt, and pity 'tis 'tis true; but can anything be viler than tobacco—to those few who don't like it?

— Mr. Spurgeon is becoming more eccentric every day. He is giving a series of lectures, in the course of which he actually appeared with a Japan candle-box in his hand, which he announced to be his text. The tenor of the discourse may be guessed, for the peroration consisted of a rapturous allusion to a chandelier hanging above him, in which were burning various colored lights, which he said typified the effulgence of the elect.

— Only five Revolutionary pensioners are supposed to be living. Three of them enlisted in New England, and one of them lives within its limits — William Hutchings, now one hundred years old, who enlisted at New Castle, Me. (then Massachusetts), and resides in Penobscot, Hancock County, Me.

— Perhaps the disfavor with which our national cause is regaderd in England, is partly explained by the remark recently attributed to Carlye, viz: "Let America succeed, and England goes to Democracy by express train."

For the N. H. Gazette.

THE DUTCH REPUBLIC AND UNITED NETHERLANDS.—John Lothrop Motley, LL.D. has set for his task the history of the Dutch Nation, from its origin down to the peace of Westphalia, or, strictly speaking, from Oct. 24th, 1555, to Oct. 24th, 1648, just 33 years to a day. This is designed to be in three distinct works, of which the second is half finished. "The Rise of the Dutch Republic" is in three volumes, octavo; and "the History of the United Netherlands" is to be in four.

You have not the space to give to these works, that they deserve. As a historian, Motley is not greatly surpassed by any that ever lived. The character of Philip II of Spain, the Great Liar, is interwoven with every page of these five volumes, and I have carefully compared Motley's delineation with that of Prescott. I think it much better accords with Spanish representations of it. In laborious research among unpublished materials in the archives of Holland, France and England, Motley has shown an amount of patience worthy of a great reward. The materials thus collected in long years have been assorted and so skillfully arranged that the narrative has all the interest of a novel, without one word of fiction.

Philip becomes, by the abdication of his father, Charles V., sovereign of numerous petty States, of which he resolves to destroy all chartered rights and to consolidate them into one vast monarchy. In this resolve he will exterminate the last heretic, and end his reign the happiest, as he began it the greatest, monarch that ever ascended a throne. In the Low Countries he finds the most liberty and the most Protestantism, and there he begins his work. But he never lived to see the end of it. For to thirteen years of rapine, perjury, fraud and murder, succeeded eighty years of war.—And such war the world will never see again, it is to be hoped. The reader could not endure all these details, were they not artfully relieved by the historian's skill, by recital of the fall of long-delayed vengeance on fiends incarnate, and the few—too few—triumphs of the right. For to the close of the fifth volume the cause of freedom constantly loses ground. We wonder at the time that it is not lost utterly. The power that is wielded against it is a unit, and maintained by all the wealth of the New World. It is upheld by individual cities or small States, weakened by divided counsels or purchased treason. It seems as if the blood of martyrs and patriots was poured forth in vain. But now we see the end:—Spain reduced to a contemptible rank; and Holland with the densest, richest, and perhaps the happiest population in Christendom. Such is the lesson taught by the History of Holland.

This history takes hold on that of England, and therefore of our own. Katherine, the first wife of our Henry VIII, was the second daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella, and great-aunt to Philip. Her daughter Mary—our Bloody Mary—was his second wife. She was a mild and liberal sovereign compared to her husband, who destroyed a hundred heretics to her one.—And in the second work the history of England and the Netherlands are so blended that Queen Elizabeth is the principal character in the two volumes issued. She shows to hardly so good advantage as we might wish. Her profanity and parsimony, her pride and credulity, give rise to the wonder where her goodness lay. The Duke of Lancaster, the hero of Walter Scott's "Kenilworth," figures largely.

But by far the greatest character of that age was William of Orange or The Silent. The Dutch Washington was a greater man and a greater General than ours, but he was not as good. Perhaps had he the sacred regard for truth, of our American hero or his scrupulous disdain of unworthy means to noble ends, he might have failed in the contest with unlimited lying and baseness without parallel. — "The rise of the Dutch Republic" might be regarded as his biography and his assassination is the closing event of that work.

After his death the Netherlands offered the sovereignty to Queen Elizabeth—actually begged earnestly to be annexed to England. What a wonderful difference it would have made in the worlds history had their offer been accepted! But the Dutch loved liberty—and Calvinism. Just these things Elizabeth hated. She consented to aid them, for next to their subjugation that of England was to follow. She simply aided them to fight her own battles. But she aided them so stingily that she might almost as well have let them alone. Taking four important towns as security for her niggard outlay, she commenced treating for peace with Spain; at first very indirectly, but at length sending commissioners to Ostend.

The negotiations continued till the Invincible Armada had reached the Straits of Dover on its way to invade England. Motley gives an excellent account of its fate, but shows that had the Duke of Parma once reached England he would have found little to resist him. Had this been (and Copperhead were as plenty in England then, as in Illinois now,) what would be the condition of the world now?

I am sorry to say so little of these important volumes. No respectable library, public or private, should be without them.—They are just the thing for one to take up who is beginning to be ashamed of the contemptible business of novel-reading, which is threatening so terribly to dwarf the intellect of the next generation. I shudder when I think of the trash that serves as mental aliment for thousands and thousands who cannot bear the trouble of thinking and will never again find any pleasure in study. Yours, I. F. H.

Hillsgrove, Ill.

THE REBELLION.

Washington dispatches of Jan. 3, say, parties who arrived there that morning from City Point report that the Dutch Gap Canal explosion took place Sunday afternoon. The earth was blown out and up to a great height, but descended into the canal again, blocking up communication.

The Mayor and many influential citizens of Savannah have held a public meeting, in which they resolved not only to cheerfully acquiesce in the United States government of the city, but to submit themselves permanently to the Constitution and laws of the Union, leaving all specific questions that may need further settlement to the disposal of Congress and the courts. They claim that they do not submit as a conquered community to its conquerors, but simply as citizens of the United States, as though they had been debarred hitherto from their just position by irresistible military control.

The World's Beaufort correspondence of the 28th says increasing preparations are making by Sherman's army to resume the offensive. The enemy evidently expect an attack on Charleston and Branchville. Refugees say Charleston is being surrounded by formidable earthworks. A portion of Dahlgren's fleet is engaged in removing the obstructions in Savannah river, some of which are very formidable. A spacious channel has been made for vessels plying between Savannah and Hilton Head. Foster's army is still at Broad River Landing, covering the Charleston and Savannah railroad.

The Atlanta Constitutionalist says Atlanta was sacked by Georgians after Sherman left it.

Deserters from the rebel army have taken possession of the North Carolina mountains, expelled the rebel citizens and defy the rebel authorities.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Express states that at the existing rate of desertion from Lee's army, one month will deplete it as much as the average casualty of a general battle.

MR. SEWARD AND BRAZIL.—It is known that the Secretary of State has been in correspondence with the Brazilian authorities in regard to the seizure of the Florida. He makes the following points: Her officers and crew will be set at liberty; Capt. Collins, of the Wachusett, is suspended; Capt. Collins will be brought before a court martial; The U. S. Consul at Bahia will be dismissed; The Brazilian flag will be saluted.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETTS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new HAIR in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off, and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the head soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years tested it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamica, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these few other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

CARTER'S

CLARIFIED MOLASSES CANDY.

Local.

☞ An unsuccessful attempt was made on Tuesday night, to enter the flour and grain store of Charles Robinson & Son, on Bow street, by extensive boring into the shutter of a back window. This is the fourth attempt which has been recently made to enter stores near "the Spring"—the others being successful.

☞ We are glad to hear that the Girls of the High School presented Mr. Payson, their Principal, an elegant silvered Butter Cooler; and Miss Morgan, his lady Assistant, a "Lady's Companion" furnished, and a handsome framed Picture.

☞ The persons who can find no better business than stealing oars and other apparatus from boats lying at the wharves through the night, had better shoulder their muskets and "go to the front," as they will be likely to find a worse place if apprehended. They are watched, and if caught, will be summarily dealt with. For the past few months, some rascals have been in the habit of purloining oars from navy yard workmen's boats, and appropriating them to their own use, or disposing of them for pecuniary gain. It is time this was stopped, and we accordingly advise such marauders to look out.

PEEP O'DAY.—This great drama which was produced in fine style last evening, will be presented for the last time to-night. Mr. Murray made a great hit as Barney O'Toole, and kept the audience in good humor throughout the whole evening. He is fast becoming a favorite here. Peep O'Day is one of the greatest sensation plays of the day, and no one should miss seeing it. D.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS

— The Monitor says: "Capt. Silvey has been officially notified that the quota of New Hampshire, under the recent call for 300,000 men, is 804. The second district has a deficiency of 699. The first district has an excess. It is to be remembered, however, that many sub-districts may have large deficiencies for which they alone are accountable. The recent call would seem to be designed merely to equalize the quotas and straighten up the accounts of delinquent States, and consequently has but a slight bearing on New Hampshire. Another call for 200,000 men may be immediately expected.

— The famous Abbotts and Downings, of Concord, have united their two carriage building establishments — the old members retiring. The Monitor says "the first coach ever built in New Hampshire was in 1827; and it is worthy of remark that while other carriages have undergone an infinite variety of changes in style, the Concord Coach was so near perfection in its line, at that early day, that it has scarcely undergone any change in construction since."

— The numerous friends of Chaplain J. C. Emerson, of the 7th N. H. Regiment, will be glad to learn that Mrs. Emerson has received a letter from a gentleman in Richmond, informing her that her husband was in Libby prison and well, and that he might be sent home soon. He has been missing since September 17th, and was supposed to be killed.

— In examining the rolls for the payment of the 7th Regiment, it was found that a private named Albert H. Emerson had served but about a year, having deserted after six months' service and returned to the regt. a few months ago. He was condemned to serve out the balance of his three years and sent back to camp.

— Keene contributed over $100 in cash to the Soldiers' Fair, at Springfield, besides many valuable articles needed for the soldiers' comfort.

*Soldiers killed in battles near Petersburg, Va.

— The Ellsworth American says that Mrs. Abigail Jourdan of Mariaville, sixty-four years of age and crippled in the left hand, having only partial use of the thumb and fore-finger, has spun seven hundred and sixty skeins of yarn in four months.

— Artemus Ward states the fact that the prettiest girls in Utah generally marry Young.

— Mr. Felt, of Salem, proposes to run his type-setting machines by steam. If somebody will only invent a machine editor, we'll all retire, printers and editors together.

Sherman killed all the dogs on his line of march. A western editor wishes Sherman would march through a certain town in his neighborhood.

The proof of the pudding is not in chewing the string, but in eating and testing. The same rule will apply to the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. Our better half says it has no equal, and will do much better work, and go much further, besides leaving the clothes in a much better state after washing. We do not hesitate to pronounce it far superior to any soap in the market. Go get a bar and try it—most all the merchants sell it. 43

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a supply of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

A TRUE AIM—It has not been the aim of the proprietor of Hunnewell's great preparations, advertised on our inside columns, to base a false reputation by long and unmeaning advertising, but a real one by true results, to which all who try them will cheerfully assent. See advertisement.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous and the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled virtues of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our Almanac in which they may be given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it, once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected a short time three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of the same. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and other vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I. CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY.

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, NO. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. mav26

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1857,)

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,

Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other Foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Research made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessarily at a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,

Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

WORTH LIVING FOR.—When from my room I chance to stray, to spend an hour at close of day, I ever find the place most dear, where some friend treats to lager beer.—Sacramento Age.

"Ah! yes, my friend of city life, sure such a treat ends such a strife, but better than such dose by far, are pleasures of a fine cigar.—Placer Herald.

"Such pleasures may suit baser minds, but with the good so favor finds; we think the purest joy of life, is making love to one's own wife.—Yolano Ledger.

"Most wise your choice, my worthy friend, in Hymen's joys your cares to end, but we, though tired of single life, can' boast of having our own wife; and so, when 'neath our cares we faint, we fly to kiss some gal that aint—yet."—Napa Reporter.

"That "lager beer" will bile provoke, while fine Havanas end in smoke. To court one's wife is better far than lager beer or vile cigar. Kisses, the dew of love's young morn, break on the lips as soon as born. These all are naught to that great joy—the first glance of your first-born boy. Evening Ledger.

"'Tis true, a boy is a wished-for blessing, but then suppose the first a girl? A dear sweet child with ways caressing, with pouting lips and flaxen curl, with dimple cheek and laughing eye, to come and bid 'papa' good-bye! So whether boy, or whether t'other, embrace the child and then the mother."—San Francisco Globe.

"If you in lager find no bliss, and loathe cigars—no child to kiss,—no wife to love—no gal to hug—don't seek oblivion in the jug; and if you haven't any sister, just ask some chap to lend you his, for spark for a little while—then "splice," and all the rest will come in nice.—Boston Leader.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the casting being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large upper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine its truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to sink and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

NEGROES AS BUYERS.—This is another innovation that the times have brought upon us; another symptom of the breaking down of the barriers that, until this war, kept the negro in his proper sphere. Now, ladies and gentlemen at auction are forced to bid in competition with swarthy negroes, who monopolize the most eligible positions and claim the nod of the auctioneer. Not an auction is held but the negro element is largely developed, and some dusky "Mrs Toodles" is always round enjoying the first pick and putting her label on the goods of her choice.—Richmond Examiner.

"My dear Ellen," said Mr. Eastman to a young lady whose smiles he was seeking, "I have long wished for this opportunity, but I hardly dare trust myself now to speak the deep emotions of my palpitating heart; but I declare to you, my dear Ellen, that I love you most tenderly; your smiles would shed"—would shed"—"Never mind the wood-shed," said Ellen, "go on with that pretty talk."

"You say" said the judge to a German whom he was trying for bigamy, "the clergyman who married you to your first wife, authorized you to have sixteen? What do you mean by that?" "Vel," said Hans, "de dold me dat I should have four better, four worser, four richer, and four poorer—and in our country four dimes four make sixteen."

— A rumseller in England, who was talking boastingly about his customers, said of one of them: "He is the most regular man in Harwick; he comes here and gets drunk every Saturday, and has done the same for ten years, except when his mother died, and that time he came on Sunday. It is a grand thing to be punctual."

— An editor being asked why he did not publish the communications sent to his office, replied, "because nobody would ever publish his when he was a youngster, and he intended to be even with the world. He had a newspaper of his own, and correspondents might go to the d—l."

—A lady whose girls were all missbapen consulted the celebrated anatomist and lecturer, Dr. Hebbard, on a prevention.—"Loose dresses and plenty of air, just like the boys," was the excellent reply of this gentleman.

Life is short and women are many. Men have no time for a close examination of each one, and to her who crowds her best goods into a showcase, is often awarded the highest prize.—Exchange.

— "All bitters have a heating tendency or effect," said a doctor to a young lady. "You will except a bitter cold morning, won't you, doctor?" inquired the lady.

— If you have a remarkably strong constitution, you may read the following; if not, we beg of you to pass it over: "If a cigar makes a man jill, will a cheroot make a manilla?"

— An old widower says: "Always pop the question with a laugh. If you are accepted, well and good; if not, you can say you were only joking!" Here's wickedness.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL FRAGRANCE, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Calhoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1865.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.—Some writers have suggested an amendment of the Constitution of the U. S. so that the people could vote directly for the President and vice-President. In some respects this might be an improvement; but on the whole it is inexpedient to throw away a state privilege so well guarded as the choice of electors, and thus to let the great states swallow up the small. But a change and perhaps an improvement could be made, by each State, without any change in the Constitution, by returning to the old usage.

We perceive it stated by a late writer that Presidential Electors were originally chosen by Districts, as Representatives now are, and for the same reason, to give a fairer expression of the popular will. The two Electors at large were chosen by "general ticket," and represented the state element — their number corresponding to the members of the Senate; — the representative body of the state, — but the District Electors, whose number corresponds to the members of the House of Representatives, the popular body, were elected by their respective Districts; and thus the two elements of political power in our government were distinctly recognized. A change was made for party purposes, and it has reduced the whole matter to State action."

The same writer adds these remarks:—"To illustrate its workings take the great State of New York, with its metropolitan city, made up, in large measure, of aliens and rebel sympathizers, who, as the recent election shows, have no sympathy with American feeling, but their immense numbers, came near overriding the whole State, and casting its vote into the scale of disunion. Yet the city has, I think, but six Electoral votes, while there are twenty-five outside its limits. Now, if every one of these twenty-five Districts had given majorities for the Union, and the unscrupulous leaders in the city had been able to drag out from the dens and cellars, a few hundreds more than the aggregate of the majorities, the entire vote of the State would have been controlled by these six Districts. I merely suggest the topic, hoping that, now the legislatures are so largely Union, they will look at it, and restore the popular element in the Presidential election to its original proportion and power. Were this done, I believe we should not hear of such overgrown majorities in New York city; and demagogues, being obliged to act in each and every District, would be shorn in great measure, of their power to do evil.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS

—— The Concord Monitor is "very glad to be able to state that the Governor and Council have voted to pay no more bounties to Substitutes after the present week."

—— The N. H. State Musical Convention at Concord, is a perfect success. About one thousand singers are present — probably the largest collection ever assembled in the State. After full consideration of the whole matter, the Convention voted not to make the proposed excursion to Boston.

—— Mr. Frank A. Gordon of Henniker, brought into the Manchester Mirror office, two apples which grew in 1862. They are sound, but rather mild in taste, and have a look about the outside as if they belonged to the Veteran Corps. He calls them the Live Forever, an appropriate name, as they have never been known to decay, and form a sort of withered immortality of their own.

—— Hon. E. H. Rollins left Concord Wednesday, for Washington, to resume his seat in Congress. The question of a Constitutional amendment is to come up for a vote on Monday next.

—— The State Capital Bank, Concord, has declared a half-year dividend of five per cent.

☞ The editor of the Farmington Chronicle says that there is one feature of heaven which he contemplates prospectively with pleasure—there will be no sneers there. Certainly sneerers ought not to go there, and yet perhaps there is no one foolish habit that so much embitters domestic bliss as the habit of speaking sneeringly. Some otherwise very good people seem to have a cynic thread woven into them, and they sneer as readily as sweet tempered people smile. Perhaps this class ought to have a merciful interpretation of their manner.

GOLD closed at New York Jan. 4, in the evening exchange at 229 1-8. It was 234 about noon.—A New York dispatch of the same day says: The agitation of the repeal of duty on paper has created a panic in the market; prices have been falling since it commenced until to-day, when contracts were offered by makers at 18 a 19c, a decline of some 8 cents a pound within a month.

— Good for church-goers: there are fifty-three Sabbaths in this year, the first and last days of 1865 being Sunday,—as of course the last must always be, when the first is, except it be leap year.

— What is the difference between a pound of meat and a drummer boy? One pounds away, and the other weighs a pound.

For the Chronicle.

DIALOGUE BETWEEN A FARMER, TRADER, AND A LAWYER.—1st Scene—a Public Market.—Trader.—What's the price of your turkeys and butter?

Farmer.—For turkeys, 25 cents lb—50 cents for butter.

T.—I can't afford to buy at such unreasonable prices. Turkeys have recently sold in the city of New York from ninepence to a shilling, although about fifty thousand pounds were sent to the army; and butter is sold in many other places at a much less price.

F.—Well, I know the price is high, but we farmers have to give very high prices for groceries and dry goods, and therefore we rise accordingly.

T.—Do you wish to purchase any dry goods in exchange?

F.—Yes, a few articles.

T.—Then step into my store, and I will take in pay some butter and turkeys.

They enter his Store.

T.—What do you wish to purchase?

F.—What do you ask for cotton shirting and gingham?

T.—We have good cotton for 55 cents, and gingham for 50.

F.—O, monstrous! You said you couldn't afford to buy at my prices, but you beat me all-hollow. I have bought good cotton for 10 or 12 cents a yard, and gingham at 25. Why have your prices advanced so high?

T.—It is owing to the war and taxes, and cotton can't be obtained for manufacture so cheap as before the war; but there are as many cows now, and as much butter and cheese made as before the war. An immense quantity is made in the State of New York. Several farmers there, near each other, keep six or seven hundred cows. All others are dependent for provisions and agricultural products upon the farmers.—The President, deriving information from all the loyal States, says in his last message to Congress, that "Again the blessings of health and an abundant harvest claim our profoundest gratitude to Almighty God." Why, then, should farmers demand for their surplus produce more than it is worth?

F.—Because you traders ask for your goods more than they are worth.

T.—Are not our goods worth what they will sell for in the market? I will ask this gentleman if I am not right.

Lawyer.—I have listened to your remarks, and in my judgment the reasoning of neither of you is quite correct. For instance, and this may apply to many other things,—you sell a horse in the market for $75, which you well know is not worth more than $50; is he worth $75? You sell butter at 50 and poultry at 25, when you well know they are not worth such exorbitant prices. Should you read Dr. Paley and other learned writers on moral philosophy, as rational men you would be convinced that it is immoral to demand for any thing more than what you believe, in your consciences, it is worth. If sound moral rules were regarded, the present high prices would soon be reduced. Honest farmers, upon whom you say the other classes are dependent, should be the first to set a good example, and then moral traders would reduce their prices, and not demand exorbitant profits.

T.—But we have to pay high prices for our goods, and we sell for fair profits.

L.—It is your duty to use your best endeavors to purchase only at fair prices, or else not purchase. If all traders would do so, the prices would soon fall,—and so would it be in respect to farmers. In some cities many have combined, not to purchase at the present unreasonable rates.

F.—The high price of gold over Treasury notes—greenbacks, and the larger issue of the latter which may never be redeemed, is one cause of the high prices, is it not?

T.—Yes. And I will sell goods at half the present prices for gold.

F.—And I will sell my turkeys and butter for one-half less, if you will reduce the prices of the articles I want one-half, or for gold.

T.—Then we will exchange.

L.—I understand this matter. It is true that the expansion of the currency, paper or metallic, tends to enhance prices, and its scarcity has the reverse effect.—Wars, although much good has sometimes been derived from them, tend to corrupt the public morals. Unprincipled speculators and contractors take advantage of the times, regardless of the glory of their country. The high premium for gold may be attributed chiefly to the gold gamblers of New York, who undertake to regulate the price by artful contrivances, and many in other places follow their example, in order to enrich themselves. They board up the specie, hoping that the paper currency will not be redeemed.

Now consider that the amount of Government receipts the last fiscal year, from all sources, exceed one billion; from customs over a hundred millions paid in specie; that the annual amount of the products of the loyal States is estimated at thirty hundred millions; that the national paper currency is a legal tender and issued in virtue of an act of Congress, as obligatory as any other act, virtually pledging all the property of the people for the ultimate redemption of the paper currency; consider also the mineral products of gold and the inexhaustible resources of the loyal States, and that every victory by land or sea tends to make the nominal price of gold go down, down, down,—can you then believe that the nominal paper currency will never be redeemed? But a large amount of the public debt will be and ought to be paid by the next or future generations. Should peace soon take place, gold would have a premium of perhaps from ten to twenty per cent., and the gamblers may be ruined.

The amount of specie in our free States may be estimated at over two hundred and fifty millions, and is fast accumulating from the mines; but Congress ought to pass an act prohibiting the export of gold. Our paper currency is only in part, the cause of high prices. Now our public debt is not to be compared to that of England; yet provisions there are lower than they were here previous to the war. Let no man deceive himself by the foolish belief that the rebels can conquer, and establish a separate oligarchical government (worse than a despotism) upon the corner-stone of slavery.

Exit Lawyer: Farmer and Trader then trade as proposed. Exit Farmer.

THE REBELLION.

The Richmond Sentinel contains a very important editorial, believed to be from the pen of Jeff. Davis. It says: "If statesmanship cannot save us, it can palliate our misery by saving us from the Yankees. Our people would infinitely prefer a favorable alliance with European nations." It closes thus:

"If France and England will enter into a treaty with these Confederate States, recognizing our nationality upon the abolition of slavery in all these States, rather than continue the war, we should be prepared to urge the measure upon our readers. We believe such a proposition would be favorably received and acted upon by these nations, and it ought to be made to them."

The Richmond Examiner, in reply to the Sentinel, opposes an appeal to France and England in the weakness of the South, and intimates that the article in the Sentinel emanated from Jefferson Davis and from a panicky mind.

Our Sec. Seward is said to have sent it to all the foreign ministers, as showing the complete exhaustion of the rebellion, and consequently that the rebels are no longer entitled to consideration as belligerents.

The Wilmington Journal of Dec. 29 says: the immediate danger is over and Wilmington may breathe freer. But our enemy is persevering and though foiled this time will hardly be willing to give up his designs without making further demonstrations.

The Richmond Sentinel of Jan. 2d says that all is quiet around Richmond and Petersburg. The same paper rejoices over the death of Major McCabe of the 13th Penn. Cavalry. A report has reached Richmond from Louisiana that Gen. Price is dead.

A flag of truce boat reached Richmond Saturday, bringing a large number of blankets for Union prisoners.

The supply ship Massachusetts arrived at Philadelphia Wednesday night from Charleston (S. C.) Bar, 30th. She reports that the fleet of iron clads had returned to Charleston Harbor and were to co-operate with Gen. Sherman in an attack on that city. It is reported that Hardee had been brought to a stand and would probably be obliged to surrender.

Dispatches from Admiral Porter report that Lieut. Cushing, commanding the gunboat Monticello, had just gone on shore and destroyed a new English blockade runner.

B. S. Osbon, Naval Reporter, has been arrested by order of the President and ordered on trial for furnishing to the public press and requesting publication, of details of the Wilmington expedition, thereby causing the enemy to reinforce the works at Federal Point.

A correspondent says the Dutch Gap Canal is regarded as a success, the result of the explosion of the bulkhead being all that was expected. A dredging machine will now finish the work.

☞ In Philadelphia, Jan. 4, a preliminary hearing took place of C. Milton Allen, cashier at the Custom House, who was arrested on the charge of being concerned in the recent robbery of $90,000 from the Custom House vaults. The accused was remanded in default of $20,000 bail for further hearing.

☞ A paper lately printed at Hilton Head called the Palmetto Herald, will be hereafter printed at the office of the Savannah News, and will become a daily paper, Mr. Mason, its proprietor, having removed to that city. This a piece of good news from "Sam," who used to be connected with the pen in New England.

☞ In Brazil there are said to be 3,000,000 slaves, who enjoy, however, many allevitions in their bondage. The parliament entertains the plan of emacipating the whole body of them at a period not far distant. Under the present emperor the slaves have decreased 1,000,000, while the products of the soil have increased 35 per cent.

☞ The foreign papers are full of rumors respecting the alleged attempt on the life of Victor Emmanuel. The Paris correspondent of the Europe believes that such an event has happened, and that the King was wounded by a stiletto. He adds that the Paris papers have been advised officially not to allude to it. Liverpool papers, however, believe the rumor unfounded, but the Turin and Milan papers do not deny it.

— The Penny Post delivery of letters has been discontinued in Newburyport and other places where not remunerative—but the citizens of N. now pay 2 cts. each to keep up the convenience by private messenger. In Manchester, the public delivery has not yet been discontinued.

— Burlington, Vt., has received a city charter, which is to be submitted to a popular vote of the people. Hitherto there has been but one city in that State—Vergennes.

— A Hibernian sergeant was drilling an awkward squad of volunteers, and, in spite of his efforts, failed to bring them into a straight line. At last out of all patience, he cried out "oh what a bent row! Just come out and look at yourselves."

—There is a man in Maine, the owner of a piece of crinoline, who shows decided pluck. He says that when another man was hugging and kissing his wife, he peeped through the crack of the door and saw it all; and as long as he has the spirit of a man remaining, he will peep on all such occasions.

☞ The Union (Republican) State Convention was held at Concord, on Wednesday. The attendance was very large, and the proceedings entirely harmonious. Hon. N. G. Upham presided; and Hon. Fred. Smyth of Manchester, was nominated on the first ballot—and will be triumphantly elected, and will make one of the best and most popular governors New Hampshire ever had.

The whole number of votes was 698. Milan W. Harris had 5, Walter Harriman 8, Onslow Stearns 221, Frederic Smyth 455—and Mr. Smith was afterwards declared unanimously nominated.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new HAIR in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely obsorbed. It prevents the hair from falling off and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

PRICE—$1 per Bottle.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This foreign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these four other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

CARTER'S
CLARIFIED MOLASSES CANDY.

Local.

THE TRACKS—not the sleighing, but those of the rascals who didn't get into Messrs. Robinson's store. A large boring bit and a very long compass saw were found beneath the steps at said store, on Thursday. They were new tools, and bore the marks of hard rubbing against nails and bolts. They were purchased at our hardware stores, by two women, on the afternoon of the robbery—a smaller saw being taken from one store first, and returned in order to buy the large one elsewhere.

☞ The U. S. steamer Albatross is moored off in the river opposite the Navy Yard, and will soon leave for Fortress Monroe.

☞ There are at present employed on the Portsmouth Navy Yard about 2300 workmen, ten per cent. of the number formerly employed having been recently discharged, by an order from the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks.

☞ A daughter of a gentleman of this city, who was living with her husband, a tanner, in Millen, Ga., when Gen. Sherman's forces visited the place and destroyed his business—followed our army to near Savannah, and is supposed to be coming North to her friends. Her father is one of the most loyal Unionists, but the young folks are reported not so true.

☞ The order relative to the landing of navy yard workmen elsewhere than at the Yard, has been strictly complied with, and most all growling in consequence of such an arrangement has ceased; but the chances of Government property being smuggled off have not been lessened, we should judge, as the facilities for theft are greatly increased by the wholesale rush at the gate at night.

☞ The Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, pays a dividend of 3 per cent.; Rockingham Bank $3 per share, 6 per cent.; Bank of New Hampshire 3 per cent.

GYMNASTICS.—Mrs. Churchill, a graduate of Dr. Lewis, and an experienced teacher, proposes to open a class in the new gymnastics, at Union Hall, soon; and as preliminary to so desirable a movement, she will, with another lady gymnast, give a public exhibition of the system, at the Temple, next Wednesday evening.

☞ A returned soldier gives us a record of the death of Geo. W. Lolley, aged 33 years, who was taken prisoner at Coal Harbor, Virginia, and carried to Millen, Ga. where he died. He was a native of Portsmouth, and leaves a family here.

☞ The Ballot correspondent states that at the recent Supper of No. Two Engine Company, in their hall on Court St., were present the Mayor and most of the Aldermen, the President of the Common Council, City Clerk, Chief Engineer and assistants and other guests. Mr. Wm. W. Cotton discharged the duties of toast master, and speeches were made by Capt Robert LeFavour, Judge Bufford, Aldermen Wendell, Brown, Rider and Broughton, and Wm. H. Hackett of the Common Council and others, in which reminiscences of the Fire Department were extensively narrated. The guests greatly admired the tastefully arranged Hall of "Twos" and seemed convinced that the new steamer Sagamore had been committed to good hands.

☞ Mr. Henry L. Garrett, formerly locomotive engineer on the Eastern Railroad, is the engineer of the steam fire engine Sagamore.

WAITING FOR THE VERDICT.—This great drama which has recently made such a sensation throughout this country and in Europe, will be brought out at the Temple of Amusement this evening. Mr. Murray sustaining the character of Robert Wood an English yeoman 96 years of age, and played by him with immense success in all the principal cities in the Union, and the Canadas. He will also appear in one of his best farces. The Temple is crowded nightly to witness the inimitable performances of this popular comedian. Don't fail to see "Waiting for the Verdict." D.

☞ The Dover correspondent of the Manchester Mirror states "the Provincetown parties who were going to charter the steamer belonging to parties in Dover, have backed out, and she will commence running right off, between Dover Point and Boston. As the distance from Dover to the Point is only five miles, and as they intend putting on a line of hacks and job teams, it will be almost as cheap to send freight from the Point, as it would if she went from Dover wharf."

☞ Jasper G. Wallace, of Dover, who was recently hurt by the falling of a weight at the Navy yard, is getting along nicely and will soon resume his work.

☞ A young man named Blaisdell, from York, Me., who enlisted in one of the Maine regiments some two or three years since, and who has for a long while been supposed to be dead, arrived in Boston recently, very sick and weak, having just been released from a Southern prison. He has a mother and sister living, who of course are overjoyed at the unexpected appearance of their son and brother.

LINES WORTH REMEMBERING.

How happy is the man
Who owes not a pound,
But lays up his fifty
Every year that comes round:

He fears neither Constable,
Sheriff, nor duo;
To Bank or to Justice
Has never to run;

His cellar well filled,
His pantry well stored—
He lives far more blest
Than a prince or a lord.

Then take my advice,
If a fortune you'd get—
Pay off what you owe,
And keep out of debt.

Jan., 1865. J. N.

PRECIOUS SOLDIERS.—Of three detachments of substitutes sent from Concord, to join the Fifth N. H Vols., amounting to 625 men: 137 deserted on the passage, leaving only 488 to arrive at the regiment. Of the 488 who got to the regiment and were assigned to companies, 82 deserted to the enemy from picket line; 36 deserted to the rear; 4 have been discharged as utterly worthless from physical incapacity; 5 have been sent back to Concord to have their cases of enlistment investigated by order of the War Department; and 2 have been discharged by order of the War Department. Thus, out of 625 of these bounty-tempted warriors sent to one regiment only since August last, there are only 359 left.

— The Washington Chronicle says there is little doubt that breech-loaders will be established by authority as an indispensible arm of the public service.

The proof of the pudding is not in chewing the string, but in eating and testing. The same rule will apply to the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. Our better half says it has no equal, and will do much better work, and go much farther, besides leaving the clothes in a much better state after washing. We do not hesitate to pronounce it far superior to any soap in the market. Go get a bar and try it—most all the merchants sell it. 43

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

A TRUE AIM—It has not been the aim of the proprietor of Hunnewell's great preparations, advertised on our inside columns, to base a false reputation by long and numbering advertising, but a real one by true results, to which all who try them will cheerfully assent. See advertisement.

American and Foreign Patents,
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,) 76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and and drop heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin water closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of kindling every morning.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, it has power to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass over the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on top of the coal can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert E. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

DRESSING FURS.—When the furs come from the hunter, in the raw state, to the furriers, they are sorted over and then prepared for tanning; the term used is "leathering." They are greased, with common grease, on the leather side, and then put in a tub large enough for a man to get into and work easily at them. A cloth is then bound around the man's waist so as to keep the steam in the tub, and the skins are then worked by the feet until warm, which takes an hour or more; they are afterwards taken out and greased again; when the skin and grease are worked again a few handfulls of mahogany sawdust are thrown in and worked to leather. When the skins are leathered, they are taken out and pulled through a rope; they are then pickled over night in water and sawdust, and in the morning are ready for the flesher.

When fleshed they are hung up to dry, then greased again, and leathered once more; they are then taken out and the fur combed, well beaten and drawn over the knife, or "pared" as they call it. The skins are again put into the tub with plenty of fresh, clean sawdust, and worked into the sawdust until the fur is entirely freed from grease. It may be necessary to change it two or three times. The fur is then taken out and well beaten and corned, and it is then ready for the cutter. This is the way all fine furs are dressed, from the muskrat to the Russian sable. Buffalo and bear skins are dressed in somewhat different style, but still under the same general processes.—Scientific American.

THE ARABS possess a wise practice in proceedings for divorce. When married people seek a separation, the Cadi orders them to live for some time with a discreet and austere man of the tribe, that the latter may examine their life and see on which side blame lies. This elderly man makes a report at the expiration of the appointed time, and this report is the foundation on which the Cadi builds his judgment of divorce. Experience has demonstrated that there is no better method of restoring peace in families. The husband and wife put thus upon their good behavior, resume the manners of courting days. Each strives to be more amiable than the other, to convince the "elder of Israel" that it is not this one's fault if the honeymoon changed its quarter. Old love is awakened, and the pair that went to the approved man's tent snarling like cat and dog, return home cooing like doves.—Sal. Eve. Gazette.

A loquacious gentleman, finding himself a passenger in a stage coach with no one but a very prim and taciturn maiden lady of some forty winters, endeavored in vain to engage in conversation. At length night came; as nothing was said, both fell asleep. The stage finally stopped and the driver announced to the lady that she had arrived at her place of destination. Her fellow passenger being awakened at the same time, thought he would compel the lady to exchange a word at leaving, and addressed her; "Madam, as we shall never again, probably, sleep in the same room together, I bid you a very respectful farewell." A scream, and silence reigned again.

Henry Ward Beecher and John B. Gough, talk to Lyceums for an hundred dollars an hour, or a dollar and a half a minute, and there are enough to pay them that rate. When did talking ever pay so much before? But it is not talking alone; it is acting. One of the first things we remember of a public nature, was the effort of the elder Beecher to suppress the theatres; then it was not dreamed that his sons would come up actors, and his daughters, writers of novels to be dramatized for the stage.—Newburyport Herald.

— A firm in Portland who bought in Boston from the cargo of a captured blockade runner, ten barrels of what purported to be Epsom Salts, found on examining their purchase it was not salts, but "villainous saltpeter" in a pulverized form, looking very much like the article it counterfeited, but intended for the manufacture of rebel gunpowder. The parties who made the purchase realized a good thing out of the speculation, as Epsom Salts are only worth 5c. and the saltpeter 25 c. per pound.

— Here is a Tuetonic soldier's soliloquy on the Presidential canvass: "I goes for Olt Abe. He likes the soldier boy. Ven he serves tree years he gives him one hundred tollar, and re-enlists him, and make him von veteran. Now Olt Abe he serve four years—we re-enlist him four more years and make von veteran of him."

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted to the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Calicoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1865.

☞ The St John Globe says the Right Hon. Mr. Cardwell of Canada announces the assent, generally, of Her Majesty's Government to the Confederation scheme adopted at Quebec. England will be rather glad than otherwise, to get her American Colonies off her hands, for they cost her more than they come to. And who knows but we may have as many Confederations here in North America, by and by, as they have in South America?

☞ The Washington Star says:—"We have information of the capture of a Captain, Lieutenant, and seven men of Mosby's command, who contemplated a raid on the Baltimore Railroad. A large amount of money and papers containing information of value to our authorities, are said to have been found upon them. There are some matters of interest in connection with this capture not judicious to publish."

ONE OF THE "FREEDMEN."—In the jail at Newport, there is a burly negro named George Washington Cassius M. Clay. He was stolen in Kentucky and brought to this State by some "loyal" Abolitionists, and was exhibited at Abolition meetings last fall as a specimen of the "Freedmen" for whose benefit the people are asked to contribute money. He attended meetings and sat upon the stage with Cragin, Toppan and others. After election he went into stealing on his own account, and was put into jail. On Thursday evening last, as the jailor entered to lock up the prisoners, this "Freedman" seized him by the throat, and was only deterred from further violence by the sight of a pistol. It was afterwards discovered that the prisoners, including two other negroes, had made a hole through the wall with a view to escape, and this "Freedman's" assault upon the jailor was a part of the programme.—Patriot.

A very bad nigger that, if this is all true,—who shows his bringing-up among fraud and violence; but is he half so mean a poor devil, as the intelligent and educated copperhead, who, perhaps nourished and supported, and certainly protected and blessed by his government, turns against the country which he should stand by to the last.

☞ The case of Green, the Malden murderer goes over to the new Executive Council. The old one was determined to have him hung, and the Governor is determined he shall not be. And he probably will not be. If the new Council is of the same mind as the old, the case will only have to wait till a Governor and Council come together, who are agreed.

The theory of those who oppose the execution of the sentence, is that Green is of so low a moral and intellectual nature as not to have realized the character, the enormity of his act. Green undoubtedly is a pretty weak fellow, but the Traveller thinks Malden must be very short of human timber to have for its postmaster and express agent a man who didn't know what murder was.

— The Herald says "the poor expenses of Newburyport are greatly in advance of the cost of maintaining the poor in any other city or large town in the State, in proportion to population. They expend $27,000 in a population of 13,000, in addition to the income of funds and the disbursements of charitable societies. This is monstrous—two dollars a head on all the men women and children of the city, pauper tax."

☞ In a private letter, just received at Washington, Gen Sherman says that in his march through Georgia, if he could have fed all the negroes who joined his army, the population of Savannah would have been increased to one hundred thousand. Being unable to feed this vast crowd he was obliged to turn most of them back.

— The Montreal Gazette gives currency to a rumor that on the 4th of March next, the day of the re-installation of Mr. Abraham Lincoln in the President's chair, Great Britain and France will only recognize him as President of the States for which he was elected, and in that way make a recognition of the Southern Confederacy.

— No sooner did the Navy Department learn of the inexplicable bursting of the Parrott guns, in the attack on Fort Fisher, than a board of experienced officers was summoned to investigate the cause of this strange defection of these cannon, of which there are upwards of one thousand in the service.

— The New York Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee to receive subscriptions for Savannah, and passed resolutions calling for aid. Col. Allen will administer the aid, by Gen. Sherman's sanction.

— The Newspaper Publishers' Convention, at Columbus, Ohio, resolved to raise the price of all weekly papers to two dollars and a half per year, and increase the rates of advertising.

☞ Barnum says—and Barnum knows—that any man who pays more store-rent than advertising, don't know how to do business.

— The U. S. steamer Lancaster, Admiral Pearson, sailed for Callao on the 17th, from Panama.

THE REBELLION.

A dispatch from Courtland, Alabama, states that the U. S. cavalry belonging to Major General Steadman's command, have pursued, captured and burned Hood's pontoon train, captured 600 mules, 100 wagons and 200 hogs. Forrest is reported near Russellville, and a deserter from Hood's army reports that Hood has been ordered to Tuscaloosa, to reorganize his shattered army. Rhoddy's cavalry command is almost entirely dispersed.

The Boston Post's special Washington dispatch of Jan. 5, says that Hood's army, as an organized body, has ceased to exist. It is shattered to the four winds, each detachment "going it" on its own hook after something to eat. Thomas still continues to gobble up prisoners as he advances. A telegram received on Wednesday from Nashville, says Hood has only eight pieces of artillery left.

Over two hundred rebel deserters have come within our lines in front of Petersburg during the past week. Most of them were Georgians and North Carolinians.

Richmond papers of the 4th announce that Kilpatrick's cavalry had reached Hardeeville, a post half way between Savannah and Charleston. They fail to state whether our cavalry succeeded in rescuing any of our prisoners confined there. The impression prevails in official circles that a large number were released by Kilpatrick. Sherman's infantry is also moving northward.

Lieutenant Colonel Mulford, agent for the exchange of prisoners, expects to leave Washington with new propositions to the rebel authorities for a full and immediate exchange of all our prisoners now languishing in Southern Prisons.

Gen. Butler's report of the operations of the land forces in the recent attack on Fort Fisher, received at the War Department, is a lengthly and elaborate document and will relieve Gen. Butler from all blame in the matter.

An official dispatch from the rebel Gen. Hardee, at Charleston, Jan. 2, says: The enemy are landing in force on the South Carolina side of the Savannah river, and driving our pickets towards Hardeeville.

The Federal raiders are reported to have returned from the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, going westward. They have left 40 wounded. Gen. Gholson is badly wounded. The damage to the Railway will be repaired in about 10 days.

The official rebel report of the damage done to the salt works in Virginia states that the piping, cisterns, &c., are uninjured. The sheds are all destroyed. There are 783 kettles broken and 1280 good ones remaining. The total amount of salt at the works is 92,000 bushels, damaged slightly by fire. The wells are not seriously damaged.

The rebel pirate Olustee escaped from Wilmington Christmas night. Next day she was discovered and chased by the U. S. steamer Lillian, but finally turned on her pursuer, who was obliged to beat a hasty retreat, owing to her having but two guns against five heavy ones carried by the pirate.

The Sec. of War has visited Gens. Grant, Sherman and Foster, and consulted with them on important matters relating to the service.

It is stated that rebel troops are being hurried off to Branchville, S. C., to check Sherman's northward movement.

Official information has been received that Gen. Kilpatrick has seized Hardeeville, on the Charleston and Savannah railroad.

The World has a Washington dispatch going to show that England and France will recognize the South on the 4th of next March, because Mr. Lincoln did not carry the Southern States—and the Montreal semi-rebel papers sing the same song.

The blockade runner Julia, from Charleston for Nassau, with 450 bales cotton, was captured on the 26th ult. by U. S. steamer Acacia.

The Richmond Sentinel says that the Augusta Chronicle is manifestly working for "submission" to the north.

☞ In New York on Tuesday the Committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to report on the communication from merchants of Bahia, relative to the seizure of the Florida, requesting the merchants of New York to suspend giving any reward to the captors of the Florida, made a report. They state that most of the signers of the communication are allied to British rebel interests!! and recommend that the thanks of the Chamber of Commerce be tendered to Capt. Collins, of the gunboat Wachusett, for his courage and conduct in generously subjecting himself to the risk of censure and the loss of his commission, in order to rid the seas of a scourge and our commerce of an incendiary foe.—A motion was made to send a copy of the report to the merchants of Bahia, but objection was made that the merchants of New York should take no further notice of the factors of British pirates, and the motion was not put.

— The Tribune's Washington dispatch states on high authority that John C. Fremont was appointed to the French mission on Tuesday.

— Gold, Friday, 227 1-2.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

Collected and Collated by UNCLE CURT.

Richard Waldron—The Congress of 1754.

Richard Waldron was the son of Colonel Richard Waldron, and grandson of Major Richard Waldron, who was killed by the Indians at Dover in 1689. In his maternal line, he was the grandson of Major William Vaughan; so that he was descended from two of the earliest and most respectable inhabitants of New Hampshire. He was born in February, 1694, received his education at Harvard College, and was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1712. He fixed his residence at first on his paternal estate at Dover, but removed afterwards to Portsmouth, and lived at the plains. In 1728 he was appointed a Counsellor, and a few years afterwards Secretary of the province. In 1737, Governor Belcher appointed him Judge of Probate. He retained these offices as long as Governor Belcher presided over the province; but soon after Governor Wentworth commenced his administration, he suspended Mr. Waldron as Counsellor, removed him from office, and appointed Colonel Atkinson Secretary, and Andrew Wiggin Judge of Probate. He remained a private citizen, until the beginning of the year 1749, when he was solicited by his friends in Portsmouth, to be a candidate to the General Court, which was to meet in January; but he absolutely refused. In the mean time, the town of Hampton elected him their representative, without giving him any previous intimation of their design; they notified him of their choice by a Constable, and after some consultation he accepted the appointment. In a letter to Governor Belcher, [of Massachusetts,] stating these circumstances, he says, "thus sir, I have once more stepped on the public stage, to act my part in the present scene durante bene placito Populi."

When the Assembly met, he was unanimously elected Speaker; the Governor, [Benning Wentworth of N. H.,] negatived the choice, but the Assembly adhered to their vote. Matters remained in this situation for three years, the term for which the Assembly were elected, and they were then dissolved of course.

This was the last of Mr. Waldron's appearance in public life; he died in the year 1759, aged 59. Mr. Waldron was a person of distinguished talents and literary acquirements. A strong friendship existed between him and Governor Belcher, which continued through life. He took an active and decided part with Belcher against his opponents, and was serviceable in procuring testimony in his favour, when complaints were made against him to the Lords of Trade. Mr. W. was a professor of religion, and zealously attached to the church, of which he was a respectable member.

In 1754, two Indians, one named Sabatis, and the other Plausawa, belonging to the St. Francois tribe, were killed by some persons in the woods, near Contoocook. Suspicions fell on Anthony Bowen and John Morrill. They were apprehended, indicted, and arraigned, and committed to the gaol in this town for trial. Previous to the time appointed, a number of persons in a disguise, armed with axes and iron bars, came in the night, broke open the prison, and carried off the prisoners, who were never retaken; nor were the rioters discovered, notwithstanding a reward was offered by the Governor for the purpose.

On the 19th, of June 1754,—a Congress was held at Albany, composed of delegates from the several provinces as far south as Maryland. Theodore Atkinson, Richard Wibird, Henry Sherburn, and Nathaniel Weare were delegates from New Hampshire. The three first belonged to this town. One design of the meeting was to hold a conference with the six nations on the subject of the French encroachments. Large presents were made them to detach them from the French. At this Congress a plan of union was agreed on, but not accepted, either by the British ministry or the colonial governments.

In the month of August, the Indians began their depredations on some of the frontier towns.

EASTERN RAILROAD. — The total income for the year ending Nov. 30, was $1,068,741 16. Cost of working the road $579,765 77. Interest paid during the year amounted to $95,608 43, and tax $28,552-54. Net earnings, after deducting all expenses, including tax and interest, $364,814-42. Two dividends, of 3 per cent each, have been paid to the stockholders, amounting to $220,626, and a surplus is left of $144,188 42. Total surplus on hand $303,885 85. Number of passengers carried during the year 1,920,767.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— A squad of one hundred and twenty substitutes left Camp Gilmore Thursday, for the 4th Regiment, N. H. V., by the way of Gallouppe's Island, in charge of Captain Johnson and Lieuts. Churchill and Theinherdt. The Monitor gives the whole number of volunteers received during the month of December, from three districts as, white 75, colored 4. Substitutes, white 220, colored 26. Total, white 592; colored 30. Sent to the several regiments during the month, 501 white substitutes and 22 colored ones; and of volunteers, 4 white and 6 colored. Total number sent, 594 white, and 28 colored. Nine desertions during the month, four of whom have been re-taken, making the actual loss by desertion five. P. S.—Three of the above escaped out of the car windows, on their way to Boston.

—— Mrs. Mary W. Sanborn, wife of Prof. E. D. Sanborn, of Dartmouth College, died at Hanover, Dec. 30, of pneumonia, after a very short illness. Mrs. Sanborn was the oldest daughter of Ezekiel Webster; brother of Daniel, and the Monitor says that "In her we have lost the last immediate relative of our own Webster.

—— Hon. James W. Patterson, Union Republican, has been renominated by acclamation, for Congress, and will be re-elected, of course, as he should be.

—— The Newburyport Herald says "New Hampshire has stopped paying bounties for soldiers." This is not so—she only declines longer to pay high prices for worthless substitutes.

—— E. S. Barrett, has resigned the position of State Auditor, and David Dodge Randlett, for some time past chief clerk in the Auditors' office, has been appointed to fill his place.

—— Dr. William P. Stone, Surgeon of the Second Regiment, N. H. V., has been appointed Brigade Surgeon.

— Steamboat Potomac, of the Portland and Boston line, took fire around the boilers at 4 o'clock Friday morning, when between Wood Island and Cape Elizabeth.—The fire was so rapid that they had to abandon her in haste in the boats. Four men were lost. The rest of the crew and passengers were taken up by a fishing schooner, and have arrived at Portland, where the wreck has also been towed.

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETTS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new HAIR in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

PRICE—$1 per Bottle.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these two other medicinal agents, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

CARTER'S
CLARIFIED MOLASSES CANDY.

Local.

A BIT PERSONAL, or rather Newspaperial, we have in the Manchester Daily Union—which name, by the way, should be disunion. They say their "circulation is much larger than that of this Chronicle or the Concord Monitor; but we don't know how they arrive at that conclusion about ours, for we neither know (nor care) anything about their business, nor can they have better acquaintance with our affairs. At any rate, so long as we pay for white sheets about all we charge for the same after printing, we don't propose to labor very hard to increase our lists,—which are very satisfactory to (ourselves, tho' our less successful cotemporaries, here and there, from time to time, concern themselves with the matter. And by the way, you may always know a newspaper is going a little hard, when it tells of its large circulation, superior advantages, &c.

The Union, the editor says, is also "favored with a fair advertising patronage. The only trouble is, (the editor well says,) our terms are too low, and consequently our compensation for a great deal of hard work, altogether too small." That's the trouble with all country newspapers, no matter what their price, for none of them are high enough.

The Union presents "the matter in a nutshell: If our friends want the paper, and are willing to pay therefor a remunerative price, we want to print it; otherwise, not." His price has been $4 a year—now it goes to $6; and that is not enough, as he will find after trial. We have been there, and stayed as long as we wanted to. One good thing about it, isn't there? If papers cost the publishers more than they get for them,—when subscribers "stop," the printer don't lose much, does he?

The Union man goes on to say that he gets no official patronage, and hopes to deserve none from the present dynasty—which is all well enough, though we think all such villifiers of the government they live under, "deserve" some curtailment of the liberty they outrage. But he also says that this Chronicle, among others, does receive large official patronage! "Naow, dew tell!" We should like to know when, where, how, what? If ever there was a newspaper which was born and brought up without "pap" of any sort or kind, here you have it. We never asked a party, clique or body for a cent of patronage of any sort—nor did we ever get any such, that we know of. Our concern has always stood on its own bottom, and paid one hundred cents on a dollar; without the aid, pecuniary or political, of any other man or set of men, that we ever heard of. If anybody sends us business, we are glad of it, and do it to the best of our facilities—but we never asked, expected or received any support on political grounds. Business is business, and as such alone have we done what we have.—As to parties—we never heard of one that was suited with us, yet, and don't care whether any of them like us or not. When we can't print a paper that will take care of itself, (and us), like any other decent business, we shan't print one at all.

"In looking over the audience, we miss the genial face of brother Miller, of the Portsmouth Chronicle, whom we confidently expected to see present, 'Sam buks' in hand."

Ah! "there you have us"—or rather, we are sorry to say you don't have us; for while, "in such a frame as this, our willing soul would stay,"—if we could only get there; "and sit and sing herself away to everlasting bliss"—we have been obliged to stick to our more prosaic business, and handle bank-notes rather than musical ones—a very agreeable occupation, by the way; but we don't like for any business to interfere with pleasure!

The Mirror correspondent says that in the powerful choirs, "the bass was light, tenor good, and both trebles very effective." We should like to have helped out the bass a bit, but for that baser business. And we will remark that it would seem that the nearer you get to the mountains, the more tenor and good trebles you find. Down this way, all is bass enough.

Thermometer personal, "high as ninety." Portsmouth Chronicle.

Rather feverish, that. What's the matter?—Concord Monitor.

Well, various things. First, our "coadjutor" editorial having deserted us, we couldn't accept the invitation to attend that Musical Convention,—nor to see friend Smyth nominated for Governor—nor shall we be able to use our invitation to the Horse Guards' Ball. Then, we have to work to keep up within a day or two of the news; and everybody wishes us to make their bills, at once; and lots of nice girls want us to go sleighing with them—and we can't; and, oh dear! we are all in a fluster, anyhow. "Feverish"—is it any wonder?

P. S.—Dr. H. has just happened in at our counting-room, and says ours is a clear case of erysipelas; and he knows, or if he don't, we nose.

☞ Speaking of the Cornêt Band at the Lyceum, the Ballot correspondent says, "the band gave a splendid concert. The appreciation of 'our' band is seen by the patient waiting of the audience, after a long lecture, preceded by a half hour concert, to hear the band perform again, notwithstanding it may be 'after nine o'clock,' a period of time when in former days at least, every well behaved person in Portsmouth was expected to retire."

☞ Many newspapers charge more for subscribers' copies delivered by carriers, than if sent by mail—and well they may, for besides the expense, which is considerable, there is no end to the trouble and vexation from faithless carriers, door thieves and bad weather.

We always regard it as a favor to be immediately informed of any failure or irregularity in the delivery of the Chronicle or Gazette, for that is the only way by which we can attempt to serve subscribers as they should be.

In this connection, Mr. Charles E. Peirce, on Jackson street, desires us to state that if the man who steals his paper from his door about four times a week, will leave his name, he will order him another copy and save his own.

Another subscriber in an exposed locality, who does not rise so early as our carriers get round, and is usually awaked by the ring for his paper; has on several occasions, looking from his chamber, seen other boys stealing the Chronicle from doors where it had just been placed — and on two occasions, it was taken from his own, before his eyes, but he was not in street to let to pursue the vexing rascal.

This sort of thing accounts for the not unfrequent complaint that "the carrier rings but leaves no paper;" yes, he left it, but some body else did not. Carriers are slack enough, we know, but not always to blame for the troubles of subscribers.

☞ The U. S. steamer De Soto is to leave the Navy Yard in a day or two for Baltimore to have her boilers repaired, or new ones put in,—Acting Volunteer Lieut. Wm. Budd is to command her; and Lieut. Bishop of the marine corps has been ordered to temporary duty on board this steamer.—She will probably leave to-day.

LAST NIGHT OF "WAITING FOR THE VERDICT."—To-night will be presented for the last time, the great drama of "Waiting for the Verdict," which was produced last night in splendid style to a crowded house. Mr. Murray's rendition of the old English yeoman 96 years of age, was a masterly performance, and received as it deserved—the most enthusiastic applause. The entire company also deserve great credit for the able manner in which they sustained their separate roles. One of Mr. Murray's side-splitting farces will conclude the entertainment this evening. D.

☞ The third of the course of Temperance Lectures will be given to-morrow (Sabbath) evening, by Rev. Mr. Adams, in the North Church, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

MARRIAGES.

In this city, Jan. 5, by Rev. James DeNormandie, Mr. J. FRANKLIN ADAMS to Miss EVA M. HUSS, both of Kittery.

By his Excellency the Governor.

A PROCLAMATION.

After Saturday next, the seventh day of January, the bounties, by unanimous vote of the Governor and Council, heretofore paid to SUBSTITUTES by the State of New Hampshire, will cease to be paid. In making this announcement I am well aware that the action which has been taken in the premises by the Governor and Council may not at once commend itself to the favorable judgement of the people of the State. Such action, however, is imperatively demanded by the facts which have been officially reported by members of the State Government, who have lately made a personal inspection of the condition of nearly every New Hampshire organization now in the service. It appears from such report, that neither the General Government nor any of the States (with the exception of New Hampshire and Connecticut) have for some time past been paying bounties to substitutes. It appears, also, that hundreds of men who have been duly mustered and forwarded to our regiments have never been received; and that hundreds more have deserted to the enemy on the first opportunity. The State has therefore paid thousands of dollars for men who, (while they nominally fill our quotas, and while the excuse from military service men who are able to bear arms, and from their profession of loyalty ought to be willing to do so,) are rendering no help to our country in her hour of peril, but on the contrary giving aid and comfort to her enemies.—Such men are disgracing the State which they represent, and making the names of some of our best and bravest regiments a by-word and a reproach in the loyal armies of our country.

Having learned these facts from unmistakable evidence, I cannot feel that it will be right—that anything less than a betrayal of the trusts committed to them—for the State authorities to longer acquiesce and assist in sending this class of men to nominally recruit, but really disgrace her noble regiments which have won such glorious distinction on every field. The honor of the State demands a change in this respect; and (at whatever sacrifice of personal popularity, at the price even of a humiliating confession of previous ignorance and delinquency,) the change shall be made. The public treasure shall not be squandered with no adequate and substantial return.

The citizens of New Hampshire will, of course, still have the opportunity to send substitutes to represent them in the rebel ranks. The withdrawal of the State bounties will doubtless cause such a decline in the market value of bounty-jumpers and gallows-birds that they can be procured by individuals as cheaply as ever. No substantial injury is therefore inflicted upon those persons who feel that they must be represented by proxy in the army, by the action of the Governor and Council which is this day announced. But I appeal to such persons to send no man to the front for whose loyalty and good conduct they are not willing to be personally responsible—that they may be in fact as well as in name the final overthrow of the rebel hosts.

In making this announcement I wish it distinctly understood that I shall spare no pains, efforts or expense to promptly fill every quota which is assigned to the State of New Hampshire, and shield our people from an indiscriminating and unwelcome draft. Bounties of $100, $200 and $300 will still continue to be paid by the State to volunteers for one, two and three years, in the military, naval or marine service of the United States. Bounties of $150, $300 and $500 will still be paid to recruits who may be accredited to the quota of New Hampshire within the limits of insurgent States—and the Governor and Council confidently expect to secure from this source, at a comparatively slight expense, more men (and those, too, thoroughly loyal, and in many cases veteran soldiers,) than the substitute brokers of New Hampshire are prepared to furnish. Every facility consistent with the existing laws will be given to sub districts desiring to recruit in insurgent States.

In conclusion, let me appeal to the people of New Hampshire to offer such bounties to their own citizens as may fill the decimated ranks of our old and tried regiments with such men as we sent in the 18th Infantry and the Heavy Artillery. The recent call for troops demands of our State but a few hundred men; but other calls may be made of us in order to give the death blow to that gigantic rebellion which already totters towards its grave. To such demands let us make a substantial and hearty response. Let our young men respond in person. Let our wealthy citizens, who are not subject to enrollment, esteem it a privilege to have their names written in the ranks of our victorious armies by tried and trusty representative recruits. JOSEPH A. GILMORE, Governor.

Concord, Jan. 4th, 1865.

LIGHT GYMNASTICS.—The former pupils of Miss Haskell, who passed many pleasant social evenings last winter in the practice of Dr. Lewis' system of Light Gymnastics, will be gratified to learn that new classes are about to be formed here. We take pleasure in referring the attention of our readers to the advertisement of an exhibition to take place at the Temple next Wednesday evening. Mrs. Churchill brings good recommendations from Dr. Lewis and from those who have attended her classes in other places. This system especially commends itself to ladies to whom the more severe work of the old gymnasium is not so well adapted. Some, at least, of those who practiced last winter are highly gratified at the results of that exercise upon their systems.

In this connection, we are reminded of the existence and operation of the PORTSMOUTH GYMNASIUM, at No 88 Market street. It is kept in good working order by the company who control it; and, existing as it does more for the benefit of the subscribers than for the pecuniary interest of the company, is involving and receiving quite a number of the young and middle aged men of our community. A full and genial flow of animal spirits, such as is stimulated by judicious gymnastic exercise, is in no way derogatory to the finest intellectual and moral development—but on the contrary is essential to its usefulness.

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates, and men decay!"

Thanks to our subscribers for the promptness with which our newspaper accounts are being settled for the year 1865. Our friends will all do well to bear in mind the advantages of advance payment.

MRS. WHIPPLE'S RECITATIONS before the Mechanics' Association last evening, were greeted by a large audience, notwithstanding the bad walking. Her selections were well suited to a popular audience, and under the magic power of a well modulated voice, old and familiar pieces seemed to glow with a new meaning. Mrs. Whipple went through her entire programme without book, exhibiting a power of memory truly remarkable. Her appearance on the stage was easy and graceful, and her audience were in sympathy throughout. The entertainment, in a word, was a gratifying success.—Lowell Daily Citizen and News.

THE SWISS MOTHER.

BY J. P. CARPENTER.

She took his rifle from the wall,
The same his father bore;
She gave the boy his alpenstock,
His father's long before;
She did not let him see her weep,
But kissed his rosy face;
She bade him boldly hasten forth
And take his father's place.
She tho't but of her country's wrongs,
Yet pressed him to her heart,
Oh! well might that proud mother grieve
To see her boy depart.

A month before her husband joined
His brethren of the glen;
A week—he lifeless form they bore
Its native home back again:
Those warrior peasants laid it down
Within her Alpine cot,
They hastened back to meet the foe,
For they might mourn him not.
But she must send another forth;
Her doubly stricken heart
Might well be proud and not to break
From her brave boy to part.

And so she took the rifle from
The chamber of the dead,
And filled the flask, and put it on,
Then forth her boy she led;
"Go," she said proudly, "o'er the hills
You'll find your fathers' home,
Yet not his death blow to avenge—
For freedom strike the blow."
It was her bleeding country's wrongs
That nerved that mother's heart,
Yet bitter were the tears she shed
To see her boy depart.

From "The Sexton's Daughter."

Still hope! still set! Be sure that life—
The source and strength of every good—
Wastes down in feeling's empty strife,
And dies in dreaming's sickly mood.
To toil, in tasks however mean,
For all we know of right and true.—
In this alone our worth is seen;
'Tis this is were evaluated too.
So shalt thou find in work and thought
The peace that sorrow cannot give;
Though grief's worst pangs to thee be taught,
By thee let others nobler live.
Oh! wait not in the darksome forest,
Where thou must needs be left alone,
But, e'en when memory is sorest,
Seek out a path and journey on.
Thou will have angels hear above,
By whom invisible and is given;
They journey still on tasks of love,
And never rest, except in heaven.

—STERLING.

A young nobleman had a fall in hunting, by which his nose was laid nearly level. He afterwards proposed marriage to a lady, but was rejected, because, as she said, though his manners were most agreeable, she could not get over his nose. "How could she expect to do so (observed Sheridan) when its bridge is broken."

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos 7 and 8 EXCHANGE STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never failed, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician, of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 EXCHANGE STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt the great greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all chronic and private diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which attracts patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the established DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P.S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging stoves, to examine this, preventing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and cast iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meat is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who have now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pots, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 30 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, but they will, with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and adapts the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

Local.

☞ It is, perhaps, a singular omen, that synonymous with the defeat of the "unterrified" of Ward Three, occurs the sudden decay of the large flag-staff on the lawn near the South Mill Bridge, and to such an extent the owners thereof have sawed it down. Whether they will rally, and obtain a new one to replace it, remains to be seen. We trust they will, as we love to see the stars and stripes floating, e'on over rebs.—SOUTH ENDER.

GYMNASTICS.—Mrs. Churchill, a gradu ate of Dr. Lewis, and an experienced teacher, proposes to open a class in the new gymnastics, at Union Hall, soon; and as preliminary to so desirable a movement, she will, with another lady gymnast, give a public exhibition of the system, at the Temple, next Wednesday evening.

A SQUINT AT SOMEBODY.—The publisher of the Ballot advertises for an Apprentice — "one who is honest enough to tell the truth when a lie cannot be to his advantage; industrious enough to work moderately ten hours a day; sufficiently educated to write his own name so that he can read it, spell correctly all words in the Child's Primer, and distinguish the difference between a transitive verb and a personal pronoun."

☞ Girls are coming to set type very generally, in all parts of the country. Usually men also are employed in the offices with them—but in the Portland Daily Courier office all the compositors are girls. We have employed girls in this Chronicle Office for several months, to mutual good advantage.

—The President has granted the request of Lieut. Governor Jacobs, of Kentucky, now in banishment, to be permitted to return to Kentucky.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambucii wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; it is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

THE UNPRECEDENTED POPULARITY
Which has attended the introduction of our brands of
CALIFORNIA WINES
Is a flattering tribute to their purity and fine qualities.
THE STATE FAIR
At Indianapolis, where our Wines came into competition with all the best Western Wines, have just awarded us a SILVER MEDAL.
At the OHIO STATE FAIR we took Five Premiums out of six.
Surgeon General Dale, after a careful and searching chemical analysis of our wines, pronounces them PURE.
The leading portion of the American Press have extolled their merits; and the unanimous verdict of those who use them is, that

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

MONDAY, JANUARY 9, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

A telegram from City Point says the Richmond papers announce the death by paralysis of Gen. Sterling Price, of the rebel army.

The Boston Post's special Washington dispatch of the 6th says:

Forty-eight rebel deserters from Lee's army arrived here to-day from City Point.

Refugees who arrived at Falls Church today from Culpepper, state that Mosby died at that place on Friday.

It is stated that propositions from citizens of Georgia, for a return to the Union, have been received by the Government.

The Boston Herald's letter of the 4th, says, the threatened movement of the rebel army under Lee does not create much uneasiness in Washington. In truth there is a good deal of hope that he will make one of some nature. The moment he moves out of his acres of fortifications, that moment he is lost. It is an established fact that Lee's army is very weak. It is far below even its minimum, and is poorly clad and badly fed. It is capable of no offensive movement as prognosticated by rebel deserters. It is, too, being weakened, for the daily desertions are nearly one hundred—equal to a regiment per week—or a good sized brigade per month. It is indeed laughable to read that Lee intends making an offensive movement.

The Richmond Whig describes the condition of the counties in Western North Carolina as truly distressing; it says "deserters, bushwhackers and tories from East Tennessee are constantly invading that section; robbing, burning houses, stealing everything they can carry off and murdering our people. The citizens are mostly unprovided with the necessary means of defence. In fact, there are but very few men left to fight the marauders—even if they were ever so well prepared with arms and ammunition.

The Augusta Constitutionalist has the following notice of what it terms "galvanized Yankee Rebels":

We learn from good authority that a large number of the galvanized Yankees who recently took the oath of allegiance to the Confederate government, joined our army and were sent to Savannah, have gone over to the enemy. Before deserting our ranks they conspired to kill their officers and going in a body to the enemy, but the plot was discovered and seven of the ringleaders were tried and shot. The others returned to Savannah.

A rebel dispatch of the 19th ult., from Jackson, Miss., states that Semmes arrived there on the 16th ult. He is in fine health and spirits. He is accompanied by his son, and may expected in Richmond soon.

The Wilmington correspondent of the Richmond Dispatch says the Federals were at one time between Fort Fisher and Wilmington, cutting off communication both by land and sea. If they had not been dislodged soon, Fort Fisher would have fallen, and with it Wilmington.

The Charleston Mercury of Dec. 31 says Sherman has reinforced Foster's expedition against the Charleston and Savannah railroad.

The Richmond Dispatch of the 5th says Sherman's force has driven in their pickets at Hardeeville. Sherman's present objective point is Branchville.

It is reported from Norfolk that Sherman proposes to make a straight march through the Carolinas into the back of Richmond.

It is rumored that Lee has been placed in command of all the rebel armies, and that he immediately determined to put Beauregard in command of the defences of Richmond, intending himself to proceed to South Carolina to concentrate the rebel forces in that quarter for the purpose of confronting Sherman in his proposed movement northward. Sherman's movements are considered by Lee as more important than any Grant can possibly make upon Richmond in four months.

The Times' Huntsville, Ala., dispatch of 3d inst. says the Tennessee campaign is ended. The last of Hood's army crossed the Tennessee on the 29th ult. with 8 pieces of artillery and about 18,000 men.

It is believed that Hood has thrown into the river at least 30 guns. He abandoned a large number of wagons and ambulances. Our official list of prisoners number over 9,700, not including 500 captured from Reddy on the 27th. Over 9000 deserters have also reported.

The rebels were threatening Baton Rouge about Dec. 29.

The army version of the Wilmington failure is quite different from that of Com. Porter.

By Telegraph—Sunday noon.

WASHINGTON, 7th.—Richmond papers of the 5th, received to-night, are destitute of important news.—The Wilmington Journal of the 30th ult. says: "We are informed that 21 of the enemy's fleet were seen off Masonboro' on Wednesday last.—Another account represents 44 to have been lying around that point We give these rumors for what they are worth. Last night there could only be seen the usual blockading squadron. Wilmington is safe for the present, and things will go on in the usual way."

The Richmond Whig and Enquirer have editorials denouncing all offers of amnesty from this Government. The former claims that the North desire their subjugation, the confiscation of their farms, houses, &c.—There is but little doubt that Lee has been made Generalissimo, and has completely superseded Davis. There is very little doubt that he has left Richmond, taking a very liberal army with him, whose place he has supplied by withdrawing Early's force from the Shenandoah Valley. He has left Early in command of Richmond, until Bragg can be sent from Wilmington. Lee considers that the progress of Sherman must be stopped, or the rebel cause is lost, and that the issue is too momentous to trust to subordinates. The rebel authorities at Richmond are much troubled over information that the trans-Mississippi department is about to set up for itself. It is expected that the rebels across the Mississippi river will secede from the Confederacy about the middle of January. Gov. Henry W. Allen of Louisiana will be President, with Albert Pike as Sec. of War, Thos. Snead of Missouri as Sec. of State, Kirby Smith General-in-Chief, and E. H. Yorke of Louisiana as Sec. of Navy. The new confederacy will consist of Texas, Arkansas, West Louisiana, Arizona and Indian Territory, with Shreveport, La., for capital.

Information has reached here through secesh sources in Baltimore that Sherman's army crossed Savannah river at Sister's Ferry on the 3d inst., and was moving rapidly on Branchville or Charleston. Hardee has fallen back, and no opposition was made to Sherman's advance.

The State Legislature of Florida recently decided to send commissioners to Washington with the offer of an unconditional return of that State to the Union. 33 members voted for it and 17 against it.

An Augusta, Ga., dispatch of the 5th says Kilpatrick has crossed the Altamaha river, but is supposed to be on the Carolina side of the Savannah.

A RICHMOND VIEW.—An editorial in a late Richmond Enquirer says:—"All are agreed that independence would not be dearly purchased with the sacrifice of slavery. The spirit of the people of these States is that they will make any sacrifice rather than accept any terms of reunion with the enemy. If we can convince our enemy and the world of that, the people of these States are ready and willing to impoverish themselves, destroy their institutions, sacrifice the convictions of years, and obliterate the very subject that occasioned the war, in order that they may triumph in its great object—independence, we shall have made our conquest really impossible, and eventually secured our liberty; for though a people actuated by such a spirit may be overpowered and overrun, they can never be conquered nor conciliated into subjection.

If the preservation of slavery had been of more importance than our independence; if the people had shown a willingness to save their negroes at the expense of their liberty, the enemy would not have been long in making the offer. Gen. Sherman may have discovered some such weakness in his march through Georgia. However, the remark is attributed to him, that slavery would not be destroyed by a reunion. The enemy would stop the war to-day and give us what remains of slavery, if we would return to the Union and obey its laws and submit to its authority." The editor then goes on to remark that the Yankees are fighting more for power and plunder than for abolition.

The editor in this last remark, lies under a great mistake. The Yankees are not fighting for power or plunder, but for the National Existence of the United States, and in the contest Slavery is perishing, and the oligarchy that sat on it as a throne have come down into the dust, and are now on their knees before the monarchs of Europe, begging for intervention and praying for a King to rule over them and save them from the Yankees! They would be a base Kingdom. U. T.

☞ Gen. Canby, commander of the U. S. forces in Louisiana, in a letter on the subject of trade with the insurrectionary States, says if it is carried on in the manner and to the extent claimed by speculators, who now control it, the inevitable result, in his judgment, will be to add strength and efficiency to the rebel armies east and west of the Mississippi equivalent to the addition of 50,000 men, and stimulate into active opposition to the successful prosecution of our operations at least 10,000 men within our own lines. Every expedition he sent into the enemy's lines has been known to the rebels through this instrumentality, and nearly every one foiled in some of its objects. He has now several speculators captured in the enemy's country, awaiting trial for giving information to the enemy. The rebel armies have been supported mainly for the last twelve months by unlawful trade upon the Mississippi. New Orleans, since its occupation by our forces, has contributed more to support the rebel armies and privateers than any portion of the country except Wilmington. He now has papers in relation to contracts made by English houses in Mobile for the exportation of 200,000 bales of cotton by way of New Orleans. The House Military Committee have the subject in hand.

NEWSPAPORIAL.—The Concord Patriot complains that, "when a man deems it necessary to curtail his expenses, he cuts off his newspaper before he thinks of dispensing with his rum, tobacco or any other injurious or foolish luxury. And where a man is taking two or three, he drops his home paper first and his city paper last." The Patriot also "sees indications that our newspapers are to experience this discouragement at the beginning of this year, to a much greater extent than ever before."

Now although we of this Chronicle don't see our business in that light, still the principle urged by the Patriot is right—as is that paper also in advancing the general idea, which we have always insisted on, that any paper worthy of existence is of far greater value to the community in which it is published, or any party paper to its party, than to the publisher.

The Patriot also complains of a weak support from "Democrats," so called, and says that for two years their business has not given them a living; but the editor sticks to it for the sake of his party and his country. Well, we don't suppose there is a copperhead paper in New England, with perhaps a single exception, which does "pay"—nor do loyal people regret it.

— One "press" item more, and we must be done. Our friend of the Gardiner Home Journal complains that subscribers who paid in advance last year, and got their papers for less than cost afterwards, are now stopping his paper because it costs more than some city weekly. He says truly, that his subscriptions didn't pay for the white paper, for the past two years: and that "if folks want a paper cheaper than this they can print it themselves, or take 'The Tribune;' and when they have an obituary notice, marriage, or any other local axe to grind, he hopes they will get the Tribune to grind it for 'em."

☞ Quite a little stir was created last week in Amherst, by the appearance of a stranger, calling himself George Melvin, who stated he was a U. S. detective, and his object was to look after several military officers who had been discharged from service, as also some who had been engaged in conterfeiting. He secured the confidence of the landlord of the U. S. Hotel and others, one of whom had on hand quite an amount of bills of broken or suspended banks he had collected, which he caused him to bring out and commit to the flames. He also had the effrontery to request the examination of private correspondence, which in one case or more he secured. After ten days' residence at the "United States," on Wednesday, he issued notice to a discharged officer that he should call at his residence next morning, to examine into his affairs with the Government. At the appointed hour a Sheriff and assistants was in due waiting for the official visitor, but not appearing, on inquiry it was found he had smelt the rat and disappeared between two days, leaving the landlord minus his board and a nice umbrella. He was a short, thick set man of 50, of good address and much general information, well dressed in blue coat and pants, with cane, and displaying a pocket full of documents, which satisfied some that he must be a man of authority. After diligent search he was traced to Greenfield, but managed to escape arrest by taking to the woods.

☞ Last week a woman calling herself Emma Adams, of Lowell, and having a young babe with her, went to the Biddeford House, and said she left the cars by mistake, supposing that here she was to change cars for Augusta. The landlord of the House kept her over night, whence she went to the depot to take the cars for Augusta, but "missed the train," as she alleged: and while waiting requested permission to leave her babe with the wife of the station master, while she called upon an acquaintance of hers. Not returning, the child was given to the Overseer of the Poor, and the case to Dep. Sheriff Tarbox, who tracked the woman to Dover, thence to New Market, thence to Dover—from there to Lawrence, and finally to Gonic. Credit is due to Deputy Tarbox who is an expert officer, and who was materially aided by conductors Aborn and Towle, of the B. & M. and the P. S. & P. railroad.

— Gold, Saturday, 226 3-4.

☞ A famous Pedestrian, Tom Maxfield, better known in sporting circles as "The North Star," died lately in England. The race which made him notorious, was ran in 1845, twenty miles inside two hours. Subsequently he performed a similar feat having 16 seconds to spare. Once he undertook to run eleven miles in one hour, but exceeded his time 3 seconds.

☞ The London Times is "blowing" over Mr. Seward's snub of Lord Wharncliffe and his friends the rebel sympathizers in England. The Boston Post heads the article, "Big Thunder on the Rampage." Quite appropriate.

— The New York banks are averaging 10 per cent., and their stocks have recently advanced greatly. Any of the National banks ought to make one per cent. a month and that will make them all national.

— Senator Wilson's bill to free the wives and children of slaves who have volunteered in our army, was taken up on Thursday. Garret Davis of Kentucky attempted its defeat by asking its reference to a Committee, but he was voted down 19 to 15. There is now no doubt that it will become a law and strike a hard blow to the Kentucky slaveholders.

The Washington National Intelligencer, which has been published for the last fifty years, changed owners on the first of the year, and now appears as a lively, newsy, interesting journal. Its editor is Col. A. G. Allen, formerly of N. H., but latterly a journalist in W. Its political position is about the same as the Boston Herald, and is therefore midway between the extremists of both parties. It advocates a vigorous suppression of the rebellion, and indulges in no factious opposition to the Administration. Cor. Boston Herald.

— Capt. Collins, who took the Florida out of the port of Bahia, is in Washington. He will probably be put through a Court Martial and very mildly punished. As for Wilson, the Consul of Bahia, he has been dismissed the service, and severely punished by being tendered a similar position in Canada!

— A preacher, whose text led him to speak of the prophet Jonah, among other things, said—"I am of opinion that Jonah was a cleanly old gentleman, neither chewing nor smoking from the fact that the fish retained him in his stomach so long. If the fish had swallowed the house where we are now worshipping, he would no doubt have vomited himself to death."

— Horace Greely does not succeed in farming. In a recent speech he said: "Twenty-five acres of my farm, or rather of my wife's, is forest, fenced so as to exclude all the grazing animals, and the only part of it which does not cost me more than its return."

— Sec. Fessenden having been returned to the Senate from Maine, there is a rumor that Geo. S. Boutwell will succeed him as Secretary of the Treasury, and Vice President Hamlin as successor of Mr. Welles, as Secretary of the Navy, on the 4th of March.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, it now offers to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

☞ A crew of one hundred sailors was taken from the Vandalia on Saturday morning, and placed on board the De Soto, which has gone to Baltimore. Upon being examined, it was found that a large number of the men had on citizens' clothes beneath their outer dress. Whiskey and various kinds of weapons were also found concealed upon them; all this undoubtedly for the purpose of effecting their escape at some time. These rascals are substitutes, and deserve rough fare, which they are pretty sure to get. All those who were deemed suspicious were sent below, and the hatches fastened down.

☞ Governor Gilmore's patriotic proclamation does not forbid the putting in of Substitutes by individuals or towns, but only stops the State bounty paid to such substitutes.

☞ The dividend declared by the Bank of New Hampshire payable January 2d, was five per cent, free from Government tax, and not three as stated on Thursday.

TEMPLE OF AMUSEMENT. — To-night will be presented a new drama written by Mr. Murray, entitled the "Volunteers Return" or the Dungeons of Libby. This truly interesting drama was written by Mr. John Murray, one of the most popular actors on the American stage, and is founded on facts of actual occurrence, and so successfully are they woven together that the audience is bound with the magic cord of sympathy from the first to the last scene alternately in tears and laughter. The soldiers' dream of home never fails to draw tears of pity from every eye in the house. This will be the only chance to see this great drama. The roaring farce of the "Persecuted Dutchman" will conclude the entertainment. D.

☞ The Concord Monitor says "that it is expected in a public concert room, that some little regard will be paid to the rights and conveniences of others." Is it? Well, everybody don't do it—for we have seen a "lady" or a female who we supposed would expect to be called such, when asked to reduce her circumference a little, to make room for another woman, actually "make broader her phylacteries" if possible, and occupy more room than before. And when one or the Lyceum directors spoke of this matter, and asked all to be seated closer, the simultaneous nesting of hundreds shew who were guilty of crowding other people out of seats which belonged to them. Just as a certain school-master we knew once, whose sudden call of a boy's given name, would bring to his feet every boy of that name in school who was not doing just what he should do—as very few boys ever are.

☞ A patent has been granted to Wm. Stacey, of Kittery, for improved anchor trippers.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

— The wide-awake people of Hollis gave the returned sons of the "7th N. H." a noble welcome on Monday evening. Turkies were as plenty as quails in the camp of Israel, and what remained of the feast was like that of which we read in the good book.

— A family in Manchester has recently lost many articles of food, stolen from cellar and closets. Suspicion fell on another family in the same block, using false keys. A loaf of bread was baked, including a small infusion of tartar emetic; and part of this loaf put in the closet. One morning it was gone;—and family number were all taken sick, but soon got well.—Next, the remainder of the loaf was deposited as before—and this too was stolen. The sickness also returned on the thievish family, and now they "smell a rat" so strong that they are sick of stealing from that closet.

☞ In the Maine Legislature, last week, Hon. David D. Stewart of St. Albans was elected President of the Senate, and Hon. William A. P. Dillingham of Waterville was elected Speaker of the House. Mr. Stewart is a leading lawyer in Somerset county. Mr. Dillingham is a Universalist minister, and was pastor of the Universalist Church in Portsmouth a few years ago.

☞ There is some talk of the rebels massing all their men and marching into the Northern States. The Newburyport Herald quietly adds: That is a good way for the Confederates to commit suicide if they do not desire to outlive the close of the war.

☞ In Newburyport, they have an Almshouse School for Truants. In his late report, the City Marshal speaks highly of the Truant School, which is really doing a good work. Previous to the adoption of the act relating to Truants, May 21, 1864, by the City Council, a large number of boys refused to attend school, and were growing up in ignorance and vice. Under that act, 43 have since been arrested, and 26 complained of and sent to the Almshouse school provided for such offenders, the sentences varying from one year to a year and a half. The effect has been salutary in inducing some to constant school attendance, and others to lawful occupations. The Marshal says—"The school is well conducted, and boys who have been considered incorrigible, under the discipline and care of the Almshouse superintendence and the teachers, are now making good progress in their studies; and in good behavior the school will compare favorably with any in the city." He thinks the continuance of this school will diminish crime among the juveniles of this community.

— The Comptroller of the State of New York reports the expenses of the State on account of the war to have been over fourteen millions of dollars. He thinks that nearly half the sum has been practically wasted, particularly the sum expended in bounties since 1862.

Adm. Porter is reported as still firing away at Fort Fisher, one eye on the works, the other sharp set for the blockade runners—except the Olustee.—Boston Post.

Canadian papers are making Europe recognize the Southern Confederacy in the Spring. It will require a sharp look to see anything of it by that time. Boston Post.

The proof of the pudding is not in chewing the string, but in eating and testing. The same rule will apply to the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. Our butter half says it has no equal, and will do much better work, and go much further, besides leaving the clothes in a much better state after washing. We do not hesitate to pronounce it far superior to any soap in the market. Go get a bar and try it—most all the merchants sell it. 43

A TRUE AIM.—It has not been the aim of the proprietor of Hunnewell's great preparations, advertised on our inside columns, to base a false reputation by long and unmeaning advertising, but a real one by true results, to which all who try them will cheerfully assent. See advertisement.

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure There can be no mistake, as this occurred more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH QUINCY.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humors, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without the natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his cause, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. mar26

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cure, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to extol the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S CONC. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837;

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Morning Chronicle.

AN ELEPHANT AND BULL FIGHT took place lately at Saragossa, Spain. The elephant was walking quietly about the arena when the first bull was released, and rushed at it with all his might. The elephant received his antagonist with great coolness, and threw him down with the utmost ease. The bull rose again and made two more attacks, which the elephant repeated by killing him with a thrust of his tusks. The conqueror did not seem in the least excited, but quietly drank some water offered by his keeper and ate several ears of Indian corn. A second bull was then released, and in a few minutes suffered the same fate as the first.

—At a public meeting held at Antwerp, one of the speakers, Van Ryswick, was received with such clamor by some of the persons that he could not obtain a hearing. He accordingly sat down, produced a pack of cards, and asked one of his neighbors to join him in a game of piquet till the noise should cease. This humorous expedient had the effect of instantaneously silencing his opponents.

Boston, July 16, 1864. 7Thsly

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 33 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the great mission of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending the abuse of nature, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D.. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.

Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the bowels, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

N. B. Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.
IS, IN FACT,
The Best Stove Out,
for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall Stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED
MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. Tl. oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the exception top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using Magees, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pots which drives them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert E. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Shiu, and others.

Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, indeed all the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

THE DIFFERENCE.—"Put a recruit into a forest of pine trees with his shelter tent, and if he have nobody but recruits] about him, ten to one," says an army letter writer, "you will find him under his shelter tent three weeks from that time. Not so the veteran. If he be camped in the pine forest, give him an old axe, a boot-leg, a mud-puddle, a board or two, and a handful of nails, and he builds him a house, and a house, too, comfortable and commodious, and not wanting in architectural beauty. First he fells his trees, then cuts and notches his logs, and lays them together to the required height. His roof he puts on, giving it a great slope, and thatching it with the green of the pine tops. He has been careful to leave window spaces, and tacking pieces of his shelter tent over these, he has provided light, but keeps out the nipping air of winter.

Then with his board he makes his door, and the boot-leg supplying hinges, it soon swings into its place. Then he fills the spaces between the logs with soft earth from his puddle, and his home is done, except the chimney, and the forest and the mud-puddle soon provides that, for his chimney is nothing but but a pile of sticks plentifully plastered without and within with mud. Then with his old axe he manufactures out of pine logs a full assortment of furniture bedstead, chairs, table, wardrobe, and generally adds a mantel. Then with a bright fire upon his hearth, he is prepared to laugh at winter, and generally does."

THE NEW ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—The entire length of the Atlantic Telegraph will be 2300 miles. There are seven copper wires to form the conductor, so that there is 16,000 miles of copper wire. Every portion of this copper wire is subjected to electrical tests to ascertain its quality for conduction before it is allowed to be worked up. The next stage is to coat these wires with eight successive coats of the insulating material, equal to an aggregate of 18,400 miles. This core is next covered with jute wound round it from ten strands, making 23,000 miles of jute yarn. Then comes the outer coating, formed of the ten covered iron wires. The iron wire itself is 23,000 miles in length, and each wire is covered separately with five strands of tarred hemp, 135,000 miles of the latter being required, making together an aggregate length of material employed of 215,500 miles.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald says:

It is gratifying to note, almost on every hand, that those ardent rebel sympathizers who reside here have, of late abandoned all hopes of the success of the rebellion. Until Hood was defeated, and Sherman marched across the State of Georgia, and occupied its principle sea coast city, they clung with tenacious faith to the Southern cause. They fairly give it up now, and on sensible grounds, too. The South, they say, is nearly exhausted, while the North is showing its greatest resources of ready men and means. Sherman has won bloodless victories, while Hood's army has been broken up and almost rendered useless with comparatively little sacrifice on our side. These facts they cite incidentally; but the great cause of their change of opinion is founded on the certainty that the South is going to arm the slaves, or in effect to abolish slavery. This is a stage of the contest where the sympathy and interest for the South of these residents here cease.

A NEW ENTERPRISE. The blockade runners carrying cotton from Wilmington, Charleston and Matamoras to Nassau and Bermuda have been pretty closely watched of late by our armed vessels, and in several instances were so sharply chased that they had to throw quantities of cotton overboard. These vessels run always in a regular track after they get outside the blockading line, so that ships coming from the West Indies with fruit have frequently found a rich harvest of cotton afloat, for which they occasionally sacrifice their cargo, permitting it to rot while they are gathering in the more valuable castaways of the blockade runners. Recently the rebels have been in the habit of ripping open the bales before throwing them overboard, and thus the sea, for miles in their track, is whitened with floating cotton. This was too tempting an opportunity for Yankee enterprise to overlook, and we understand that a company has been formed in this city which employs vessels to follow the path of the blockade runners and pick up the cotton, and that they are making quite a good thing out of it. This is certainly a new kind of maritime enterprise. We have now not only our blockading squadron, a blockade running squadron, but a squadron of waifs and strays.—New York Herald.

☞ One McDonald is now in Cambridge jail, for robbing a man in Watertown. Three men undertook to get him out, by strategy,—but one of the trio, John Larkins, got caught and caged. He too, is now charged with another robbery,—and both will go to the States' prison.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.

The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush. But the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted to the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.

Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.

Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.

Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Lincoln Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

It is now pretty well confirmed that Gen. Sherman's army crossed the Savannah river at Sister's Ferry, on the 3d inst., and was moving rapidly towards Branchevilla or Charleston. Hardee's forces had fallen back, and no opposition was made to Sherman's advance.

It is rumored among secesh circles in Washington that owing to the slight put upon him by Hardee and Lee, Beauregard has resigned his position in the rebel army, declined going to Richmond during Lee's absence, and is probably now en route to Europe.

A report from Washington states that Early's army is again advancing, and occupy Strasburg. Our forces under Phil. Sheridan are concentrating at Winchester. This report is probably a rebel canard to blind our authorities as to the withdrawal of Early's army to Richmond.

A blockade runner that reached Wilmington on the night of the 31st of December brought as part of her cargo two Blakely guns, each throwing a shot weighing 800 pounds. They are to be mounted on Fort Fisher for the purpose of sinking the vessels of our blockading fleet that venture too near. Their range is about four miles.

A fire is reported to have broken out at Wilmington Tuesday night, which destroyed several rebel government warehouses and six blockade runners; three of them had not discharged their cargoes.

General Dana has received information from the cavalry force sent out from Memphis, Tenn. on the 21st. They struck the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, 5 miles below Corinth, and had on the 27th utterly destroyed it to Okolono. 29 bridges, a great deal of trestle-work, 32 railroad cars, 300 army wagons, and 4000 carbines were also destroyed. Forrest's camp of dismounted men at Verona was dispersed. Six officers and 20 men were captured. The expedition did not lose a man. Grierson was ordered to destroy the road as far as Meridian and release our prisoners at Catawba, if possible.

Information from City Point is to the effect that the artillery firing on Tuesday morning was aimed at the lower part of the city, and besides doing a deal of damage, frightened the residents badly.

Matamoras papers give accounts of the wreck of the rebel steamer R. E. Lee, from Matamoras, off the mouth of the Rio Grande: 22 of the crew were drowned.

Rebel guerrillas are at work in Kentucky. On Friday the Lex anon train was captured by a band of Magruder's rebel guerrillas near Lebanon Junction. The passengers were robbed and the cars burned. The guerrillas brutally murdered four discharged soldiers of the 15th Kentucky regiment.

A dispatch from rebels at Augusta, Ga., Jan. 5th, says that the U. S. Gen. Kilpatrick has crossed the Altamaha, but is supposed to be on the Carolina side of Savannah.

Western Virginia papers report that Forrest has been killed by one of his own men.

A Yankee raid on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad tore up miles of track near Verona.

A private letter says Price is not dead. It is currently reported that Hood is dead.

The Raleigh Progress says of the Roanoke affair, in which the rebels at first claimed so great a victory, that it did not amount to much. No one was killed or seriously wounded on either side.

The Richmond Enquirer is furious over General Sherman's conciliatory policy in Georgia, for it don't believe that State is willing to submit. It says: "We demand public meetings in Georgia. We want to hear the voices of our brave and true patriots, to rally the men, comfort the feeble and warn those who confide in the transparent cheat of the Yankees."

Fifteen hundred more blankets reached Richmond on Thursday, under a flag of truce, and were distributed to Union prisoners.

A rebel dispatch from Augusta, Jan. 4th, says: "The city of Savannah continues quiet. An order had been issued not to cut the shade trees for fuel. Sherman proposes to bring wood by the Gulf R. R. The 14th and 15th corps are in intrenchments, reaching from the Savannah river to the plank road. The Yankees are building a new pontoon bridge opposite the Exchange. Many negroes who joined Sherman in the country are leaving; the roads are lined with them. Sherman is giving levees to negroes in Savannah. Several Federal steamers are engaged in removing obstructions from the river."

A Mobile dispatch of Jan. 5 says a Union force is advancing southward of Smithfield. The destruction of property is unknown.

The Richmond Whig of the 5th says a large number of deserters and lawless men are roaming over the upper counties of Georgia, committing depredations on the inhabitants.

The Mobile Tribune learns that on the 19th ult. a party of Yankee raiders, 1300 strong, reached West Pascagoula and were embarked on launches. They destroyed several ferries, and did other damage.

On Friday the rebel Gen. Lyon, with 800 men, passed through McMinnville, capturing a company of Tennessee (Federal) cavalry. He then crossed the Chattanooga railroad below Tullahoma, tore up a few rails, and moved on his way to join Forrest at Russellville.

A steamer arrived at Cairo, Ill., from Little Rock, with 500 refugees and 50 orphans in a destitute condition. Many are sick, and several died on the way up. Three more boat-loads are coming.

The Commercial's Washington dispatch says Horace Greeley predicts a speedy peace.

ARTEMUS WARD AMONG THE MORMONS.

A few notes by our N. Y. Correspondent "N."

Christopher Columbus did a great thing when he discovered America. Many things would have been lost to the world and to the State of New Jersey if he had concluded not to do it. We should have had no rebellion, no presidential election, no "habeas corpus," no "reserved rights," and should have been obliged to get along without the draft, Fort Lafayette, and a great many other pleasant things,—probably should have had no Mormons out this way—but then, as I before remarked, Chris. did a great thing. He probably would have made more money if he had waited and invested in gold, Harlem stock or Pennsylvania oil wells, but he didn't know what was coming.

It was sometime ago that he took his little trip, and we have improved considerable since, but not much of late. Once I could start for New Orleans, and take Petersburg and Richmond on the way,—now it can't be done—(I speak for myself and Gen. McClellan.)

But travelling is not so bad in some cases. I saw a young man to-day who made a very quick trip from Washington to New York—a battle commenced just before he left. Their colonel told the men before going in, to "fight bravely—to strike for the flag and strike for their homes,"—and this wretched young man unmasked to me that he thought he'd let the rest of the boys "strike for the flag," while he struck for home. He was patriotic—so were the St. Albans raiders. They evinced a confidence in the currency. I still continue to take St. Albans money, altho' I'm sorry to say not in such large quantities. And this reminds me of a little incident that I heard today. A man went into the jewelry establishment of Messrs. Tiffany & Co., and seizing a watch was about making off with it, when one of the clerks asked him what he was doing. He replied that he was acting under the authority of the Confederate Government, and that he seized the watch in retaliation for the recent infamous and outrageous depredations in the Shenandoah Valley! A policeman, who, by accident, happened to be within a few blocks, gently remonstrated with him, and showed him the error of his ways and the way to the Tombs. * * *

I wish to apologize for the fact of my piano being out of sight. I had no room for it on the stage: besides pianos are so common. One sees them everywhere. I saw one in Dacotah Territory in a barn—the chickens were roosting on it in a circle. I supposed that was the reason that they called it Chicky-ring, but have since learned there is a manufacturer by that name in one of the larger Massachusetts towns.

[Here follows the detail of the trip to Utah.] I found the hotels in the territories, peculiar institutions. In one I had a bag of oats for my pillow. I had night-mares before morning—they came after the oats. At daybreak the landlord rapped at my door, with the inquiry, "How are you, old horse! hey!" I told him "I felt my oats!"

The fare offered is also curious. Some bacon served at breakfast was very strong, strong enough to go alone. In fact, 'twas like the city horse railroads—it raised a cent!

The butter offered was also open to objections. Some almost wore a wig. I don't know what others' preferences may be, but for myself I'd rather have my butter bald!

All the hotels in Utah are conducted on the temperance plan. The greatest objection I have found to most temperance hotels is that they sell the very worst kind of liquor, but these sell none at all; neither is there a rum shop nor a gambling-house in all Utah.

[Here follows a very extended and interesting recital of details appertaining to the Mormons, and the leading features of their institutions,—civil, religious and architectural, with numerous fine views. He hopes his audience will excuse any defects in these views. Never was much of an artist himself, altho' when a boy and his grandmother wanted water from the well, she used to think he could draw pretty well. He doubts, however, if he can paint as well as many of the ladies present.]

The Mormons numbers about 100,000,—increase 5000 to 6000 yearly. Salt Lake City contains about 16,000. One of its finest buildings is Brigham Young's theatre, owned by himself, and costing $200,000—is larger than Niblo's, and accommodates 3000. One section is rosewood for Brother Brigham's wives, forty to fifty of whom attend each performance; and one of the galleries is monopolized by his children.

How many children he has, no one knows. He met a little boy in the street one day and asked him whose boy he was. "Yours, Sir!" was the reply.

He told him to grow up a prudent and honorable man, and emulate the principles of Washington, but the urchin told him he'd "rather join the circus!" He has about 80 wives, beside a great number sealed to him, who are to be his in heaven, and whom he supports—many of them "unsight, unseen,"—about 300 in all. Of him it may be truly said, "He loves not wisely but too hundred well!" Of course he can't kiss all of his wives. So he kisses one and tells her to pass it round! It is said that he wishes his wives to smooth his dying pillow whenever the time comes. If they do he'll have to go out doors to die.

I was also introduced to Brigham's Mother-in-Law! He has many. I don't know how he looks at it, but I always thought one in a family was enough, unless the other members were particularly fond of excitement. His numerous weddings must entail a large amount of wedding-cake. I have been told that he runs a bakery and distributes it in a breadcart. * * * * * *

Some time ago they started a female Seminary in Utah. It flourished well,—but just in the height of its prosperity the principal eloped with the whole School! * * *

One evening I attended a reception at Brigham's. Early in the evening I met Mr. Brown. He introduced me to Mrs. B. as "Mrs. Emily Brown, No. 5!" During the entertainment I met Mr. Brown again—again he introduced me to "Mrs. Brown". Forgetting for the moment where I was, I remarked that I had already had the pleasure of an introduction. "Oh, no," said the lady,—"that was Mrs. Brown No. 5; I am Mrs. Brown No 22!" I found they were all numbered, like the days of the rebellion. I once delivered a lecture in ——, a town a few miles from Salt Lake City. It was delivered in a school-house,—rather a small one. Incautiously, and contrary to my usual custom, I issued a "family ticket" to a Mormon. He came. He brought his family. They filled the room to overflowing; and the rest of the audience, including all the paying part, were unable to gain admission. It wasn't a great success! * * * The next view is of the Great Salt Lage. (Description is given.) Large cakes of salt are frequently washed ashore, and crystalized flakes may be seen floating on the surface. It is very salt. I have been told that a cattle driver once drove a large herd of cattle into it, and in 15 minutes they were corned beef!

The trip home I made "overland." A part of the journey is made by railroad. I am proud to say I own stock in that road. It was commenced several years ago, and already extends twelve miles. The rest of the distance —2200 miles—is travelled by stage. Not the railroad breaks the monotony. It almost broke my back. I think it would break the back of the rebellion in forty places. The passengers use it as the people down in Maine do a Mill privelege. I once travelled in Maine, and I found that when a citizen found a Mill privelege, he always—dammed it!

The scenery on the route home consists chiefly of the upsetting of the stage, and the Indians. During an instance of the former my friend and myself became separated from the party and attacked by the Indians. We were surprised, routed, flanked and surrounded. I was selected a commissioner to propose a cessation of hostilities. They replied that they intended "to fight it out on that line if it took all Summer," but after deliberation they concluded to exchange us man for man, without regard to color, for "rum and tobacco," and so we were enabled to join the stage just as it resumed its journey.

MASSACHUSETTS has a new Militia Law, which is just now going into operation. New Hampshire and Maine may have something like it, if they see fit.—By the new law in Massachusetts, every able-bodied man in the State between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, is to be enrolled in the militia. The militia is divided into two classes. Those between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four constitute the active militia, and those between the ages of twenty-four and forty-five comprise the reserve militia. The first class and volunteer militia companies, are obliged to assemble for drill six hours in each month from May to November, inclusive, and three hours in each month during the rest of the year. They are to have a parade by companies on the first Wednesday in May, for inspection and company drill, and are obliged to go into encampment for four days between the middle of July and the middle of October.

Uniforms are to be furnished by the State, and are to be kept in the armories to be worn only when in discharge of military duty. One half of the pay is to be retained by the State until the uniform is paid for, after which it becomes the property of the wearer. Line officers receive $2 and non-commissioned officers and privates receive $1.30 for each day's duty in camp. For non-attendance at company or squad drill a fine of $3 is imposed; for non-attendance at any meeting for special duty or escort, $4; at May inspection or any company training, $4; at any encampment, $5 for each day.

The Selectmen of towns are required to provide armories for active and reserve militia. The reserve militia are not obliged to do military duty except in case of war, invasion, insurrection or riots, but may unite with volunteer companies and thus become liable to all the duties of the active militia.

THE DOMINICAN WAR.—St. Domingo dates of the 4th are received. The papers are filled with accounts of victories over the Spaniards. The President of Hayti had offered his services to intermediate between the hostile governments, and it was hoped that peace would be secured on the basis of Dominican independence. If not, the Dominicans say they will fight until not a man is left.

— Vice Admiral Farragut has received an intimation from the President, that he is to have charge of the entire operations of the navy. He will play the same part towards the navy that Gen. Grant does to the army, and soon take up his headquarters at the most important point of operations.

— Henry M. Flint, the "Druid" correspondent of the New York World, was arrested on charge of disloyalty, and is now in custody. A Baltimore dispatch of the 9th says he has been released on parole.

An editorial in the Richmond Whig suggests the declaration by the rebels of a blockade of all the ports in the United States, thus making British and French vessels seeking those ports legal prey for rebel pirates.

The rebels can't be too quick about this: the British Navy would soon "gobble up" the present privateers, and no new ones would be built on the Clyde. The suggestion is evidence of weakness, and almost of despair.

— The Richmond Whig, in an article on England, says: "She has no ships that could encounter the Yankee monitors with any prospect of success, and although she might build such, yet the probability is that they could not cross the ocean: She could not even break up the blockade, far less land an army and fleet to assist us. It is therefore hardly worth while to think of returning to English vassalage."

RYE, N.H., Feb. 28, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has been to the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and oftentimes vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. may26

"A Wonderful Discovery."

DR. TEBBETTS' "PHYSIOLOGICAL HAIR REGENERATOR" is compounded in strict accordance with the well known laws of Physiology and modern vegetable Chemistry. It is not a "DYE," and will not stain a particle. It will "RESTORE GRAY HAIR" in all cases to its original color. It promotes a luxuriant growth of new Hair in all cases on BALD HEADS, when the glands or roots of the hair are not completely disorganized. It prevents the hair from falling off, and removes all dandruff, heat, humors and itching from the scalp. It keeps the hair soft, moist and perfectly healthy, and gives it a glossy and beautiful appearance. It is highly perfumed, and as a Dressing it has no superior. The "REGENERATOR" is warranted to produce the above results in all cases, if not the money to be refunded. With it every "GRAY HEAD" in New England can be restored in less than sixty days.

PRICE—$1 per Bottle.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound brought within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these two other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

☞ Rev. John S. C. Abbott has delivered his lecture entitled, "Our War and Gen. Grant," with great success in many places this winter, attracting large crowds to hear the talented historian upon a subject so full of interest to every lover of the country, and every admirer of the noble General. He appears before the Portsmouth Lyceum this evening. The Cornet Band will also give one of their fine Concerts as usual.

STEAMER BETWEEN PORTSMOUTH AND BOSTON.—The Transcript of Saturday says, "The Clyde built iron propeller Alice Briggs, late a blockade runner, has been fitted up for the route between Boston and Dover, and is expected to commence her regular trips this week. She is 107 feet long, 17 feet wide, and 7 deep, of 150 tons, and is said to make over 10 miles an hour. She will make three trips a week, from Central Wharf, Boston. It is thought the enterprise will prove profitable."

EXCERPTA.

"High position and a plentiful income are great blessings in this world, so that they be achieved without a stain. But even in this world they are not the greatest blessings. There are things much sweeter than them. Money and rank are only good, if every step by which they are gained be good also. I should never blush to see my girl the wife of a poor man whom she, loved; but I should be stricken to the core of my heart if I knew that she had become the wife of a rich man whom she did not love."—Trollope.

"He that wrongs his friend wrongs himself more, and ever bears about a court of justice in his breast."—Tennyson.

"There would be very little hope for us after death, if we found no hallowing influence in its approach.—Miss Braddon.

"The influence of a pure woman, who can command respect and esteem, is more beneficial than all the moral lectures that were ever written."—Anonymous.

"The body dries up and withers away, and the bones grow old; the brain, too, becomes decrepit, as do the sight, the hearing and the soul. But the heart that is tender once remains tender to the last." — Trollope.

"There is no woe more dreadful than this—to be placed face to face with that which we have lost by the folly or wickedness of our own hearts."—Anon.

——Mrs. Jennie L. Tolman of Richmond, N. H., committed suicide on Monday by taking strychnine. She was the young wife of Alfred Tolman, who was murdered recently by a woman in a bowling alley in Keene, and excessive grief at the untimely death of her husband produced an aberration of mind which led to this fatal result. She left a letter to her mother, and also one for the clergyman in Winchester, who attended her husband's funeral, stating the reasons for the rash deed. "I go to join my husband. He was kind and affectionate to me, and life is nothing without him."

— It is reported in Savannah that Gov. Brown, just before the movement of Hood in Sherman's rear, near Atlanta, had written a message to the people, calling a convention to propose terms of peace, independent of the other States, but Hood's movement discouraged him for the time. He was afraid of Jeff. Davis. That difficulty is removed now.

— The money market at Richmond, like that at New York, is affected by the war news. The failure to capture Fort Fisher, and Wilmington, by the Union forces, brought gold down by the run, so that fifty paper dollars would purchase one of gold.

EMANCIPATION IN DELAWARE.—Gov. Cannon, in his annual message to the Legislature of Delaware, again takes strong ground in favor of emancipation in that State, as he did in his inaugural address.

— Rev. Dan Perry, aged 85 years and four months, died in Oxford, Me., on the 16th of December. He was formerly a travelling preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church, and preached in Portsmouth one year, more than fifty years ago.

— Rev. Dr Rose, the pro-slavery preacher of the New Presbyterian Church, was arrested in Tennessee last week by General Steadman for disloyal talk, and is now in prison at Nashville.

— George Davis of New Haven, lost both of his eyes a few days since. He had drilled a hole in a stone sill to receive an iron staple, and poured in the molten lead, without first clearing the water from the hole. The consequence was, it flew back with the force of steam, into his face, burning him terribly.

— It is again stated that arrangements are nearly completed for releasing A. E. Richardson, who will probably be exchanged for Pollard, recently a boarder in Fort Warren. Richardson has now been in a rebel prison two years, during which time he has lost a wife and child by death in Boston.

May a man be called poverty stricken when knocked down by a beggar?

— The New York Tribune is of opinion that the attempt to recruit the rebel armies with colored men will prove a failure, because the "poor whites" will oppose it to extremity. They took up arms, as they supposed, to fight against "negro equality," and to make soldiers of negroes is the very surest way to make them equals of the whites. Quite likely the Tribune is right.

— Another phase in the plot to burn New York has developed itself. Superintendent Kennedy has been for some time advised of a rebel intention to cut the Croton water pipes over the High Bridge and then fire the city. He has stationed a force of 100 policemen in the neighborhood to protect them.

— Hon. A. H. Stephens is reported as having been assassinated at Macon on the 30th of December, with the connivance of the rebel government.

Show may not easily be purchased; but happiness is a home-made article which all may have.

— The Pope has issued a bull condemning all religious and political errors having a tendency hostile to the Catholic Church, and exhorting the Bishops to confute them.

— The U. S. steamer Wando put into Beaufort, N. C., recently, in distress, having sprung a leak in a severe gale.

— The Jersey trotting mare May Queen has been sold to John Turner, for $12,000.

GYMNASTICS.—Mrs. Churchill, a graduate of Dr. Lewis, and an experienced teacher, proposes to open a class in the new gymnastics, at Union Hall, soon; and as preliminary to so desirable a movement, she will, with another lady gymnast, give a public exhibition of the system, at the Temple, next Wednesday evening.

The J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap is one of those articles that should be in every household, and the lady who neglects to furnish herself or domestics with it, loses a boon which it will be impossible to find a substitute for. It takes less in quantity, and washes as no oth r soap can do. It makes rough hands smooth, and softens and whitens the skin, as well as making clothes look so white. Try it.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by this medicine. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is so apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that this article is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedy; but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,) 76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE
N. H. REPUBLICAN UNION CONVENTION.

The Committee on Resolutions reported the following, which were unanimously adopted:

The Union Republicans of New Hampshire, in Convention, review with pride and satisfaction the result of the recent Presidential election. The Free States of the Union, with a single exception, belting the Continent from East to West, have declared in harmonious tones, too audible and emphatic to be any where misunderstood, that this country shall be the land of the free, as well as the home of the brave. Given in time of Civil War and Revolutionary conflict, this popular verdict, expressed with such quiet dignity, and while each political party declared that the success of the adversary would bring ruin to our beloved country—gives the highest assurance that the people are capable of self-government and are deserving of the institutions which have come to them. We midwinter in the unalterable determination of the people that the integrity of the Union shall be preserved; that the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness is the birthright of every person, and that the war shall be prosecuted until those who began it give up the conflict and return to their allegiance.

We, therefore, renewing our promise of fidelity to each other, and pledging anew our allegiance to our country and the great and glorious cause we have in hand, have

Resolved, That, in the language of our National platform, as slavery was the cause, and now constitutes the strength of the rebellion, and that it must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of republican government, justice and the national safety demand its utter and complete extirpation from the soil of the Republic, and that we are in favor of such an amendment to the Constitution, to be made by the people in conformity with its provisions, as shall terminate and forever prohibit the extension of slavery within limits or the jurisdiction of the United States.

Resolved, That the preservation of the integrity of the Union and the paramount authority of the Constitution and laws of the United States, and the unequalled advantages they have secured, are the only guaranty that our State government, and its institutions, will remain secure to us in the future, and we again renew our often repeated pledges to aid the National Government in all its efforts to the overthrow of this vile rebellion, and the punishment of the enemies engaged in it.

Resolved, That we believe, and hereby most solemnly declare, that the people of this country and upon this continent, have the right to determine the kind of Government they will have over them and in their own way, without foreign interference, to defend and protect it, and that we regard with indignation the raider from our Northern border and the usurper upon our Southern boundary.

Resolved, That it is the duty of every American citizen to obey the call of his government, and to stand by and defend it in the hour of peril and threatened disaster, and that all who cowardly attempt to avoid this patriotic duty and seek the protection of a foreign power, are unworthy the name of American citizens, and undeserving ever again to have its protection or enjoy its blessings.

Resolved, That the gallant citizens, soldiers of the Republic, whose patriotic sacrifices have been so generously made for its integrity and preservation, whether in the hospital or in the field, are equally deserving of the enjoyment of the elective franchise with that of any other citizen, and we promise them to leave no lawful effort untried to secure them this right.

Resolved, That since we last assembled the brilliant achievements of our national arms, many times repeated, has brought joy and confidence to every loyal heart, while the stunning blows which our noble chiefs and their brave commands have given the rebel foe, and are again fully able to repeat, inspire us with the proud expectation that before we again assemble, this wicked rebellion will topple to its fall, and that the foul conspirators against the best government that God ever vouchsafed to man, whether in exile or on the scaffold, will be known only by the infamy which their acts and history will give them.

Resolved, That the State and National faith, pledged for the redemption of the public debt, must be kept inviolate, and that we insist upon economy and rigid responsibility in the public expenditures, and demand that all wanton and fraudulent squandering of the treasure of the people, be visited with speedy exposure and punishment.

Resolved, That we have the fullest confidence in the patriotism and integrity of the Hon. Frederick Smyth, whom we this day present to the Union men of the State as our candidate for Governor, and that his long and well-known devotion to the loyal cause and his acknowledged financial and executive ability recommend him as well deserving the suffrages of the people.

Besides the above Resolutions, offered by the regular committee, there was another, not less important. Just at the close of Judge Upham's eloquent and patriotic speech, N. G. Ordway, Esq., of Warner, introduced the following preamble and resolution, which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the slaveholders of this country have waged, for four years past, as unjust and cruel war against the Constitution and the Union, and thereby absolved all loyal citizens from any participation in, or protection of, the Institution of African Slavery; therefore,

Resolved, That our delegation in Congress be requested to use their best efforts to secure the passage of an act at the present session of Congress, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, forever abolishing and prohibiting human slavery throughout the length and breadth of the land; and, failing to secure the necessary two-thirds vote, at the present session, they are requested to urge upon the Executive, the propriety of calling an extra session of the next Congress, at an early day, to secure that object.

SAVE YOUR FUEL:
THE MODEL COOK.
IS, IN FACT,
The Best Stove Out,
for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with zinc, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin or sheet iron boiler attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove. Hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Greenleaf, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY
—AND—
CHEROKEE INJECTION,

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an aly or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure,

Are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these: those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their disease and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Postoffice, County, State and name of writer plain, and inclose postage stamp for reply.

DANGER FROM STEAM AND HORSES.—The Board of Trade reports that during the last year 35 passengers were killed and 401 injured on all the British railroads. In London alone, 450 persons were killed by horse-vehicles in the same time, not to mention the wounded. Yet all the denunciations are against the danger of railway traveling. Old notions linger in vulgar minds for generations after they have ceased to be true, if they ever were true at all.

— Immediately on the fall of Savannah, Gov. Andrew dispatched agents to that city to recruit black loyalists for the national army, to be credited to the quota of Massachusetts. He then asked permission from the Secretary of War to do so, which was cheerfully accorded, and the documents will arrive out about the time the first squad is on its way to Massachusetts.

☞ Wilkes' Spirit of the Times contains a capital and close criticism of Admiral Porter's account of the attack on Wilmington. The Criticism closes with the following paragraph:

We cheerfully leave to the Admiral, therefore, all the laurels he has won in his his report; and if its testimony be correct about the expedition, it is our opinion he should be discharged the service.

— During the past year the sum of twenty-eight millions five hundred and twenty-two thousand dollars was lost by fires in loyal States, without counting losses under twenty thousand, or losses by the war, as at Chambersburg. This amount exceeds the losses for any previous year within the last decade.

— In Haverhill, Mass., on Wednesday evening, Mr. John Nichols and his wife left their house and two children in charge of a servant girl, and returning between 9 and 10 o'clock, found all of them insensible from coal gas, occasioned by the disarrangement of a damper in the furnace. In a few moments all would have been dead.

— A whale was caught in September in Davis's Straits, and in its body was found imbedded a large piece of a harpoon, on which was engraved "Traveller, Peterhead; —1838." This was the name of a vessel lost about eight years ago in Cumberland Straits.

— Savannah women dress in black, to signify that they are in mourning for the fall of their town. They borrow the notion from the Warsaw ladies, who have some reason to mourn, but those of Savannah are not badly off.

— The Bishop Colenso heresy case is before the Judicial Committee of the English Privy Council. There's a great show of great lawyers in the case, from which the Traveller infers that religion can have but little to do with it.

— The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company will commence the building of the bridge across the Ohio river, at Belair, early in the spring. It is estimated that it will require 2600 men for three years and a half to complete the job.

THE UNPRECEDENTED POPULARITY
Which has attended the introduction of our brands of
CALIFORNIA WINES
Is a flattering tribute to their purity and fine qualities.
THE STATE FAIR
At Indianapolis, where our Wines came into competition with all the best WESTERN WINES, have just awarded us a SILVER MEDAL.
At the OHIO STATE FAIR we took Five Premiums out of six.
Surgeon General Dale, after a careful and searching chemical analysis of our wines, pronounces them PURE.
The tending portion of the American Press have extolled their merits; and the unanimous verdict of those who use them is, that

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Performance.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Calicoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

82 Water St., Boston, Mass.
The Vernatella,
For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1865.

"DISCOURAGEMENTS."—The Concord Patriot, of Jan. 4, in speaking of the "discouragements of the Country Press," mentions the facts, (in its own experience we presume,) that subscribers who must economize somewhere, cut off their paper rather than their rum and tobacco, and prefer a great city paper to their local journal. The Patriot then adds:

But there is another and still more discouraging indication that meets us now,—an indication of indifference in regard to public affairs, if not of disgust and despondency, which leads men to forget their duty to the Democratic papers and the great cause to which they are devoted.

The sentence here quoted (says Uncle Toby) hits the nail on the head. It is true, beyond question, that many men who have fancied that the Democratic party was omnipotent and immortal, have found out their mistake; and as they do not wish to act with any other party, and see no prospect of reviving their own, they have become somewhat indifferent to public affairs, and let them drift. These are the honest, ignorant men of the democratic party, who have believed what their leaders told them, and have done what they were bidden, first to vote that their purpose was firm and unalterable to resist the further extension of slavery, and then vote to swallow the Dred Scott decision and the Lecompton swindle. These stupid people, who have believed that Buchanan and Taney were just like Jefferson and Marshall, and that their principles were just the same, though their acts and policy were exactly opposite, are now bewildered, and like men lost in a swamp, don't know where to go, and so sit down.

Many of the most intelligent and upright men, formerly of the "democratic party," have retired from it and from its papers, in disgust, because they have seen that its leaders and papers have quite forgotten or disregarded democratic principles. These men could not help seeing that under the specious name of democracy, they were led or driven this way and that, at the command of a corrupt aristocracy, based on chattel slavery.

Still another class, intelligent but not upright, are in despondency just now, because they deem the rebel condition to be hopeless; and because, having identified themselves with it, they see themselves and their party rowing against wind and tide! Why hould they care about "Democratic papers"? and what duty do they owe them? They don't believe in any duty, except to take care of Number One! They have spent money hitherto in maintaining dirty sheets that opposed every movement of reform—because by these sheets they held their places and got their pelf. But now these poor papers are powerless to help them! and therefore they are willing to let them sink into their deserved oblivion.

When, therefore, it is suggested by the Patriot that it may stop, and that other "Democratic editors" in the State, and in the same plight, may do likewise, if the party don't support them better: it is only fair to say, the public morals and manners would not be injured in the least if half a dozen of them should do so—but on the contrary their stoppage would be a considerable public benefit. U. T.

DO SHEEP DESTROY THE BORER? A gentleman informs us, that a friend of his had a young orchard of some three acres in extent, that through the attacks of the borers, caterpillars and other such like vermin, had become next to worthless, having if any, small, wormy and knarly apples—which afforded but very few No. 1 apples when assorted for the market. He also had some apple trees set out beside a wall that divided his field from the sheep pasture of a neighbor. These trees were thrifty, good bearers of good fruit, and not troubled with the borer, curculio and other vermin, and this too when the trees had the same cultivation as those in the orchard, which produced next to nothing.

Taking a hint from these facts he traced the results to the probable causes. His thrifty trees were beside a sheep pasture. His neighbor's sheep were sheltered beneath those trees in storm and sunshine. The sheep in some way might cause the thrift of those trees. He fenced his orchard and turned some sheep into it. The orchard was trimmed and the sheep confined in it. It began to revive. The borers, caterpillars and all other vermin left it, and in a year or two, it began to yield abundantly,—and large, sound fruit. Now it is rare to find a poor apple in this orchard, as formerly it was to find a good one.

Now why the change? The farmer attributes it to the sheep. He says the smell of the sheep and their presence drives off the borers and other insects. Have any of our subscribers had any such experience? If they have, please communicate it. If sheep prevent the ravages of those vermin, it is very important that the community know the fact—as our orchards should be pastured by sheep forthwith to save them and secure their thrift. Who will try the experiment the coming season?—N. H. Journal of Agriculture.

— Some one has taken the trouble to calculate what it costs to support all the dogs in the world, and has concluded that the expense amounts to about thirty million dollars annually!

THE MOVEMENT CURE.

Almost universal as is the knowledge that a system known as the "Movement Cure" is used for the remedy of many diseases, comparatively few persons have a lucid idea of what that system consists. To remove the readers of the Chronicle from the pale of this obsurity, we give the outline of a day's treatment at Dr. Dio Lewis' Movement Cure, at Lexington, Mass.

Calling in the aid of all that is best in hydropathy, dietetics and good habits, the patient is expected to rise at six in the morning and walk on an average two miles before breakfast, no matter what the weather; and the effect of this stimulant to the appetite is readily perceived when the patients assemble at half past 7 to partake of their food. Debatable the use of pepper, spices, and kindred condiments, which for a while sharpen but eventually destroy our appetites; the plain liver feels a zest and satisfaction in the consumption of his food that the epicure can find only in the discovery of a new dish.

From half-past 8 a short walk employs the time until 9, when the patients of both sexes exercise in the "New Gymnastics" for half an hour; the hall in the Lexington House being one of the best we have ever seen for this purpose. From the hall the patients adjourn to the movement room, an hour or more being devoted to each sex. Here the treatment consists of a vigorous percussion of all parts of the patients' bodies by the hands of the operators, the subject being extended upon a couch; the various limbs are moved in a variety of ways by the operator, the patient resisting, and vice versa; a variety of gymnastic exercises, and the numerous changes on the pangymnastikon, fill up the hour for most of the patients, while some of them are straightened in presses or stretched on couches somewhat after the style of Procustes' famous bed. A walk of an hour's duration and a nap equally long bring the patient very nearly to dinner time, which is 3 o'clock, and which concludes the knife and fork exercises for the day.

In the matter of baths, of the various kinds—sun, electric, hot air, hot and cold water—the case of each patient of course calls for a special treatment; and as Dr. Lewis is aided in this department by Dr. Whitaker, formerly of the great water cure establishment at Danville, N. Y., this part of the cure will be very efficaciously administered, as well as such coadjutors as packings, compressings, and the like.

Believing, as the Doctor does, that much of the difficulty in the cure of disease lies in the fact that most patients indulge in an approach to hypochondriacism, he has made every endeavor to so employ their leisure time as to give them no opportunity to gather in little knots and talk themselves blue. On the days when the weather permits, numbers of the patients are taken out to ride, and on some days all in the house who care to go. Bagatelle and backgammon boards employ some; three pianos amuse others, while every evening the young and active find amusement and exercise in the hall in dancing, gymnastics, conversations, readings, lectures, or some other sociable way of passing time.

Devotions at quarter past 8, and the sound of the gong fifteen minutes later, as a signal for retiring, conclude a day which, when the programme is faithfully carried out, can hardly be otherwise than well spent.

A system which is founded on temperance, cleanliness, order, good air, natural habits, cheerfulness and active exercise, need no recommendation but our own common sense; and thus we leave the Doctor, believing that when our people take less physic and more air, fewer stimulants and more exercise, less labor and more recreation, we shall be a wiser, healthier and happier people.

DELAWARE.—Gov. Cannon, in his message to the Legislature of Delaware, takes ground in favor of emancipation in that State. He states that Delaware is connected with the Free States by geographical position and commercial necessity; that the products of Delaware find their markets in the North, and that from thence come the immigrants who give increased value to real estate; that the result of constant intercourse with the North is gradually to assimilate the institutions of Delaware to those of the Free States, as it has already identified their interests; that Slavery in Delaware, being merely nominal, is worthless as an element of labor; that emancipation in Maryland has surrounded Delaware with free soil, inviting the escape of slaves on all sides, as there is now no law requiring their rendition.

— If you see a horse running away in the street, stand on the sidewalk and bawl at him, at the top of your voice. If you can get a sufficient number of persons to join you, you have a fair prospect of an exciting accident, particularly if there is anybody in the flying team.

"My friend" said a seedy individual to a waggish acquaintance at a ferry, "I wish you would loan me two quarters to cross the ferry; I haven't got a dollar in the world." "Well, I would like to know," was the reply, "what difference it makes to a man who has'nt got a dollar in the world, which side of the river he's on?"

THE REBELLION.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch says Geo. D. Prentice, just from Richmond, reports Jeff. Davis' Government had conclusively resolved to free and arm the slaves; that 200,000 of them would soon be equipped and put into the field to fight us. Also, that Mr. Blair senior is in Richmond, and goes specially to see what can be done in the way of peace. The Tribune don't think he will succeed, and urges the filling up of our armies and making short work of the rebellion.

The N. Y. Herald's City Point correspondence of the 8th says Maj. Gen. Butler has been relieved of his command and ordered to report at Lowell, Mass. The order relieving him said Gen. Grant would name his successor. Maj. Gen. Ord has assumed temporary command of Gen. Butler's army and department.

There is a doubtful report that the rebels are preparing to evacuate Richmond.

Late rebel papers show that Jeff. Davis has now on his hands quarrels with the Governors of Mississippi, Georgia and Alabama.

It is reported by rebel sympathizers in Missouri that there are now three hundred guerrillas living in different parts of Illinois, organizing for work in Missouri, next spring.

Hines of Boone county, and Campbell of Howland county, both noted guerrillas of North Missouri, have been killed.

The report of the Richmond papers that Gen. Sherman has said the war would not change the condition of the slaves at the South, is contradicted "by authority." The General would gladly add 50,000 Samboes to his army, and is organizing all the able-bodied who followed him to Savannah.

The Richmond Whig thinks that the recent alleged peace mission of the Blairs has entitled the United States to be considered the most impudent nation that has ever had existence.

— Gold, Tuesday, 225 1-2.

— The Columbia Carolinian notices the arrival at Selma, Ala., 20th ult., of a detachment of 400 or 500 "galvanized Yankees," on their way to the front. They are strong, able bodied soldiers, mostly foreigners. Capt. Clark, one of the officers who had charge of them, stated that almost any number could be obtained, but that only those were accepted who had no families in the North and no ties to attach them to that section. They will be distributed through Irish regiments of the army of Tennessee, to fill up the depleted ranks.

— The Wilmington Journal says Bragg has written a letter breathing a spirit of Christian hope. He says there is no cause of alarm. There is no enemy between Wilmington and Fort Fisher. With his present force he thinks he will be able to resist a further attempt on Wilmington, and closes by asking for the prayers of Christians for himself and army.

— The Times correspondent says the investigation of the fiasco in the mine explosion in front of Petersburg is closed, and the verdict will show a divided responsibility falling upon Gens. Burnside, Meade and the General who led the assault; nor does Gen. Grant hold himself entirely blameless, especially in permitting the selection of the officer who led the assault to be made by lot.

— The Herald's Army of the James correspondent says Gen. Weitzel has gone to Cincinnati on leave of absence and to marry a young lady of that city.

— It is stated that a Mexican privateer has destroyed five French vessels off the Azores, named Clothilde, Ranconteur, Louis Tenth, Marseillaise, and Tricolor.

☞ In the U. S. Senate, Monday Jan. 9, the proposition to free the wives and children of slaves enlisted in the army was taken up.

Mr. Davis moved to amend so as to make its action prospective and not retrospective,—rejected.

Mr. Powell offered an amendment that the owners of slaves emancipated should be compensated. It was rejected, 7 against 30.

Mr. Saulsbury offered an amendment exempting from the operation of the resolution all the States that have not attempted to secede from the Union.—Rejected.

On the resolutions passed—27 yeas, nays 10. Only one republican, Trumbull, voted against it.

DOWN IN THE MOUTH.—The Richmond Examiner, in reply to the Sentinel's foreign protectorate article, says: "If neither England nor France will so much as recognize us now, how would they receive such an invitation as this,—now that we are sinking and perishing under the mighty power of the Yankee nation?" Where are the gentlemen who say the South can never be conquered?

☞ Artemus Ward, the greatest of American comic writers and lecturers, has dedicated his new book, now in press, as follows: "To my friend, Charles A. HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. His having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of Charge.

☞ We hope every person who feels due interest in the well-being of the rising generation, as well as in the present, will attend the light gymnastic exhibition, at the Temple to-night. The subject of recreative exercise, physical development and health, are of vital importance to all the community, but especially so to women and children in city life. And besides its intrinsic value, the entertainment will be very pleasing to all, whether acquainted with the new gymnastic system or not—as the performers announced are among the very best to be found, and richly worthy the patronage of all. It is also worth the price of a ticket to see a woman dressed so that she can be comfortable and healthy, and of some use to herself and others.

☞ Mr. John M. Davis of this city has left for the army, where for a few weeks he will minister to the wants of the sick and wounded, to which service he goes as Delegate of the Christian Commission.

The city of Portsmouth has but three policemen, says an exchange. But it has a host of fast women and some fast horses. The Provost Marshal's office, and the rush of business at the navy yard, have turned the heads of the staid old fogies of that staid old town, we reckon.—Boston Courier.

Not so: the old inhabitants are nearly the same as ever.—But the new comers make a revolution, in some respects for the better; in others, sad to say, for the worse.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE DELUSION. The delusion in regard to perpetual motion is disappearing before the progress of knowledge, but the delusion in regard to the balance of trade retains its hold on the minds of many intelligent men with singular tenacity.

The balance of trade depends simply upon the way the books are kept at the custom houses. A trader buys $100,000 worth of wheat in New York, and ships it to England, where, with the profits and freight added, it sells for $150,000. The proceeds are invested in lead, iron, cloth, and other articles, which on being brought to New York, with the freights and profits added, are worth $150,000. In this case the export has just paid for the import, and the country has $50,000 worth of merchandise more than it had before.

Now, if the books at the custom house are so kept that the value of the articles is entered, at the prices paid for them, the balance of the trade against us will be $25,000; if they are entered at their New York value, the balance of the trade against us is $50,000; while if they are entered at their value in England, there is no balance either way. If the articles are entered either at our home valuation, or at the purchasing price, the more profitable is the commerce, the larger will be the balance of trade against us.

We have made this explanation before, but are prompted to repeat it by the reception of a pamphlet from Lorin Blodget Esq., in which he labors through fourteen pages to show that, for the last four years the balance of trade has been in our favor, including gold, which is one of our staple products. As our merchants are shrewd, we do not believe that they have continued for four years the practice of exporting merchandise of more value in our ports than that which they have obtained in exchange. If they have, they have been doing a business unprofitable to themselves and to the country.—Scientific American.

HALL'S JOURNAL OF HEALTH for January, begins a volume, of a sensible and valuable work. Contents:

Nine Inconsiderate Things.—Nine nevers. Fruits healthful. Treatment of bites, burns, scalds, stings; Colds cured and avoided; Weak eyes; Travelling hints; Music healthful; Young old people; Dyspepsia; Drunkenness; Ice cure; Winter rules; Erect position; Walking; Eating; Drinking; Sleeplessness; Winter shoes; Corns cured; Growing beautiful; Consumption following ill-cured measles; Wearing flannel; Three essentials of health; Health without medicine; Cold feet; Constipation rectified by natural agencies; Baths and bathing; Scientific and practical treatise on catarrh, by Professor Daniels, &c.

It is published at No. 12 Union Square, New York, near Washington Monument. 12 cents per number.

COMPARATIVE STRENGTH OF LIQUORS. Dr. Jones, physician of St. George's Hospital, London, in a recent lecture, stated that the different fermented liquids which he had examined might, in regard to their strength and stimulating power, be thus arranged:

Cider 100, porter 109, stout 133, ale 141, moselle 158, claret 166, Burgundy 191, hock 191, champagne 241, Madeira 325, Marsala 341, port 358, sherry 358, Geneva 811, brandy 986, rum 1243.

Thus ten glasses of cider or porter, six glasses of claret, five of Burgundy, four of Champagne, three of sherry, are equivalent to one glass of brandy, or three-quarters of a glass of rum. The reader must always bear in mind, however, that of the large amount of brandy, so called, sold in liquor shops, but very little is pure brandy.

— A young man with $200 to start with, recently in a short time made $70,000 at the New York Brokers' Board. But he soon lost the whole and feels worse than ever.

— A copperhead proposal to reaffirm the black laws of the State of Illinois—prohibiting the negroes from coming into or residing in the State—was laid on the table in the House of Representatives of that State last Wednesday, by a vote of 46 to 31.

☞ The California Farmer says the curing of the grape, the making of raisins, is destined, in coming years, to become a great branch of trade in that State. Several parties have made more or less raisins the past two years, and have shown them at the fairs; and the raisins thus made have been found to be superior to those imported, being fresher and containing the full rich flavor of the grape, which is almost all lost by long voyages of importation.

☞ In the Legislature of Missouri, both Houses passed a bill authorizing the Board of Public Schools to provide for the education of colored children of St. Louis,—the present law forbiding the same.

The Common Council of Baltimore are considering the question of public schools for colored children. What is the world a-coming to?

☞ It has come out, in a law case in the metropolis, that one of the leading newspapers of New York is principally edited by a person of unsound mind confined in insane institution. On which, the Portland Transcript remarks that they "never thought it any evidence of sanity in any man, to engage in editing a newspaper. In regard to the New York journals, the question will not be which is the one edited by a lunatic, but which is the one that is not."

GYMNASTICS.—Mrs. Churchill, a graduate of Dr. Lewis, and an experienced teacher, proposes to open a class in the new gymnastics, at Union Hall, soon; and as preliminary to so desirable a movement, she will, with another lady gymnast, give a public exhibition of the system, at the Temple, this Wednesday evening.

The greatest discovery of the age is the new soap just come out, and known as the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap; it not only saves time in washing, but does the work in a much superior manner to all other soaps now before the people. The makers claim it is manufactured on an entirely different principle, and that it is a great labor-saving article, besides going much further than any other soap. Our experience confirms all the Inventor claims for it. Try it, and we think all will be convinced of the fact, and will ever have the Gold Medal or none. 45

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and we convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; it is saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on natural medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.,
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGE AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of professional decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessary of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Morning Chronicle.

THE MEN WITH THE BLACK BAGS.—We are happy to be able to say that Major General Dix, assisted by Major General Peck, and aided by a supplementary force of the celebrated New York Detective Police, have arrested every one of the infamous incendiaries who, some four or five weeks ago, endeavored to set the city on fire in a dozen places. We are informed also, that the confessions of all those persons have been taken, and that the most astonishing revelations may, in due time, be expected. For reasons, however, connected with the public welfare, and likewise intimately connected with the welfare of the local detective force, none of these revelations will be published till after the conclusion of the war. And even then, the names of the parties will be reserved, in order that the interests of the community may not be prejudiced by a premature disclosure. Sufficient has been communicated to us, however, to satisfy us of the complete success of General Dix and the New York Detective Police in this matter; and to enable us also to assure the public, that the Detective Police can henceforth regard with complete indifference the renewal of the diabolical attempt by these, or indeed by any other incendiaries. Should the infernal experiment be tried again, there is not the least doubt that General Dix and the detectives would be just as successful in bringing the criminals to justice, in the new case as in this.—Wilkes' Spirit.

A DOMESTIC PLATFORM.—One who has had considerable experience in the housekeeping line, says that a home should be supplied with such necessaries as piety, pickles, pots and kettles, brushes, brooms, benevolence, bread, charity, cheese, faith, flour, affection, cider, sincerity, onions, integrity, vinegar, wine and wisdom. Have all these and happiness will be with you.

☞ A man who had brutally assaulted his wife, was lately brought before Justice Cole of Albany, and had a good deal to say about getting justice. "Justice" replied Cole; "you can't get it here. This court has no power to hang you."

A flourishing and estimable charity in Portland is called "The Widow's Wood Society." But can it be possible that there are any widows in that city who wouldn't?—Advertiser.

A man cannot burrow in his counting-room for ten or twenty of the best years of his life, and come out as much of a man and as little of a mole as when he went in.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Strictures, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotte, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new and pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted even soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the care of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, or No Charge Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain cures.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots need for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this failure is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which renders them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY

CHEROKEE INJECTION,

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure,

Are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these; those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by transmitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, that he can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me FIFTEEN applications, all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 25, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—during the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWEETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give me relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.
From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.
"Dr. Swett: Permit me to tell you, that I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. mav26

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush; but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELICIOUS PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1865.

TAXES.—The New York Tribune thus cries loudly for more taxes:

"Let us have a twenty-five per cent income tax, if necessary, with a searching inquiry into every man's business and receipts, with double the present taxes on all luxuries and superfluities."

That is very consolatory. A twenty-five per cent income tax! Whew! Had not the government better take all the property of the people at once?—Copperhead Papers.

Certainly, if it needs it—for what is the Government, but the people? and what are the people, with no government? Does not "the government" or the managers of any corporation, apply its income, or even draw on the capital stock if need be, till all is gone, to further the supposed interests of the corporation?

The Richmond papers indicate the fears of the Davis dynasty, that Georgia—"the empire state of the South"—will throw off the confederate yoke and come back to the Union. Propositions are said to have been made to that effect to Washington, and if it was a simple return to the Constitution as they left it, we should expect to see Georgia returning; but we doubt if they are yet ready to comply with the only terms on which they can come back.—Newburyport Herald.

It is impossible to go back to that point. No man who has broken down his constitution by intemperance and debauchery, can get back the health he left. He must take now the best he can get.

Our friend of the Patriot — whose ripe experience entitles him to be heard—talks so sensibly upon the newspaper question, that we cannot forbear to copy his article entire. We commend it to the attention of Democrats everywhere. We tell them frankly that the present is no time for them to curtail upon their newspapers. — Manchester Union.

Well well: says Uncle Toby,— you might just as well tell the rats not to desert the sinking ship.

☞ The Newburyport Herald says "the rumors that Mr. Blair will yet go to Richmond on a peace mission are revived. Horace Greeley, now as before, is a strenuous advocate of peace by negotiation, and believes that the war could be brought to a close in that way. We agree with Greeley; still if the people have not had enough of it, let it go on with vigor; fill up the army; press on the cohorts; let the ports of the South be sealed up; the large towns be garrisoned with soldiers; their armies in the field defeated and broken; and no suspension be had till they cry—enough!"

☞ A Meeting in Philadelphia for the relief of Savannah was held on Tuesday afternoon. Bishop Potter presided. A letter from Savannah, addressed to Mr. Steiner, was read, in which the writer, after expressing his joy at being once more in the Union, describes the terrible suffering of the people of that city. A committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions for the purpose of purchasing a ship load of provisions to send to Savannah. It was stated that the Coal Exchange had already started a subscription for the purpose of chartering a vessel to carry relief.

THE WEALTH OF VIRGINIA WOODLANDS.—If the rebels vacate Virginia, it will open up a vast area of timber land, the wealth of which is almost inestimable. A Norfolk correspondent says: "I have known tracts of woodland, with heavy pine timber upon it, to be sold for ten dollars per acre, when many of the trees were worth twenty-five dollars apiece. The influx of Northern population is almost beginning to settle in, and we may look for this city to be the second in the sunny South before many years shall have passed away."

Brownlow, in describing Gen. Stoneman's late raid into Southwestern Virginia, says in his peculiar way that—

The town of Wytheville is laid in ashes. One of the principal churches, filled with shells, cartridges and powder, was touched off, and a more moving sermon never was delivered in that sanctuary!

The Salt Works and Pearce's Lead Mines were utterly destroyed, leaving both establishments as they were when God created the world — without form, and void! They will need salt before they get it again!

Breckinridge and Vaughn went flying out of Wytheville, with from six to eight hundred demoralized troops, in the direction of North Carolina. From the speed with which they ran, and the consternation they displayed, it is fair to presume they are going yet!

— Thanks, friends, many thanks, for the numerous compliments and kind wishes accompanying your annual tribute to our success, from all parts of the country, far and near. We hardly know which of the two enclosures that almost invariably come together, to prize most—the material or sentimental; both are very acceptable, we assure you, friends—and there is no stint of either, we are glad to say.

— In the Massachusetts House of Representatives, Senator Wilson has been reelected by 207 votes out of 225.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.

Editors Chronicle:—This ought to be an enlightened city, if lectures can accomplish anything in the way of educating the people. Thus far this winter we have had six distinct courses of lectures in the city proper, one each in East Boston and South Boston (Wards 2 & 12) and one or two courses in each of the adjoining cities and towns. One of the best of the series was the course given under the auspices of the Old Bay State Division, Sons of Temperance in this city; nearly if not quite, the oldest division in this State; the course was closed last Friday evening with an eloquent lecture on "Sunshine" by Rev. Dr. Willets of Brooklyn N. Y.

The 3d & 7th N. H. Regiments are brigaded with the 6th & 8th Conn. under the Command of Col. Abbot of the 7th N. H. formerly Adjt. General of the State. The brigade is stationed on the North side of James River and did not form part of the Wilmington expedition.

Col. Bedel of the 3d N. H. was promoted from Lieut. Col. while a prisoner of war at Columbia, South Carolina. He has received authority from the War Dept. to be mustered as Colonel and will rejoin his regiment in a few days.

Lieut. Col. Randlett of the 3d is at his home in Washington on a furlough. The gallant Colonel has not yet been promoted but has had an addition to his infantry command. Col. Randlett left the brave old 3d on the 27th of Dec. on which day they had 107 men for duty, small in numbers but great in spirit and courage.

Capt. John L. Kelly A. Q. M. formerly Quartermaster of the 4th N. H. Regt, has charge of marine transportation at Savannah, a similar position to that which he filled so long and so acceptably at Hilton Head.

1st Lieut. Charles S. Hazen 3d N. H. is reported dismissed for absence without leave. Lieut. Hazen came North with the discharged men of his regt. last August, and being out of health resigned; through some informality in his papers he is published as above, but will probably receive an honorable discharge as soon as the matcan be explained. He did very efficient service last winter in transporting recruits to N. H. regiments. MANNING.

THE REBELLION RECORD is an invaluable history of our times. No. 45 is just issued. The publishers, finding that other responsible duties and interests prevent them from giving such exclusive attention to the enterprise as its growing importance demands, have been induced, with the assent of Mr. Frank Moore, the editor, to dispose of them to Mr. D. Van Nostrand, whose extensive facilities in connection with military publications, will enable him to do full justice to the work, and to bring it to completion in a manner entirely satisfactory to the subscribers. All orders, therefore, should be henceforth addressed to Mr. D. Van Nostrand, 192 Broadway. As each number is stereotyped, back numbers and volumes or complete sets can always be obtained.

☞ The New York Herald says its correspondence furnishes additional confirmation of the fact, which has been for a long time apparent, that the majority of the people of Texas, like the citizens of many other of the nominally rebellious States, are anxiously awaiting the time when they shall again be restored to that proud national distinction which is only found under the folds of Star Spangled Banner. They are only held in a seeming allegiance to Jeff. Davis' Confederacy by the strong arm of military power. That once broken, as it soon will be, the people, after their four years of estrangement, will again joyfully assume the noble position of citizens of the great republic.

☞ Several parties in New York, desiring to ship cargoes to Savannah for trade, the Secretary of the Treasury has ordered that no clearances shall be permitted for shipment on private account without the special authority from the Treasury Department. Dr. Willis of Savannah, has obtained permission to make a small shipment of provisions to that city on condition that all concerned in the shipment shall take the oath of allegiance, and that none of the articles shipped shall be used to give aid and comfort to the insurgents.

A letter from Beaufort, says the people of Savannah are destitute and our military officers feed them.

— Col. Isaac O. Barnes, died in Boston on Saturday, aged 66 years. He was a native of Bedford, N. H., a graduate of Middlebury college, Vt; a man of excellent literary tastes; married a sister to the late Levi Woodbury. He held office under the general government most of the time from 1835, to his decease. He was one of the victims of the National Hotel poisoning, at the inauguration of Buchanan in 1856, and has not been well since.

— The N. Y. Times' correspondent, at Nashville, says Hood's loss in the late campaign was not less than 20,000, and the Federal loss about 7,000.

THE REBELLION.

Late rebel papers say the damage done done by Stoneman's and Burbridge's raids in East Tennessee and Virginia was great, but console themselves with the fact that the Yankees have done all the harm they can in that region.

The rebel Senate have adopted resolutions of thanks to their allies, the Cherokee Indians.

Moseby is said to be rapidly recovering.

In the sharp discussion now going on between the rebel papers, in which Jeff. Davis' meddling is charged as the cause of all their recent disasters, some of them in his defence assail Gen. Lee as a marplot.

The Richmond Sentinel says a rebel raid into Southwestern Virginia (which is a very rich grass country, with fine fat stock) secured five hundred head of cattle.

The Herald's Shenandoah correspondence says the inhabitants are suffering from scarcity of food, and the rebel troops being quartered upon them renders their condition still more deplorable. No new military movement of importance has recently taken place in the valley.

The Vicksburg Herald of the 5th states that Grierson's raiding party, 3000 strong, started from Memphis on the 21st ult. They met a considerable force of rebels at Egypt, on the Ohio and Mobile Railroad, defeated them and captured and paroled 500 prisoners, besides killing and wounding many.—Gen. Holcomb, the rebel commander, was killed. They then struck westward, destroying 30 miles of the Mississippi Central Railroad, 50 cars and several locomotives. At Grenada they destroyed several extensive cloth and shoe factories. The expedition brought in a number of contrabands, horses and mules. Among the prisoners is a Colonel, Lieut. Colonel, and 25 line officers.

On the night of Dec. 26, Ensign Blumes, of the gunboat Virginia, cut out the schooner Dollie, for Nassau, with 130 bales of cotton, from under the guns of the forts in Galveston harbor.

A letter from Mobile, from a citizen there to New Orleans, says fighting was going on in that vicinity on the 31st ult.

The gunboat Rattler, during a storm, drifted ashore between Vicksburg and Natchez, and was set on fire and destroyed by guerrillas.

The rebels are reported to have burned the Court House at Owensburg, Ky.

The latest rebel accounts say Sherman is still in front of Hardeesville.

— On Wednesday a great fire raged in Louisville. Loss about $1,000,000.

— Gold, Wednesday, 223 1-2 and 3 8.

— The board of ordnance officers convened for excmination into the cause of the explosion of Parrott guns at the bombardment of Fort Fisher, are not likely to report for several days yet. Some evidence goes to show that at least one explosion was caused by carelessness of the gunners.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM.—A new method of swindling in Government securities has just come to light. The guilty parties procure a number of the 7-30 loan bonds, and, after cutting off the coupons, sell the bonds at par, or with a slight reduction, to unsuspecting persons. Without the coupons no interest can be obtained by the bond-holder. Let people be on their guard against this new imposition.—Boston Herald.

—Ward Beecher's salary for preaching is $12,500. Probably his income for writing and lecturing is as much more; so if he ever accepts the Presidency of the United States it would be for the honor and not the salary. The Herald wonders what the original fishermen apostles would have thought of such pay.

There is a story quietly circulating about Green the murderer which seems to justify printing. Being visited in his cell recently he enquired what were the probabilities of his being hung. "Very great," was the reply. "Oh, no," said Green, "the Governor will not sign the death warrant, I am sure." "But did he not sign Desmarteau's?" "Yes," said Green naively, but then you know that was an aggravated case!"—Post.

☞ A band of Indians lately attacked and robbed the overland mail and express, near Julesburg, Colorado, burnt the stage station, and killed one man. A body of troops drove them, killing 36, and losing 19.—The Indians intended a general massacre.

THE GEORGIA.—It is understood that the captured steamer Georgia, formerly a rebel pirate, now lying at this port, is to be taken for the government service, though a decision in regard to the legality of her capture has not yet been made. A board of appraisers appointed by the District Court has inspected the vessel this week, in order to fix the amount of bond to be given by the United States government before taking possession of her.—New Bedford Standard.

— Gov. Smith, of Rhode Island, recently paid out of his own pocket for a breakfast for about three hundred soldiers, mostly from Maine, who were detained on the steamer in the Sound, and hadn't any money to buy a breakfast with.

— It has been brought to the attention of Congressmen that the paper monopolists have silenced or brought over some influential journals against the repeal of the duty on printing paper, by selling to them temporarily at reduced rates. Some of the proprietors of such journals openly declare that their desire is to destroy the country press.—Ex.

— Gen. Burnside, it is said, has tendered his resignation.

— A woman in Liverpool has just walked a thousand miles in a thousand hours.

— A $50,000 dwelling-house on Chestnut street has been presented by Philadelphians to Mrs. General Grant.

— The farmers of Eastern Hampden, Ms., pay $1000 internal revenue tax for making cider the past season.

— While the flower of the South leaves Savannah with Hardee, the flower of the North hastens to enter it.

— The Post truly says the capital of New Hampshire has been "a Concord of sweet sounds" recently.

— A British army officer who has travelled three thousand miles in the Federal States, thinks that their resources in men and money are inexhaustible.

— A pastor in Malden, at the opening of service last Christmas morning, acknowledged the very generous Christmas present from his wife of two babies—a little daughter and son.

— A shock of earthquake was felt in Washington Territory, Nov. 2d, and the same day a portion of the top of Mount Baker, a volcano, fell inward. The portion of the mountain which collapsed is said to have been upward of a mile in width.

HALE'S
Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

☞ Rev. Mr. Abbott's Lecture before the Lyceum, in the storm of Tuesday evening, drew an audience which looked about as usual, but numbered only 638 persons. No matter what the number,—600 seem to fill the Temple about as full as 800.

The lecture was very interesting—especially to those who hadn't read Harper's Magazine; and was greatly enjoyed by the highly intelligent and patriotic audience.

All such history-readers and history-makers as Edward Everett and John S. C. Abbott, tell us that never did the world see greater generalship or more "successful war" than that for the Union; but the blatant copperheads keep shouting, Nothing has been done, or can be, to save our country, but to knuckle to the rebels and traitors. We shall see. Mr. Abbott has recently been all through our armies, and is convinced the traitors are on their last legs.

The Band gave us some good music, but we thought did not play quite so well as usual. Their accommodations are not good, and are shifted too often.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE it was, that our friend Tidd experienced a day or two since, when his friends at Fort Constitution presented him with a splendid present in the shape of a massive Gold Chain and Key, from the well-known Jewellry establishment of Mr. Bodge, in this city. Mr. T. has been the Clerk at the Fort for more than a year past, and has recently left, to engage in the Dry Goods business.

The presentation was made in behalf of of the donors, by Mr. A. P. Pierce, who wished him to accept it as a small token of their regard and esteem. Mr. Tidd responded by thanking his friends kindly for this expression of their good will, and assured them that it did not require this costly present in addition to the many acts of courtesy and kindness to remind him of his many friends at the Fort.

It is indeed a splendid gift. On one side of the Key is inscribed "Chas. L. Tidd, from his friends"; on the reverse, "Fort Constitution, Jan. 1865." E.

☞ A certain mechanic (no, not very certain, either) whom, contrary to our usual custom, and because we exchanged accounts we had allowed to owe us for the Chronicle for a year or two, was requested by us to do a little job recently. He replied that he was busy in the daytime, and it would be rather inconvenient to do it in the evening. Seeing that our day's work commences at the "rather inconvenient" season of from 3 to 4 o'clock in the morning, we don't propose to send that man any more papers on tick. It is no charity or kindness to do for anybody, more than they will do for themselves. F.

SOLDIERS' LIBRARY.—The subscriber, of the V. R. C., 13th Regt., takes this method of informing the noble and patriotic citizens of old Portsmouth, that he has arrived here in this his native place; and will at once undertake the pleasing task of calling at their residences and receiving at their hands whatever donations of books, either old or new, that they may be pleased to give him in aid of the noble object of establishing a Soldiers' Library at Camp Gilmore, Concord, N. H. All persons are requested to write their address inside of the same, so that they may receive due credit for their benevolence.
Jan. 11, 1865. DANIEL F. SMITH.

☞ The first Annual Meeting of the National M. & T. Bank in this city, was held on Tuesday evening. The bank has not been running a year, but the annual meeting is fixed for Jan. 10th. Of course the original board of Directors was re-elected. The Bank is flourishing finely.

☞ All persons interested in the "New Gymnastics" are requested to meet at Union Hall this (Thursday) evening, at half-past seven o'clock, to form a Class.

A VALUABLE WORK.—"Heath's Counterfeit Detector at Sight," is a little volume just issued, that promises to be of great pecuniary value to the public. Its title indicates its object. It is highly commended by the manager of the American Bank Note Company, and by cashiers of many of the prominent New England banks, as well as by brokers and business men generally who have examined it. This is emphatically the time to "look for counterfeit bills," and as Mr. Heath is now offering his book in this place, those who would protect themselves from imposition and loss are advised to spend a few minutes in examining his method, and then buy his little volume. With any one accustomed to handle money, even in small sums, it cannot fail to be of great value.

Indeed, it is worth more than all the common Counterfeit Detectors in the country—which only discover the loss, while this prevents it. The principle on which the detection of counterfeits is based is that genuine notes are engraved by machinery, while counterfeit notes are engraved by hand, because the machines are too expensive for a business which has to be carried on in secret, and may at any time be broken up by the police. The machine does its work exactly; the result of the workman's labors is rough and unfinished, and presents blemishes which can be detected by the practiced eye. This book explains the application of this principle, and gives illustrations not accessible to business men generally. On the strength of the proofs exhibited to us, and without personal acquaintance with the matter, we commend the work to all who are not already familiar with the best method of guarding against loss from counterfeit money.

☞ One of the persons concerned in the hotel burning in New York has been arrested in Detroit. The Tribune of that city of Friday says:—

A few days since a commotion was visible among the detectives in this city, which gave rise to a suspicion that something unusual was going on. What the commotion was we had some difficulty in ascertaining, but after careful inquiry we learned that several New York detectives had traced one of the hotel incendiaries of that city to Detroit, which, as may naturally be supposed, was taking a feather out of the cap of our own officers. The individual was living at one of our first-class hotels, at which place it was thought he had been maturing plans for a repetition of the New York affair.

He was taken into custody, and evidence found upon his person that it is thought will be sufficient to insure his conviction.—He gave his name as Cobb, although it was previously ascertained that he had registered himself at New York as Sidney Staunton. He is, we believe, a Southerner, and is bold enough to attempt no disguise. He will probably claim to be a belligerent, and as such entitled to all the benefits of a prisoner of war.

"DARN IT."—A female writer says: "Nothing looks worse on a lady than darned stockings."

Allow us to observe that stockings that need darning, look worse than darned ones.—Exchange.

Stockings look best surely without any darned holes in them.—Louisville Cour.

Gentlemen, you had better attend to your knitting, and let the injury complained of, heel itself.—Boston Post.

Yes, or you may get worsted.—Washington Star.

And if not worsted, you'll most likely get the kinks taken out of you.—National Flag.

The above perpetrations compose the darndest nonsense we have ever heard of.—Liv. Co. News.

The foregoing are all the yarns on the subject we have found unraveled.—Mad. Patriot.

Why don't they narrow and come to the point?—Pinery.

Perhaps they fear they will get toed off, if they get too near the point.—Berlin Cour.

Darn it, gentlemen, if the lady has a hole in her stocking, can't she knit in a piece.—Plover Herald.

Gentlemen, you had better drop a few stitches and bring the whole (hole) to a close.—Independent Phœnix.

Would like to know how above Gents can speak so clearly on such a darned subject. Did you ever attempt to unravel a hole? Columbia ladies look well because they wear stockings ribbed not darned.—Columbia Spy.

A great deal of needle-est wit has been woven into this matter; now dismiss it in toe toe.—Boston Leader.

As the least said on so delicate a subject, the easier mended,—we won't put our darning-needle so far into the seam but that we can withdraw without splitting stiches.

The greatest discovery of the age is the new soap just come out, and known as the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap; it not only saves time in washing, but does the work in a much superior manner to all other soaps now before the people. The makers claim it is manufactured on an entirely different principle, and that it is a great labor-saving article, besides going much further than any other soap. Our experience confirms all the inventor claims for it. Try it, and we think all will be convinced of the fact, and will ever have the Gold Medal or none. 45

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambucus wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed by the unparalleled testimony that only can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that the quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their aid to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedy; but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So certainly certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would ask those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plates, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and warming heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin water-pipe closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the fire, causing a heat 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of the Furnace.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE REMEDY

CHEROKEE INJECTION,

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa; and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with it at intervals in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chafing and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure,

Are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these: those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling; than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their diseases and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Postoffice, County, State and name of writer, plain, and inclose postage stamp for reply.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, except on Hand and Assets, done with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to secure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1864. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. may26

Which has attended the introduction of our brands of
CALIFORNIA WINES
Is a flattering tribute to their purity and fine qualities.
THE STATE FAIR
At Indianapolis, where our Wines came into competition with all the best WESTERN WINES, have just awarded us a SILVER MEDAL.

At the OHIO STATE FAIR we took Five Premiums out of six.

Surgeon General Dale, after a careful and searching chemical analysis of our wines, pronounces them PURE.

The leading portion of the American Press have extolled their merits; and the unanimous verdict of those who use them is, that

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.

The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the dipper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and beautifies the leather.

Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.

Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.
WYMAN & TYLER, Lithographers,
32 Water St., Boston, Mass.

The Vernatella,
For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above. n29-1y37

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13, 1865.

STATE OF NEW YORK.—Gov. Fenton, elected for two years governor of New York, in his message of Jan. 6th to the Legislature, says, "The geographical position of our State is such that it has at all times drawn to its ports, and carried over its interior lines of transportation, the greater share of the foreign commerce and of the interior exchanges of the United States.—This concentration of trade has increased since the war began, in consequence of the closing of the Southern ports, and the stoppage of trade on the Mississippi; and not only has this tendency been more decided, but, in addition, the volume of all classes of trade, foreign and domestic, has been greatly enlarged, contrary to the predictions of the enemies of the Union, and to the surprise of most of its friends. The chief seaport of the country has increased its business, both in foreign and domestic commerce, more rapidly than at any previous time, and the great lines of transportation have nearly doubled the quantities of produce carried through this State to the seaboard since 1859, and the greater proportion of the increase has been subsequent, to 1860, or during the years of actual war."

In 1864, there were in the State of New York 295 banks, with an aggregate capital of $107,306,948. There are now in operation in that State 102 national banks with an aggregate capital of $21,115,800. 62 banks are closing up business. The receipts into the Treasury in 1864 were $11,270,098, and the payments, except the canal fund, were $10,820,807. From 15th of April, 1861, to 1st of Dec., 1864, the State of New York has furnished 437,701 men to the Government. Of the number, 409,426 entered the army, and 28,275 the navy.—The population has rapidly increased since the war, and is now estimated at 4,307,616. The number of alien emigrants who arrived at the port of New York the last year was 182,766, showing an increase over the year 1863 of more than 25,000.

From the above statements may be inferred the increasing wealth and prosperity of the Empire State; and while we lament the deplorable condition of the rebel States—the desolations and ravages of war, brought on by the madness of a comparatively few corrupt and profligate oligarchs we have reason to thank the Supreme Ruler over all, that our Northern industrial pursuits, generally, have not been arrested—that we have an abundance of manufacturing and agricultural products—that we have a sound and sufficient national currency—that we escape the dreadful ravages of the war within our borders, and chiefly have only to mourn over the loss and injuries of relatives and our fellow citizens, who peril their health and lives on the battlefield in the defence of the national life and the glorious rights and liberties transmitted to us by the fathers as a priceless heritage.

PRO PATRIA.

THE REBELLION.

Richmond papers of Monday, Jan. 9, contain a telegram from Charleston stating that Sherman's advanced force had passed Hardeeville and occupied Grahamsville, thirty-five miles north of Savannah.

The Sentinel (Jeff. Davis's organ,) of Monday, editorially backs out of its position, assumed a few days since, that a European protectorate or colonial vassalage would be preferable to submission to the Yankees. It maintains that the Confederacy is too strong to discuss such a question now.

The Examiner and Whig of the 9th both intimate their belief that General Thomas has swung away from his base, and is moving towards Southwestern Virginia. One paper, however, hardly credits that Thomas would attempt anything so daring, and says it don't believe he will out-Sherman Sherman.

The Wilmington papers state that the defences of that city are so strong they do not fear its capture. They seem to believe that another attack is soon to be made upon it.

Shenandoah Valley correspondence says there are rumors that the rebels have moved down to Strasburg, but it is not thought they are of sufficient strength to annoy Sheridan.

Richmond papers of the 9th say that Gen. Price is still living.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 9th says of reconstruction and reconstructionists:

No man would be safe in Virginia who dared to exhibit the least willingness to reconstruct even upon the most favorable terms. The people of this State have taken Gen. Sherman at his word and mean to fight it out like men. They ought to hang any man, be he Congressman or Legislator, or common Councilman, or private citizen, who exhibits the first set towards submission or reconstruction, and we believe they will do it.

☞ Various peace rumors sent gold down to 216 on Thursday,—but it rallied to 219:—many of the rumors must be unfounded:—possibly all are not.

PRISONERS SUFFERING.—The Newburyport Herald contains the following statements of rebel barbarity:

Sergeant Ariel Peabody, of the United States Sharpshooters, has just arrived home in a state of complete prostration, consequent on a course of starvation and exposure in six rebel prisons, from the Libbey in Richmond to the pen in Andersonville, Ga. He describes his last prison as a large enclosure of twenty-eight acres, surrounded by a stockade, in which thirty-thousand Union prisoners were confined on rations of a pint cup of Indian meal per day, with no shelter against the inclemency of the weather, unless they were fortunate enough to have a blanket which they could put under them, to save their sore limbs from contact with the frozen ground, or over them as a protection from the storms. One night, when a cold snap came on that made two inches of ice, a hundred were chilled to death in the hospital. The average number of deaths was a hundred per day. So great was the suffering that even the rebel officers of the prison reported to their superiors that the prisoners were starving to death, but were answered that their rations were all that the government allowed. The rebels invariably declare that our government alone is to blame for all the sufferings of our prisoners, as they were ready at any time to exchange white man for white man, to which proposition they averred that the Lincoln administration refused to consent.

Sergeant Peabody's sad story agrees exactly with that of a returned man with whom we talked the other day, and thus the barbarism of the slave power is proved beyond question.

The rebel officers, including their chief, are a set of liars,—but if they tell one grain of truth in the last statements about white men, then they prove that the rebels made the war for slavery's sake! and that to a very recent period they kept it up for the same purpose. Nay more,—they withhold the exchange of our black soldiers, to prevent more blacks from enlisting,—and they starve our white soldiers, that our army may thereby be weakened in two ways—directly by death and sickness, and indirectly by dread of their horrible treatment.

Some of the most venomous copperhead sheets try to apologize for their rebel friends in these matters—but it is all in vain; the civilized people of the world understand the "Barbarism of Slavery,"—and the Divine Power dooms it to destruction. Let all the people say Amen. U. T.

☞ The Boston Advertiser tells the following good old story of Contributions by Savannah for the poor of Boston. The Meeting in Faneuil Hall, Boston, recalls the memory of another "general meeting" held now near a century ago, when the people of Savannah showed their interest in our common country by their contributions to the necessities of Boston. When the "Port Bill" reduced Boston to the state almost of a beseiged town, so that her mechanics and seamen had no means of earning bread, the people of Savannah, with those of all the rest of the country, came to her relief.

On the 10th of August, 1774, at a general meeting of the inhabitants of Georgia at Savannah, a committee was appointed "to receive subscriptions for the suffering poor of Boston." A letter dated Savannah, Dec. 9, 1774, says: "There are large donations of rice for the sufferers in Boston, and had we the means of sending it to them, with little trouble much more would be collected and sent. Few have subscribed less than ten tierces of rice."

The rice was sent to New York, sold there, and the proceeds, £216 0s. 5d., were remitted to the relief of the Boston poor.

The oligarchy at Richmond which has held Savannah out in the cold for four years, is a government as oppressive to her and as foreign as was that Lord North which tried to starve the Boston of 1774. It would be easy to follow along the parallel between the condition of Boston then and that of Savannah before she was relieved by Sherman.

LEGAL TENDER NOTES.—The N. Y. Times' Washington correspondent says he is authorized to state that Sec. Fessenden has not issued, as reported, any legal tender notes since he assumed the duties of his office. New legal tenders have been issued by the Treasury Department, but only for the purpose of replacing the defaced notes withdrawn from circulation. He also states that the report circulated on Saturday that the Treasury Department was issuing one hundred millions six per cent. compound notes was wholly without foundation, and originated solely among gold operators for their own special purposes.

☞ The Richmond Enquirer denounces owners of negroes for the "exorbitant hires demanded for negroes this year." One thousand dollars, board and clothing are asked by some for negro men. The Enquirer says owners are thus jeopardizing the institution of slavery by making it an incubus upon production, as the farmers cannot afford to pay such prices, and it hopes that Congress will order the conscription of every negro for whom such wages are demanded.

The rebels say that Jeff. Davis is panic stricken. They would all be, if they had his brains to perceive their true situation. Newburyport Herald.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

——The Democratic Congressional Convention for the Second District met at Manchester on Wednesday, and nominated Lewis W. Clark, Esq., of that city, for Congress.

—— The Concord Monitor says that workmen are busy in tearing out the seats from the old Representatives' Hall, and we are informed that the old State House is to be speedily dug out, preparatory to remodelling its interior. The foundation is already laid for the extension in front and rear, and the corners of the old edifice, which are to remain standing, cut away preparatory to being ornamented with rustic quoins. As the new building will not be ready for occupancy by next June, we have heard it suggested that the next session of the Legislature will probably be held in the City Hall.

—— A fire occurred at Concord Tuesday evening. It broke out in the Atheneum building, but was quickly extinguished. The press of the Patriot office was somewhat damaged by it. The whole loss to the building and press will be less than $1000, it is thought,—and they are insured. The fire is supposed to be incendiary.

—— In the Republican Convention for Senatorial District No. 2, Joseph J. Dearborn, of Deerfield, was nominated for Senator.

—— The State Convention of the Democratic party met at Concord on Thursday, in large numbers, and nominated Hon. E. W. Harrington for Governor, and O. A. T. Vaughan for Railroad Commissioner.—Harry Bingham was nominated for Representative in Congress from the 3d District, and I. W. Clark for the 2d.

THE DUTIES ON PRINTING PAPER.—The joint resolution introduced in the House by Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, for the suspension of duties on printing paper, provides that as long as the current rate of premium for exchange on London, when bought at New York with any lawful money of the United States shall exceed sixty per centum, paper for the printing of books, periodicals, and newspapers, may be admitted at any customs port of the United States from any foreign country, free of duty; the rate of exchange to be ascertained and declared, for this purpose, by the Secretary of the Treasury. The bill was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

— Over $25,000 were raised in Boston up to Thursday evening, for Savannah.

— The distinguished Democratic politician who is reported as having gone to Richmond on a mission, was no less a personage than General Singleton, of Illinois. Coupled with this, it is said that the Rebel Congress, in secret session, has agreed to Mr. Mullen's resolution, introduced some time since, and appointed three commissioners to visit General Grant's headquarters on a peace mission.

— At the dinner given to the Boston Independent Cadets, on Wednesday, among the toasts given was one complimentary to Admiral Stringham, who replied briefly to the compliment, and gave a sentiment in Cochituate water, saying that since being in the navy, for more than thirty years, he had drank no wine.

— The Boston Post's special Washington dispatch says the President has authorized a member of Congress to say, that if the Constitutional amendment is defeated he will call an extra session. A careful canvass of the House indicates a defeat of the amendment.

— The New York Commercial denies the report that it had received a warning from the War Department for publishing, prematurely, accounts of the Wilmington expedition. Well, it ought to have received one.

— In the Kentucky legislature, Wednesday, Hon. James Guthrie was elected United States Senator in place of L. W. Powell.

— It is stated that General Butler was relieved by request of General Grant.

Richmond papers demand public meeting in Savannah. The mayor and citizens of Savannah held one, but it seems to have been overlooked by the rebel editors.—Boston Post.

— An English company is going into the business of raising ostriches on the Cape of Good Hope, for the sake of the feathers, worth £10 to £15 for each bird.

— A poor girl in Maine lost her way during a recent snow storm, and perished within a few steps of her father's door.

— A church in New York has made $3,400 by substituting horse hair for cotton in their pew cushions and backs.

— A Lieutenant-Generalship for Gen. Sherman is said to be distasteful to Gen. Grant's friends, but undoubtedly Ulysses himself approves it.

Hon. Charles C. Hazewell, editor of the Boston Traveller, is to be Pension Agent, in place of Isaac O. Barnes, deceased. That is good; he has rendered service enough to the administration to hold them in his debt for a half dozen such offices.—Newburyport Herald.

— Louis Napoleon is said to be very sick.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired result but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

LOCKROW having become eminently successful in curing this terrible malady, invites all similarly afflicted to call or send for references and testimonials of numerous cases cured of from one to twenty-four years standing. He devotes his attention especially to diseases of the Cerebro-Spinal Axis, or Nervous System, and solicits an investigation of his claim to public confidence.

He may be consulted at his private residence, No. 141 West 42d St., daily from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M., except Saturday and Sunday. Address at letters to DR. V. B. LOCKROW,

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

Local.

☞ One rainy evening this week, we noticed a hand-sled drawn by two men, coming through a part of Deer street and Vaughan street, having for a load what appeared to be a dead man, lying on his back, with boot legs and heels dragging over the ice and through the snow and water. On inquiry we were told that the man was dead drunk. He had been picked up in the streets, to save him from perishing.

On Thursday, just after dinner time, a man was found in his boat adrift on the river, not far from Deer street, lying on his back on the thwarts, benumbed and insensible from the joint effects of liquor and cold. He had started to go up river, but dropped asleep and would soon have perished; but a friendly hand brought his boat ashore, and other friends took him out, waked and warmed him, and kept him at the wharf awhile for the fumes of the liquor to pass off. The victims of this vice are increasing at a fearful rate.

☞ The Agents of Laban Heath, author of "Heath's Counterfeit Detector at Sight," are canvassing this city, and the merchants are availing themselves of the opportunity of procuring so valuable a work. It is universally approved by cashiers of banks in New England who have examined the work, and by business men generally; and can be obtained only of the agents or the author. 1t

☞ We learn that a young woman named Decoff, employed as cook in the hotel at Newcastle, was so badly burned by her clothes taking fire on Wednesday evening, that her life is considered in danger.

TEMPLE OF AMUSEMENT.—To-night the popular comedian, Mr. John Murray, takes a Benefit, and offers an entire new and attractive bill, consisting of the great drama entitled "Handy Andy," and the farce of the "Dutchman's Ghost." As Mr. Murray is an immense favorite here, we bespeak for him an overflowing house. Do not forget that this is the last night but two of this popular company. D.

☞ From the Portsmouth correspondent of the Ballot, we learn that "we are a progressive city,—of course we are. The last new wrinkle is the establishment of the Brokers' Board. For some time past the Brokers,—not the class who deal in filthy lucre and buy broken bank notes and help the rebels by buying and selling coin, and keep up the price of gold and potatoes; but those engaged in a far more noble and glorious purpose, that of putting down the rebellion, if furnishing men will do it—have had numerous offices all along Daniel street, (the Wall street of Portsmouth) and even extending into Market and Penhallow street Fabulous prices are paid for offices on the first floor, for which in pacific times far more moderate rents were demanded, and the "street" has become one of our peculiar institutions.

"The business is carried on by gentlemen, most of whom act in associations or in partnership, and much capital is invested in these extensive operations,—the leading concern, the New England Volunteer Company, employing a large number of managers, clerks, &c., and making heavy contracts with towns for furnishing men to them in place of citizens who find it inconvenient to visit the seat of war. There are other companies doing a heavy business, such as the "Granite State," "Union," &c., while lots of firms embracing partners from each county almost in our Congressional District are in successful business.

"Such extensive business, participated in by so many men, of course requires systematic management and cooperating understanging, otherwise the intense competition of so many operators, each upon his own account, would tend to demoralize the business; and consequently the prices paid for men to regular brokers has to be fixed for each day. This is done by the Board, which meets every evening at one of the parlors of the City Hotel, and the prices of "subs," as they are technically termed, is fixed for the succeeding day. Col. A. M. Peck, senior partner of the house of Peck, Perkins, Underhill & Co., is President of the Board. Although we have visited the Brokers' Board of other cities, we have as yet not been able to see the operations of this new institution, where affairs are conducted, we are told, with that systematic order and decorum which the high character of its presiding officer would lead us to infer."

NAVAL ITEMS.—Acting Asst. Paymaster Clifford H. Boardman has been ordered to instruction at New York.

Commander Geo. M. Colvocoresses has been detached from the Dacotah, and ordered to the command of the Wachusett.

Capt. Morris, of the Shawmut, has been detached, and ordered to the command of the Shenandoah, of New York.

Acting Asst. Paymaster Chas. H. West, U. S. N., formerly attached to U. S. S. Vandalia at this station, has resigned.

Acting Asst. Paymaster T. L. Tullock, Jr., has been detached from the ship in which he has served since his appointment, and has returned to Portsmouth to settle his accounts.

☞ Capt. Jos. Leach, formerly of ship Frank Pierce, has been in town of late, the guest of Hon. Daniel Marcy.

☞ Mr. Daniel F. Smith, of the Veterans, informs us that one Glancy, who is asking aid about town on pretence of being a member of that corps, and disabled—has been expelled therefrom, for misconduct, and is not worthy of sympathy or assistance.

☞ The anniversary of the Rockingham County Bible Society was held in Rev. Mr. Nason's church at Exeter, on Tuesday. The attendance was good, and the Ballot says the services, which continued through day and evening, were of more than usual interest. The morning was occupied in the choice of officers, report of treasurer, who has received during the year $349.25; remarks by the Rev. Isaac Willey, Rev. Wm. Warren and others, on the circulation of the Scriptures and other kindred topics.

In the afternoon an excellent discourse on the Bible as the book for the family was delivered by the Rev. Geo. M. Adams, of Portsmouth. At the close of the sermon, Rev. Mr. Robie gave some account of Dr. Vaudyke's new version of the Scriptures into Arabic; Rev. Mr. Bates spoke of the circulation of the Bible in India, and Rev. Mr. Nason presented some particulars in respect to the printing of the first New Hampshire edition of the New Testament, at New Ipswich, in 1815, by Simeon Ide esq. now of Claremont.

In the evening the importance of securing a more general reading of the Bible in families; the distribution of the Bible in the country, in the hospitals, etc., formed subject of remarks, and it was doubtless the impression of all who heard the reports and discussions of this meeting, that of the great benevolent operations of the day, the printing and circulation of the word of God, stand boldly prominent; and that, though much is now accomplished, the demands of the world still summon to greater liberality, the most strenuous labors.

The Richmond Sentinel publishes the following suggestive communication:

"I belong to the class of widows who had invested their little property in stocks before the war. My income is one thousand two hundred dollars, my tax one thousand three hundred and sixty-four dollars. I am old; to dig, I cannot; to beg, I am ashamed; yet I must live out my allotted days. I have to board at an enormous price; I must be clothed, and with what? Will our legislators, who make our laws, depriving us of every means of subsistance, yet sit and vote themselves additional pay, enlighten us upon this vital subject? A WIDOW."

☞ The Traveller learns that "a soldier of the Federal Army has just returned to his home in Charlestown, from a prolonged imprisonment in the rebel pens of Georgia, so terribly emaciated that he is unable to see or converse with any one. When he left for the army he weighed one hundred and ninety pounds; now he scarcely turns the scale at ninety. Nothing in the history of the world equals in barbarity this treatment of our soldiers by the rebel authorities; the Indians murdered their prisoners by a few hours of torture, but the rebels destroy our men with the agonies of months of gradual starvation."

— A fugitive slave—now a rich merchant—entertained Theodore Tilton at a sumptuous banquet in Chicago.

Warning to ladies—Tattle begins with T.

A soft or green Quaker would be as great a curiosity as a dissipated Hebrew; but not so great a one after all as to find the woman who did not prefer the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap to any other one world can produce. Wife says it makes old clothes look as well as new, and a cross man the pleasantest and most lovely creature on the globe.—Try it, and our word for it, you will always patronise the Gold Medal Soap. 46

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on the medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies have fared upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, confirmed benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given, with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood, will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO UNFORTUNATE FEMALES!

DR BRISCOE'S FEMALE DROPS are unsurpassed by virtue and efficacy in removing all complaints, of whatever nature, incident to females. He continues, with his usual success, to medically and surgically remove Obstructions, Engorgements, Leucorrhœa, White, General Debility, &c., and Suppressions of all kinds; also all complaints of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spleen, Bladder, &c.

His medicines will be sent to any part of the country by express or mail; addressed by a communication stating particulars, will receive prompt attention.

Office, No. 22 Endicott street.

Persons at a distance can consult DR. BRISCOE, by letter, detailing the case, and have the medicines securely put up, and forwarded to any part of the United States, with full directions for use. Office arranged with separate apartments, so that patients see none but the Doctor himself.

Address DR. BRISCOE, at No. 22 Endicott St., Boston, Mass., giving symptoms. All communications are confidential.

Patients furnished with rooms and board if desired, and accurately observed in every case.

Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Boston, July 16, 1864. T7ly

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 22 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, such as Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, inflammation of the bladder and kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Tumors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded: loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, has consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

SAVE YOUR FUEL!

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three baskets full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable article.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal. Experience at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest place in the house.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

The Long Sought For Discovered at Last,

Cures in from one

CHEROKEE REMEDY

—AND—

CHEROKEE INJECTION,

Compounded from Roots, Barks & Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with the medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars, get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

Price—CHEROKEE REMEDY, $2 per bottle or three bottles for $5.

ROOTS, BARKS AND LEAVES.

An unfailing cure for Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Nocturnal Emissions, and all diseases caused by self-pollution; such as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pains in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, Weak Nerves, Difficult Breathing, Trembling, Wakefulness, Eruptions on the Face, Pale Countenance, Insanity, Consumption, and all the direful complaints caused by departing from the path of nature.

☞ This medicine is a simple vegetable extract and one on which all can rely, as it has been used in our practice for many years, and with thousands treated it has not failed in a single instance. Its curative powers have been sufficient to gain victory over the most stubborn cases.

☞ To those who have trifled with their constitution, until they think themselves beyond the reach of medical aid, we would say, despair not; the CHEROKEE CURE will restore you to health and vigor, and after all quack doctors have failed!

☞ For full particulars, get a circular from any drug store in the country, or write the proprietors, who will mail free to any one desiring the same, a full treatment in pamphlet form.

☞ Prices, $2 per bottle or three bottles for $5, and forwarded by express to all parts of the world.

The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure,

Are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these: those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their diseases and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Postoffice, County, State and name of writer, plain, and inclose postage stamp for reply.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than this Agency; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeble proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. Swett's PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with dizziness at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.
From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841
DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our home in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY
☞ After returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. mav26

LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the VERNATELLA Blacking has only the most DELICIOUS PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

Our armies under Generals Dana, Thomas, Granger, and Wilson, are moving in the South West. Beauregard telegraphs from Macon, Ga., that Thomas appeared to be moving up the Tennessee river.

The Augusta Chronicle of January 4th pays a compliment to Sherman's administration at Savannah. It says the most perfect order is maintained. No citizen or his property is allowed to be interfered with.

The Richmond Enquirer of Tuesday admits the existence of a call among the rebels, "for a convention of the separate States and all the States to revolutionize the revolution, or depose Mr. Davis, wipe out Congress, appoint a Dictator, and, perhaps, surrender to the enemy. The call for a Convention of the States, which finds expression for the first time in Virginia newspapers, is by no means a new thing. That cockatrice's egg, incubated for many months by many submissionists in Georgia, and lately introduced into Virginia, has now for the first time come before the people of this State with the sole object of deposing the President and making General Lee Generalissimo. * * * We protest against any such Convention. The proposition is that of a wild and erratic man driven by fear and prejudice to the very verge of submission."

The steamer Arago, from Port Royal 9th, brings reports that several counties of Georgia have recently held elections, and declared in favor of a return to the Union by overwhelming majorities. Also that the people are arming themselves for protection against the secessionists. Gov. Brown is said to be the principal promoter of these movements, and that he has disbanded the Georgia militia, who have returned to their homes. These rumors are all published in the Savannah Republican Extra of the 7th inst.

A Cairo, Ill., dispatch of Jan. 12, says the steamer Niagara has arrived from New Orleans, with the 8th N. H. regiment en route for home, and 35 rebel prisoners, among them 5 female smugglers. The steamer Creole would leave New Orleans on the 9th, and the Morning Star on the 7th, for New York.

The rebel Gen. Forrest is said to be concentrating a large force at Paris, Tenn. A large number of his men are hovering around their homes in Tennessee and Kentucky, conscripting, robbing and murdering Union men.

Larkin W. Ray, who murdered Surgeon D. G. Saddler, was hung at Baton Rouge on the 30th ult.

Gen. Grierson's raid from Memphis bro't in 700 prisoners, 1000 able-bodied negroes, and 1000 horses. They killed and wounded 150 men. Among the prisoners is Brig. Gen. Gholson. A great destruction of rebel property was effected.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 9th says Jeff. Davis' course is fast whirling the Confederacy to destruction. [If so, he is doing the world a great service.]

The blockade runner Chameleon, late Tallahassee, is under arrest at Bermuda.—Of 71 blockade runners visiting Bermuda during the past year, 43 have been destroyed or captured.

At Toronto, C. W., one of the raiders was in Court Jan. 13. Jeff. Davis' manifesto was objected to because it did not bear the seal of the so-called Confederate States.

Nothing later to confirm the Georgia revolution story. The N. Y. Commercial pronounces it a canard.

The town of Beverly, W. Va., and a portion of the garrison, were captured by the rebels under Rosser, on the 11th inst.

— Gold, Friday, 219 7-8.

— Gen. Jim Lane has been elected U. S. Senator from Kansas for six years.

— Gen. Sickles and staff sailed from New York on Friday for Aspinwall.

— The Boston Herald says there is no authority for the statement that Gen. Burnside proposes to resign. On the contrary, he is talked of for an important command.

— A private letter from Savannah, of Dec. 30th, contains the following postscript: "No furloughs until after the next campaign. So says General Sherman."

☞ Respecting the bursting of the large Parrott guns, the Army and Navy Journal says, "it is to be feared that the verdict of the competent board of investigation which has been appointed, will be against the gun itself. It is no new thing, this discovery of the lack of endurance of Parrott's large calibres. It is due, however, to the ingenious inventor, to says that experience has shown his guns of smaller calibres to be both serviceable and enduring. The larger guns are the doubtful weapons."

☞ On Wednesday, Jan. 11, the Missouri Constitutional Convention passed an Ordinance abolishing slavery in that State—to take effect immediately. The vote was 60 to 4. The earth moves.

NOTES OF FORMER DAYS.

Collected and Collated by Uncle Tony.

Execution.—Earthquake, 1755.—Hay Scales.—Alms House.—Fire Engine.—Newspaper, 1756.—Crown Point.

In Portsmouth, on the 8th of May, 1755, Eliphaz Dow, of Hampton Falls, was executed for the murder of Peter Clough of the same place. It appeared upon evidence, that a quarrel had subsisted between them for a long time. On the 12th day of December, 1754, they accidentally met at the house of Noah Dow, where some high words and threats passed between them. Clough challenged Dow to go out of the house to fight, and went out himself; Dow followed, and as he went out, took up his brother's hoe, which stood in the entry, and with it struck Clough a blow on the side of the head, which instantly killed him. Dow was arrested and examined before the honorable Meshech Weare, and committed to prison in this town. At the February term of the Superior Court, he was indicted, tried, and convicted: and sentence was pronounced against him, that he should be hanged by the neck until he should be dead. The Sheriff was commanded by a warrant from the Court to execute this sentence on the 20th day of March following, but in consequence of two reprieves from the Governor, the execution of the sentence was respited until this day. The gallows was erected on the south road near the pound, opposite where the house of the late Samuel Tucker now stands; and between the hours of twelve at noon and three in the afternoon, Dow was hanged, and his body was buried in the road a few rods from the gallows, just on the declivity of the hill.

Matthew Livermore, Esquire, was the Attorney General who managed the prosecution, and Thomas Packer, Esq., the Sheriff who caused the sentence to be executed.

A hay-market, with convenient scales for weighing, was erected at the lower end of Islington Road, near Middle Road, in 1755, and the same year a building was erected on the globe lot in Jaffrey street, for a work-house and alms-house.

The war, which at first was commenced by the incursions of the savages, and skirmishes with them, became general through the country between the French and English; and on the part of the English it proved very unfortunate. The frontiers of New Hampshire were entirely exposed to the Indians, who kept them in continual alarm.

The most severe and tremendous earthquake which was ever felt in this country took place on the night of the 18th of November, 1755, after midnight. The weather was remarkably serene, the sky clear, the moon shone bright, and a solemn silence pervaded all nature, at the time it commenced. The tremulous motion of the earth was so great as to throw down the pewter from the dressers. Some chimnies were cracked, and others thrown down. The sea and river were in great agitation, and the shock was so severely felt on board vessels in the harbor, that those persons who were on board, thought they had struck on the rocks; many persons who were suddenly awakened from sleep, were greatly affrighted, and thought the dissolution of the world approaching. Shocks were felt almost every day afterwards, for nearly a fortnight.

This month was remarkable for the earthquakes, which took place in various parts of Europe, Africa, and America. It was most terrible in Portugal. St. Ubes was swallowed up in the sea; Lisbon was almost destroyed; several towns in Spain were greatly injured; some places on the coast of Barbary were ruined, and in the northern provinces of America shocks were felt very extensively; but many days later they were in Europe, and the waters of the western lakes were greatly agitated by them.

On the 25th of March, 1756, the town directed the selectmen to purchase a fire-engine at the charge of the town, the price not to exceed forty pounds sterling.

After the death of Gen. Braddock, the command devolved upon Gov. Shirley. He proposed an expedition against Crown Point, and called on the several provincial governments for assistance. New Hampshire raised a regiment, and gave the command of it to Col. Nathaniel Meserve. He joined the army with his regiment, and was stationed at Fort Edward, which was committed to his care.—The Earl of Loudon arrived in July, and superseded Shirley as Commander-in-Chief.—The conduct of Col. Meserve in the defence of the fort under his command, met the approbation of the Earl; and the activity of the New Hampshire troops, and their patience under fatigue, attracted his attention. At his express desire, three companies of rangers were selected from them, and placed under the command of Robert Rogers, John Stark and William Stark.

On the 7th of October, 1756, the first newspaper published in New Hampshire was printed in this town by Daniel Fowle, entitled the New Hampshire Gazette and Historical Chronicle.

— There is in Lexington a woman who has a husband in the army and one child to support, who is exciting the admiration of the farmers by her prowess as a workman, for she dresses like a man and and is engaged in chopping wood at $1.12 per cord. She cuts one cord a day, and amuses herself while in the swamp by catching rabbits, at which she is very successful.

☞ Gen. McClellan leaves for his European tour the first week in February. He has declined the offer of the private vessel tendered by his friends. He leaves in the steamer China.

Southern Items.—Richmond papers chronicle a great fire at Charlotte, N. C. The Government warehouses, including the Quartermaster and Commissary offices, and a portion of the North Carolina, Charlotte and South Carolina depot, were burned. Loss estimated at twenty million dollars. Yankee incendiaries were suspected, but it was subsequently ascertained that the fire occurred accidentally.

A despatch from Charleston, S. C., 8th, says a gentleman from Savannah reports Sherman sending the 17th corps round to Beaufort to co-operate with Foster's troops.

A despatch from Macon, Ga., reports the enemy (U. S. army) 2000 strong, with wagons and artillery, on the Oconee river, moving in the direction of Southwestern Georgia on the 5th inst.

A despatch received at the War Department from Beauregard, dated Macon, Ga., says Hood reports from Tupelo, Jan. 6th, that Thomas appeared to be moving up the Tennessee River.

Scouts report Sherman moving. Six gunboats and sixty transports had passed Savannah, loaded with troops and supplies.

Hood's report of the battle near Nashville says he lost 50 pieces of artillery and several ordnance wagons. He says the loss in killed, and wounded was small. Prisoners not counted.

The Extra Session.—In the U. S. Senate, several days ago, on motion of Mr. Pomeroy, the Committee on the Judiciary were instructed to enquire if any further legislation was necessary to enable the President to call an extra session of Congress to meet the necessity of any public emergency without delay of giving sixty days notice to the members elect. The Committee were discharged from the consideration of the subject, as no law could be found requiring the President to give any notice whatever. It will be recollected that Congress having adjourned without passing the army appropriation bill, President Pierce issued a proclamation calling for an immediate extra session. Some members had left Washington on their way home, but returned to Washington on the Executive summons. The Constitution of the U. S. gives the president power to call either house, or both, together but does not say how or when he shall do it. Strict constructionists may take Pres. Pierce's precedent. The sixty day's notice has usually been given to afford an opportunity to fill vacancies and to enable far-distant members to reach Washington.

The Boston Herald's special dispatch of Jan. 12th, says:

It is claimed by the friends of the Constitutional Amendment that a majority in its favor is now certain. A vote will hardly be taken this week.

A majority, no doubt,—but we think, not the needful two thirds. But let the extra session come, speedily—and put the measure through Congress, promptly.

N. H. Democratic Platform.—The State Convention of the democratic party at Concord, adopted as a platform, "the Constitution and the Union." Per contra Mr. Foster moved to amend by adding resolutions which he read, declaring that the Democratic party would uphold the principles laid down in the Kentucky resolutions of 1788; recommended a joint commission of the North and South, or a convention of the States for the purpose of fraternal counsel and the adjustment of the calamities of the country: opposed the plan of so amending the Constitution as to abolish Slavery, and declaring the same to be an admission of a purpose to subvert and destroy the Union and Constitution; and refusing to give the project voluntary support.

A warm debate ensued, in which Mr. F's resolutions were denounced as approving secession, and being disloyal in character. The amendment was rejected, 114 to 173: and the short platform adopted just before the cars started. The above figures represent the relative strength of the peace democrats and the conservatives.

—— Rev. Henry E. Parker, pastor of the So. Cong. church in Concord, is to deliver the address before the Manchester Veterans, on the 22d of Feb. The programme will consist of a Parade, Address, Dinner and Levee in the evening. It is expected that the anniversary of the corps will be celebrated this year in a manner unequalled in its history.

— The editor of the Manchester "Union" says he shall not go to war, and he don't know of any democrat who intends to do so. Of course not—Tories didn't fight for their country in the Revolution, did they? And we don't know who expects them to now.

—— A large barn, containing about 20 tons of hay, situated near the Massabesic House, Manchester, caught fire Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock and was consumed. It was owned by Mr. E. P. Offutt. The loss is about $700, partially insured in the Belknap office. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

☞ The Tribune Almanac for 1865, is just issued; very convenient for all editors, politicians, and business men; nicely printed.

— McDonald, the highwayman, who is now in jail at East Cambridge, is a cute and dangerous fellow. They wanted his boots the other day to verify certain evidence, and when asked for them he stole a pair belonging to a fellow lodger in the same cell and passed them out. The trick didn't work, however.

Maximillian I. is much troubled with guerilla bands. He is a very large sized guerilla himself.—Boston Post.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these few other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

☞ The little steamer Emerald has again commenced making regular trips to and from the Navy Yard, and with a new coxswain and engineer, works admirably. She was in a bad condition on her arrival here from Philadelphia, her boiler tubes being filled by incrustations of salt, consequent upon using salt water in her boilers; but through the perseverance of Chief Engineer Bartleman she has been put in perfect order, and with careful management, will answer very well the purpose for which she is designed. She leaves the Navy Yard slip, at the foot of Daniel street, for the present, at 9 and 11 A. M., and 1 1-2, 4, and 5 1-2, or on the arrival of the mails.

☞ The Correspondent of the Manchester Union speaking of the N. H. coppery Congressman's absurdly-small income tax, has a good deal to say about his expenses for soldiers and others—as if all that had anything to do with a man's "income!" Income, income is the thing taxed, man; not outgo; and how a man with $3000 salary, not to mention other lucrative sources of profit, can swear to the receipt only of a few paltry hundreds, is beyond the conception of honest loyal people. Perhaps "a cipher (0) was left off" in his case.

☞ We are sorry to record the death of Paymaster T. Macauley Brower, of the Vance. He died of diptheria on the morning of the 26th of December, after an illness of one week. Paymaster Brower was well known among our citizens, having spent some time here while settling the accounts of the steamer Tiora. He leaves a family in New York.

☞ Capt. J. G. Walker has been ordered to the command of the steamer Shawmut, in place of Capt. Morris, who has been ordered to the command of the Chenango, and not the Shenandoah, as stated yesterday.

PEEP O' DAY.—Our citizens are to have one more opportunity to witness the great Irish drama of Peep O' Day, which was received with such favor on its former representations. It will be presented this evening for the last time, with Mr. Murray in his unapproachable character of Barney O' Toole. To-night is the last but one of the season. DRAMA.

CLASS FOR GYMNASTIC EXERCISE.—All Ladies and Gentlemen who would like to join a Gymnastic Class for Wednesday evenings, are requested to leave their names at Mr. Foster's Bookstore.

☞ Rev. A. J. Patterson will lecture at the Universalist Church to-morrow (Sunday) evening at seven o'clock. Subject—The Work Shop.

☞ There were 750 arrivals at this port in the year 1864, including fishermen, but not including ships of war.

☞ The Boston Sat. Eve. Gazette says the San Franciscans are bound to "leave no stone unturned," to secure Rev. Dr. Stone of Park Street Church for themselves; and wishes California would raise a few good ministers for herself.—The Transcript says:

"The various Orthodox Congregational Churches in Boston will soon erect another church of their faith at the extreme South End, near the Roxbury line. It is believed by them that there is a want for this additional place of worship, as the meeting houses of their denomination at the South End are uncomfortably crowded with attendants on Sundays. It is understood that Rev. Dr. Stone will preach alternately at Park street and at the new church, a colleague to be procured for him, so that he can thus divide his parochial duties. This enlargement of Mr. Stone's ministerial sphere will undoubtedly settle definitely in the negative the question of his accepting the pressing calls to go to California."

— The Tribune in describing the city of Savannah, informs its readers that "at every other corner there is a public square, usually of circular or oval shape!" This is similar to the historical description of Albany, which was said to contain "a number of houses and 30,000 inhabitants, all standing with their gable ends to the street!"

— The Boston Saturday Evening Gazette thinks our Granite Substitutes are more ready to use their legs than their arms. Which reminds us of a boy, who being kicked by another, remarked that his companion was altogether too handy with his feet.

— It costs something to go out a sleighing in Washington, even in a quiet way—not to mention the extras. Eight dollars an hour is charged for an indifferent turn out, while as high as twenty is paid for a double team.

— Mr. and Mrs. Eben Manson of Newburyport, celebrated their golden wedding on Wednesday evening, in good style. Two grandchildren to show on the interesting occasion.

— The Board of Police in New York, have passed an order prohibiting presents and testimonials by members of the police force to any of the officers of the force.

— It took just one hour to catch, hang and bury a guerilla named Ready, in Tennessee.

WORK.

What are we set on earth for? say—to toil—
Nor seek to leave thy tending of the vines,
For all the heat o' the day, till it declines,
And death's wild curfew shall from work assoil.
God did anoint thee with his odorous oil
To wrestle, not to reign; and his assigns
All the tears over, like pure crystalines,
For younger fellow workers of the soil
To wear for amulets. So others shall Take patience, labor, to their heart and hand
From thy heart, and thy hand, and thy brave cheer,
And God's grace fructify through thee to all.
The least flower, with a brimming cup may stand,
And share its dew-drop with another near.
—MRS. BROWNING.

— Ira Garadier, for obtaining $20,000 worth of seven-thirties from the Bank of Commerce in New York, on a forged check, has been tried and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment.

— It is suggested that Lord Wharncliffe & Co. send the English rebel prison fund to the thousand starving people in Newfoundland.

— A photograph of old John Brown, wreathed in laurels, is now hanging in the parlor of the mansion formerly belonging to H. A. Wise, who hung the original in another part of the State.

— Boston has 104 churches and halls opened on Sundays for religious worship, and the average attendance is said to be 68,498. The population of the city is 155,000.

— Parisian wine is described as consisting of "Seine water, drugs and dovilry."

☞ The Agents of Laban Heath, author of "Heath's Counterfeit Detector at Sight," are canvassing this city, and the merchants are availing themselves of the opportunity of procuring so valuable a work. A household without the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal SOAP always on hand, is like a garden without flowers or a family without children. We pity each and all alike, but have no sympathy with the family which does not enjoy the luxury of nice, clean, white clothes—provided this celebrated and more than excellent Soap can be obtained; for these luxuries can only be enjoyed by its use. So do not cease trying till you obtain it. 4t

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they cannot forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedy, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

Patients furnished with rooms and board if desired, and secrecy observed in every case.

Office hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Boston, July 16, 1864. 1ThSly

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 23 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city safely may at few days, be accommodated or furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting to the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and distresses in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Tumors, frightful Swellings and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charge for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most cases complete a cure within a week, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or no charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary skill gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SYRINGE. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

THE MODEL COOK.

IS, IN FACT,

The Best Stove Out,

for economy, convenience and dispatch.

Many people think it best to use an old stove as long as possible, but it is far better to throw it away and purchase a MODEL COOK, than to keep it at the present high price of fuel.

One of our shrewdest citizens who purchased a MODEL COOK STOVE a year since, says he has saved more than its cost already.

A careful, prudent farmer purchased one, and after it had been in operation some days his son came into the store and said, "something was wrong at their house;" his father and himself used wood off the same pile, he burned three barrels full a day, and his father only one! We sold him a Stove before he left, and there has been no complaint since.

These Stoves are in use in many hotels and boarding houses, and in hundreds of private families in this city and vicinity, and give the best of satisfaction.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, and hundreds in families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to certify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and use of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the bottom of the fire-pot, them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of heat, greatly wasted, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so difficult to keep up and get out of order; thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

CHEROKEE INJECTION,

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two tablespoonfuls three times per day.

It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all of its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the CHEROKEE REMEDY, and should be used in conjunction with it at medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

☞ By the use of the CHEROKEE REMEDY and CHEROKEE INJECTION—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write us and we will mail free, to any address, a full treatise.

The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure,

Are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these: those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their diseases and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Postoffice, County, State and name of writer, plain, and inclose postage stamp for reply.

EXPORT OF SPECIE.—The last year, since 1st of January 1864 $50,113,809 of Specie were exported from the port of New York. We have no estimate of the amount exported from other ports of the loyal States. The total amount exported was probably to paying for the balance of trade against us. As a general rule between this and foreign nations is by barter; still the balance has been paid in gold and silver. Since the California gold flowed in upon us, a very large proportion has been exported to foreign countries, especially to England, in payment of merchandise, most of which might and ought to be dispensed with.

The war of 1812 with Great Britian was the motive power for the establishment of manufactories, since which they have become so numerous that we are not dependent for supplies upon any other nation. How much better it would have been to retain several hundred millions of gold, in preference to paying for foreign luxuries, manufactories, fine fabrics, and mere ornamental articles? At the present crisis, in our judgment, it would be wise policy for Congress to pass an act prohibiting the export of specie for a short period, or at least until the close of the war. A resolution for the purpose is already offered. It may be said by importers that such an act would be arbitrary. In a state of war, when our national existence is in peril, some arbitrary measures are profitable. But prohibiting the export of specie, in order to have a supply at home, would not be any more arbitrary than our non intercourse and embargo laws prior to 1812. Congress has the constitutional right so to do. The English Parliament has often passed laws prohibiting exports of certain goods, even of wool to Holland, to protect their own factories.

While the gold-gamblers of New York and some other places are hoarding up the gold in such quantities, for speculation, export, &c, as to prevent its circulation, and to depreciate our national paper currency, a prohibiting act would tend to put specie again in circulation, and greatly reduce the nominal price of gold in our market. But perhaps it may truly be said that by lessening our imports, the public treasury would receive a less amount from Customs. Should that be the effect, it would be for the benefit of our own country. We ought not to import more goods than we export. Then there is no balance to pay in specie. Besides, by this time, both England and France are convinced that the rebellion will soon be subdued, and that then our national currency, bonds, &c, would be nearly equivalent to a metallic currency. It would be received in payment for their merchandise should the balance of trade be against us. CALCULATOR.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,)

Boston.
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers for Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.
The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that home is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the interest and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.
The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.
These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.
All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.
During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

Is a flattering tribute to their purity and fine qualities.
THE STATE FAIR

At the OHIO STATE FAIR we took Five Premiums out of six.
Surgeon General Dale, after a careful and searching chemical analysis of our wines, pronounces them PURE.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Givet to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and beautifies the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.
Price, 12 Cents per Bottle.
Manufactured in the Chemical Department of the Cahoon Manufacturing Co., and for sale by Boot and Shoe Dealers everywhere.

The Vernatella,
For making the Soles of Boots and Shoes water proof and wear longer, is also for sale as above.

MONDAY, JANUARY 16, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

A dispatch from the headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, Jan. 11, says the late heavy rains have swollen the James several feet. The low grounds on its bank are flooded, and the river is full of debris. On Wednesday evening the high tide caused an opening in the bulkhead of the Dutch Gap canal, and a stream of water now flows through it eight or ten feet deep. The pontoon bridges were swept away at Aiken's Landing and Deep Bottom, but were replaced towards evening.

No Richmond papers were obtained on Wednesday, owing probably to their containing bad news for them.

30 deserters came in Wednesday, who reported that the rebel forces had been sent from Richmond to South Carolina to meet Sherman.

The Navy Department is informed of the capture of the schooner Flash off Mexico, with an assorted cargo, the destruction of another schooner on the coast of Texas, and the destruction of a cotton-laden sloop off Galveston, by the U. S. gunboat Itasco. All blockade runners.

Mrs. Henry S. Foote, wife of the rebel Senator, arrived at Alexandria on Friday morning from Richmond via Fairfax Court House. She states that her husband is now under arrest in Richmond on account of his recent speech in the rebel Senate denunciatory of the rebel authorities.

The Boston Herald's Washington dispatch of the 13th, says "the arrest of Senator Foote of the rebel Congress, by rebel cavalry, just as he was about to enter our lines yesterday on the south side of the Potomac, and his conveyance back to Richmond under arrest, causes a decided sensation here, as being significant of a very large rat leaving the sinking rebel ship with important revelations to make to this Government. Mrs. Foote, who has arrived here, says her husband was arrested by order of Jeff. Davis for his hostility to the Confederate cause. Senator Foote has not participated in the proceedings of the rebel Congress since his famous peace speech."

A Cairo, Ill., dispatch of Friday says:

Squads of deserters from Forrest's rebel command are daily coming in here and taking the amnesty oath. A party of 8 came in to-day. Gen. Thomas and staff were at Paducah, Ky., a few days since. During the two weeks ending Jan. 9, 5700 permits were issued, permitting 3800 bales of cotton and 305 pounds of cotton seed to be disposed of.

Richmond papers keep up a quarrel among themselves, over their leaders,—and most of them are sharper in their remarks on Jeff. Davis than any of their Northern allies.

The Tribune's Washington dispatch gives it as the opinion of an old hand at peace negotiations, that a cessation of hostilities preliminary to formal negotiations will take place within ten days. To-morrow the hand of a new peace-maker will fall heavily on Jeff. Davis' obstinacy.

It is understood that the President has declared that if Senator Foote is harmed by the rebels, he will bring five of the most distinguished rebel prisoners in our hands to grief. Our cavalry have been ordered to pursue Foote's captors.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says Blair has not returned to Washington.—Gen. Singleton probably reached Richmond Friday.

The N. Y. Herald's Savannah correspondent of the 8th reiterates the reports as to the movements among the citizens of Georgia for re-union. They need confirmation. Nearly all the traders of Savannah have taken the oath of allegiance.

It is said that Mr. A. D. Richardson, (a well-known newspaper writer,) who has been a prisoner since May, 1863, is safe within our lines at Knoxville, Tenn.

By Telegraph—Sunday seen.

NEW YORK, 14th.—Horace Greeley writes privately to his friends that Mr. Blair has gone to Richmond with the assent of the President, to ascertain whether the rebels are disposed to make peace on the basis of a return to a free Union. Greeley believes peace and reunion will eventually come from Blair's mission; though Blair could not be credited officially as an ambassador, yet he has full consent of the President and Cabinet to try what virtue there is in negotiations.

Another report is that A. H. Stephens and other prominent rebels reached Washington Saturday, clothed with powers to treat for peace and reunion. It is also stated that Stephens has certain propositions from Gov. Brown of Georgia in his possession, relating to the full return of that State to the Union.—Pendleton, Cox and Fernando Wood are said to be in high feather with these peace commissioners, and are continually telegraphing to New York that "all is working well."

Richmond papers of the 13th contain a paragraph on recent losses, leading to the belief that a portion of Sherman's army—recently sent to Beaufort, N. C., by water—have captured Pocotaligo and Coosawatchie, under Gen. Foster. The main body of Sherman's army is said to be moving rapidly on Branchville.

Recent events in Mexico have determined our government to use renewed exertions in fully recruiting Gen. Hancock's new corps, and special instructions have been issued to regular recruiting agents with this view—it having become patent that the coming summer will afford the opportunity to create a casus-belli with Maximillian.

Boston, 15th.—Hon. Edward Everett died very suddenly at his residence in this city, of apoplexy, at 4 o'clock this morning.

Newburyport, 15th.—By order of Mayor Jackman, all the bells of the city were tolled from 12 to 1 o'clock to-day, in respect to the memory of Mr. Everett.

☞ The telegraph reports the death of Hon. Edward Everett, the American statesman, orator and man of letters—a national calamity, especially at this time, when such men are so greatly needed.

Mr. Everett was born in Dorchester, in 1794, and so was about 71 years old. He was formerly a clergyman, and professor and President of Harvard College; but commenced his public political life in 1824, since which his name is part of the nation; he was ten years in the popular House of Congress, one term in the Senate, four years Governor of Massachusetts; was Minister to England, and filled numberless offices of trust and honor,—always with distinguished ability and undoubted integrity of purpose. But after a long and eminently useful life as a "conservative" statesman,—his patriotic, radical action during the last few years of the nation's crisis will do more honor to his memory than all his previous, richly-merited laurels.

But he is gone—a great man has fallen this day, and well may all the nation mourn.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.—Richard Yates, Ex-Gov. of Illinois, has been chosen Senator for six years, in place of Wm. A. Richardson. The Concord Statesman says:

It is one of the charming results of such a sweeping political revolution as that of November, that it carries "into the receptacle of things lost upon earth" such demagogues as Richardson. It was he who said—and the writer of this paragraph heard him utter it—in the Concord city hall, two years ago this winter, that the "Republicans must be put down at the point of the bayonet." He flatly denied it afterwards, but his denial availed nothing. There were too many sober witnesses of his violent declaration.

The reader will not fail to remember that this Richardson was and is a "Peace Democrat" towards the rebels,—though he threatened war on loyal men who dared to vote against rebels and traitors.

☞ Some of our exchanges style the New York Commercial "a Republican paper,"—others call it "an administration paper, and as able and independent exponent of national views as any in the ranks of that party:" but judging from the extracts which they copy from it, we should say it is about as republican as the New York World,—and it supports the administration with the left hand only. It may be as able as Ben Wood, and as independent as Vallandigham,—and it is doubtless as national as Ex-President Pierce and Buchanan, not to mention Breckinridge.—But it is a false pretence to call it republican or administration.

☞ The Tribune Montreal correspondent says of the origin of the rumor of the probable recognition after the 4th of March next, of the Southern Confederacy by England and France, that Dudley Mann had written Sanders that Slidell told him (Mann) that he (Slidell) had learned from Drouyn De L'Huys that it was the Emperor's intention to recognize the Confederacy in the spring, but that there was little or no hope of England uniting in this scheme. Out of this on dit of Mann's, a drunken rebel has manufactured the story of the positive determination of the two Powers to come to the help of the rebels.

— The Nashville correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says that Capt. Penfield, of the 44th United States colored infantry, and Lieut. Cook, of the 12th United States colored infantry, were recently captured by Forrest's cavalry, and afterward taken to a secluded spot and brutally murdered by the savages.

— About 10,000 pieces of Roman money, principally of the reigns of Augustus, Tiberius, Claudius and Nero, have been discovered in the bed of the Mayenne, at St. Leonard. Their presence is explained by the fact of a dangerous ford having formerly existed at this spot, and the custom of travellers to throw in the river a piece of money ex voto.

— The Richmond Dispatch bitterly says of Mayor Arnold of Savannah: "An Arnold was the solitary traitor of the old Revolution. An Arnold is the first person in office of this, who has basely gone over to the enemy." The Richmond oligarchy see in the course of Mayor Arnold and other citizens of Savannah the fatal omen for their republic.

☞ The Boston Advertiser of Saturday contains in full, the reports of Generals Butler, Weitzel, Grant and others, of the failure to take Wilmington. From Gen. Grant's report we learn that he did not intend to send Butler to Wilmington, but Weitzel;—and from Weitzel we learn that he deemed Fort Fisher too strong to be taken without great loss of life,—and quite too strong for his force then on hand. We also learn that Gen. Grant thinks the delay in the moving of the expedition can be charged to waiting for the gunpowder boat to be prepared. He also says that Gen. Butler is in error in stating that the re-embarkation of the troops was by his instructions, as the instructions never contemplated a withdrawal after a landing had been effected. Gen. Grant says in his order that the first object was to close the port of Wilmington, and, if successful, to capture the city itself.

The report of Gen. Weitzel states that after getting a full survey of Fort Fisher, he frankly informed Gen. Butler that "it would be butchery to order an assault on that work under the circumstances."

Gen. Butler states that he learned from deserters and prisoners that the supposition, when the expedition was planned, that Wilmington was denuded of troops to oppose Sherman was correct, and was so at the time of the arrival of the army off Wilmington, there being no more than 400 men in Fort Fisher and less than 1000 within twenty miles, but the delay of three days waiting the arrival of the navy, and the further delay by the storm of the 21st, 22d and 23d, gave time for reinforcements to arrive from Richmond.

The instructions of the Lieut. General did not contemplate a siege, and he (Gen. Butler) had neither siege trains nor supplies for such a contingency.

Gen. Butler here says:—"The exigency of possible delay for which the foresight of the Commander of the armies had provided, had arisen, to wit:—the large reinforcement of the garrison, with the fact that the Navy had exhausted their supply of ammunition in the bombardment, left me with no alternative but to return with my army to the Army of the James. The loss of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the 16th, 17th and 18th, was the immediate cause of the failure. It is not my practice even to suggest blame to the Navy for their delay of four days at Beaufort. I know none of the reasons which do or do not justify it. It is to be presumed they are sufficient."

INTERESTING LETTER FROM PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—The Philadelphia Press says the following letter from President Lincoln was written by the President prior to his re-election, to Mrs. Eliza P. Gurney, the widow of the late well known friend and philanthropist, Joseph John Gurney, who was one of the wealthiest bankers of London. Mrs. Gurney is an American lady, and since her husband's death has resided at Burlington, N. J.:

My Esteemed Friend: I have not forgotten, probably never shall forget, the very impressive occasion when yourself and friends visited me on a Sabbath forenoon two years ago. Nor had your kind letter, written nearly a year later, ever been forgotten. In all it has been your purpose to strengthen my reliance in God. I am much indebted to the good Christian people of the country for their constant prayers and consolations, and to no one of them more than to yourself. The purposes of the Almighty are perfect and must prevail, though we erring mortals may fail to accurately perceive them in advance. We hoped for a happy termination of this terrible war, long before this, but God knows best, and has ruled otherwise. We shall yet acknowledge his wisdom and our own errors therein; meanwhile we must work earnestly in the best lights he gives us, trusting that so working still conduces to the great ends he ordains. Surely he intends some great good to follow this mighty convulsion which no mortal could make, and no mortal could stay.

Your people—the Friends—have had, and are having very great trials, on principles and faith opposed to both war and oppression. They can only practically oppose oppression by war. In this hard dilemma, some have chosen one horn and some the other. For those appealing to me on conscientious grounds I have done all can in my own conscience under my oath to the law. That you believe this, I doubt not, and believing it, I shall still receive for our country and myself your earnest prayers to our Father in Heaven.

Your sincere friend A. LINCOLN.

— The New York merchants are making a complete fiasco of the movement for the relief of the suffering people of Savannah. The Committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce, have had another meeting and passed more resolutions, eliciting from the New York Times the remark that "prompt action, accompanied with less verbiage, is exceedingly desirable."

— Herschel V. Johnson, the Douglas candidate for Vice President in 1860, had all his silver ware and household valuables taken from him by the Yankees during the march through Georgia. He had every thing buried in his garden, and collards, a species of cabbage, growing over it; but the patriots "found out the joke," and unearthed and appropriated his treasures.

— Beauty in women is like the flower in spring, but virtue is like the stars of heaven.

— The Louisville Journal learns that the rebel Major Taylor sent a flag of truce a few days ago into Hardinsburg, offering to assist the home guard to protect that town from guerrillas. His offer was accepted and he is now operating in conjunction with the Union guard against Davidson's gang.

— A man in New Jersey bought a second hand overcoat of dealer a little while ago, and as it didn't fit well over the back, ripped open the lining and found $250 in greenbacks stowed away in it. The coat fits him now.

— The German papers announce the resignation by the celebrated chemist Liebig of his chair in the University of Munich. He goes to London to superintend the disinfection and application to agriculture of the sewerage of that city.

☞ Rev. Dr. Lamson's parishioners at Brookline, Mass., have presented him with $500. This is better than to increase his salary now that money is cheap,—which salary might burden the parish when money becomes dear again.

RYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so bad as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS,
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.
From ELDER T. CHESLEY, Lee, May 21, 1861
Dr. Swett: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1860, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. T. FRANKLIN CHESLEY
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay or it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

☞ It is suggested by a correspondent that the new steam fire-engine be taken out some day, and be exercised in flooding the ice on the South Mill Pond, thus giving the skaters a good skating pond free of expense. This would certainly give the engine a good trial, and if our city authorities are so inclined, we shall have no objections.

FAREWELL PERFORMANCE OF BIDWELL & PIKE'S CO. AT THE TEMPLE.—To-night is the last of the season, and the Benefit of Miss Dollie Bidwell, who has by her endeavors to please, become a great favorite here. She will appear as Cynthia the "Gipsey Queen" in the great drama of the "Flowers of the Forest." Mr. Murray will also appear in his great character of the Gipsey thief, and as Pat Rooney in the Omnibus. Remember, positively the last night of the Company. D.

LETTER FROM A SECESH SOGER TO HIS "BETTER HALF."—Camp of 1st So. Carolina Greybacks, before a Swamp and behind Petersburg, or thereabouts, July 31, 1864.—Beloved of my Soul: Your war-worn husband takes his pen in hand in a strange land on a foreign strand under the command of our mutual friend Col. Pluck Buzzard, of Rainwater Court House, S. C. My ink is pale and I have no ale. My pen is poor, and so is my grub. My quarters in camp are passable, but the quarters in my pocket are not. Last night I had a mud-puddle for my pillow, and covered myself with a sheet of water. I long for more whiskey barrels and less gun barrels, more biscuit and less bullets. How I wish you were here. The farther I get away from you the better I like you. So that you may know how we work here in defiance of the cussed Yanks, I send you what d'ye call it—a diary of my daily labor.

Five o'clock.—Called up from a roll in the mud by a roll of drums. No prospect of a roll of bread. Shoulder spades.

Half-past five to six A. M.—I dig and throw up the earth. Get sick and throw up my yesterday's rations.

Seven o'clock.—Another roll of drums. Filing off into line and defiling my inexpressibles with mud and other sacred soil, drawing ramrods, but no pay. No shelling out by government, but a cussed sight too much shelling out by Grant.

Nine o'clock.—More drilling, but not of the cotton kind, wherewith to increase my present supply of one shirt.

Ten o'clock.—More digging. Spadular researches into the geological formation of the earth. Find it to comprise alternate strata of sweat, sunstroke, swearing and blisters.

Twelve o'clock.—Evidences of dinner. Saw Captain Yawslack picking his teeth with a ten penny nail; and the corporal taking a chew of tobacco.

Oh Mariar, if you only knew what I have suffered to save you from being bombarded by the diabolical Yanks? Rather than any of the Northern scum should blockade my dear Mariar, I'd divorce her. Col. Pluck came very near being shot in the neck by one of his own officers.

The Col. had just got his staff together, and struck his noble steed with it when Captain Swipes levelled a bottle at him. Fortunately the contents missed his jugular, and went down the natural way. I am reduced to a skeleton. My eyes are sunk so far into my head that I can look down my windpipe, clean through my entire interior. If there was a hole in the top of my head I'd make a first-class telescope (I've got the glasses in me now). My chin is so sharp that it shaves itself. I'm going on picket duty to-night. Picket duty is awful hard work. Almost every night a picket's gun goes off, and when we go to look for him we find that he's gone off too.

Ever your dear husband,
BUCKHORN HANDLE.

P. S.—If your old father has drank up all the tanglecot juice I left at home, I'll cram the demijohn down his throat and cork up his areophagus with a boot heel That's so, Mariar.

— A man in Cincinnati was refused credit by his banker, on the ground that his income tax showed that he was not doing business to justify his expenditures and meet his obligations, or that he had swindled the Government, and would swindle others, if he had a chance.

— There is a Jew at Pittsburg who is so honest, and patriotic that he lately went to the income tax assessor and paid him $2800 tax, though his name was not on the assessor's books. Not very many Yankees would do better than that.

— The whale fishery has nearly given out. Last year the fleet decreased 27 vessels of 8375 tons, and that was a less decrease than in years gone by. Petroleum has superseded whale oil, and shortly the whales will be left to a more peaceful life.

— An irreverent modern French writer says: "A French physician prescribing to a sick man always reminds me of a child snuffing a candle—it is ten to one he snuffs it out."

— The rebel papers say they heard nothing of the blowing up of the western end of the Dutch Gap Canal until they saw accounts of it in the Northern papers.

— Roxbury has 53 schools, 91 teachers and 4,620 scholars.

CLASS FOR GYMNASTIC EXERCISE.—All Ladies and Gentlemen who would like to join a Gymnastic Class for Wednesday evenings, are requested to leave their names at Mr. Foster's Bookstore.

☞ The Agents of Laban Heath, author of "Heath's Counterfeit Detector at Sight," are canvassing this city, and the merchants are availing themselves of the opportunity of procuring so valuable a work. It is universally approved by cashiers of banks in New England who have examined the work, and by business men generally; and can be obtained only of the agents or the author. 1t

A household without the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal SOAP always on hand, is like a garden without flowers or a family without children. We pity each and all alike, but have no sympathy with the family which does not enjoy the luxury of nice, clean, white clothes—provided this celebrated and more than excellent Soap can be obtained; for these luxuries can only be enjoyed by its use. So do not cease trying till you obtain it. 47

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most unbiasted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sacramental wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; it is saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

DEATHS.

CARTER'S
Clarified Molasses Candy.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Recent numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

WHAT IS A FRENCH ROLL PAN?
IS A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.
It is simply a nicely made
IRON PAN.
Or rather a series of Pans connected in one, of such peculiar form that all parts of the material contained in them receive an equal amount of heat, thus insuring a very
QUICK AND LIGHT BAKE.
For Sponge or Drop Cake, Muffins, French Rolls, Corn Bread or Raised Flour Biscuit, these Pans are Invaluable.
IN these days of high prices, it is worth while to ECONOMISE
in any way. We give below a receipt for making a Cheap, Wholesome, and PALATABLE BREAD:
"Stir into a pint of Cold Water sufficient Graham Flour to make a thin batter, adding a little Salt. Heat the Pan thoroughly, grease it a little, pour in the batter, and bake about half an hour in a hot oven."
By using Sweet Milk, instead of Water, as above, and adding 2 Spoonsful of Sugar, biscuit can be made fit to set before a King. We have sold nearly a thousand of these Roll Pans in about one year, and the sale is still increasing.—Try one.
E. A. STEVENS.

BAILEY'S
Spring Roll and Cog Wheel
WASHING AND WRINGING MACHINES.
WRINGING MACHINES HAVE BECOME AN institution in the land. Thousands and tens of thousands have been sold during the last three years, and they all save an immense amount of labor and cost of material.
We now offer to the public a Machine that will WASH as well as WRING the Clothes. It is very heavy and strongly built—the Rolls are large and so fastened with screws as to be secure from turning on the shaft. The Cog Wheels give power, and the Spring Roll makes it do its work with ease and perfection. The Machine is secured to a bench, independent of the wash tubs, consequently there is no trouble of fastening it every time it is used.
To any person who wishes to obtain an article to do both washing and wringing in a Public House or Private Family, we say give this a trial. If not satisfactory, the money will be refunded.—Call and see it.

— The Erie City Dispatch says the speculative oil companies are trembling on the quicksands upon which they were founded, and hundreds of men who have been drawn into their nets to the amount of thousands, will find themselves so completely floored that they will never recover from the shock.

— The "Printer" says "the first printers were Titans." To which the Sat. Eve. Gazette responds that they "never knew that before, but we have seen a good many tight ones within our experience;" by|which they must mean, of course, hard up for cash; couldn't liquidate.

— An extra session of Congress seems inevitable, and legislation has been already proposed to remove the requirement of sixty days' notice before convening in extra session.

— The Massacoit flour mill at Fall River was partially destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. A large quantity of wheat and flour was damaged. Cause: friction of some of the bearings of the machinery.

— Recruiting for Turkish harems is said to be quite a business in Paris.

A man by the name of Brown, who has been keeping company with a young lady of Lynn, was last evening shot by her and dangerously wounded. Brown had lately treated the young lady in question with considerable difference, and she is reported to have threatened to kill him if he should leave her, in that manner. He paid little attention to her threats.

Last evening, as he was reading a newspaper he heard the cap of a pistol snap, and looking around, saw the disappointed girl standing near, with a revolver in her hand, pointed at him. She immediately pulled the trigger again, and this time the cap exploded. The shot took effect in the lower part of his abdomen, and he is severely, but probably not fatally injured.—Traveller.

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No. 23 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation or Bloodheat, Gravel, Kidneys, Bladder, Prostrate, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow also offers for sale the French Capotins, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.

Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the care of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

THE MAGEE

COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and cast iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would call the attention of those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This difficulty so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass the resistor, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe outlet on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of the dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

TEMPERANCE TRACTS.

Mr. Editor;—Let us leave nothing undone to stem the torrent of Intemperance, which now threatens us. Temperance societies, however useful, are insufficient for the exigency. Temperance lectures, such as the fastidious demand, are expensive and scarce. The popular Press and Temperance Tracts must do more or we shall go to wreck and ruin. True, we have bad Tracts, but too often of the long, lank and lean "kine;" we need such as are short and sharp, not only readable, but which will be absolutely read, and which going into the very crevices of sin and crimes, will lodge burning truth on the conscience of every distiller, vender and sot in a village.

Such Tracts we have. They are written by godly men of strength and genius. Some of them assail only alcohol in its manifold forms and abuses—and some assail the twin demons Rum and Tobacco. All varieties for all tastes.

Five dollars will spread a thousand and more over a village. A hundred dollars, the price of one fashionable lecture, will spread them over twenty villages.

And we here give notice that if any person or persons "hungering and thirsting" to do good in plucking our fellow men from the fire, wish for our Tracts, but are unable to pay for them, they can have them without money and without price.

True, we are not a rich Tract Society. We seldom have five dollars five days in our coffer, but we do what we can, on our "own hook," untrammelled by lordly societies or captious committees. We depend on the voluntary donations of a few—a very few of God's dear children, who like our independent manner of battling popular abominations to send us what they choose. Though poor, we make many rich. Therefore, gentle reader, be free to call for our Tracts, for God, who of old replenished the widow's cruise, will not leave our cause to starve.

GEO. TRASK.

Fitchburg, Temperance Depository, Mass., January, 1865.

There is nothing like the pursuit of knowledge. The Mayor of St. Catherines received the following suggestive letter from New York, signed Peter McKenny: "Will your worship please inform me by return post, what troops are now stationed in your city and about the number. You might also please inform me what the average deposits in the different banks are, and oblige."—[Ex.

The school-master is abroad;" but people continue to speak of splendid potatoes—beautiful molasses, and magnificent beefsteak.

American and Foreign Patents.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837.)
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they can not employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in due form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

DR. J. TELLER continues to be confidentially and successfully consulted on all forms of private diseases, at his old Established Hospital, No. 5 Beaver Street, Albany, N. Y. Twenty years devoted to this one particular branch of practice, enables him to guarantee cures with no other Physicians, and his facilities are such (being in correspondence with the most eminent Physicians of the Old World,) of obtaining the safest as well as the latest remedies for these diseases, offer inducements to the unfortunate of a quick and rapid cure, to be obtained at no other office in America.

In Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Enlargement of the Testicles and Spermatic Cords, Bubo, Ulcerated Throat, Sore Nose, Tender Shin Bones, Cutaneous Eruptions, Blies, Ulcers, Abscesses, and all other impurities of the system, are perfectly under the control of the Doctor's Medicines, and have been tested in more than 20,000 cases annually, with immense Success.

YOUNG MEN.

Young Men addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their healths and destroyed the vigor of their minds, thus depriving themselves of the pleasures of married life, are notified that in consulting Dr. J. Teller, they will find a friend to console and a Physician who has cured thousands, in almost every part of the United States, who applied to Dr. T. broken down in health, now rejoice in all that makes life desirable and man happy. The reader is of course aware that the delicacy of this subject will prevent a more minute description of this terrible disease.

DR. TELLER'S GREAT WORK.

A book for everybody.—Startling disclosures. Dr. TELLER's great work for the Married or those contemplating marriage—sent free—full of plates—price 25 cts. Sent to all parts, under seal, by mail, post paid. 50,000 copies sold the past year. The single Married and the Married Happy. A lecture on Love, or how to choose a Partner—a complete work on Midwifery. It contains hundreds of secrets, never before published.—Warranted to be worth three times the amount asked for it. 25 cents, in specie or postage stamps, inclosed, will secure a copy by return mail. Dr TELLER has devoted a lifetime to the cure of those diseases upon which his books treat.

TO THE LADIES.

Dr. TELLER still remains the only Agency in America, for the sale of Dr. Vichot's Italian Female Monthly Pills. The sale of more than 20,000 boxes establishes their reputation as a female remedy, unapproached, and far in advance of every other medicine—for stoppages, irregularities, and other obstructions in females.

CAUTION.—Married ladies in certain delicate situations should avoid their use. For reasons see directions which accompany each package, for the guidance of patients. On the receipt of $1, (the price per box,) these Pills will be sent, by mail or express, to any part of the world, secure from curiosity or damage.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

Richmond papers of Friday, 13th inst., all announce the arrival of Mr. Blair in Richmond on Wednesday last. He was accompanied by a servant only. The Dispatch says: "His presumed real business here is to bring about peace; we think his real business is to place Lincoln's administration in a good position before the people of the North. He will make such offers as will be spurned by our government, and then go before his people and say the rebels will accept no terms of peace, and that nothing is left but to vigorously prosecute the war. Blair will return Saturday night if the freshet on the James permits the boat to go down."

The Richmond Examiner contains a lengthy editorial from Mr. Pollard, its editor, (who has just been exchanged), on parties and opinions at the North, and the Chicago programme and what comes of it. He opens by saying that it is impossible to understand the present state of political parties in the North from any reference to divisions in the past Presidential campaign. He says that since the Chicago Convention the peace party, inversely with the scale of military success, has fallen until it at last approaches zero. The article goes on in a style of bitter invective, denouncing all parties North, especially the Southern refugees and Southern sympathizers.

The same paper says, "there is no longer a shadow of doubt that Grant is being reinforced on the south as well as on the north side of the James river by negro troops. These have been drilled for three years past, and are anything but an unwieldy mob."

The correspondent of the Enquirer, speaking of the furloughing of the Georgia militia, says Gov. Brown remarked that they could go home now, but would remain subject to another call when the State required their services, which he hoped would not pe soon. All delinquents will be tried by Court Martial.

Parties from North Carolina report the new rebel ram on Roanoke river nearly finished. A company with sub-marine implements are on the way to Plymouth to see if the Albemarle can be raised in time to resist the expected attack from the new ram, which is to move with the rebel ram at Kinston, above Newbern, which is only waiting for the flood tides which the spring showers will bring. The expected arrival of some of the light draught Monitors in North Carolina has given assurance that arrangements have been made to meet the rams, which are formidable.

The Baltimore American's Beaufort correspondent, under date of the 6th inst., says nine deserters came off from Fort Fisher a few days since, and were picked up by a blockading vessel. They report that the Fort was about surrendering on the 25th, when they were surprised to learn that the Federal troops were being withdrawn from the shore. They represent the garrison as greatly demoralized, the quarters all destroyed, and the men poorly supplied with provisions.

The Richmond Whig of Saturday says: "A dispatch from Wilmington, dated on the morning of the 15th, says there were about fifty Federal vessels in sight from Fort Fisher."

At New Orleans, Jan. 8, Gen. Canby ordered a draft of one in seven within the department of Arkansas, Mississippi and the Gulf, to take place on the 15th February next, unless the quotas should be previously filled by volunteers.

The transport steamer St. Mary, which had taken 800 Fort Gaines prisoners to Mobile for exchange, had arrived in New Orleans with Mobile dates of the 6th inst. News unimportant.

The United States sloop-of-war San Jacinto was wrecked off "No Name Key," Bahama Banks, on the 1st inst. No lives were lost and most of the stores of the vessel were saved.

☞ Advices are said to have been received from Texas, via New Orleans and Cairo, that the rebels in that State refused to fraternize in the movement for the establishment of a Trans-Mississippi Confederacy, but have hoisted the Mexican flag and declared themselves annexed to Maximilian's Empire. The authorities of Matamoras have consequently notified Col. Day, commanding the Union forces at Brazos Santiago, of the fact, and warned him that the occupation of his present position for a period beyond the necessary time to honorably evacuate it, would lead to serious complication of an international character.

— A prominent gentleman who has escaped through the rebel lines from Georgia, and has arrived North, says several Union County Conventions were being held on his departure from the State. This confirms statements from other quarters to the same effect, as also partly the assertions of the Savannah Republican.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Rev. Mr. Clark of Claremont has received a donation visit,—they gave him $200 in money, and one of his lady parisioners had the enviable pleasure of giving him a fine riding establishment, consisting of a horse, harness, sleigh, buffalo robes, and all the little etceteras, down to a curry-comb; and in giving him such a valuable and useful present, she did a great kindness to the whole congregation. A goodly amount of hay and oats preceded the noble animal to his stable. The Eagle says of the donor, "she is a lady well known to the citizens here, as having a band in every good word and work."

—— A correspondent of the National Eagle, Claremont, says:

Our old friend, Hon. Frederick Smyth, of Manchester, is to be the next Governor of New Hampshire. All right. No man's record stands fairer than his. There is no more honest man, none truer to his convictions, none truer to his friends, none better qualified, none on whom the suffrages of the people could be more worthily bestowed. Mr. Smyth will go in by from 5000 to 8000 majority.

WEBSTER GENERAL HOSPITAL AT MANCHESTER. — This institution is indeed a "National Home" for the braves of the granite State. Here N. H. soldiers broken down by exhausting marches; debilitated by Southern Miasm or riven by rebel balls and bayonets, find comfortable quarters, a bountiful table and skilful treatment. The native mountain air, pure and bracing, together with other good hygienic circumstances tones and heals to a degree not found south, a very few days showing a decided improvement in the health of those recently admitted. The establishment of U. S. General Hospitals at the homes of our noble soldiers in the several States was a happy conception in every respect. In them the sick or wounded soldier, while at home, can receive that peculiar surgical treatment at the hands of experienced surgeons so essential to their restoration to health and soundness. And conducted, as at Manchester, by an officer of long experience on the field of battle, regarding the men in hospital as fellow-soldiers; familiar with all their wants; everyway kind to the well-behaved, and a strict disciplinarian, things move along smoothly, efficiently and to the satisfaction of the Government, the patients and their relatives.

The citizens of Manchester by Fairs and contributions have done much to add to the comfort of the patients. And an occasional box from farther off shows that the brave boys are not forgotten anywhere. Large family bibles are provided for each ward, and testaments furnished the men, Newspapers, periodicals and other reading distributed in abundance and a library of 400 vols. affords more substantial reading for the studious. No chaplain is yet appointed but his place is partly supplied by clergymen in the vicinity, and many of the patients avail themselves of the privilege of worship in the city on the sabbath. Some 400 patients have been admitted; about 1-4 of these have been returned to duty at the front, a considerable number have been discharged and all remaining are doing well. G.

PARSON BROWNLOW.—The Tennessee Union State Convention nominated Parson W. G. Brownlow for Governor. A delegate asked if he would accept, whereupon he responded in the following language:

Gentlemen, I settle the controversy by assuring you I will accept. (Applause.) I cannot be expected to do anything more, and I certainly ought to do no less, than to tender to you, as a Convention, my sincere and unfeigned thanks for the honor and distinction you have conferred upon me. I will not speak at length now, gentlemen, but what I lack in speaking, if the people should ratify the nomination made by you, I shall try to make up in deeds and acts, and God being my help, if you will send up a Legislature to reorganize the militia and pass upon other necessary business, I will put an end to this infernal system of guerilla fighting in east, middle and west Tennessee, if we have to shoot every man concerned in such business.

☞ Congressmen are examining with interest a newly invented apparatus, now on exhibition in Washington, for taking a vote by yeas and nays in legislative bodies. The task of voting in this manner now occupies about thirty minutes in the House of Representatives. The vote can be taken, counted and recorded by the machine in ninety seconds. The vote is transmitted by electricity from each members desk along telegraphic wires, which meet at the clerk's table, so that the legislator has only to turn a handle to the right for yea, or to the left for nay, and his vote is recorded. A simple attachment adds up the result instantaneously. The adoption of this article in Congress would greatly diminish the power of those who constantly struggle to delay the progress of business.

— The question of the abandonment of the war in St. Domingo has engaged the attention of a council of war at Madrid. The general feeling of the council was in favor of the withdrawal of the troops, not, it was said, because the insurrection could not be suppressed, but because the destructive nature of the climate was gradually sacrificing the Spanish army.

THE TWIN BROTHERS PEABODY. The half century anniversary of the establishment of the North American Review is the subject of an article in Jan. number of that celebrated quarterly magazine. Amongst other very interesting statements by gentlemen who had charge of it in the early years of its existence, is one by John G. Palfrey, now post-master of Boston. Speaking of O. W. B. and W. B. O. Peabody, who were contributors to the North American during the period of which Mr. Palfrey writes, he says:

"Since I am in the garrulous vein, let me dwell for a moment on the recollection of these two men of beautiful genius. They died about the same time, sixteen years ago. I knew them well almost all their lives. I was their schoolmate and playmate for two years, and their college contemporary for three years more; and our relations were kept up with intimacy as long as they lived. So like were they, that I never knew them apart. To my perception, the resemblance was perfect in face, form, mien, voice, movement and manner. Their handwriting was peculiar, but the handwriting of each was to me undistinguishable from that of the other. Both were copious writers in poetry and prose. Their style of thought and of writing was very marked. It had a character of delicacy, tenderness, grace, vivacity and humor altogether its own. It could not be mistaken for the style of any other person but the twin brothers. But it seemed absolutely the same in both."

The Peabodys were natives of Exeter, this State, and O. W. B. was at one time a member of the Legislature. It was then said by those that knew them, that if the seat could be occupied by them on alternate days, the House would not have discovered the change. One was Oliver William Bourne Peabody—the other, William Bourne Oliver Peabody.

☞ A son of Herschell V. Johnson, an officer in Hood's army, in an intercepted letter to his father, dated Sept. 14th, says the people in the vicinity of Atlanta are almost to a man in favor of re-union, and he believed five-sixths of the army would vote for it, if permitted. Instead of looking upon the Confederate government as a protection, the people see in it nothing but a great tyrant crushing them to death. He expresses the opinion that the war will stop within thirty days after the fourth of March, for the Southern people will come back on any terms.

☞ Rebel reports state that Gov. Watts, of Alabama, has called a convention to take measures for a return of that State to the Union, in view, as Governor Watts says, "of the deplorable situation of our military affairs which render it utterly hopeless to struggle longer against the puissant arm of a free and inexhaustible people in all the sinews of aggressive warfare." Alabama will undoubtedly follow in the footsteps of its neighbor State, Georgia.—Boston Herald.

☞ The Boston Post's Washington correspondent says that in the quarrel about the Wilmington failure, it is understood that Admiral Farragut condemns both Porter and Butler. A lengthy detailed report has been received from Porter, explaining the implied charges of want of cooperation, etc. Gens. Weitzel, Curtis, Ames, and other officers have been summoned before the War Committee under Senator Wilson's resolution of enquiry into the Wilmington failure.

— Governor Fletcher has issued a proclamation declaring Missouri a free State in accordance with the Emancipation ordinance passed at the Convention. Hundreds of business houses and private residences were brilliantly illuminated, and crowds of patriotic citizens with bands of music, paraded the streets, amidst display of fireworks, at St. Louis, on the evening of the proclamation.

— A soldier at Portsmouth Grove Hospital "run guard" on Sunday night, went to a liquor shop in the vicinity, and drank to intoxication, and being unable to get within the lines, lay down under a cart for shelter, and was found in the morning frozen to death.

— Ohio has furnished 211,500 men to the army and navy, of whom 16,500 have died in the service and about 8,000 have been disabled. The loss by death then, has been about 1 in every 13,—and by disability, 1 in 24 of the remainder, or 1 in 25 of the whole number.

— Three army correspondents—among them Mr. A. D. Richardson, of New York Tribune—have escaped from rebel confinement and arrived at Nashville.

— The Tribune calls Gen. Butler "the ablest and the least understood man that the war has brought forward."

— The steamer Greyhound, loaded with provisions for the Savannah sufferers, cleared for Port Royal, Saturday morning, and sailed in the afternoon from Boston.

— Southern refugees assert that no reasonable peace proposition will be entertained by Jeff. Davis's Government.

— A distinguished writer says: — "I can pick out men in New York — great men, that count millions to their names—of whom, if you should take away their wealth there would be nothing left — you might hunt, with a lighted candle, and you would not find them to all eternity."

☞ The New York Leader has a strong article devoted to the vile preparations that are now sold under the name of confectionery, and which parents, without stopping to examine, permit their children to take into their stomach, where it remains as a sediment, the gastric juice failing to dissolve it. Of course the result is inflammation of the mucous membrane, acute pains, ending in the development of disease that may result in death. It therefore warns mothers against using themselves or encouraging their children in the use of many of the sugar candies now manufactured, and says:

The article principally introduced by manufacturers of candies is a dry, chalky substance, which among confectioners is known under the name "terra alboa." It was originally imported from Derbyshire, England, but is now found elsewhere. Its cost to the manufacturer is about one cent and a half per pound, and is, as we have said, largely substituted for sugar, which at the present time costs from thirty to thirty-two cents per pound. We are credibly informed that in some of the largest manufactories there are used of this earth 2000 to 8000 pounds per week; and in smaller establishments, where great gain is sought by the proprietors, it is introduced into their compounds with a recklessness that is absolutely fearful when the consequence resulting from its consumption is contemplated.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, and for conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these two other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. The having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

THE GREAT PETROLEUM INTEREST.—The reports of the enormous profits derived are almost fabulous, and if the statements were not vouched for by gentlemen of the highest integrity, we should regard them as utter impossibilities. One Company, the Columbia, of Pittsburgh, has realized $54,500 on an investment of $2000, in the short space of eighteen months! Companies are still forming with prospects considered equally as good as those of the Columbia. As a source of wealth it is beyond calculation. Its exportation, at the present rate of increase, will shortly equal our largest staples, while it cannot be long ere this sebaceous monarch will wear the crown of dethroned cotton, and Petroleum will be King!

For the purpose of affording everybody an opportunity to participate in the great benefits of these enterprises, a Petroleum Exchange has been established in Boston by Messrs. Lombard, Gore & Mendum, at 99 State street, where reliable and full information may be obtained concerning all the different companies in operation, and in process of formation, with a faithful and impartial statement of their condition and prospects. They are gentlemen of the highest standing, and are fully endorsed by the leading merchants and bankers of Boston as reliable and trustworthy. No investment offers such returns as the sound Petroleum Companies, and the Exchange is designed to aid capitalists in a judicious selection. Their advertisement, in another column, explains itself, to which we direct the attention of all who are interested in this new source of wealth.

☞ Mr. Moses Lord, whose business card appears in our advertising columns this morning, (he now occupying the old blacksmith stand of Mr. Alfred Emery,) is well known as one of the very best mechanics in this city or anywhere else—an exceedingly skilful worker in iron and steel, careful and entirely trustworthy of the most particular jobs.

☞ Among the contributions for the relief of Savannah, mentioned in the Boston papers, are two from Portsmouth, viz. $100 from Ex-Gov. Goodwin, and $50 from Rev. Theodore M. Bartow of the U. S. Navy.

☞ Rev. Dr. Stone appears before the Lyceum to-night, with a lecture on "England and America." No speaker is more deservedly popular than Mr. Stone, and a rich treat indeed is in-store for all who hear him. His lecture here on Eastern travel, a year or two ago, was one of the most enchanting hour's talks we ever listened to.

☞ In some districts the national assessors are bringing up supposed wealthy persons who have reported small incomes, for examination, and their oaths to back their words. Of course there are no persons in this district who would for a moment think of making a false return, but it is said that in districts where they have been thus guilty some of the offenders will be led to exclaim "blessed be nothing."

☞ "The Newburyport Star" is the name of a new weekly paper just started in the only city to be indicated by the name, to be published by Pratt Brothers. It is a large sheet for these days, and tolerably printed; and three good indications of success we observe in a hasty look over No. 1. The type is coarse,—the price (above the too common starvation terms,) $2,50 a year in advance, and much attention is given to local. The old Herald was for many years the only business paper there; and the Star will find it a hard customer to compete with. But we give it greeting and success in all worthy endeavors.

☞ There are miles of highway in our country where no shade trees grow. There are hundreds of houses that have been standing for years with the hot sun scalding their inmates, for the want of half a day's work in setting trees, that any one may have for the transplanting. And there are houses built for show where no bush or shrub, or tree, is allowed to stand between them and the public to mollify or soften their white glare or comfortless look. Yet there are many lovely spots made so by the shade trees—where twenty years ago all looked barren and uncomfortable, and there is not a village or neighborhood where the same beauty might not grow if each inhabitant would set out one tree in their lifetime. One tree for each inhabitant would give a continuous shade in nearly all our Avenues of travel.

— The Erie Railroad Co., foreseeing the difficulty of securing wood fuel for their locomotives, have gone into McKean county, Pa., and bought coal lands. They have purchased the charter of the Buffalo and Pittsburg Railroad Company, and have begun to mine their own coal and bring it out by rail.

— The Herald of Gospel Liberty, of Newburyport, now in its 57th year, has passed under the control of Rev. D. P. Pike, who proposes to conduct it upon an exclusively cash basis. Elder Pike evidently believes in having enough to do.

CLASS FOR GYMNASTIC EXERCISE.—All Ladies and Gentlemen who would like to join a Gymnastic Class for Wednesday evenings, are requested to leave their names at Mr. Foster's Bookstore.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. Jos. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Horrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

The venerable Mrs. Partington once asked us if we believed that everything was foreordained before hand in advance. We were compelled to answer that sometimes we did and sometimes we didn't. She remarked that her son Isaac says he knows one thing was foreordained sure, and that is, that the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap will supersede and run out every other kind of soap made. The old lady further remarked, that she believed so to, and was sure that there was no other so good, for she had tried it. 48

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even confined her house for weeks very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrups, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various forms of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with diarrhea at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow worse till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may26

Petroleum!

LOMBARD & GORE,
BOSTON
PETROLEUM AND COAL STOCK EXCHANGE,
99 STATE STREET,
BOSTON,

Buy and Sell Oil and Coal Stocks on Commission, in New York, Philadelphia, and in Europe.

We believe we can offer superior inducements to all persons wishing to invest in Petroleum Stocks.

Such investments, as a class, offer greater inducements to persons of either large or small means, than any the world has ever known, not even excepting the Siver Mines of Mexico and So. America.

The cost of obtaining this Oil is so comparatively small that

A single Well producing only 10 Barrels per Day

will yield an income, over all expenses, of more than $25,000 PER ANNUM.

Many wells are now yielding from 25 to 75, and several have reached over 1000 Barrels, while one, (the Noble Well, on Oil Creek, Penn.,) has yielded no less than

3000 Barrels per Day,
Worth $30,000 at the Wells.

The undersigned are Regular Agents for the principal Petroleum Companies of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and having no more interest in one than another, persons desiring information can rely upon receiving an unbiassed account of the standing and prospects of the various companies on the market.

Enquiries by mail will receive prompt attention.

Subscriptions received to all first-class Companies upon the most favorable terms.

Receipts and Certificates will be forwarded in exchange for available funds, without charge; and Petroleum and Coal Stocks will be sold at the Brokers' Boards of New York and Philadelphia at the regular rates of commission.

We would call special attention to the following Companies now being organized in this city, viz:—

THE
PETROLEUM COMPANY,

Whose Lands are now yielding a net profit of $1450 daily, or more than $40,000 per Month,

equal to over 8 per cent. per month on their capital; and this yield is steadily on the increase. Whoever invests in this property will be richly rewarded. Those connected with it are of the highest standing.

CAPITAL STOCK, $450,000.
NUMBER OF SHARES, $90,000.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $5.00.
WORKING CAPITAL, $25,000.

Subscription Books are still open at our office for a limited number of Shares, which can be secured by prompt application.

The inducements to invest which are offered by the properties of this Company, and the well-known character of its managers, fully entitle it to the confidence of the public.

THE BOSTON & VENANGO
PETROLEUM COMPANY,

we offer as "No. 1." Although not producing at present, the prospect at least equals that of the Columbia Oil Company, of Pittsburgh, at the time of its organization, which has paid on an original subscription of $2000 a net profit of $54,500 in two years, and continues to pay in the same ratio.

Full information will be furnished in regard to the above, and all other Companies in the market, upon application at our office, personally or by letter.

P. S.—Parties remitting funds to us will please send by express, except when drafts can be obtained, in which case we will bear the charge of forwarding. In this manner they can obtain re liable receipts.

Morning Chronicle.

☞ The Louisville Jour. tells of a gallant fight made by Capt. Sam. Tabour and his nephew John, a lad of sixteen. They belonged to a Home Guard company, and were surrounded in the Captain's own house by a noted guerrilla chief, Captain Pratt, with his desperadoes, all armed to the teeth. Knowing that surrender would be suicide, they determined to sell their lives dearly:

"They refused to give themselves up, and a fight at once ensued. Young Tabour fired the first shot, shooting one of the outlaws through the heart. The Captain was not long in following suit. With his unerring rifle he brought down another one of the scoundrels, when the five remaining guerrillas started to flee. Pratt turned to fire a parting shot, when the Captain rewarded him with a ball in the mouth, which settled, in short order, his temporal affairs. Pratt had scarcely fallen to the ground before Tabour took aim with a heavy revolver and brought the fourth scoundrel down.

The remaining three halted about two hundred yards from the house, and one of them was in the act of firing when the boy took aim and shot the gun, a Spencer rifle, from the hand of the outlaw. This closed the fight. Capt. Tabour arrived in the city yesterday, and presenting himself before Colonel Farlough, made the following report: Colonel, we have some captured property to account for. We have three dead men, and one wounded, a prisoner. We have three live horses and a dead one; three Enfield rifles, one carbine and four saddles. What must we do with them? Such are the spoils of the victory. Pratt was one of the most desperate outlaws in the State, and his followers were noted for their bloodthirstiness and daring."

— Machinery has reached a great state of perfection. We saw some burnt peas put into the hopper of a coffee mill, the other day, and in less than two minutes it was occupying a place in a grocery window labelled, Old Government Java.—Ex.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never before been introduced to them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneficial his treatment, all the evils of venereal and impure blood, impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and distresses in the regions of generation, inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the strongest frame, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Irritable temper, Confused ideas, Aversion to Society, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, excitability, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating marriage, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charge for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotine, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, or Leucorrhœa, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

N. B. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all recent and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of cooks, would especially call the attention of the public to the

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-oven attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who have now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling their dwellings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the liability to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe of flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and surfaces for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

The Chronicle.

☞ The Paris journals have a story of a man of middle age who recently ordered a dinner for eight at a restaurant there, paying for the repast liberally in advance. He came in at the appointed time alone, placed upon the unoccupied places slips of paper inscribed with the names of the notes of music, and ordered the viands to be served as if every chair was occupied by a guest. The whole course of the banquet was gone through with, even to eight cups of coffee after the dessert, and then the man placed a pistol in his ear and fired. The waiter, suspecting the design, had previously drawn the charge from the weapon, but the explosion of the cap convinced the lunatic that he was killed, and he has insisted ever since, in the asylum to which he was carried, that he is dead and in purgatory. It appears that he was an opera singer, and lost his voice by sickness, and he had thought it would be rather a brilliant idea to take his leave of the world by giving a parting banquet to the notes which had so cruelly deserted him.

☞ The Academy of Medicine, of Paris, at whose seances all sorts of matters pertaining to the public health are discussed, has recently taken up the subject of cosmetics, and if we may believe the reports of able chemists and physicians, most of these pomades and dyes and other cosmetics used by ladies to make themselves look younger and handsomer than they really are, are only so many perfumed poisons, highly injurious to the health of those who use them. M. Beveil, an able chemist and physician, has discovered no less than sixty-five different poisons in cosmetics which he has analyzed. Most of the cosmetics to which the name "vegetable" is affixed are composed of active mineral poisons.—Among the effects which the report referred to attributes to the use of these active poisons, are opthalmia and certain skin diseases, besides a decided effect upon the general health.

A little fellow, not more than five years of age, hearing some gentlemen at his father's table discussing the familiar line, "An honest man's the noblest work of God," said he knew it wasn't true; his mother was better than any man that was ever made.

Look out for people who are habitually suspicious and ready to believe that others act from bad motives. In many cases, the evil they attribute to others is only what they feel inclined to do themselves.

Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The long time he has been prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their case, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

DR. J. TELLER continues to be confidentially and successfully consulted on all forms of private diseases, at his old Established Hospital, No. 5 Beaver Street, Albany, N. Y. Twenty years devoted to this one particular branch of practice, enables him to perform cures such as no other Physician can, and his facilities are such (being in correspondence with the most eminent Physicians of the Old World,) of obtaining the latest as well as the latest remedies for these diseases, offer inducements to the unfortunate of a quick and rapid cure, to be obtained at no other office in America.
In Syphilis, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Enlargement of the Testicles and Spermatic Cord, Bubo, Ulcerated Throat, Sore Nose, Tender Shin Bones, Cutaneous Eruptions, Bliss, Ulcers, Abscesses, and all other impurities of the system, are perfectly under the control of the Doctor's Medicines, and have been tested in more than 20,000 cases annually, with immense Success.
YOUNG MEN.
Young Men addicted to secret habits, who have impaired their healths and destroyed the vigor of their minds, rendering themselves incapable of the pleasure of the Married Life, are notified that in consulting Dr. J. Teller, they will find a friend to counsel and a Physician who has received more of the patronage of this class of patients than any other in all the United States, who applied to Dr. T. broken down in health, now rejoicing in all that makes life desirable and truly happy. The reader is of course aware that the delicacy of this subject will prevent a more minute description of this terrible old disease.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

A Washington item, of Jan. 16, evening, to the Boston Herald, says:

Frank Blair and son had an interview with the President to-night. It is not known what passed, but the elder Blair intimated very decidedly that he went on no official mission, and that while in Richmond he did not make or receive any official or semi-official communication relating to peace. As to what he heard in that city on the question of peace, it is understood that the tenor of it is the same as the tone of the articles in the Richmond papers.

Lieut. Gov. Jacobs, of Kentucky, who has been in Richmond an exile since Dec. 1st, reached here to-night direct from there. He says that nothing is talked of at the rebel capital but peace, among the people.

The Richmond Enquirer of Saturday says several members of the Confederate Congress and of the Legislature waited on Mr. Blair at his rooms, Friday, and at once resolved themselves into a committee of the whole on the state of the Union.

The attack on Fort Fisher has been renewed. The Richmond Examiner says "there is a rumor that a Yankee land force have commenced an attack against the fort, but the War Department has not yet received any intelligence of it. The Yankees will not take Fort Fisher."

An officer from Wayne county, Tenn., where he left Gen. Thomas on Saturday, says no active operations were expected for several days. The report that Hood intends making a stand at Corinth, has not been ascertained, but it is believed his disorganized force is fleeing South, leaving his best cavalry in the rear to cover his retreat. Gen. Thomas' army has plenty of supplies. Heavy rains rendered the roads impassable for military movements.

The Herald's correspondent in front of Richmond, says Maj. Gen. John Gibbon, lately commanding the 2d division, 2d corps, has succeeded Gen. Ord in command of the 24th corps, Gen. Ord being placed in command of the Army of the James. The rebels have recently erected a formidable work in front of the 25th corps. It is said that a division of Virginia troops recently ordered South, positively refused to leave their State, and they carried their point.

Four alleged rebel pirates and incendiaries have been arrested by officers under Gen. Dix and Superintendent Kennedy. They were led by the rebel Capt. Bell and were captured on the Northern border. They will be tried by court martial at Fort Lafayette.

The Times' Washington dispatch says it is reported at headquarters Army of the Potomac, that Lee has sent his family out of Richmond, and that nothing but peace is talked of in that city.

Official dispatches to the War Department show that the U. S. land and naval forces captured Fort Fisher on Sunday night, after hard fighting for about seven hours on land, and three hours previous attack from the fleet. The naval assault began at noon: at 3 P. M. the land forces pressed forward, and at 5 P. M. had carried half the land front, which they held. On pushing another brigade forward at 10 P. M., it took the rest of the work with little resistance, the garrison falling back to the extreme of the peninsula, where they were followed and captured, among others Gen. Whiting and Col. Lamb, both wounded.

Col. Comstock of the Engineers says:

I think we have quite 1000 prisoners; I hope our own loss may not exceed 500, but it is impossible to judge in the night.—Among the wounded are the commanders of the three leading brigades, Gen. Curtis being wounded, not severely, but Cols. Pennybacker and Bell dangerously.

Another dispatch estimates the number of prisoners captured at 2500, and the number of guns at 72.

Gen. Grant telegraphs to this Department that in honor of this great triumph, achieved by the united valor of the army and navy, he has ordered a salute of 100 guns to be fired by each of the armies operating against Richmond.

— Gold, Tuesday, 214 1-2.

— The Boston & Maine Railroad will probably be extended to the Merrimac river, at Newburyport, next season.

— The Government has rented the large sugar houses at the foot of Canal street, New York, where the cotton and rice captured at Savannah, and which is to be immediately shipped to New York by Collector Draper, is to be stored, and disposed of, at semi-weekly auction sales.

— The President has pardoned O. B. Drake, a native of Rye, N. H., who resided fifteen years in Georgia, and was captured in endeavoring to run the blockade.

— A Northern man in Savannah who keeps a watch and jewelry establishment, writes to a friend that when Hardee's forces evacuated Savannah they broke into his store and robbed him of everything it contained. He had taken the precaution to remove some of the most valuable articles, and thus saved a portion of his property.

— Advices from Hayti state that President. Jeffrard has proclaimed that the revolution is vanquished and order restored. The death sentence passed on the traitors has been commuted.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— On Wednesday morning, 4th inst., the house, barn, and all therein, belonging to Mrs. Joseph Kiley, and situated in the edge of Whitefield, was destroyed by fire—the family saving nothing. Mrs. Kiley's husband was killed at the battle of Gettysburg, and this fire deprives her and her family of five children of her all.

—— The net proceeds of a Soldiers' Aid Festival held in Peterborough on the 11th inst. reached $250.

— Strive to make everybody happy, and you will make at least one so — yourself.

—— Last Sunday evening, in Concord, Rev. Mr. DeNormandie gave a lecture before the Benevolent Society at the Unitarian Church. A contribution, over one hundred dollars, was taken up.

—— George Thompson gave a lecture to a large audience in the Friends' Meeting house at Clinton Grove, Weare, Thursday evening, in aid of the Freedmen. It was followed by a Levee. $300 was raised.

ELEGANT FIRST-CLASS FURNITURE.—The extensive furniture establishment of Messrs. Beal and Hooper, in Haymarket square, Boston, (as we take pleasure in copying from the Transcript,) is a credit to the artistic genius and mechanical skill of the present time and of our section of country. An inspection of their large and varied stock gives the visitor the most ample facilities for selection from numerous styles and kinds of material—from the light, airy and graceful, to the more solid, substantial and desirable, though none the less beautiful and attractive. Of this latter class the rich black walnut parlor and chamber sets have been made a specialty by these experienced manufacturers, for which they have gained a high reputation, and the peculiar merits of the goods are rapidly creating for them an increased public demand.

Their Grecian chamber sets are also a new introduction, both unique and beautiful, which can hardly have a less extensive popularity. Indeed, the whole stock of the firm is altogether manufactured by themselves, and is made by first-class workmen in the most complete and thorough manner, and of the most improved patterns and tasteful designs, and warranted to give entire satisfaction to purchasers. We cordially recommend a visit to the establishment, which is one of the largest and best filled to be found in New England. Some further particulars are stated in the new advertisement of the proprietors, in another column.

We know not how far Gen. Butler may be qualified to command an army in the field. We believe he has been in no battle, nor given evidence of great military talents; at the same time there is scarcely a man in the whole country who has done so much to suppress the rebellion and to whom the nation is more indebted for patriotism, courage and discretion. He was early in the field, clearing the way to Washington when it was full of and surrounded by the most bitter enemies. He held Annapolis, seized Baltimore, and saved Maryland. In Louisiana his administration was most successful, and friends and foes alike so acknowledge it. Not less deserving commendation was his administration at Norfolk, or his action in New York at the time of the last election. As a military administrator he has had no equal. Any nation might be proud of him; and to such a citizen any municipality should throw its doors, and with booming cannon, ringing bells, music and song, bid him welcome.

The Philadelphia Press says, after a few weeks rest, Gen. Butler will be appointed to the command of Kentucky.

☞ Beauregard is the strangest of all the rebel generals. There is so much of romance and fiction about him, that in olden times he might have been deemed supernatural. Killed a half dozen times and actually buried, as many witnesses were willing to swear, he not only lives, but he seems to have a ubiquitous life. One report locates him a thousand miles from the position assigned him by another report of the same date. Of slight build and in delicate health at the outbreak of the rebellion, the wonder is that some of the reports of his death have not been true. Rebel though he be, he is possessed of one trait worthy of imitation, and that is courtesy and kindness to those of inferior rank—extending his affability to the private as well as to the brigadier.

HUGGING.—An editor in Iowa has been fined two hundred dollars for hugging a girl in church.—Exchange.

Cheap enough! We once hugged a girl in church some ten years ago, and it has cost us a thousand a year ever since.—Young America.

That's nothing! We kissed a girl in school some twenty-five years ago, and have had to support her and the family ever since!—Tioga Democrat.

Whew! You don't none of you know how to do it. We have been kissing and hugging the girls for the last thirty years, in church and out of church, in school and out of school, at home and abroad, and it never cost us nary red.—Hospital Register.

Why, you must be a regular hug-her-mug-her. We wonder who does support the family you have "at home."—Boston Leader.

THE WAY TO FORETELL THE WEATHER.—A correspondent requests us to inform him if there is anything that will indicate changes in the weather better than a barometer. We have in our office a good barometer which we have watched for several years, and we do not consider it as good an indicator of wet or fair weather as the weather-vane. In this region a southeast wind is almost certain to bring a rain within 12 hours, while a northwest wind always brings fair weather in the course of 2 or 3 hours. A northeast wind is generally accompanied by rain or snow, but not always; we have known the wind to blow from the northeast for several days in succession, and the sky to continue perfectly clear all the time. With a southwest wind the weather is wholly uncertain, though more likely to be clear than rainy.

For the coming of a northeast storm the telegraph is the most trustworthy of all indications. Dr. Franklin observed that these storms always commence at the southwest, and travel against the wind. They are several hours in coming from Washington to New York, and we are surprised that our shipping merchants do not arrange to have the commencement of a northeast storm at any place lying to the southwest of this always telegraphed to New York and Boston, and promptly made known to the shipping interest in these cities. A sudden fall of the barometer is generally followed by a high wind, but the indications of this instrument in regard to fair or foul weather are very uncertain.—Scientific American.

ESCAPE FROM CAPTIVITY.—The following interesting statements, are the substance of a special dispatch to the New York Tribune, dated Nashville, Jan. 16th,:

"Albert D. Richardson, of the N. Y. Tribune, with Wm. E. Davis, correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, and Clark, of the Ohio Senate, arrived here to-day. They escaped from the rebel penitentiary at Saulsbury, N. C., on the night of December 18th, in company with Junius H. Brown, also of the N. Y. Tribune. They came 340 miles by a circuitous route through mountains before reaching our lines, fifteen miles from Knoxville. For the first fifty miles they were assisted by negroes and afterwards by Union men. They received the most devoted kindness, their good friends secreting them in the woods and in barns and sometimes in their houses by day, and piloting them through secluded pathways by night along the entire route at the peril of their lives.

They found snow a foot deep on the mountains, and suffered much from hunger and from cold in regions where they dared not build fires. A hundred miles from Knoxville they joined Union refugees who were on their way to the Union lines under the guidance of mountain pilots, but next night at Kelly's Gap they were surrounded by the rebels and compelled to separate into two parties.

The horsemen were piloted in darkness from the rebel camp by a young lady, and they rode by forced marches of such severity as to kill many of their animals. Mr. Brown went without footmen, under an excellent pilot, took to mountain paths and reached our lines on Saturday. The Richmond authorities refused all proposals for their exchange, declaring that they should hold them during the war as hostages and for retaliation.

They left seven thousand prisoners in Saulsbury, suffering the greatest barbarities from the rebels. They state that there is the most earnest loyality to the Government still prevailing in the rebel lines throughout Western North Carolina and East Tennessee; and that the people, many of whom have had their sons and brothers murdered and their houses robbed and burned by the rebels, are looking and praying for the advance of our armies. Hundreds of citizens are lying out in the woods in almost every county, waiting to enlist in the Union service.

☞ Steamer Daniel Webster has sailed from New York with provisions for the sufferers at Savannah.

ARMING THE SLAVES. It is certainly known in Washington, that there are five black regiments now in Richmond which have been organized within five weeks. The slaves of the South will be armed.—Boston Herald.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the best of all to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists. j20law 2m 7u

Please Look at This.

RYE, N.H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so bad as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most skillful physicians, and Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of Dr. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicine can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances who have used it, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.

PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.

I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.

From ELDAD I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841

DR. SWETT: Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then, she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named." ISRAEL CHESLEY

☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H. promptly attended to. msv26

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these few other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

Please inclose a stamped envelope, addressed to yourself.

☞ The grand annual Sleigh-ride Party to the Atlantic House, Rye Beach, came off on Monday. The morning was unpromising to those novitiates who wish to do their sleighing in warm weather—so the company, which would otherwise have numbered a hundred, was reduced to "only" forty couple—being, as usual, the largest turnout of the sort for the year, as this now firmly-established institution has been for several years.

And Oh, what a jollification was there! To begin with, the Ivanhoe, of classic associations, went "the farthest way round," through Greenland, and dropped its merry freight at the half-way house, (but no half-kept house,) the residence of Hon. Albert Blaisdell; where followed also a dozen or so of single teams—and all hands having warmed and refreshed the outer and inner man in the genial sociality and boundless hospitality always dispensed by the lavish host,—a final start was made for the Atlantic.

And of that ride, suffice it to say that all got there safely—though the Accident Insurance Company ran considerable risk, if they had any policies there. And we will not even allude to the sleigh-load of beauties spilt out against the wall, nor the other fellow who stepped out of his seat and tried to push his lady out the other side in keeping the sleigh up; nor the various smash-ups which just didn't occur, in the clipping, cutting and shieing. No matter, let 'em all slide; so that no one backslides.

Despite winter's drear, and frigid ocean's roll—the old "Atlantic" was once more cheery as ever—and as the full party gathered, one after another, from far and near, the measure of hilarity was full. There were delegates from Portsmouth, Kittery, Greenland, Dover, Concord, Boston, and we don't know where else—all full of the importance of their mission, (after supper,) and fraternizing like old acquaintances, as they are getting to be.

Of all that was said and done, we need not speak—for is it not written in the chronicles of the memories of the stockholders of the G. S. R. P.? One thing sure,—the supper was "done," to a turn, and pretty well done up too, though there was abundance, and of the best. And mine host Philbrick, with his veritable helpmeat, and Lougee for clerk, were as efficient as if their hands hadn't been out for a five-month.

Then the dancing—who would believe that those sedate old gents, stayed matrons, and delicate damsels, could shake "the light fantastic" to such a length. Faith, we don't know but they are at it now, for when we left, the quadrille band was piping away merrily as ever; and we believe they played themselves fast asleep, while some of the old folks kept up the shake like the cork-leg, and broke down lively till they broke up to-morrow morning.

But heigho, we must be off,—that Chronicle is not civilized into an afternoon paper yet, and the moon is up, and the stars are out, and the northern lights have long been streaming in meteor splendor across the sky. We find the boys, or their horses, can all beat "Jack," (in his stall,)—though perhaps the animals might "blow" in doing it, as loud as their owners do in telling of it—and as we fear that man of Kent will run over us, or Hiram haze us to the wall again, or we shall get tuckered-out if the Dr.'s will-is up to clean us out, or Charley Sides will swing his big swingle-tree into our midst as he did into Nat's, or we shall go bump into another "thank'e marm," or side over more drifts,—we guess we'd better be getting out o' this. So good bye till next time;—there's Prescott of "the Independent" left with you, and he can drink more—coffee than we can, and tell a bigger story about anything that happens or don't happen, and besides is a better-looking man. Nobody keeps asking him what makes him so pale? Good night, all, good night—no, good morning—isn't it most time for those expressmen and conductors to switch-off? and those contractors may contract bad habits, if they don't—well, good bye.

NAVAL ITEMS.—Acting Ensign Charles E. Beck, from the Cambridge, has been detached, and granted sick leave for 15 days.

— The appointment of Acting Third Assistant Engineer John Slack has been revoked.

— Acting Master's Mate Dennis Carroll, of the Vandalia, has been dismissed, for engaging in the substitute business.

— We learn that Acting Asst. Paymaster Thomas A. Swords has been ordered to the steamer Niphon, now undergoing repairs at the Charlestown Navy Yard. She will be ready for sea in about a month.

REMOVALS.—Mr. Samuel F. Cobb has removed his music and variety store, from Exchange Buildings, to the store formerly occupied by Mr. Downie, on Market street.

Mr. Francis W. Ham, watchmaker, we hear, is to occupy the stand vacated by Mr. Cobb.

☞ Miss Doeoff, the young woman who was so severely burned at Newcastle, lingered till Tuesday morning, when she died.

CLASS FOR GYMNASTIC EXERCISE.—All Ladies and Gentlemen who would like to join a Gymnastic Class for Wednesday evenings, are requested to leave their names at Mr. Foster's Bookstore.

PROMOTIONS.—Lieut. George E. Hodgdon of the U. S. Veteran Reserve Corps, formerly Judge Advocate of a General Court Martial at St. Louis, has been promoted to Judge Advocate of the District of St. Louis, and placed upon the staff of Brig. Gen. Ewing.

— Capt. G. Frank Towle, of Co. F. 4th N. H. Infantry, has been promoted to Major, of that Regiment. Glad of it.

— We hear that Lieut. J. E. Johnson, late of Fort Constitution, was, soon after his arrival with his Company, at Washington, appointed to serve on the staff of Gen. Aiger.

☞ The U. S. steamer De Soto, Capt. Budd, from this port, arrived at Baltimore on Thursday last, after a rough passage. All well. The ship averaged 9 knots an hour on her trip down. Her crew has been transferred to the U. S. ship Constellation at Norfolk, Va.

[Communication.]

AN IRON CHARACTER.—One of the greatest hobbies of modern theorists and agitators, has been men of iron character—men possessed of those stern and unyielding traits which enable them to drive through every difficulty and opposition—who fear nothing—who in fact are so constituted that they can fear nothing. That such as these are just the men for certain positions in life, cannot be denied; but such positions occur rarely, and ever bring with them the men to occupy them—the men for the times.

But it is an undisputed fact, that while these public prodigies succeed brilliantly in their own high spheres, they would make but a poor figure in another and more common position. The men who make up the grand mass of society must have characters as various as their number is great; they must not be all iron,—brass is necessary also, at times. Their severer traits should be softened by genuine kindness and amiability; and their weaker parts strengthened by noble and manly feelings. As a combination of ores is necessary to the production of the better metal, so is the union of excellent qualities in the formation of a character which shall ensure success in the great race of life. D.

☞ The following item in regard to street influences, which we find in an exchange, will do very well for this latitude:

We are firmly of the opinion that more youths are made vicious and corrupt by spending their evenings in the streets or in places of questionable resort, than in the broad daylight. Street education is not the best for youth by any means. If they do not engage in criminal acts, yet too many of the youth by spending their evenings away from home become rowdies, reckless as to conversation and acts.—Home should be made attractive, so that it shall be the sentiment of each member of the household "there is no place like home."

AGAIN AND AGAIN.—Our readers may think it strange that we so often urge upon their attention a medicinal preparation. Already have we, for a number of weeks, urged the importance of a supply of Coe's Cough Balsam in the house, ready for immediate use. But our excuse is that the vast amount of sickness, sorrow and death that are the immediate result of sudden coughs, colds and pulmonary attacks; while thousands of our children are dying from croup and lung complaints. Time and experience have proved that Coe's Cough Balsam is the most speedy and reliable preparation ever known to the world. Like magic it relieves the irritation of the throat, removes the stoppages that prevent breathing in croup, heals all soreness of the throat, chest and lungs. No man should neglect to supply his family with a safe and reliable remedy like Coe's Cough Balsam, any more than he should neglect the supply of their daily bread. It costs but 40 cents, and the bottles contain twice as much as those of any other remedy at the same cost, while in merit it is superior to all others. All drug stores keep it for sale. 4j18dawkm

No vocabulary can furnish language sufficiently strong in commendation of that excellent and indispensable article known as the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. The lady having aught to do in any household department, from the wash tub to the finest needle work, should not fail to supply herself with a year's stock. It only requires a person to use it once to use it their whole life. Most of the grocers sell it. 49

WHAT IS A FRENCH ROLL PAN?

IS A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED. It is simply a nicely made IRON PAN,

Or rather a series of Pans connected in one, of such peculiar form that all parts of the material contained in them receive an equal amount of heat, thus insuring a very

QUICK AND LIGHT BAKE.

For Sponge or Drop Cake, Muffins, French Rolls, Corn Bread or Raised Flour Biscuit, these Pans are Invaluable.

IN these days of high prices, it is worth while to

ECONOMISE

in any way. We give below a receipt for making a Cheap, Wholesome, and

PALATABLE BREAD:

"Stir into a pint of Cold Water sufficient Graham Flour to make a thin batter, adding a little Salt. Heat the Pan thoroughly, grease it a little, pour in the batter, and bake about half an hour in a hot oven."

By using Sweet Milk, instead of Water, as above, and adding 2 Spoonsful of Sugar, biscuit can be made fit to set before a King. We have sold nearly a thousand of these Roll Pans in about one year, and the sale is still increasing.—Try one.

E. A. STEVENS.

BAILEY'S Spring Roll and Cog Wheel WASHING AND WRINGING MACHINES.

WRINGING MACHINES HAVE BECOME AN institution in the land. Thousands and tens of thousands have been sold during the last three years, and they all save an immense amount of labor and cost of material.

We now offer to the public a Machine that will WASH as well as WRING the Clothes. It is very heavy and strongly built—the Rolls are large and so fastened with screws as to be secure from turning on the shaft. The Cog Wheels give power, and the Spring Roll makes it do its work with ease and perfection. The Machine is secured to a bench, independent of the wash tubs, consequently there is no trouble of fastening it every time it is used.

To any person who wishes to obtain an article to do both washing and wringing in a Public House or Private Family, we say give this a trial. If not satisfactory, the money will be refunded.—Call and see it.

DIVORCE. At the Supreme Court, Hartford, at the July term last, a petition in chancery for divorce on plea of desertion, was filed by Erastus H. Crosby of Hartford, against Cynthia E. Crosby. This was tried, and at the September term divorce was denied the husband, but granted in favor of the wife, who filed a cross bill against the husband for desertion and cruel treatment. The respondent was allowed to resume her maiden name. Goodman and Freeman and Charles Chapman for petioner; A. W Boardman of Boston for respondent.—New Haven Journal.

— During the late campaign a hand-bill was stuck up in a Western town, announcing a political meeting to which the "ladies, without distinction of sex," were invited to attend.

—One of the saddest things about human nature is, that man may guide others in the path of life, without walking in it himself, that he may be a pilot, and yet a castaway.

— Women grown bad are worse than men, because the corruption of the best turns to the worst.

—Love, religion and slippery sidewalks bring a man to his knees.

— Fools are wise men in the affairs of women.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

Important to the Afflicted.
DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, No. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a
PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.
By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of
GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.
Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of pubis, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as helpless as the simplest ailings of a child.
SEMINAL WEAKNESS.
Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, self-distrust, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.
Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.
Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotics, warranted the best remedy. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.
Highly Important to Females
IN DELICATE HEALTH.

Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.
Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.
Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.
N. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges himself superior in the United States.
N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.
Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.
CERTAIN CURE
In all cases, or No Charges Made.
Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M., as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.
Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.
The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this before believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.
There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.
The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, so no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.
For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.
We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the temptation to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the reduction of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with; and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:
Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

HARD ON FERNANDO. The following passage from the reply of Mr. Farnsworth, of Illinois, to Fernando Wood, in the House the other day, is said to have created great amusement:

"Sir, it is said, I believe, that every man looks upon and appreciates character from his own standpoint. I suppose that a man who stands upon the gallows, and feels the halter drawn about his neck, would regard a very disreputable person, if exempt from the doom of that punishment, as very respectable; and I suppose that, if a man has escaped the penitentiary by the statute of limitations or any other device, he would regard as very respectable a character that others might consider very ignoble. Men of a low class regard the character of others from their own low stand-point, and by a comparison with their own position in the moral scale. But it is left for the member from New York, to justify and support this barbarous institution of slavery, and to declare that the slaveholders engaged in this rebellion, are the noble, gallant and generous people of the United States. Mr. Speaker, I do not so regard them. From the stand-point which I occupy I look upon them in a very different light. I think that they are neither just, generous, nor noble; and, sir, you shall find that, wherever slavery has existed for a series of years, it makes the slaveholder ignoble, unjust, ungenerous and tyrannical. Such is the natural effect of the institution everywhere.

The member from New York caused to be read at the clerk's desk, a description, as I learned afterwards, of some horrid scene in Africa, as written by a traveller. I did not know when it was read, from what source it was taken, nor had I heard what was said by the gentleman in connection with it. Forming my surmise on the character of the description, I turned to some one near me, and asked whether it was a description of the horrid atrocities committed by the denizens of the Five Points and other constituents of the gentleman, during the riot in New York city a year or two ago. It seemed so apt and complete a description of the scenes which occurred during the riot, as they were detailed in the New York papers, that I thought it must be an extract from some history of those occurrences. We all recollect that during that riot colored orphan asylums were set on fire, negro women with children in their arms were murdered, and in some instances negroes were burned. Those are scenes which were participated in by voters of that member's own city and district. You need not go to Africa to find scenes of horror.

WHAT SECESSION MEANS. A British cavalry officer, who, in 1864, slipped through the loyal States into Dixie and participated in Lee's Gettysburg campaign, stole across the Potomac into Eastern Virginia, through one of those lower counties of Maryland which recently gave such a solid vote against Emancipation and for McClellan as President, of the people he there encountered, thus admiringly writes to the last Blackwood's Magazine.

A company of Union soldiers was stationed there, but the "citizens" are all ardently Southern in their sentiments.

I sat one evening with a party of them before the door of the hotel, and they were talking red-hot "secesh" politics. All regretted that the American colonies had ever separted from England; and though they professed to admire Washington personally, yet they heartily wished he had never been born. One went so far as to d—— Christopher Columbus. "What business on earth" he said, "had he to come and discover this God-forsaken country?"

"Yes sir," said another, addressing himself to me, "it was a Yankee trick, sir; they cheated us, as they have done ever since. We didn't want to quarrel with England, but they did, because they had been kicked out of the country, with their Mayflower and their Puritans. I'm one of them! I wish they'd all been drowned at the bottom of the sea. And they didn't want to fight, sir; Yankees never do, sir; and we Southerners, like fools, went and fought it out for them, just as they are making them Dutch and Irishmen fight for them now, sir! No Yankee is ever killed in battle, sir—none, at least, to speak of," he added in modification of this rather untenable proposition.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.
SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.
Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have left their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.
Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.
Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass. and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. H. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

THE VERNATELLA
LIQUID BLACKING
Gives to the Leather not only a
Splendid Jet Black Polish,
But an elegant and Fashionable Perfume.
The neatness and convenience of using Liquid Blacking and the superior polish which it gives over other kinds, has heretofore been in a great measure counterbalanced by its disagreeable vinegar odor and the trouble of fitting something into the stopper of each bottle in order to apply it to the brush, but the Vernatella Blacking has only the most DELIGHTFUL PERFUME, which remains with the leather as long as the blacking lasts, and each bottle has a stick ready fitted in the stopper. The Vernatella Blacking also softens and benefits the leather.
Be sure and inquire for the VERNATELLA Blacking.

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

The Richmond Whig of Tuesday says:

The unwelcome news of the fall of Fort Fisher, commanding the entrance to Cape Fear river, was made known this morning, and occasioned a sensation of profound regret. The capture of this fort is equivalent to the closing of the harbor of Wilmington by the enemy's fleet. It is situated about 18 miles below the city, but was the main defence of the entrance to the river, and its fall therefore will prevent in future the arrival and departure of blockade runners.

The rebel Gen. Lee says, in his official report:

Gen. Bragg reports that the enemy bombarded Fort Fisher furiously all day Sunday. At four P. M. their infantry advanced to the assault, a heavy demonstration at the same hour being made against their rear by our troops. At half-past six P. M., Gen. Whiting reports that their attack had failed and the garrison was being strengthened with fresh troops. At about 10 P. M. the fort was captured with most of the garrison. No further particulars at this time known.

The Richmond papers of Monday contain the following:

"Governor Foote is still at Fredericksburg on his parole.

Charleston papers say that "the U. S. force about Hardeeville have retired back to Savannah river. There is some doubt whether the troops have been sent to Beaufort. There are no indications of an advance on Charleston; two hundred and fifty refugees arrived at Charleston Saturday night from Savannah. The Yankees were busy removing obstructions from the river, and say they will soon move on Augusta, Branchville and Charleston. No movement has been made yet, though the refugees think there will be soon.

"Sherman and his officers threaten to reduce Charleston and South Carolina. His rule in Savannah, for policy, continues mild. He has written a letter to the citizens, saying that the only way to have peace is to send members to the United States Congress and return to the Union, and that it is ridiculous to think now of any other kind of reconstruction. The refugees brought out such servants as they desired. Many negroes were returning to their masters."

A rebel deserter, who came into Knoxville, Tenn., on the 12th, states that Gen. Vaughan, with 700 men, (all he had,) was at Bristol on the 4th. Breckinridge's command has gone to the Valley of Virginia, and, it is thought, will not return. It is reported that the rebels have commenced repairing the damage done to the salt works by Gen. Stoneman. The most perfect quiet exists throughout East Tennessee. Gen. Ammen having resigned, Gen. Tilson now commands.

The taking of Fort Fisher does not stop blockade running into Cape Fear river. Zeika Island commands the other entrance.

Gen. Butler's testimony before the Committee on the Conduct of the War lifts the veil which has closely covered many disasters and blunders in front of Petersburg. His testimony produced a profound impression, and a summons was issued for Gen. Grant and other high officers.

Adm. Lee informs the Navy Department that a resolution will soon be introduced introduced into the Alabama Legislature recommending the return of that State to the Union.

Mr. Blair obtained part of his papers in Richmond, but all idea of any other result arising from his visit is now completely exploded.

Savannah news of the 10th says a special messenger left on the 9th inst. with dispatches from the authorities of Savannah to Gov. Brown of Georgia, relative to the return of the State to the Union.

— Gen. Butler was in court when the salute for Fort Fisher commenced. On learning the cause he raised his hand saying piously, "Thank God for that victory."

— The New Haven Palladium says a curious letter from Mr. James, the rifled ordnance man, who was formerly a Democratic U. S. Senator from Rhode Island, was lately discovered in Savannah. It bears date at Providence, Nov. 26, 1860, and offers to contract for supplying "such rifled cannon, projectiles, &c., as may be needed" for the rebel service. It is addressed to a lieutenant in an artillery corps at Savannah.

GEN. GRANT ON SHERMAN. In his letter to a committee of Ohioans relative to the testimonial to Gen. Sherman, which he has headed with a subscription of $500, Gen. Grant thus speaks of the hero of Georgia:

"I cannot say a word too highly in praise of Gen. Sherman's services from the beginning of the rebellion to the present day, and will, therefore, abstain from flattery of him. Suffice it to say the world's history gives no record of his superior, and but few equals."

— The Indians are robbing and murdering people in Colorado.

Boston, Jan. 18.

Editors Chronicle.— Sunday this community was startled with the announcement of the sudden death of Hon. Edward Everett. Appropriate mention of the sad event was made at most of our churches in this morning service, as the sad news spread rapidly and was generally known early in the forenoon. All classes and all societies will mourn his loss. His voice was always raised on the side of the weak and the suffering, and his last public address was on last Monday in Faneuil Hall in behalf of the suffering citizens of Savannah. A public meeting is to be held Wednesday to arrange measures for appropriately honoring the memory of the illustrious dead.

As the smoke clears from the Wilmington expedition, it would appear that both the naval and military commanders were to blame, but the lion's share belongs to the Admiral. Gen. Butler's fault is reported to have been his accompanying the expedition without position orders to that effect from the Commander-in-Chief. It would appear that Gen. Grant must have been aware that Gen. Butler intended accompanying the expedition; if he did not, it is little to his credit, for it is pretty evident that Gen. Butler made no secret of his intention. If Gen. Grant knew of that intention and did not order him to remain with the Army of the James, he was certainly not justified in causing his removal. The causes of Gen. Butler's removal were anterior to the Wilmington expedition; and unfortunately for those in authority, the reason given for that removal does not stand the test of thorough examination. Another expedition for the capture of Fort Fisher is reported to have arrived near that stronghold, Gen. Terry formerly of the 10th Corps being commander, which makes it pretty certain that the 3d N. H. Regiment forms part of the forces. Gen. Terry is a Brevet Maj. Gen. and has the full rank to win, which will probably prove a strong incentive to vigorous action on his part. The 3d & 7th N. H. Regiments are in the same brigade, and both are veteran regiments and were prominent in the assault on Fort Wagner in 1863. The position of Fort Fisher is almost an exact counterpart of that fort; but let us all hope that it may not be a similar slaughter of our brave boys by a similar unwise assault.

A movement in Congress is reported for a new Lieut. Generalship to be given Gen. Sherman; the friends of Gen. Grant are reported to be averse, as looking to the ultimate superiority of Gen. Sherman in rank by promotion to a new grade of "General" which will probably be created should the war last much longer. In your correspondent's humble opinion there is some ground for such apprehensions, as he believes Gen. Sherman to be the greatest military commander in this country, a man with a real genius for the military art, as sharp and powerful with the pen as with the sword, a man who more resembles Gen. Jackson than any public man since his time; who possesses not only the one prominent trait claimed for the Lieut. General, but many others that are necessary to make the great commander. Gen. Sherman's greatest victories have been comparatively bloodless, the fruits of an active brain powerful in the great lessons of strategy; but the public having acquired the habit of judging of the magnitude of a victory only by the lists of killed and wounded, has not given them the rank justly their due. With 100,000 men Gen. Sherman would do more to demolish the power of the rebellion than would Gen. Grant with twice that number, taking the latter's Summer campaign as a criterion.

Mr. George L. Stokell Jr. 18th Mass. Regt. formerly of Portsmouth, was among the prisoners recently exchanged at Charleston. He has been a prisoner seven months, and during that time he has been in rebel prisons at Lynchburg, Danville, Andersonville, Florence and Charleston, being better treated at the latter place than anywhere else in the confederacy. He was badly wounded at the "Wilderness" May 5th, and supposed to be dead, as his friends could hear nothing from him, he having been taken prisoner at once, our men being forced back. He was soon stripped of all but his undergarments, but was kindly treated by one of Lee's wounded veterans. With the other wounded prisoners he was three days in a tobacco warehouse at Lynchburg, where there was not room to sit down, and with one tub for all to cleanse their wounds in. He says the worst has hardly been told of their treatment at Andersonville, as the details are not fit for the public eye; that from 150 to 200 of our men are buried every day, and during the four and a half months he was there, over 15000 were buried, absolutely murdered. The cowardly militia who guard them treat them far worse than those rebels who have been at the front: in fact many times our prisoners received favors from men who had been prisoners in our hands and who were glad of an opportunity to return the favors then received.

Mr. Stokell has lost his right arm at the socket, and was therefore one of those selected for exchange; being of a remarkably strong constitution and easy disposition he was enabled to endure that loss and live to return to his friends. MANNING.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The officers and men of the 8th N. H. regt. arrived at Concord, Tuesday, numbering 17 officers and 154 men. They started from Natchez Jan. 7th via Cairo. Peach trees were in blossom when they started, and all the evidences of glad Spring were apparent. The time of enlistment expired Dec. 23d, since which time they have been awaiting orders. About three hundred of the men re-enlisted and remained under the title of the "First Veteran Battallon 8th N. H., Vol. Infantry," under command of Capt. James H. Landers.

—— The Newport Argus learns that valuable deposits of copper ore have lately been discovered in Croydon. A vein is now being worked with great progress, by a New York Mining Company, which promises to be of no ordinary importance. It has now been explored to the depth of thirty feet or more, and the indications are favorable of other and more valuable ore than copper.

—— Justin Hamlet, J. P. Nelson and Edwin Kelley, belonging to the First New Hampshire Heavy Artillery, died in Washington on Thursday.

— The body of Rev. Levi W. Leonard was conveyed from Exeter to Dublin, and buried amongst the people whom he long served as religious teacher.

— Rev Samuel C. Beane, formerly of Candia, recently pastor of the Unitarian church in Chickopee, Mass., has become pastor of the Unitarian Society in Salem, Mass., at a salary of $1,500.

A VOICE FROM CHARLESTON, S. C.— The Charleston Mercury of the 12th says:

The condition of this military department (Georgia and South Carolina) is anything but satisfactory, and to none less so than to the General commanding this department. His department has been newly turned into his hands, and many of the troops new to the department. They came to him under the command of imbeciles. He has received them—a herd of stragglers and outlaws. What has been done to eradicate this fatal evil we shall not stop to inquire. The time has been short to do much, and the forces have been very much scattered, but the very last moments are arriving when all must be done that is to be done, when all must be done that can be done. The enemy does not intend to wait upon our leisure, and there is much to do. The path we are now travelling is straight to destruction. The crisis of the Confederacy has arrived in fatal earnest. The result of the next six months will bring the Confederacy to the ground or reinstate its power. Without reform we are doomed. There must be no more Jeff. Davis foolery, but brains and nerve, reform, shooting, cashiering, order, subordination; soldiers, not runaways, ragmuffins, roffians.

☞ A well informed writer says that earnest efforts are about to be made in Spain for the abolition of slavery in her her colonies. In Madrid an anti-slavery society has been formed, under the designation of La Sociedad Abolicionista Espanola, consisting of men of all political parties, who have adopted as their fundamental rule that politics shall not be brought into any of their discussions, but that the great question shall be treated upon the broad basis of humanity, justice and religion. The society has appointed a committee to inquire into the results of emancipation wherever it has been carried into effect, and to report upon the best means of abolishing slavery in the Spanish colonies.

From Cuba we learn that anti-slavery sentiments are rapidly spreading among the native population. A considerable number of newspapers advocate emancipation, the probability of which is improving from day to day.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune's Washington correspondent says "Mr. Lincoln has no responsibility for Mr. Blair's mission. He is understood to have said characteristically, when applied to for permission to go; 'I have no objection to any man's trying his hand at a job of pacification.' The disposition of the President to balance things evenly, together with his kind-hearted disposition to indulge folks in 'jobs of pacification,' led him to consent to let Singleton, a semi-Secesh Western politician of the Copperhead persuasion, go down and advise his Confederate friends to give up quick and get in good. In proof of the correctness of the reasoning of the more experienced who predicted the necessity of Mr. Blair's failure, it is certainly known here that there are five black regiments now in Richmond. This is quick work for people who announced their determination to arm their slaves only five weeks ago. The slaves of the South will be armed—and aristocracy and slavery will come between the upper and the nether stones of the mill—and the millers are the gods."

— The New York Tribune says "there is no other newspaper in America—and (we presume) none in Europe—which is now, or for the last ten years has been, taken and and read by so many people as is the New York Tribune." It also says they "paid more for the bare paper sent to most subscribers during 1864, than was received for the printed sheets;" and we say that's a poor way to do any sort of business.

☞ Rev. Dr Adams in his thanksgiving sermon at Broad street Presbyterian church, Philadelphia, made the following interesting statement in speaking of an early morning call upon President Lincoln a while since. "Morning came, and I hastened my toilet, and found myself at a quarter to five, in the waiting room of the President. I asked the usher if I could see Mr Lincoln. He said I could not. 'But I have an engagement to meet him this morning.' 'At what hour?' 'At five o'clock.' 'Well, sir, he will see you at five.' I then walked to and fro for a few minutes, and hearing a voice as if in grave conversation, I asked the servant—'Who is talking in the next room?' 'It is the President, sir,' 'Is any body with him?' 'No, sir, he is reading the Bible.' 'Is that his habit so early in the morning?' 'Yes, sir, he spends every morning, from four o'clock to five, in reading the Scriptures and praying.'"

WHEN SHE WILL, SHE WILL.—The Princess Mary of Cambridge (Eng.) was sought in wedlock by a Peer of the realm. The Queen's consent was necessary, and this the Queen refused. The English Churchman says: "However, consent or no, in the presence of God, and with the blessings of the Church, the Princess Mary, as we hear, has asserted her own rights, and the marriage has taken place." So much for trying to regulate a young damsel's affections by an act of Parliament, and to put her heart at the mercy of a crowned dowager. Love love laughs at unreasonable "reasons of State," and the spunkey princess has refused to be kept for a Saxe-Coburg mate, who would not be her Peer.—Transcript.

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiment, he found that by adding to these five other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

☞ At the Rockingham Councillor Convention at Exeter on Monday, Asa McFarland, Esq., of Concord, presided; and Hon. Horton D. Walker of Portsmouth, after an informal balloting, was, on motion of John Kimball, Esq., of Concord, unanimously nominated as candidate for Councillor.

At the County Convention, Hon. John H. Bailey of Portsmouth was chosen President, and Benning S. Scribner of Fremont was nominated by acclamation as candidate for County Treasurer; and Hiram Smart, Jr., was in the same manner nominated as candidate for Register of Deeds. John Rowe, Esq., of Candia, was upon the first ballotting nominated as candidate for County Commissioner. The subject of the election and the organization of County Committees was discussed at some length, and a new plan of organization adopted.

☞ The Union Republicans of Rockingham Councillor District did themselves much credit in the selection of Hon. HORTON D. WALKER, of this city, as the candidate of their convention, on Tuesday.—Mr. Walker is a gentleman of acknowledged ability and sterling integrity. As Mayor of Portsmouth, Representative for several years to the General Court, and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the House of Reformation, he has rendered good service to his fellow-citizens; and we can but regard it as a fortunate thing for the State that Mr. Walker will be placed in the Governor's Council at a time when so much is required of those filling the positions of Councillors.

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.—January Trial Term.—The Court commenced its session at Exeter on Thursday, before Judge Bellows. The number of entries upon the continued civil docket is 267. It was presumed that the Portsmouth rioters would be tried on Monday; but the case was postponed because Mr. John H. George of Concord, who, as Mr. Hatch, attorney for Russell and others, said, was relied upon to try the case, was absent, detained in the courts of his own county. No case was heard on Monday. Indictment State v. Young will be tried in the first part of the week.

Communication.

Messrs Editors.—Cannot something be done to stop the fast driving in our city, particularly in the neighborhood of Market Square? It is frightful to see the speed with which the horses are driven; and if the drivers have no compassion on their poor horses, they should at least have some little for pedestrians. It is an evil greatly on the increase, and should be eradicated.

Yours, WOODEN LEG.

☞ The officers detailed for special duty on board the DeSoto, to take her to Baltimore, arrived home on Wednesday. Lt. Henry J. Bishop, Wm. F. Laighton, and Boatswain Hingerty, besides four Engineers from vessels lying at this port, were the officers; the crew consisting of 100 sailors, (bounty-jumpers) of whom, as Mr. Laighton informs us, not one escaped. After arriving at Baltimore, they were taken to Norfolk, where they were distributed among the several vessels of the fleet lying there.

☞ We learn that Boatswain Wm. F. Hingerty has been detached from this Naval Station, and is awaiting orders.

☞ A salute of thirty-one guns was fired at the Navy Yard on Wednesday, in honor of the capture of Fort Fisher.

☞ On Wednesday afternoon, a woman named McCormick, with her daughter, were arrested for being common drunkards.—They formerly occupied a house at the West End, but failing to "come to time" on the rent, &c., besides appropriating sundry portions of the tenement for firewood, the owner ejected them by a legal process, after which they broke open the house, and entered it, whereupon they were arrested as above stated.

"ENOCH ARDEN," BY ALFRED TENNYSON.—The universal interest felt in this charming Poem has induced Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, Mr. Tennyson's American publishers, to issue a twenty-five cent edition for popular reading, in addition to the other and more costly editions which they publish.

— The Elm Street Baptist Society in Exeter gave a musical and social entertainment, at the Town Hall on Wednesday evening last, for the benefit of their pastor, the Rev. Mr. Newhall. The old continental tunes were sung finely by many old veterans.—Proceeds $100.

— On Tuesday over one million of dollars in gold was sold in Washington, on the Wilmington news. Somebody who had all this, thought it best to sell out before the next fall.

— The Congregational Society in South New Market gave their minister, Rev. Mr. Chapman, a Christmas Visit and $110.

☞ An eminent copperhead organ finds fault with Pres. Lincoln, because, among other things,—it says,— he has had himself elected to office by the votes of the one section, excluding the other as of aliens and enemies."

Isn't that dreadful! Elected without the rebel vote, and against that of the copperhead peace men and the bogus war men! Was ever such impudence heard of before? Does he dare to be inaugurated against the will of the only party that can carry on a war or make peace? What will the London Times say? and Maximilian, and Napoleon, and Jeff. Davis? And what would Gen. McClellan have said, if he had happened to get one vote more than Mr. Lincoln? Would he, or would any copperhead, have had one single qualm about the matter? We trow not.

RHETORIC RUN MAD.—The New York News, closing an editorial, says:

"The arrogance and usurpation of abolitionism have struck it dumb in the forum of nations, as its bloodthirsty wickedness has outlawed it from the courts of humanity.

Every member of the "forum of nations" in Europe has adopted abolitionism, except Spain. The courts of humanity have outlawed slavery—not its opposite. The madness of the "institution" made it commit suicide. The maddest copperhead rhetoric cannot galvanize it into life,—though it may gratify for a season the malignity of its worshippers and dupes. U. T.

No vocabulary can furnish language sufficiently strong in commendation of that excellent and indispensable article known as the J. Monroe Taylor Gold Medal Soap. The lady having aught to do in any household department, from the wash tub to the finest needle work, should not fail to supply herself with a year's stock. It only requires a person to use it once to use it their whole life. Most of the grocers sell it. 49

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Hendrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; it is saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

☞ Save your rags and old papers! Every family can supply themselves with a good newspaper from the proceeds of such savings. Mr. URIAH BLAISDELL advertises to buy them.

LOMBARD & GORE,

BOSTON

PETROLEUM AND COAL STOCK EXCHANGE,

99 STATE STREET,

BOSTON,

Buy and Sell Oil and Coal Stocks on Commission, in New York, Philadelphia, and in Europe.

We believe we can offer superior inducements to all persons wishing to invest in Petroleum Stocks.

Such investments, as a class, offer greater inducements to persons of either large or small means, than any the world has ever known, not even excepting the Siver Mines of Mexico and So. America.

The cost of obtaining this Oil is so comparatively small that

A single Well producing only 10 Barrels per Day

will yield an income, over all expenses, of more than

$25,000 PER ANNUM.

Many wells are now yielding from 25 to 75, and several have reached over 1000 Barrels, while one, (the Noble Well, on Oil Creek, Penn.,) has yielded no less than

0 Barrels per Day,

Worth $30,000 at the Wells.

The undersigned are Regular Agents for the principal Petroleum Companies of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and having no more interest in one than another, persons desiring information can rely upon receiving an unbiased account of the standing and prospects of the various companies on the market.

Enquiries by mail will receive prompt attention.

Subscriptions received to all first-class Companies upon the most favorable terms.

Receipts and Certificates will be forwarded in exchange for available funds, without charge; and Petroleum and Coal Stocks will be sold at the Brokers' Boards of New York and Philadelphia at the regular rates of commission.

We would call special attention to the following Companies now being organized in this city, viz:—

THE NEW ENGLAND PETROLEUM COMPANY,

Whose Lands are now yielding a net profit of $1450 daily, or more than $40,000 per Month,

equal to over 8 per cent. per month on their capital; and this yield is steadily on the increase. Whoever invests in this property will be richly rewarded. Those connected with it are of the highest standing.

Subscription Books are still open at our office for a limited number of Shares, which can be secured by prompt application.

The inducements to invest which are offered by the properties of this Company, and the well-known character of its managers, fully entitle the confidence of the public.

THE

BOSTON & VENANGO PETROLEUM COMPANY,

we offer as "A No. 1" Although not producing at present, the prospect at least equals that of the Columbia Oil Company, of Pittsburgh, at the time of its organization, which has paid on an original subscription of $2000 a net profit of $54,500 in two years, and continues to pay in the same ratio.

Full information will be furnished in regard to the above, and all other Companies in the market, upon application at our office, personally or by letter.

WHAT IS A FRENCH ROLL PAN?

IS A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.

It is simply a nicely made

IRON PAN,

Or rather a series of Pans connected in one, of such peculiar form that all parts of the material contained in them receive an equal amount of heat, thus insuring a very

QUICK AND LIGHT BAKE.

For Sponge or Drop Cake, Muffins, French Rolls, Corn Bread or Raised Flour Biscuit, these Pans are Invaluable.

IN these days of high prices, it is worth while to

ECONOMISE

in any way. We give below a receipt for making a Cheap, Wholesome, and

PALATABLE BREAD:

"Stir into a pint of Cold Water sufficient Graham Flour to make a thin batter, adding a little Salt. Heat the Pan thoroughly, grease it a little, pour in the batter, and bake about half an hour in a hot oven."

By using Sweet Milk, instead of Water, as above, and adding 2 Spoonsful of Sugar, biscuit can be made fit to set before a King. We have sold nearly a thousand of these Roll Pans in about one year, and the sale is still increasing.—Try one.

E. A. STEVENS.

BAILEY'S

Spring Roll and Cog Wheel WASHING AND WRINGING MACHINES.

WRINGING MACHINES HAVE BECOME AN institution in the land. Thousands and tens of thousands have been sold during the last three years, and they all save an immense amount of labor and cost of material.

We now offer to the public a Machine that will WASH as well as WRING the Clothes. It is very heavy and strongly built—the Rolls are large and so fastened with screws as to be secure from turning on the shaft. The Cog Wheels give power, and the Spring Roll makes it do its work with ease and perfection. The Machine is secured to a pench, independent of the wash tubs, consequently there is no trouble of fastening it every time it is used.

To any person who wishes to obtain an article to do both washing and wringing in a Public House or Private Family, we say give this a trial. If not satisfactory, the money will be refunded.—Call and see it.

For the Chronicle.

AT HAMPTON BEACH,

APRIL, 1864.

What wide and sudden splendor
Illumes the ocean old!
Now Morn, the alchemist, transmutes
All things to ruddy gold.

From the fisher-huts the smoke-wreaths
Float lightly to the skies,
And change to gorgeous cloudlets there
In the glory of sunrise.

Through infinite depths of silence
The Heaven the Morn receives;
But, wild with yester's passion still,
The ocean moans and heaves.

When will thou cease complaining,
O corrowful, restless sea?
Just down the lane the little birds sing,
And nothing's sad but thee;

But thee and my heart. There, too,
The troubled waves are high,
And the deeps are full of murmurs, though
The storm has long passed by.

Yet dawns at last a morning,
Where "there shall be no more sea:"
Then, O thou restless, sorrowful Deep,
Comesh peace to thee and me.

☞ The manufacture of beet sugar, first introduced to France by the Emperor Napoleon I., not sixty years ago, has become an immense business there and on other parts of the continent. The yield of beet sugar in 1861 was 480,000 tons—being one-sixth of all produced in the world and one-fourth as much as the cane sugar. The sugar product of the world was as follows: Cane sugar, 1,950,000 tons; beet sugar, 480,000 do.; palm sugar, 100,000 do.; maple sugar, 20,000 do—making a total of 2,550,000 tons. Considering that we pay near $100,000,000 annually for foreign sugar, and this may be made from the beet at less than half the present price of sugar from the cane, it would seem to be the part of wisdom in the Government to encourage it in some direct form.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO UNFORTUNATE FEMALES!

DR. BRISCOE'S FEMALE DROPS are unsurpassed by virtue and efficacy in removing all complaints, of whatever nature, incident to females. He continues, with his usual success, to medically and surgically remove Obstructions, Enlargements, Leucorrhœa, Prolapsus Uteri, Debility, &c., and suppressions of all kinds; also all complaints of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Spleen, Bladder, &c.

His medicines will be sent to any part of the country by express or mail; addressed by a communication stating particulars, will receive prompt attention.

Office, No. 23 Endicott street.

Persons at a distance can consult Dr. Briscoe, by letter, describing the case, and have the medicines securely put up, and forwarded to any part of the United States, with full directions for use. Office arranged with separate apartments, so that patients see none but the Doctor himself.

Address Dr. Briscoe, at No. 23 Endicott St., Boston, Mass., stating symptoms. All communications are confidential.

Patients furnished with rooms and board if desired, and secrecy observed in the strictest degree.

Office hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Boston, July 16, 1864. 17tf5y

DR. M. BRISCOE still continues his successful treatment of all Private Diseases and also Female Complaints, at his old established office, No 23 Endicott street.

N. B.—The sick and afflicted will do well to give him a call. A short consultation will cost you nothing, but a word of friendly advice may save you years of suffering.

P. S.—Ladies who wish to stay in the city under my care a few days, can be furnished with kind nurses. Charges moderate.

Important to the Afflicted.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the symptoms of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrofula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dimness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, nervous palpitations, aversion to society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotte, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important to Females

IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With this the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this, as it is invaluable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given quantity of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of fresh air through the fire-pots, highlights them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the best generated heating, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

A double-barreld wale!
A cry uv anguish!
In the valley and shadder sit we!
Job hed biles; but he scraped hisself with a oyester shell!
Naman was a leper; but he doved into the Jordan, and cum out ez good ez noo!
Sampson had his bare shingled, and was we'k as watered whiskey; but it growd agin, and he bustid his enemies!
We bev biles, and are rotten with 'em; but what's the comforting oyester shell?
We hev leprussy; but what's the Jordan to jump into?
Our bare is short, and thar's whar our enemy hev got us; but what's the Restorative to make it grow agin?
Job, and Naman, and Sampson, altogether, wuzn't ez bad off ez we is.
We kin thro in Lazzyrus with his sores, and the dorgs a lickin uv them, and then give 'em 50 in a 100 and beat 'em.
For we nominatid Mickklland and Pendleton, at Shecago, and won it a war man and tother is a piece man.
The ox and ass is yoked—their heds and tails together.
And the teem is pullin vigorously, but instead of goin forered, goin round and round.
Wale! ye my people, for the ticket wusn't war enuff, and Cass has bolted.
Gnash yer teeth, oh ye saints, for the tickit wuzn't peece enuff, and Vallandygum hez bolted.
We tried 2 ride two hosses, goin in two diffrent direckshuns, and we fell to the ground.
And both hosses turned on us and kicked us.
And MickLellan has no chance—he won't bev the given uv the post offises.
Wale!
And Sherman took Atlanta, and chawed up Hood. Wale!
And Lee wants the Weldon road, but he can't git it.
And Governor Morton took the revolvers from the peece men uv Injeany. Wale!
And the draft won't be resisted, and the provo marshels will hev whole skins. Wale!
Wale for Maine and Vermont, which wuz tired uv the war, and wuz a goin fer MickLellan, hev votid abolishin with a loosenis.
Wale! fer our rulers oppress us. They let their men vote in the army, but won't let our men vote in Kanady. Wale!
Wale! fer the aberlishinists shell hold the orfises, and we shell be numbered among the outs! Wale!
Wale! fer in the fisher I see no way uv livin but by work!
Why wuz I born in2 sich a world? Why wuz whiskey created if you can't git it without a price? Why wuz orfises establisht if them can't git em ez wants em the most?
MickLellan buried his thousands in the swamps uv the Chickabominy; he hath buried his tens uv thousands under the platform he kicked over.
The aberlishinists jeer us and flout us; they wag their heds at us, sayin: "Go up, bald hed."
And we hev gone up!

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For the rapid cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

SO WIDE IS THE FIELD OF ITS USEFULNESS and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too apparent to escape observation; and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled excellence of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish our AMERICAN ALMANAC in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

Prepared by J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Brackett Hutchings, J. H. Thacher W. R. Preston, David Kimball, and all druggists.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1865.

THE REBELLION.

The Richmond Whig of Monday says Jeff. Davis sent an autograph letter to Mr. Blair, expressing his willingness to send or receive commissioners authorized to negotiate peace. The boat which took Mr. Blair from Richmond, on its return carried to that place Col. Singleton, from whose visit the Richmond papers are hoping much in the way of peace.

The Tribune's special Washington dispatch of Wednesday evening says the President has been all day closeted, denying himself to all comers, and it is said that two Alabama Peace Commissioners had an audience.

The Times' special dispatch says Gen. Thomas writes to the War Department very encouragingly of military affairs in the Southwest. He says that Hood cannot gather an army of 20,000 men, and that the Southwest is practically conquered.

FORT FISHER.—Sec. Stanton's says, in giving some items of this great success:

The enemy's force in the Fort was over 2200. The conflict lasted seven hours. At 10 o'clock at night the enemy were entirely driven from the fort and forced down to ward Federal Point, followed by a brigade of the troops; and at about twelve o'clock at night Gen. Whitney surrendered himself and his command to Gen. Terry, unconditionally as prisoners of war, numbering over 1800, the remainder of his force being killed and wounded.

Our loss was not accurately ascertained Monday afternoon, but is estimated at between 700 and 800 killed and wounded, besides the naval loss, which will not exceed 100 killed and wounded.

On Monday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock, the magazine of Fort Fisher exploded, killing and wounding 200 or 300 persons. After the capture of the fort all the troops were withdrawn, except one brigade left in charge of the works. How the explosion occurred is not known, but Gen. Terry believes it was occasioned by accident or neglect.

The armament of the fort was 72 guns, some of large calibres rifled, and one Armstrong gun. The troops in the fort had rations for 16 days. Their loss in killed and wounded is between 400 and 500. Gen. Whiting had three wounds in the thigh.

Col. Lamb, who had gone into the fort with reinforcements to relieve Whiting on Monday, is wounded.

Our readers cannot fail to mark the difference in rank between the officers who respectively report the results of the two attempts on Fort Fisher. The account of the first was given by a Major General who, in respect to priority of appointment, outranks all the other Generals in the army, and his reasons for "not doing it" were sustained by an accomplished engineer who was also a Major General. The second account comes to us signed by a Brigadier General only by Brevet, and his engineer, who "after a careful reconnoissance on the 14th" decided to risk an assault, was merely a Lieutenant Colonel. When the news arrived at Washington of the success that followed the taking of this "risk," the "Major General Commanding" of the first expedition, was engaged in demonstrating to the Congressional Committee on the Conduct of the War the accuracy of his judgment, in declining "to send his troops to needless slaughter;" and his engineer, off on a furlough, was engaged in the peaceful satisfactions of a bridal tour. There may be nothing in these unfortunate occurrencies and concurrencies which should justify the public in indulging in a fit of unseemly giggling but as long as risibilities form a part of the human constitution, such impertinences cannot be helped.—Transcript.

GEN. SHERMAN'S army is in motion, as appears by official notice from Sec. Stanton. Gen. Sherman renewed the movement of his forces from Savannah last week. The 15th and 17th corps went in transports to Beaufort. On Saturday, the 17th corps, under Gen. Blair, crossed Port Royal ferry, and with a portion of Foster's command moved on Pocotaligo. Gen. Howard, commanding that wing of the army, reported on Monday that the enemy had abandoned his strong works on our front during Saturday night. Gen. Blair's corps now occupies a strong position across the railroad, covering all the approaches eastward to Pocotaligo.

All the sick of Sherman's army are in good hospitals at Beaufort and Hilton Head, where the genial climate affords advantages for recovery superior to any other place.

The peace and order prevailing at Savannah since its occupation by Sherman, could not be surpassed. Few male inhabitants are to be seen on the streets. Ladies and gentlemen evince a sense of security, and no instance of disorder or personal injury or insult has occurred. Laboring men and mechanics, white and black, are seeking employment. The troops are cheerful and respectful towards every one, and seem to feel themselves as much at home and on good behavior as if in their native towns.

Trade is restricted for the present to actual military necessity.

— Gold, Thursday, 214 1-2 to 212 1-2.

— Orrin Brown of Bethel, Me., very suddenly appeared at his father's residence a few days since. He had been reported dead since last June, and his friends mourned for him as one dead. He had been taken prisoner and exchanged.—Democrat.

Our New York Correspondent Out West.

DUBUQUE, IOWA, Jan. 11.

Dear Chronicle.—Sojourned here for a day or more, after having crossed the Mississippi on the ice in a two-horse omnibus, (which means of transit the "Father of waters" must consider rather uncomplimentary unless he has a higher idea of buses—I mean the vehicular kind—than we of Gotham.) I will send you a few paragraphs which have been crowded out of attention. They will hardly be New York news, however, for a three-weeks jaunt thro' Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, makes one almost anything but Metropolitan. Were it not for certain faint recollections of Mitchell's School Geography, one would conclude that it was about here that the United States stopped. The immense rugged bluffs which wall in the frozen swiftness of the mighty Mississippi, seem to shut off the outer world, and like a wall of China to be the dividing line between this and the beyond. Thanks to Sturdy Young Iowa and her patriotic people, there are no guerrillas along these portions of the river, nor anything which will shoot farther than a bottle of whiskey. The river is about 3-4 of a mile wide at this point, and is frozen quite solid, and heavy teams cross with safety. The broad sheet of ice glistens in the light of the full clear moon, till it winds down into the shadows of the bluffs; the toiling steamboats, respited for a while, are ice bound along the shore; and the irresistible life of the stream seems locked in sleep.

The Western country has no special attractions at this season, except that with its white spread of snow, and devoid of trees and shrubs, the very openness of the country seems more open, and the prairies longer and wider. The rolling prairies of Illinois seem like an immense white sea rolling out wave after wave to a horizon ten, fifteen, and twenty miles away.

Chicago, Milwaukee and the smaller but wide-awake cities of the West, are thriving; and the farmers throughout the country, whose crops though light on some staples, commanded high prices, are fairly prosperous. The draft which will fall heavily on some sections, commands considerable attention, and draws heavily on individual resources; but as this is one of the "ills which flesh is heir to" just now, (unless over 45) they try to make the best of it.

Chicago has theatricals and an opera of a hundred performers and attaches, (requiring five cars for their transportation with baggage), and Milwaukee has a theatre, Anna Dickinson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, and numerous other patent medicines for driving "dull care away."

Going up from Chicago to Milwaukee, a stop is made to allow the engine to rest, the down train to pass, and the passengers time to "refresh;" we alighted from the cars, (not to refresh, because we have a fixed belief that going into the army is a good deal safer than drinking whiskey at railroad stations,) and walking down the platform, were arrested by a hand outstretched from a car window, and answered to the call of our name on the strength of parental information; but the memories of tottling boyhood had been so crowded out by after business faces and associations, that we had to be told we were exchanging salutations with Mr. D. G. Waldron of Portsmouth. It didn't take but a second, however, to complete the recognition, for we had not read announcements at Kalamazoo, Jackson, Marshall and twenty other places throughout the West, and heard the people talking of what a nice concert they had last night, or were going to have the next, without knowing that "he" of the Alleghanies was, as Dan Bryant says, "here about and there about and here and there about!"

With the exception of a half-dozen large cities—the great centres, such as Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland and Indianapolis—the towns throughout the West are still rough and incomplete, half architectural, half hovel. Good hotels, business characteristics so much beyond their age as to make them perfect prodigies; fair, square, liberal, wide-awake business men; are among their redeeming features.

Dubuque shares in the general incompleteness, but is among those ranking next to the largest. It is built along the shore of the Mississippi; directly under the bluffs which bank its waters. It is connected with Dunleith, the terminus of the Illinois Central R. R. by ferry in summer, and ice in winter; but in the intermediate seasons, when the ice is too strong for navigation and too weak for transportation, transit is often interrupted for several days. I walked across the river on the ice this afternoon, and it appeared to be about two feet thick. I will write you from southern Illinois the coming week. N.

—On Wednesday morning Mr. Joseph S. Defrees and his wife, living in Ballardvale, were found dead in their bed. They had been ill with diphtheria, for which they took ether, and their untimely death was doubtless caused by an overdose of this medicine. Mr. Defrees was twenty-six years old, and was in the employ of the Whipple File Company. The couple had been married but a short time.

THE PRESS.—Mr. Bonner, of the New York Ledger, says that "during the recent canvass Mr. Lincoln was aided by the indirect support of the Herald, and the direct support of the Spirit of the Times, to a greater extent than most people imagine"—by their pitching into McClellan and the peace-platform so vigorously. The Ledger also says:

Mr. Lincoln was largely indebted for his nomination in 1860 to the editor of the Tribune; and, as a proof that he did not forget the obligation, after his election he conferred diplomatic appointments upon several members of the editorial staff of that paper. And we are a little anxious to see whether Mr. Lincoln will acknowledge the obligations that he is under to those papers in the same way. While we take pleasure in thus directing Mr. Lincoln's attention to the services of our contemporaries, we take equal pleasure in informing him that we have no favor to ask for ourselves. There is no office in the gift of the President that we would think, for one moment, of exchanging for our own position as editor and proprietor of the Ledger.

To this Mr. Wilkes, of the Spirit, responds:

While recognizing the Ledger's compliment, we wish to disclaim any desire for personal favor of any description at Mr. Lincoln's hands. We have never held office, never sought one; nay, never had a farthing of the public moneys, of the National or State Government, or of the city either, crossed our palm. All of our contributions to the general welfare have been rendered gratuitously, and as a private citizen; and we will consider ourself sufficiently repaid by Mr. Lincoln for our services, when he gives us a thoroughly brave and American Administration. Like the editor of the Ledger, we fully appreciate the superb advantage of owning and controlling a widely circulated and thoroughly independent paper; and we would not exchange our position as such, for any position that could be conferred upon us by the Government.

That's the talk—let us have "independent" papers, and let not State and Press be united, more than Church and State. Business is business, and any paper that can't stand on its own bottom, no matter how soon it falls. For ourselves, and for this Chronicle, we go even farther in our own humble way, than either of our distinguished cotemporaies—for while we know our course has been no less untrammelled and disinterested than theirs.—we want no position either above or below President, and would't thank anybody for any "office" whatever but a good printing office. Henry Clay said he "would rather be right than be President," but really, we should rather be a little wrong, than fill that office, or any other public one—for "uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," not only, but also all the heads of those who serve under it. No, no, deliver us from being at anybody's beck and call, more absolutely than every business man must be to his patrons; or from any greater than the general, mutual responsibility and dependence. F.

☞ We have received files of British Columbia papers, from Mr. C. C. Cushman. Also of Panama papers from Mr. Jas. S. Pierce. The North Pacific Times has a notice from Dickinson Bros, that in future their "shops will not be open for business on Sundays;" but we regret to see in the Panama Chronicle, "the raffle of furniture" of a certain man was to take place on Sunday the 8th inst.

Somebody, we don't know who, also sends us from Sacramento, the "Union," with the following item marked. Probably he thought there was a horse-man in our establishment.

Single Dash of a Mile.—A correspondent, who is undoubtedly some on horse, sends us the following. If the effusion does not pass for horse wit, it unquestionable denotes hard horse sense:

"A race came off over the Union Park Course on the 3d of November in which the well known double teams, Lincoln & Johnson and McClellan & Pendleton, were entered; stakes, the Presidential mansion at Washington. The former team won the race and stake. Time, the quickest ever made in the world. The latter were distanced on the first quarter, and were pronounced a bilk."

HALE'S

Honey of Horehound Tar,

For the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Difficult Breathing, and all Affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, leading to Consumption.

This sovereign remedy is compounded from the favorite recipe of an illustrious Physician and Chemist, who for many years used it with the most complete success in his extensive private practice.

He had long been profoundly impressed with the wonderful virtue of the honey of the plant Horehound, in union with the Cleansing and Healing properties of Tar extracted from the Life Principle of the forest tree Abies Balsamea, or Balm of Gilead. For years he was baffled in his attempts to blend these great medicinal forces into such a union that the original power of each would be preserved, the disagreeable qualities of common tar removed, and the price of the compound be within the means of all. At last after a long course of chemical experiments, he found that by adding to these two other ingredients, each one valuable in itself, he not only obtained the desired results but greatly increased the curative power of the compound. This having been thoroughly tested by practice, is now offered to the general public as a safe, pleasant and infallible remedy.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

For sale by B. Hutchings, Portsmouth, and all Druggists.

☞ At a meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Thursday evening in executive session, the following police officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—

City Marshal—Emery A. Dresser.
Assistant Marshals—George Fredson, Charles L. Abbott, Frank B. Johnson, Geo. L. Parks, Aaron Young, Isaiah Wilson.

☞ Not being a member of the Order, we neglected to mention that the I. O. of Axe and Firemen sat down to one of their grand Suppers at the City Hotel, a few evenings since.

Strawberry Bank Encampment, I. O. of O. F., also tried a similar thing at the same place, Friday evening, last week, on the occasion of their installation of officers. No discount on such affairs at the City, they say.

☞ The U. S. steamer Albatross, Capt. Dubois, which left this port a week or two since, experienced severe weather off Cape May, losing her smoke-stack and fore-topmast, and was obliged to put into Philadelphia for repairs.

The steamer Shawmut sailed on Thursday for Fortress Monroe. Her ultimate destination is said to be Wilmington.

Boatswain Robert Dixon has been ordered to this Naval Station, vice Wm. F. Hingerty, detached.

☞ Br. Whittem, of the Ballot, says he does his sleighing with the horse "Imagination;" and that it don't cost much for hire. But that is a high horse to drive, and he'd better look sharp or he'll get run away with.

☞ Mr. A. C. Hoyt is to open a Writing School at the State Street School-House, this (Friday) evening.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—The Lancaster (Coos) Republican says:—The Canadian authorities at Sherbrook, have decided to give up Mr. Wm. H. Crawford to the U. S. authorities. Sixty days is allowed in which to remove him, but he will probably be brought here soon. We understand that the authorities were manifestly opposed to the rendition, which was only awarded after a thorough hearing.

—A newspaper correspondent asks, how much income tax does Gilman Marston pay? The published lists shows that he pays on an income of $2202, and he did not receive pay for a seat in Congress and a Colonel's commission during the first years of the war,—none of the officers in the army who held seats in Congress being paid for both services.

—The Coos Republican appears in new type, and gives indications of prosperity. We rejoice with it.

☞ The New York Express has the following from Washington:

The exodus of the negroes from here to the different localities in Maryland, from whence they came prior to the emancipation, is large and greatly augmenting. They go to seek employment from their former owners, which they readily procure at fair remuneration, with the addition of comfortable quarters, and association with friends and scenes of their childhood.

It strikes us (says a loyal editor,) that these people evince good sense—considering that they are nothing but "niggers."—They didn't like to work longer for nothing—so they ran away from slavery in Maryland to freedom in Washington; but, now that Maryland is free, they quietly return to their old homes, and hire out to their old masters or such neighbors as they like better or will pay them more. They like their old neighbors, old firesides, and all the associations of their early years, and they mean to enjoy them if they can do so in freedom. Doesn't this fact go far toward answering the Copperhead question—"What are you going to do with the niggers after you have freed them?" We propose to let them alone.

—The first decision of Chief Justice Chase, in the Supreme Court of the U. S. was that West Virginia is legally a State. The decision was given on the question placing the name of that State on the list when calling the docket.

—A Mr. Davis, of Vineland, N. J., was buried alive in a well on Wednesday afternoon of last week. He had attained a depth of twelve feet, when the earth caved in, and although vigorous efforts were made to extricate him, he was not taken out until about midnight, having been buried about nine hours. He was dead when taken out. His remains were taken to New Hampshire, his former residence.

—The Commissioners of Essex County, Mass., have ascertained certain facts in relation to the liquor trade in the county, whence we learn the number of retail establishments in the county, is 333, wholesale 77. Newburyport has 84 liquor shops.

A facetious boy asked one of his playmates how a hardware dealer differed from a bootmaker? The latter, somewhat puzzled, gave it up. "Why, because the one sold nails, and the other nailed soles," was the reply.

A PUN WITH AN IRISH ACCENT.—Hood described a good church as "piety parsonified."

☞ The Boston Herald says, in relation to Wilmington:

The capture of Fort Fisher and Federal Point, controlling, as it does, the entire river across, gives no hope for relief to the garrisons of the forts at the mouth of the Cape Fear river, probably now closely besieged. These consist of Forts Caswell and Johnson, the former on Oak Island, and the latter at Smithville, on the west side of the entrance; and Lighthouse, or Bald Head battery, on Smith's Island, on the east side of the entrance. Fort Caswell was built by the Federal government long before the war, of granite masonry, and was pierced for two tiers of casemate guns. One tier is placed en barbette. Fort Johnson is two miles from the mouth of the river, and protects the harbor of Smithville. Lighthouse, or Bald Head battery, is a sand fort, and is supported by a number of small sand batteries. Smith's Island is fortified simply to prevent it being used as a base of operations against Fort Caswell. A recapitulation of the guns captured at Fort Fisher and Mound battery, and those which must come into our possession by the fall of the forts below, shows the following:

Fort Fisher and works	72 guns
Fort Johnson	10 guns
Fort Caswell	87 guns
Bald Head battery	2 guns
Total	171 guns

By the sealing of the harbor of Wilmington the rebels are completely isolated from commercial commuuication with the outer world. They are now hemmed in on every side, as it were, by a wall of fire, and must rely upon their own resources to carry on the war, unaided by any foreign power.

— The Freedmen of the South are probably suffering more than any class of men ever did before in this country. Unaccustomed to provide for themselves, and suddenly thrown upon their own resources, it could not be otherwise. Some whole districts have been depopulated. In Louisiana 80,000 of these persons have perished All that can be done should be to relieve their wants.

— The Newburyport Barss Band is the name of a musical convention lately formed in that city, its object being to furnish music on all occasions where brass band music is required.

GYMNASTICS.

It is designed to form a Class for Children and Youth in the New Gymnastics, for Wednesday Afternoons, at Union Hall, corner Market and Hanover Streets. And all the Children are invited to attend the first lesson, on Wednesday, the 25th inst., at 2 o'clock, free of Charge.

☞ The Evening Class, for Gentlemen and Ladies, is designed for Tuesday and Thursday Evenings. Names left at Mr. Foster's Bookstore.

Why Mrs. C., how nice and clean your clothes always look! What kind of soap do you use? Well, Mrs. D., it gives me great pleasure to say that I use the Gold Medal Soap, manufactured by J. Monroe Taylor, 111 Liberty street, New York, and as long as he keeps the quality as good as now, I shall never use any other. Every one who will try it, will say just what I am telling you. Try it and be convinced. 50

Would you save yourself from suffering after eating, or from acidity of the stomach, or burning sensation, or indigestion? Use Horrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus. Never use soda if you can procure this article. It will strengthen weak stomachs and relieve dyspepsia; is a saving in the quantity of flour, &c., &c. Try it. Grocers and Druggists most all sell it. The Wholesale Agents are Wholesale Grocers.

☞ We have had occasion to test the merits of Speer's Sambuci wine lately in one of those complaints for which it is recommended, and are convinced that it must eventually take the place of port and the adulterated stimulants prescribed heretofore in cases of debility. H. H. Hay has just received a large invoice of the wine direct from the vineyard.—Portland Advertiser.

☞ Special attention is asked to Hunnewell's preparations, advertised on our inside columns. They are based on true medical laws, used very largely by Physicians, and most undoubted testimonials are in the hands of the proprietor, always open to inspection. Let Portsmouth and its vicinity bear testimony by a confidence to test them, which will be sacred.

Petroleum!

LOMBARD & GORE,

BOSTON

PETROLEUM AND COAL STOCK EXCHANGE,

99 STATE STREET,

BOSTON,

Buy and Sell Oil and Coal Stocks on Commission, in New York, Philadelphia, and in Europe.

We believe we can offer superior inducements to all persons wishing to invest in

Petroleum Stocks,

Such investments, as a class, offer greater inducements to persons of either large or small means, than any the world has ever known, not even excepting the Siver Mines of Mexico and So. America.

The cost of obtaining this Oil is so comparatively small that

A single Well producing only 10 Barrels per Day

will yield an income, over all expenses, of more than $25,000 PER ANNUM.

Many wells are now yielding from 25 to 75, and several have reached over 1000 Barrels, while one, (the Noble Well, on Oil Creek, Penn.,) has yielded no less than

3000 Barrels per Day,

Worth $30,000 at the Wells.

The undersigned are Regular Agents for the principal Petroleum Companies of Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and having no more interest in one than another, persons desiring information can rely upon receiving an unbiassed account of the standing and prospects of the various companies on the market.

Enquiries by mail will receive prompt attention.

Subscriptions received to all first-class Companies upon the most favorable terms.

Receipts and Certificates will be forwarded in exchange for available funds, without charge; and Petroleum and Coal Stocks will be sold at the Brokers' Boards of New York and Philadelphia at the regular rates of commission.

We would call special attention to the following Companies now being organized in this city, viz:—

THE NEW ENGLAND PETROLEUM COMPANY,

Whose Lands are now yielding a net profit of $1450 daily, or more than $40,000 per Month,

equal to over 8 per cent. per month on their capital; and this yield is steadily on the increase. Whoever invests in this property will be richly rewarded. Those connected with it are of the highest standing.

CAPITAL STOCK, $450,000.
NUMBER OF SHARES, 890,000.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $5.00.

Subscription Books are still open at our office for a limited number of Shares, which can be secured by prompt application.

The inducements to invest which are offered by the properties of this Company, and the well-known character of its managers, fully entitle the confidence of the public.

THE

BOSTON & VENANGO PETROLEUM COMPANY,

we offer as "A No. 1." Although not producing at present, the prospect at least equals that of the Columbia Oil Company, of Pittsburgh, at the time of its organization, which has paid on an original subscription of $2000 a net profit of $54,500 in two years, and continues to pay in the same ratio.

Full information will be furnished in regard to the above, and all other Companies in the market, upon application at our office, personally or by letter.

WHAT IS A FRENCH ROLL PAN?

IS A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.

It is simply a nicely made

IRON PAN,

Or rather a series of Pans connected in one, of such peculiar form that all parts of the material contained in them receive an equal amount of heat, thus insuring a very

QUICK AND LIGHT BAKE.

For Sponge or Drop Cake, Muffins, French Rolls, Corn Bread or Raised Flour Biscuit, these Pans are Invaluable.

IN these days of high prices, it is worth while to

ECONOMISE

in any way. We give below a receipt for making a Cheap, Wholesome, and

PALATABLE BREAD:

"Stir into a pint of Cold Water sufficient Graham Flour to make a thin batter, adding a little Salt. Heat the Pan thoroughly, grease it a little, pour in the batter, and bake about half an hour in a hot oven."

By using Sweet Milk, instead of Water, as above, and adding 2 Spoonsful of Sugar, biscuit can be made fit to set before a King. We have sold nearly a thousand of these Roll Pans in about one year, and the sale is still increasing.—Try one.

E. A. STEVENS.

BAILEY'S

Spring Roll and Cog Wheel WASHING AND WRINGING MACHINES.

WRINGING MACHINES HAVE BECOME AN institution in the land. Thousands and tens of thousands have been sold during the last three years, and they all save an immense amount of labor and cost of material.

We now offer to the public a Machine that wil WASH as well as WRING the Clothes. It is very heavy and strongly built—the Rolls are large and so fastened with screws as to be secure from turning on the shaft. The Cog Wheels give power, and the Spring Roll makes it do its work with ease and perfection. The Machine is secured to a bench, independent of the wash tubs, consequently there is no trouble of fastening it every time it is used.

To any person who wishes to obtain an article to do both washing and wringing in a Public House or Private Family, we say give this a trial. If not satisfactory, the money will be refunded.—Call and see it.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1836.)

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,

Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Reports, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American, or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twenty rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by such a practice are, Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; Loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician or experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

The subscriber, having received his Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and bread-toaster combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangement for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscriber, being the Sole Agent in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for the obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the fire, and at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the best generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.
